VOL. 58—No. 19—January 2nd., 1975 PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT TOFIELD, ALBERTA

Premier Lougheed sends New Year's Greetings

The year 1975 will be another year of critical decisions for our province. The most important question facing us will relate to our ability to ensure that the natural resources, with which we have been endowed, are used effectively to provide for a sound and balanced Alberta economy. This challenge will involve standing strong in our resolve to obtain a fair return from our depleting resources of oil and gas.

One fact which we must confront is that we cannot continue to take for granted the prosperity we enjoy , when in large part it has resulted from a depleting resource. I sense that Albertans are starting to lose the complacency that we may have felt at one time, and we are fortunate because we do have the time to institute new approaches. Some of the decisions will be tough ones, and in the development of new economic bases, we cannot lose sight of the mistakes that other areas have made in their handling of urban growth and environmental considerations.

I want to emphasize my firm belief that we are a province with an exciting future and great opportunity and that the proper management of our assets will have long term results, beneficial to all of Canada. I ask every Albertan to remember that these are your resources - and it is your future. Your ideas will be valued and we want to have your thoughts about the ways in which we can handle these crucial policies.

Please accept my expression of best wishes to all Albertans for a good year. My colleagues with you in 1975, and I look forward to working Peter Lougheed.

Half Sulphur, But Not a Yellow Brick Road

Test strip of highway laid in Alberta with molten sulphur replacing half the asphalt normally used was checked recently by research chemist D. C. Bean, one of a team of Gulf Oil of Canada researchers from the company's Research and Development Centre, Sheridan Park, Ontario. Although other companies have experimented with using sulphur in highway construction, Gulf believes it has developed the first practical method—resulting in pavement which retains the color and flexibility of asphalt while having twice the stability and higher resistance to water and low temperatures. The Alberta Department of Highways collaborated in laying two test strips of pavement near Blue Ridge, 180 miles northwest of Edmonton, using standard pavement equipment. Research is continuing.

Natural gas rates up nearly ten percent

Natural gas users in Tofield will face increased billings after January 2nd, following approval by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of an interim increase, pending final judgment on the matter later in the spring.

For an average residence, using 2150 therms per year, the increase will mean the annual billing would rise from its former level of $103.00 per year to $112.40 per year, which is an increase of 9.3%.

The franchise tax varies from one community to another, and is levied in the nature of a business tax, in lieu of property taxes, or in some other way. In Tofield, for instance, no franchise tax is collected but property tax is levied against buildings used by the company there.

By contrast, Camrose levies a franchise tax against total revenue of the company. In the past this has been seven percent but it was increased to seven and a half percent as of January 1st. .

The result is that gas costs are considerably higher in Camrose. The Mercury was told the rate for the same consumer of 2150 therms in Camrose would be about $145 annually.

The gas company spokesman pointed out that customers cannot all figure on the same straight percentage increase, since billings are affected by basic monthly minimums and other factors.

Most other communities in the Northwestern service chain will also face rate adjustments, although the rate will depend on local conditions. Several farm supply lines will probably face little or no increase, said the NWU spokesman, since most of them are working under rates negotiated only very recently. By contrast, a few points in towns much further north, supplied by another company taken over some time ago by NWU, will actually face slight decreases in their rates, since the previous franchise rates were higher than demonstrated costs will justify.

Commercial users in the Tofield area will also face an increase in rates, but the figures were not immediately available when The Mercury phoned this morning.

Hearings on the company's application for a rate increase started on the 12th of December, although figures supporting the application had been filed with the board as far back as last spring. Approval of the interim increase was granted only a few days ago.

The hearings will resume in mid-March, after members of the board, and any intervenors in the hearings, have had an opportunity to study recent information supplied by the company. Most interest has been shown by major industrial users, said the Northwestern official, since they are not shielded against the effects of the increase by the proposed conservation tax rebate, proposed by Hon. Roy Farran, as are domestic users. Under these circumstances, they could face severe operating increases. The change in application or rebate of taxes seems to reflect a changing provincial philosophy on the use of a precious natural resource, and the growing emphasis on adopting measures to avert exceptionally rapid depletion of it.

Vikings are now 6-2 in exhibition hockey

Camrose Lutheran College Vikings are having an excellent exhibition hockey tour in Europe.

As of Tuesday, the Vikings had won six games while losing only two as they were outscoring their opposition by a 52-17 margin.

One of the members of the Vikings is Elston Solberg of Ryley. Prior to the trip, Solberg had scored one goal and picked up two assists in 11 league and exhibition games in his rookie season with the CLC team.

Vikings ploy their final exhibition hockey game on Saturday and will arrive home in Camrose early Tuesday afternoon.

Complete statistics of the team's tour in Europe will be available upon the team's return and will be published.

Results of the first eight games of the team's ten-game tour are as follows: Vikings 11 Nynashamn 1; Vikings 7 Nynashamn 4; Vikings 6 Vastervs 1; Vikings 3 Sarpsborg 5; Vikings 7 Stromstad 2; Vikings 6 Aalborg 1; Vikings 9 Aalborg 1; Vikings 11 Brondby 1.

Happy New Year

There are words for it in almost every language known to man, even though the season sometimes varies from country to country, as the world over rings out the Happy New Year greeting. And as this column has done now for more than a quarter of a century, we offer our toast for a better life and a fuller living:

PURPOSE FOR THE YOUNG;
POISE FOR THE MATURE;
PEACE FOR THE AGED.

Their favorite charity

Most householders will by now have received a mailing piece from Ottawa describing how you can give to your favorite political party, yet not be penalized too hard in the giving.

It was heralded a little bit last Spring, before it became law in August, but we hadn't realized, in the aftermath of the election, that it actually had been proclaimed. Nor, probably, would any changes have been made had they been pointed out.

But surely it's some sort of commentary on the thinking of our political masters when it appears to be far more worthy to give funds to a political party than to a church, or the starving poor of the world, or an agency like the Red Cross, or, indeed, any of the deductible charities in the book.

So far as we're aware, donations (with receipts) to any of these groups, are simply deducted from total income. Thus, for anyone in the area of 25 percent marginal tax, a rough area which covers quite a wide number of Canadian taxpayers, a $100 contribution to church, charity or other choice, would reduce the tax payable by $25.

By stark contrast, a similar $100 donation to a political party will be allowed a deduction of seventy-five percent (in this case $75) not from taxable income, but from income tax payable. And if you work this backwards, it means you'd get as much relief from tax by giving one hundred dollars to the politicians as you'd get by giving three hundred dollars to your church.

In higher tax brackets, the difference is less, but its the principle we find hard to comprehend. Imagine, trying to tell yourself you're doing more with your donation to an election campaign than by helping the starving poor in Bangladesh.

We can just see the posters coming: "Give generously to your party. Your dollar does more for us both."

So political parties now rate as "our most favored charity."

Caution the key

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA (CEP) The events of last July posted a bost of problems for the government of Pierre Elliott Trudeau who swept into office with a majority governmental - but on the wings of election promises totaling approximately $3 billion.

Finance Minister John Turner is said to have attempted to get through to Mr. Trudeau several times in the closing week or so of the campaign so that he could canvas his concern over the new spending commitments which were being made without cabinet discussion.

Not only will an even greater degree of government spending add more fuel to the inflation fire, it will slap us all with yet another series of tax hikes. When an election is only a few months past, there's little choice but to grimace, bear it, and pay. Political concerns for the opinions of people take an amazing sensitive once a mandate has been given.

But if the government Liberals face problems, so do the weakened Conservatives, and the decimated New Democrats. We're already heard how Real Caouette, jopped in party strength to 11 seats, finds himself one member short of the necessary number of seats to an official party. It is now said he is trying to recruit Montone Leonard Jones, since the independent Stanfield was rejected and Caouette needs Jon, es to re-capture the chance to be an official party, which the new elections act provides to an official party.

Leadership is the problem facing both the NDP and the Conservatives.

David Lewis will be a tough man to replace. The NDP dictator wasn't really his fault. No man in the party could have done better, Lewis, though, is tired and has already expressed his choice not to seek re-election in a by-election. It means the New Democrats will likely hold a leadership contest before the end of the year. The schedule appears to rule out active seeking of the federal leadership by any of the three provincial NDP premiers, although there is an outside chance ex-Nova Scotian Allen Blakeney might quit Saskatchewan to run.

Of the NDP members left with their Parliamentary seats, Ed Broadbent of Oshawa-Whitby and Max Saltsman of Waterloo seem the most likely contenders. I'd put my money on either of them to be next federal NDP leader.

Robert Stanfield and the Tories began facing questions from the moment the leadership issue before the last election results from British Columbia had been counted. The signs things sit now, the Tories would be foolish to wait at a leadership convention because the old division of the party which Stanfield so patiently healed would start spewing political blood again. Besides, there is no obvious choice to replace dour Stanfield, the man who failed to sell his ball-tightening policies to affluent Ontario.

Best move for the Conservatives would be to sit tight for at least two years.

NE Winter Games are looking for volunteers

Everyone is talking about the Canada Winter Games being held in Southern Alberta from February 11th to 23rd. 1975. Did you know there are Winter Games right here in North Eastern Alberta? THAT'S RIGHT.

The North Eastern Alberta Recreation Association is again hosting the North Eastern Alberta Winter Games. To date, considerable progress has been made with regards to the games. Grand Centre has been chosen to host the games and the dates for the competition is February 28th, March 1st and 2nd. Larry Nelson has been hired as Games Co-ordinator and he will be working out of the St. Paul Department of Culture, Youth and Recreation office. Zone Co-ordinators for each zone is nearly complete and Mr. Nelson is looking forward to visiting each area and meeting the various persons who help with the success of the Games. The first of these visits will be within the very near future.

Participants in the sports are needed. However, if you can't be a sport participant, how about being a time keeper, judge, team manager, coach, etc. . . at a local, zone or Winter Games level. There are so many things a person can do. Just call or write your local recreation person and tell him or her your intentions. Better yet, visit them in person.

Mr. Nelson, along with the "Games" people urges everyone to get involved, enjoy themselves, have fun, and make OUR Winter Games a success.

CROP VALUE EQUALS COAL
Viking, Alberta,
Dec. 17, 1974.

Dear Sir:

I see by the press of a meeting with regard to acquiring of the farms in the Dodds, Round Hill district, that one of the political guest speakers mentioned expropriation ; And if I recollect history correctly, the title of the same was a part of a deal between a certain railroad, and a government, re vast mineral rights and for freight rates.

Today, a certain group of politicians are suggesting the discontinuance of the rail rates, But, I hear no suggestion that the other side of the agreement, namely that the vast mineral rights should be returned to society.

Another political guest speaker proclaimed that the "Crop Value" taken off of the land for the next 1,000 years would not equal the "energy value of the coal".

Let us look at that side of it. If we use (present varieties) wheat at 40 bushels per acre and at the present price of approximately $5.00 per acre, the "Crop Value" each year would

And don't drink. . .

If arrests for impaired driving soar in Toronto next week, city residents shouldn't be too surprised. More than 45) medical researchers, public education specialists and traffic safety authorities from 21 countries are coming to town for the Sixth International Conference on Alcohol, Drug and Traffic Safety. The aim of the conference is to try to find an effective antidote to the impaired driver and the havoc he wreaks on highways around the world. And judging by advance news from the Canadian organizers, some of the research papers that will be presented promise to be as provocative as they are technical. The information they have produced has been interesting. (1) Young Australian men tested were able to take a maximum "initial loading dose" of five standard drinks in the first hour and one and a half drinks per hour thereafter, to stay within the 0.05 percent blood-alcohol concentration limit imposed by law. (2) County court judges in Denver, Colorado, deal more leniently with drivers on a first offense charge of driving while intoxicated if they are represented by lawyers (3 Canada's new breath-testing law seems to have had little if any effect in reducing traffic deaths. (4) The unreliability of roadside breath testing in Scotland has led to many unconvicted drivers being inadvertently detained for police station tests. This has created public resentment. (5) Many arrests for impaired driving may not prevent fatal crashes because we may be arresting the wrong people. (6) More attention should be given to the problem of the impaired pedestrian. If it wasn't such a deadly serious problem, many of these items would seem almost funny in isolation.

IMPORTANT CHANGES EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1st, 1975

Your Canada Pension Plan

Here's good news...for CPP contributors–their surviving spouses and dependent children

Recent changes to the Canada Pension Plan will result in substantially increased benefits for 1975 and subsequent years. There are other important changes, too. Some affect people over 65 or approaching that age. Others provide equality for the spouses and dependent children of male and female contributors. These changes may require prompt action or getting advice. So we suggest you read this message very carefully.

1. Retirement Pensions
Have you contributed to the Plan at any time since January 1, 1966?

Are you between 65 and 69?

Then you have a choice.

Apply now and start receiving your monthly CPP retirement pension. No more need to retire to collect benefits. (Once you start receiving your pension, however, you can't make further contributions to the Plan.)

OR

Continue to contribute to the CPP and possibly build up a larger retirement pension to commence at a later date. Continuing to contribute is also a way to qualify survivors for benefits if you have not already done so. (When approaching age 70, you should consider applying for your retirement pension because after 70 you may no longer contribute to the Canada Pension Plan.)

NOTE: Before making your choice you may wish to seek advice from the nearest CPP office. The staff will be pleased to help you.

Are you approaching age 65?

If you have made your choice and want your CPP retirement pension to commence as early as possible, you should apply two or three months before your 65th birthday.

NOTE: There is no provision for retroactive payment of retirement pensions between the ages of 65 and 69. So if you're in that age group or approaching it, get advice as soon as possible.

Do you now receive a CPP retirement pension?

As of January 1st, 1975, your pension will no longer be affected by any money you earn thereafter.

2. Equal Protection for Males and Females.

This means that for female contributors, in addition to being eligible for a retirement pension and disability protection for themselves, and a death benefit payable to their estates, as has been the case in the past, their spouses and dependent children are now eligible for benefits as follows:

Benefits for Surviving Spouses
A monthly pension payable to the widower who at the time of the death of the contributor is over 35 years of age, or under 35 years of age but is disabled or has dependent children; that is, a benefit similar to that which has always existed for widows.

Benefits for Orphans
A monthly benefit payable to unmarried dependent children under 18 and to unmarried dependent children between 18 and 25 attending school or university on a full-time basis.

In order for survivors to qualify, the contributor must have died in January 1966 or later and must have contributed for the minimum contributory period, which is three years for deaths occurring before January 1, 1975.

Benefits for Children of Disabled Contributors
A monthly benefit payable to unmarried dependent children under 18 and to unmarried dependent children between 18 and 25 attending school or university on a full-time basis, where the contributor concerned is in receipt of a CPP Disability Pension.

NOTE: In all cases, it is necessary to make application for benefits. If such applications are approved, payments can only be made currently—that is, from January 1, 1975. No payment can be made for any period prior to that date.

Other Changes:
The earnings ceiling—that is, the maximum amount on which contributions can be paid and on which benefits can be calculated—is being raised to $7400 in 1975 and to $8300 in 1976. The initial amount of earnings, on which you are not required to contribute, will be $700 in 1975.

MAXIMUM MONTHLY CPP BENEFITS
Effective January 1975

Retirement Pension	$122.50
Disability Pension	$139.35
Surviving Spouse's Pension—under 65	$88.31
over 65	$81.67
Orphan's Benefit	$37.27
Disabled Contributor's Child's Benefit	$37.27
Death Benefit (Lump Sum)	$740.00

NATURAL GAS RATES

The Public Utilities Board has approved an interim increase in natural gas rates charged by Northwestern Utilities, effective January 1, 1975.

This action follows the company's application for an interim increase filed with the board on December 12, 1974. The interim rates will remain in effect until completion of the hearing of the company's application. At that time the board will reach a final decision confirming or changing the interim rates.

The last rate increase went into effect in 1959. Since then the company has faced continued inflationary increases in the costs of wages, materials, interest and other operating expenses.

If you have any questions concerning these matters or the rate applying to your account, please contact your nearest Northwestern Utilities office or agent.

Prime Minister Trudeau sends New Year message

When we exchange gifts during the holiday season, we are expressing our feelings of affection, esteem and gratitude. We are moving closer together, and showing more openly than usual, our mutual goodwill. We are confirming, in a concrete and friendly way — perhaps a small way, but nonetheless real — the ties that make us with those poor and dear to us.

But the presents we give to one another have a further significance: they are as well the symbol of a universal sharing, and a reminder of what is a basic necessity to all forms of life.

In effect, no living thing can survive without sharing. This is true of nature: it is true of human society. All forms of life have an indispensable ability to give or to receive. What is ecology, if not the science of natural sharing. And what is ecological balance, if not the result of an equitable sharing among all elements of our environment, including human beings? To live is to share.

In primitive societies, there was no alternative but to share. In advanced societies, sharing is the subject of legislation because the very abundance of goods weakens natural restraints and increases the likelihood of unfair shares. Even in such a privileged country as Canada, we have had to legislate against inequality in its various forms as severely as would be necessary in countries much less privileged than ours.

I invite my fellow citizens to rejoice in what has been given to us as Canadians: the good fortune to be united in a federation, a system of government whose most distinct attribute is the sharing of wealth.

In future, Canadians are going to be forced by circumstances into even greater sharing, and this will not be easy; but I know that we will be equal to the challenge facing the entire country, and that each one of us.

It will not be easy, either, to share more, as we have promised, with less favoured nations, the millions of men, women and children in the Third World who face hunger and starvation; but I am sure that our generosity will be worthy of our abundance.

I trust that our longstanding traditions and our present attitudes will prepare us for these far more pressing demands that will be made on us in the future, and on which depend: as we have already seen — the salvation of the human race and the survival of life on this planet.

We must, nevertheless, be open to the joys of the season. Our joy, I am sure, will not be superficial, for it is animated and kindled by hopes that are bright. It is in this spirit that I extend to you my wishes for health and happiness during the new year.

Community League is ready for disbanding

by Grace Phillips

Very soon, there will no longer be a Tofield Community League. Membership has declined to the point that carrying on the organization has become too great a burden for the few members who attend the meetings.

This decision was made at the annual 1975 meeting of the league on January 7th. Treasurer Hans Christensen reported a bank balance of $5,720.60; thanks to convener Jack Whyte reported a balance of $315.85, including the sale of popcorn.

Mr. Lopatinuk will again be asked to audit the books of the league for 1974.

Bill Davison moved a hearty vote of thanks to Grace Phillips for reporting the league's activities for many years.

The retiring executive was given a hearty vote of thanks for their work in 1974 on motion of Bill Christensen.

Since the league will be disbanding shortly, it was decided to place $500 in a scholarship fund so that the annual award to the best Grade Nine student may be continued for several years.

Bill Davison moved, and the motion was carried that the league disband within the next six months.

Bill Christensen moved that Hans Christensen and Thomas Jacobs be appointed to attend the January meeting of the council of the Town of Tofield to inform them of the league's decision to disband and to turn over the Community Centre to the Town of Tofield on July 1st, 1975. This motion was carried.

Frank Langkanas moved, and the meeting accepted, that a list of the accomplishments of the league over the past 36 years be compiled.

Hans Christensen suggested that a suitable plaque be placed on the Community Centre, commemorating the part the league has played in its construction and use. The meeting concurred.

With the exception of a new president, Thomas Jacobs, it was decided that the present executive would continue in office. The present executive is:

Pres., Thomas Jacobs; vice-pres., R. Davison;

REGULAR MEETING

The regular January meeting of the Tofield Community League was held last Tuesday with President Bob Moos in the chair and ten members present.

Treasurer Hans Christensen was able to report a more favorable bank balance than usual as it included the returns from the December bingo, the Christmas Carol festival and the New Year's dance, all of which had been extraordinarily successful.

The local Recreation Board reported that since $650 had been allotted to the local library, no funds were available for the league.

Not enough information was available to consider the proposed Young People's Group as none of them were present.

Bingos were planned for January 22nd with a $60.00 jackpot with Frank Langkana and Jack Whyte in charge, and for February 19th with a $70.00 jackpot with Bill Christensen and Bill Davison in charge.

Due to the fact that many members plan to be away in February, it was decided on motion of Bill Davison that the next regular meeting of the league be held March 3.

Starting January 1st, 1975, the caretaker's wages are to be $230 per month on motion of Arnold Swift.

Family allowances to rise in January

Increases in Family Allowances, effective in January 1975 were announced today by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde. The increase is based on the cost of living increase since November 1973, as provided for in the Family Allowances Act.

Federal monthly allowances paid for children under the age of 18 will rise to $22.66 from $20 a month per child. Under a provision in the Family Allowances Act, a provincial government may ask the federal government to vary the family allowance rates payable in that province according to the age or the number of children in a family, or both, providing the family allowance payments in each province average $27.66. Quebec and Alberta have chosen this option, and the new rates to be paid in Alberta are as follows:

Age of Child, 0 - 6 years; $18.66, 7 . 11 years; $20.66, 12 - 15 years; $27.66, 16 - 17 years; 30.66.

Special Allowances, which are paid to foster parents and welfare agencies, governmental departments and institutions that care for handicapped children, will also increase to $72.66 from $20.66 to all 10 provinces.

Would-be homesteaders face disappointment

Edmonton Dec. 19 (ACN - 1-Several thousand would-be Inter-Day Pioneers who've had their yearning for a fresh life stirred by reports of free land in Alberta are facing disappointment as well as hardship.

Their land hunger was whetted by a recent Canadian Press story on a scheme by some wagon train promoters in Klein-berg, Ontario. Plans called for leading a party of 20 families on a 3,000 mile journey by horse-drawn covered wagons to the Peace River district where it was mistakenly reported thousands of acres of public land was available for Homesteading.

Alberta Lands and Forests Minister Dr. Allne A. Warrack stresses the department is not encouraging Homesteading because only a limited amount of public land is available and that priority is given to established district farmers needing land to improve the economics of their holdings.

Dr. Warrack also points out that public lands are not free but rather are sold at prices at least equal to the market value of surrounding private land.

An applicant for a homestead on Alberta public land must also have lived in the province for at least one year in the three years immediately preceding application. And, there is also a backlog of applications from eligible Alberta residents, Dr. Warrack points out.

Response to the Canadian press story quoting Wagon-master Gordon Roberts, 42, has been overwhelming both to the Wagon Train promoters and Alberta Lands and Forests.

A Wagon Train spokesman reported to Lands Division Director C. E. Paquin that about 2,000 letters and 1,500 phone calls have been received; anonymous letters and phone calls have been pouring into the Lands Division as well, Mr. Paquin reports.

"It is vital that these people be given the facts and that the misleading information that has been disseminated be corrected," Dr. Warrack states, "otherwise a great many innocent people are going to be exposed to needless hardship and disappointment."

The Canadian Press story also erroneously reported that Mr. Roberts had leased 1,000 acres for a $25 registration fee. In fact, Mr. Roberts has only made application to lease the land, the $25 being an application deposit.

Lands Division Director Paquin points out that Mr. Roberts was told in a letter dated November 13 that the application does not give authority to occupy or to grant lands applied for, pending an inspection and a decision on the application.

Community League is ready for disbanding

by Grace Phillips

Very soon, there will no longer be a Tofield Community League or Recreation Office. Membership has declined to the point that carrying on the organization has become too great a burden for the few members who attend the meetings.

This decision was made at the annual 1973 meeting of the league on January 7th. Treasurer Hans Christensen reported a bank balance of $5,720.00; theatre convenor Jack Whyte reported a balance of $315.93, including the sale of popcorn.

Mr. Lopatiuk was again be asked to audit the books of the league for 1974.

Bill Davison moved a hearty vote of thanks to Grace Phillips for reporting the league's activities for many years.

The retiring executive was given a hearty vote of thanks for their work in 1974 on motion of Bill Christensen.

Since the league will be disbanding shortly, it was decided to donate $500 in a scholarship fund so that the annual award to the best Grade Nine student may be continued for several years.

Bill Davison moved, and the motion was carried that the league disband within the next six months.

Bill Christensen moved that Hans Christensen and Thomas Jacobs be appointed to attend the January meeting of the council of the Town of Tofield to inform them of the league's decision to disband and to turn over the Community Centre to the Town of Tofield on July 1st, 1975. This motion was carried.

Frank Langhanas moved, and the meeting accepted, that a list of the accomplishments of the league over the past 30 years be compiled.

Hans Christensen suggested that a suitable plaque be placed on the Community Centre, commemorating the part the league has played in its construction and use. The meeting concurred.

With the exception of a new president, Thomas Jacobs, it was decided that the present executive would continue to act. The present executive is:

President, Thomas Jacobs; vicepres., W. R. Davison; sec., C. Lampitt; treas., H. E. Christensen; directors, Neil Phillips, Joe Laarhuis; Arnold Swift, Andy Hedberg, Jack Whyte, Bert Everitt and Grace Phillips.

REGULAR MEETING

The regular January meeting of the Tofield Community League was held last Tuesday with president Bob Moss in the chair and ten members present.

Treasurer Hans Christensen was able to report a more favorable bank balance than usual as it included the returns from the December bingo, the Christmas Carol festival and the New Year's dance, all of which had been extraordinarily successful.

Due to the fact that many members plan to be away in February, it was decided on a motion of Bill Davison that the next regular meeting of the league be held March 3.

Starting January 1st, 1975, the caretaker's wages are to be $200 per month on motion of Arnold Swift.

Increases in Family Allowances, effective in January, 1975 were announced today by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalande. The increase is based on the cost of living increase since November 1973, as provided for in the Family Allowances Act.

Federal monthly allowances paid for children under the age of 18 will rise to $72.00 from $59 a month per child. Under a provision in the Family Allowances Act, a provincial government may ask the federal government to vary the family allowance rates payable in that province according to the age or the number of children in a family, or both, providing the family allowance payments in each province average $22.66. Age of Child, 0 - 6 years; $16.00. 7 - 11 years; $20.80. 12 - 15 years; $27.20. 16 - 17 years; $0.00.

Special Allowances, which are paid to foster parents and welfare agencies, government departments and institutions that are maintaining children, will also increase to $22.00 from $20.00 in all 10 provinces.

As I see it

Walt Buck, MLA Clover Bar

Green Belt Freeze

The government's big play of "consultation with people" took a severe set back with the recent outline of the green belt area in the Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan area. Farmers and land owners have indicated that they had not received prior notice that their land would be "frozen". The same situation occurred in an area south of Sherwood Park. So much for open Government.

Who Pays for Green Belt?

I agree with the concept of retaining areas of undeveloped land for future use, but who will pay for it? To me, it should not be the farmers. He seems to provide too much to society with out adequate payment already. It must be all of society, that is all of the taxpayers. The government must compensate adequately the farmers who have had their land frozen. This issue I certainly will pursue when the Legislature convenes in January.

Colchester and Hay Lakes Concerts

The 'Old Fashioned' Christmas concert is making a great come-back and I had the pleasure of attending concerts at the above named communities. The plays, carol singing and recitations were enjoyed by all.

These occasions also gave me an opportunity to present the Provincial Atlas of Alberta to the students of the respective schools. My sincere thanks to the two principals, Mr. Butner and Mr. Luger.

Lamont Hospital Staff Party

Mrs. Buck and I were guests of the entire staff of the Archer Memorial Hospital at their annual Christmas party. Dr. Morley Young was the honored guests and related stories of his 53 years as a doctor in the Lamont area. It has been a privilege to be associated with a dedicated concerned person like Dr. Morley Young.

Tofield Carol Concert

The annual carol festival at Tofield was, to me, one of the highlights of the festive season. The service was ecumenical in nature with the entire community participating. There was an excellent balance of choral, community singing and Christmas story and the program moved along very smoothly. Thanks for the invitation to attend.

New Year Wishes

My family and I would like to take this opportunity to wish one and all the best in 1975. It is indeed a privilege to serve a constituency as fine as Clover Bar.

Any comments, anniversaries or functions that you would like me to attend, please write Box 1030, Fort Saskatchewan, or phone collect 998-3660 or res. 998-2166.

Distorted picture

"Jobless total at 1930's level" reads one headline we saw this week, and there have been several others along similar lines. All doing a top-notch job of distorting the picture in a grossly irresponsible manner, in our book.

It's only when you read, indeed, if you read, much further into the story you find the number of unemployed has suddenly climbed to the same number as in the Great Depression, but it's less than half as serious on a percentage basis because the population is actually more than double.

And if that isn't distortion to gain a headline, we don't know what is.

Heaven knows, the situation is serious enough as it is. But its capricious and immature to worsen the general impression. Just how delicately balanced our economy can be is seen from the great concern over the 7.1 percent overall unemployment rate in the United States, which is unprecedented since the outbreak of World War II. During the Depression of the '30's, the rate of unemployment soared to 14.6 percent. And even during the "full employment" period of the war, it was reported that there was still an unemployment level of four percent, even in Canada, which went to war sooner, and was involved tremendously at all levels.

We don't mean to underrate the gravity of the situation, but at the same time, we don't think it should be exaggerated. All indications point to the situation worsening, at least slightly, before it gets better, and it means a lot of the heat will have to be taken out of the economy. But even then, lets try to keep it in perspective. To do less could be to create more trouble through undermining confidence.

4-H'ers hold curling 'spiel

by Elsa Heiberg

On Monday, Dec. 30th, all the 4-H'ers gathered at Andy Heiberg's where the practise judging was held. Pat Kallal was the official judge for the day and gave the members pointers on judging.

On the following Saturday, Jan. 4th, the 4-H'ers gathered again for a day filled with fun as kids from all ages, 7 years to 70 years, participated in the annual 4-H curling bonspiel. Each team played two games and the winner was decided by final points. Three top teams finished with 21 points and the winner was decided by which skip could draw closest to the button. Peter Ward's Ottawa viewpoint . . .

Threat to unity . . .

How does all this nose-to-nose confrontation between Alberta and the Federal Government over oil compare to the soft Federal line taken towards Quebec's recent actions and her agreement with France? Answer: Not very well.

Immediately following the presentation of Finance Minister John Turner's budget in November, a senior government source was asked: "What would Ottawa's reaction be if all the oil was in Quebec instead of Alberta?"

Answered the senior source: "That, gentlemen, is happily hypothetical."

Well, it isn't hypothetical that Quebec has been trying very hard to sell France on the idea of substantial investments in the James Bay project with a view of producing enriched uranium for French use. Neither is it hypothetical that Quebec is acting very much like an independent state in her dealing with France, albeit Premier Robert Bourassa openly admits that Ottawa should have the final say in any exports of uranium, enriched or otherwise.

The Quebec-France situation dramatically underlines the dangers of allowing a province the special status of being able to conduct her own foreign missions - sometimes in direct contradiction of the federal national interest.

For example, the uranium deal which Quebec would like to sign with France would call for the use of 18,000 tons of uranium oxide annually to produce enriched uranium. At least one critic in Ottawa reasonably warns that this would be disaster, because the nation's current annual output of uranium oxide is only 5,000 tons.

Perhaps part of the reason that France slipped the Quebec uranium deal on the shelf can be found in the realization in Paris itself that France is hardly regarded as "clean", in a nuclear sense, by the rest of the western world. Neither has France been known to be overly fussy about arms sales, provided the customer can pay in hard foreign exchange. France could be expected to be much less diffident than Canada about choosing nuclear customers, were she in a position to export.

There's also the fact that Canada is committed to the CANDU style of nuclear reactor, which uses uranium oxide for fuel, and it would be contrary to national interest to have someone else peddling the enriched stuff which fuels U.S. style reactors — particularly when the price of that enriched uranium would be below the world market value.

We are extremely fortunate that Paris insisted on shelving the grandiose plans of Quebec over construction of an enriched uranium plant in Northern Quebec because a nasty confrontation would have been inevitable.

As it is, Quebec's dealings with France have taken her to the brink of danger. It matters not whether the call "vive le Quebec libre" comes from a balcony in Montreal or in more subtle terminology from the Elysee Palace . . . the results are equally destructive of Canadian national unity.

Green Belt Freeze

The government's big play of "consultation with people" took a severe set back with the recent outline of the green belt area in the Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan area. Farmers and land owners have indicated that they had not received prior notice that their land would be "frozen". The same situation occurred in an area south of Sherwood Park. So much for open Government.

Who Pays for Green Belt?

I agree with the concept of retaining areas of undeveloped land for future use, but who will pay for it? To me, it should not be the farmers. He seems to provide too much to society with out adequate payment already. It must be all of society, that is all of the taxpayers. The government must compensate adequately the farmers who have had their land frozen. This issue I certainly will pursue when the Legislature convenes in January.

Colchester and Hay Lakes Concerts

The 'Old Fashioned' Christmas concert is making a great come-back and I had the pleasure of attending concerts at the above named communities. The plays, carol singing and recitations were enjoyed by all.

These occasions also gave me an opportunity to present the Provincial Atlas of Alberta to the students of the respective schools. My sincere thanks to the two principals, Mr. Butner and Mr. Luger.

Lamont Hospital Staff Party

Mrs. Buck and I were guests of the entire staff of the Archer Memorial Hospital at their annual Christmas party. Dr. Morley Young was the honored guests and related stories of his 53 years as a doctor in the Lamont area. It has been a privilege to be associated with a dedicated concerned person like Dr. Morley Young.

Tofield Carol Concert

The annual carol festival at Tofield was, to me, one of the highlights of the festive season. The service was ecumenical in nature with the entire community participating. There was an excellent balance of choral, community singing and Christmas story and the program moved along very smoothly. Thanks for the invitation to attend.

New Year Wishes

My family and I would like to take this opportunity to wish one and all the best in 1975. It is indeed a privilege to serve a constituency as fine as Clover Bar.

Any comments, anniversaries or functions that you would like me to attend, please write Box 1030, Fort Saskatchewan, or phone collect 998-3660 or res. 998-2166.

Distorted picture

"Jobless total at 1930's level" reads one headline we saw this week, and there have been several others along similar lines. All doing a top-notch job of distorting the picture in a grossly irresponsible manner, in our book.

It's only when you read, indeed, if you read, much further into the story you find the number of unemployed has suddenly climbed to the same number as in the Great Depression, but it's less than half as serious on a percentage basis because the population is actually more than double.

And if that isn't distortion to gain a headline, we don't know what is.

Heaven knows, the situation is serious enough as it is. But its capricious and immature to worsen the general impression. Just how delicately balanced our economy can be is seen from the great concern over the 7.1 percent overall unemployment rate in the United States, which is unprecedented since the outbreak of World War II. During the Depression of the '30's, the rate of unemployment soared to 14.6 percent. And even during the "full employment" period of the war, it was reported that there was still an unemployment level of four percent, even in Canada, which went to war sooner, and was involved tremendously at all levels.

We don't mean to underrate the gravity of the situation, but at the same time, we don't think it should be exaggerated. All indications point to the situation worsening, at least slightly, before it gets better, and it means a lot of the heat will have to be taken out of the economy. But even then, lets try to keep it in perspective. To do less could be to create more trouble through undermining confidence.

READY YOUR CAR FOR OLD MAN WINTER

With the snow and cold o the past week we can believe this winter is really here. Winter driving doesn't have to be so great a hassle if drivers prepare themselves. Here are some tips for winter drivers from the Canadian Safety Coun cil.

BRAKES — must be faultless and equalized so there is no pulling to one side with re-sulting skidding.

TIRES — snow tires increase traction in soft snow. But drivers should ensure that their regular tires have sufficient tread , to provide some grip on unexpected ice and hard packed snow.

EXHAUST SYSTEM — the muffler and tail pipe system should be checked for leaks to protect deadly carbon monoxide gas poisoning is especially dangerous coldweather driving when the windows are closed.

WINDSHIELD WIPERS — should be checked for proper tension and antifreeze added to the washers.

BATTERY — battery power declines in cold weather. Have your battery checked and replaced if necessary.

HEATERS AND DEFROSTERS should be checked to see they are operational.

EXTRA EQUIPMENT — motorists should be equipped with a brush to wipe off snow, a windshield scraper to remove ice, tire chains for when the going gets heavy, a battery booster cable, rockssalt, sand or ashes, a couple of pieces of carpeting, some kind of a shovel and a flashlight.

STARTING on SLIPPERY SURFACES — Easy does it when starting on icy or hard packed snow surfaces. Too much application of too much power will spin wheels. Start in second gear for added traction. If you get stuck, first turn the wheels from side to side a few times to push the snow out of the way, steer straight ahead and ease forward gently spinning the wheels will only get you in deeper unless the ice or snow surface is thin or bare tie.

BRAKING FOLLOWING DISTANCE — You need a much greater distance in which to bring vehicles to a halt in icy conditions. This means drivers should maintain a greater following distance in these conditions. They should also reduce speed to decrease their stopping distance. It's a mere bet that drivers whose vehicles ram others from the rear are negligent. Winter driving in these conditions requires a different braking technique. Slamming the brakes will lock the wheels, producing uncontrolled skids. Motorists should pump their brakes, gently and intermittently, to bring their vehicles to a halt while maintaining steering control. Drivers whose vehicles are equipped with studs or chains should keep a special lookout for the driver behind whose vehicle may not be so equipped so can not stop as quickly.

THE HEED — Keep your cool. Don't slam on the brakes. Maintain a firm grip on the wheel. Take your foot off the accelerator and steer in the direction of the rear of the vehicle is skidding. Don't overcompensate. When you feel the car regaining traction, straighten your wheels. But drivers should be prepared to handle a second skid in the opposite direction. This emergency is proof positive of the need to slow down in icy conditions because it is much easier to recover at lower speeds.

VISIBILITY — Don't be a peep hole driver. Motorists need maximum visibility at all times in winter conditions, so even a light snowfall reduces perception considerably. Motorists have to see and be seen because vehicles need more time and space to stop safely in slippery conditions. Keep your windows clean - front, rear and sides. Use windshield washers often when driving in slushy conditions and, if driving at night, stop occasionally to clean headlights and taillights. But when visibility nears zero in a heavy snowfall, park ing is the answer.

THE BLIZZARD — If driving in a snowstorm is a must, use the low beam. The high beam reflects light from the snow, dazzling the driver.

Pull off the road with your lights on so you can be seen. Maintain a sensible distance from the next car because your heater can inhale its exhaust fumes if you're parked too close. Keep your heater going and a window open.

To be a safe winter driver, slow down, avoid sudden manoeuvres and, in general, drive defensively by recognizing the hazards, understanding the defences and acting in time.

George Baker named as new Ryley mayor

George A. Baker was named as Ryley's new mayor when village council held its regular meeting in December.

Following the election in the fall, Mr. Baker had been named as deputy mayor and was boosted to the mayor's chair following the earlier resignation of the mayor.

Some of the committees formed earlier were changed, as follows:

Finance, Brown, Van Berkel; Bylaws, health and welfare, Baker, Heilesen; Fire, light, police, Brown, Van Berkel; Utilities, water, sewer, Burton, Heilesen; Public works, Burton, Heilesen; town property, land development, zoning, VanBerkel, Burton Heilesen; Community service, Brown, Baker.

Marvin Jacobson and Tom Kerlee were named to the Ryley Recreation Board while E. H. Brown was named to the local board as well as to the Regional Board.

Council decided to contact Calgary Power and have lights erected on the following streets: north corner of 49th Street and 50th Avenue; middle block of 49th Street and 53rd Avenue; middle of 51st Avenue and far east end of 47th Street.

A building permit was issued to Sandy Suchy for the construction of a garage.

Regular items of business were attended to. The meeting was attended by all members of council along with the secretary-treasurer.

Tires

Consumers' Association of Canada advises car drivers that radial tires give longer mileage and better traction. But, unless the original tires on your car were radials, special adjustments will be needed to allow you to use them because of their different handling characteristics. If you do use radials, all tires on your car should be radials, including snow tires. CAC headquarters are at 100 Gloucester Street, Ottawa, Ont.

Complex name being sought

The Holden Agricultural Society is holding a contest to find a name for the new complex in the village.

Entries for the "Name the Complex" contest should be sent to Christine Mackay, Box 128, Holden by January 25th. The winner will receive a ten dollar prize.

Tomorrow (Friday) night, there will be a joint meeting of the Society, along with the men's and ladies' curling clubs. The meeting will be held in the Complex waiting room at 7:30 p.m.

The waiting room of the complex has now been painted and windows for the curling rink will be installed upon arrival. Furnaces have arrived and are being installed with work started on the furnace, dressing and shower rooms.

All the posts for the fence have been cemented into place with the boards to be up shortly. At present, the ground is being cooled in preparation for making ice.

Area recreation boards to ponder major items

Two important items were referred to local recreation boards and councils for study by the Regional Recreation and Pars Board at the board's regular monthly meeting in December.

The question of hiring a program supervisor was again raised and two proposals in this regard were suggested to local authorities for study and recommendations at the board's January meeting.

One proposal was that an assistant director be hired and work out of the office in Ryley while a second proposal was that two Zone directors be obtained and that they should work out of the eastern and western ends of the county.

Opinions were to be sought from local authorities on the possible purchase of the Holden Theatre Building for use as a cultural centre in the county.

Fairly extensive renovations would have to be made to the building which would be done in stages as grant monies became available. It was suggested that a decision should be made quickly so that the Village of Holden would know whether or not they should let the structure be sold for other purposes.

The Board was informed that the next Music and Arts Festival would be held on March 14th, 15th and 16th in Holden. A syllabus is being prepared for consideration by the Arts Committee.

Vice-chairman Andy Heiberg of Tofield chaired the meeting.

In attendance were Henry Nachtigal and Andy Heiberg, Tofield; Tom Kerlee, Ryley; Dennis Cooper and Charles Mathews, Holden; Henry Field and Morris Erickson, Bruce; Jack Fountain and Len Josephison, Viking; Charles Sears and Eugene Ewasluk, County Council; and staff members, George Baker and Marlene Podoborozny.

This news story was prepared from the unapproved minutes of the December meeting which were forwarded to The Mercury.

ACHILLES' HEEL

Mistaken or misled?

Several recent developments in Alberta's oil business have given rise to questions of grave importance, and Albertans particularly are interested in learning more of the truth.

Obviously several questions have been touched off by the incredible, almost unbelievable escalation in the estimates of Syncrude's development, at more than double in less than a year. And then there are Professor Pratt's allegations that the whole confrontation has been engineered, to bring both federal and provincial governments to heel.

Last weekend, when eight members of the Legislature filed their report from a three year study of foreign investment in Alberta, NDP leader Grant Notley, the ninth member, found himself compelled to file a minority report, because his reading of the situation was so much at variance with the eight. We have only had his report long enough for the sketchiest review, but are fascinated, and thunderstruck, in his reference to a "Schultz" report on oil policy written in 1970 for the Nixon administration. Mind you, this was an American report, for an American president, and showed that for every dollar they had invested in Alberta oil since Leduc, the U.S. oil companies had recovered 75 cents in the first year of production. It sounds unbelievable, but in the light of its background, it must be given a good deal of credibility.

No wonder Mr. Notley is forced to dissent from a standard type report advocating more of the same! No wonder Edmonton's well known Mel Hurtig has been calling [illegible] for more publicity on the impact of foreign ownership, because he knows publicity would force action.

For years and years Albertans have been secure in the knowledge that petroleum reserves were building up rapidly with more and more gas and oil finds, and have been sure that their political leaders and the oil industry were protecting them with an increasingly large, rolling thirty-year supply for all their needs. What a shock in recent weeks to find highly qualified limitations to this guarantee. What a shock to find that, it appears, everybody was so eager to sell the stuff that nobody was looking after the interests of Albertans.

How much gas do we really have? How long will our oil supplies last? Does Alberta actually lose money with every barrel of oil being exported? Are we again moving back to a position of hewers of wood, and drawers of water, as foreign interests gain control, not only of our petroleum, but other energy resources as well? Albertans have a right to know. These and many other questions may not be answered this spring on the hustings, or in the Legislature, but the answers are going to come out some time . . . let's hope they come in time to still be able to do something about the problems.

Get ready to pay

The smoke signals are going up from Ottawa and Montreal, and we might as well all get ready to accept the fact that the country as a whole is going to have to bail out Montreal in their situation with the Olympics, and pony up millions of dollars, just as we had to do at the time of EXPO '67.

It's almost hard to believe that we could all be taken in a second time by Mayor Drapeau, with his insistence that there would be no cost to the Canadian taxpayer. There are suggestions, of course, that we could simply back off, see the games fall flat on their face. Or refuse to have them here. But whether we like it or not, the world of nations feels it's Canada's show at the Olympics, not just Montreal's. In the same way, a few years ago, most Canadians thought of the Japanese Olympics, and few thought of them as just Osaka's.

Mayor Drapeau's dramatic assertion that it was as unlikely the Olympics would cost the Canadian taxpayer anything as it was that a man would become pregnant reminds us of the occasion several years earlier when Alberta Liquor Control Board chairman Peter Elliott was asked about the possibility of men and women being allowed in the same liquor establishments in the larger centres. Utterly rejecting the notion, Mr. Elliott is reputed to have said "Mixed drinking in Alberta? You'll see a man on the moon first!"

In point of fact, we did!

Unpleasant Reality . . .

OTTAWA (CEF)

There were great sighs of relief from Parliament Hill, particularly from the environs of the Finance Department, when Alberta's Premier Peter Lougheed capitulated in December's oil taxation confrontation. The government and the country dissolved into smiles of relief - but wait, perhaps those smiles are premature.

The new Alberta tax deal for oil companies is predicated on higher prices for oil, prices which may be much higher than those we have already been warned to expect during 1975.

We've been advised that our subsidized lower oil price will climb sometime this summer but nobody yet has said officially by how much. Oil experts in Ottawa have been hardened to expect at least two dollars more per barrel. Now it appears that we may see increases totalling $3 per barrel. These increases are indeed necessary to preserve the oil industry in Canada and to put the economy into a rational perspective, but we are easy on people who are willing to spell out exactly what those price increases will mean to Canadians.

Three dollars more per barrel will mean we'll be paying roughly 10 cents a gallon more for heating oil this time next year and 10 cents a gallon more for gasoline. Fine, petroleum is a depleting resource which we've been handling with a great deal of economic carelessness.

But wait until that extra oil hike works its way through the economy, increasing the price of everything we use in a daily life and keeping the rate of inflation at least as high as it's been during 1974. The government has boasted about how the Canadian economy has performed much better than other Western economies. Subsidized oil prices which we've had for the whole year, are the answer.

It's a sorry prospect for the new year but there are no signs of inflation abating nor are there any signs that interest rates will go down.

Neither is there any relief in sight because we'll suffer another $2 to $3 rise in the price of oil during 1976, before that commodity in Canada reaches the world price level.

The signs are there and hopefully they'll soon be underlined by government policy announcements that all Canadians must quickly change energy consumption habits and their entire life style. Trouble is, no politician wants to voice such an unpleasant message.

My hope is that all enjoyed a most enjoyable Christmas season and now look forward to a prosperous 1975.

Miss Theresa Bugler was hostess to members of her family Christmas Day, with her Dad, George Bugler of Edmonton, also being a guest.

The children's Christmas party was a huge success with the children giving their parents and friends a most entertaining evening. Santa Claus came in his sleigh, making his entrance more realistic. Each child received a gift and a bag of goodies. Mrs. S. George once again supplied music for the carols.

A delicious lunch was served by the ladies to a capacity filled hall who came to enjoy this annual affair.

The catechism class of 11 pupils enjoyed a lovely dinner at the Joe Davenport home on Tuesday, Dec. 17th as they recessed for the Christmas season. Classes commence again on January 14th.

In December, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swabey motored to Sylvan Lake where they and their son, Bob and family later enjoyed a band concert in Red Deer. Their grandson David participated in the concert. They stayed overnight, returning home the next day.

The New Year's Eve dance sponsored by the Community League was a gala affair with all in attendance enjoying themselves to the full. Mrs. Bill Roddick was convenor of the affair. The door prize was won by Allen Robertson. Music was supplied by George Kleinschroth's orchestra with David singing many favorites.

As I see it

Walt Buck, M.L.A., Clover Bar Legislature Opens Jan. 23rd

The spring sitting of the Legislature will commence on Thursday, Jan. 23rd. This will most likely be a very short session as I expect a "snap election" to be called by the Government.

The Government is commencing a campaign of wrapping a "strong mandate" to fight Ottawa over the oil issue. Just how much stronger a mandate does a Government need than a large majority of 25 and ALL members of the Legislature voting in support of the Government stands on battling Ottawa??

Development of Oil Issue

The provincial government must take as much blame for the confusion in the oil industry as should the federal. The Oil Industry expected to see a raise in royalties. However, two changes without any consultation caused the Oil Industry to wonder if their investment in exploration was going to be worth while. I'm in no way defending the oil companies because they are large enough to look after themselves, but I am trying to indicate why there is so much uncertainty in the industry today as a result of the province's mishandling of the taxpayers' affairs.

High Average Taxes

Many people living on acreages feel that their taxes are proportionately too high. These people feel that because they must provide their own water, sewer, gas and power, their taxes should not be as high as an equivalent house in the city or a large town. I promise to pursue this issue in the Legislature.

There are many more issues that I will be discussing as the Legislature unrolls.

Please address all mail and comments, after January 20, to Dr. Walt Buck, M.L.A. 9, Legislative Bldg., Edmonton, Alberta.

IN MEMORIAM

LAKUSTA, ANNA — In loving memory of our Dear Sweet Saintly Loving Angel Mother, who returned Home to Heaven and the Angels, 15 Jan., 1969:

"We love You forever, Sweet Angel Mother;
And with You are all our Hearts;
And some day soon we'll meet again,
Never again to part.

We are always together, Angel-Mother;
Nor have You travelled far;
You just entered God's Beautiful Garden

For somewhere beyond the Sunset,
Where Happiness never dies;
You dwell in God's' Beautiful Garden,
Under blue and golden skies.

Because You are so Sweet and Dear to us,
Your Love and Memory live on;
Just like the Frangrance of a Rose;
Still lingers when it's' gone.

Nothing can ever take away
Our true Love for You Divine;
You are our Love, Life and Soul, Sweet Mother,
God Bless You and Peace Be Thine!

Take Her in Thine Arms, Dear God,
And comfort Her Loving Heart;
With our Love and Thine, Dear God,
And never let us part".

— Forever loved and sadly missed by Her Beloved Children. 21p-885

COOK IT SLOW

Santa seems to have been busy in Beaver County delivering slow cookers and crock pots. Although, this is a new appliance, it is based on an old time method of cooking meals. The food is placed in the cooker in the morning and will simmer all day, requiring no stirring or watching, with no risk of burning.

Calgary Power gives us the following facts about slow cooking. First of all, although the temperatures are low, they are safe. On low the approximate cooking temperatures are 200 degrees to 200 degrees. On high they are from 300 degrees to 325 degrees. You may speed up cooking times by using a combination of high - low heat. One hour on high is equivalent to 2 — 2 and one half hours on low.

Here are some cooking hints:
A. Meats and Poultry

The addition of water when cooking meat on the Low setting is not necessary. The natural moisture is retained, therefore, meats-poultry shrink less when compared to other cooking methods. Less tender cuts of meat will be tenderized due to the slow cooking and retention of moisture.

The liquid remaining after cooking can be thickened for gravy, but will require 15 minutes on the High setting. Transferring the liquid to a skillet for thickening would be faster.

Meat which is normally browned in a recipe, should be browned before being added to the cooker. This browning must be done in a separate skillet, a procedure which may be inconvenient.

B. Vegetables

For best results when cooking vegetables, cut them in small pieces or at least quarters. They must be surrounded by a liquid or placed near the sides of the container in order to cook thoroughly.

Vegetables retain good shape and texture, rather than becoming mushy.

C. Other uses for slow cookers are to make soups, hot drinks and homemade baked beans.

It takes an additional one third of the original cooking time to cook frozen foods.

You may need to adjust seasoning amounts. If whole herbs and spices are suggested their flavour power increases during cooking, whereas ground spices may lose some flavour. Re-seasoning to taste just before serving may be necessary.

Try adapting this recipe for use in your Crock Pot:

CURRIED BEEF CUBES

2 lbs. beef cut into three quarters cubes

one third cup flour
one third cup salad oil
1 large onion, sliced (1 cup)
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
2 8-oz. cans (2 cups) seasoned tomato sauce

1 and one quarter cups water
2 to 3 tsp. curry powder

Roll beef cubes in flour and brown in hot oil. Combine onion, garlic, salt, pepper, tomato sauce, curry powder and water, pour over meat. Cover and cook slowly over low heat till meat is fork tender, about 1 and one half hours.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The cooking time will have to be adjusted if you are using a slow cooker.

In order to be successful with your slow cooker and to get the greatest use from it you must experiment. If you start with the recipes that come with your cooker, you'll soon be able to adjust favourite recipes. Just think of being able to be away all day and come home to an already cooked meal.

Slow cookers - a modern, old-time idea!

Tidbits and statistics from the Vikings' tour

Tidbits of information and statistics of the Vikings' European tour have been passed along to The Canadian.

Vikings had a 10-2 record, outscoring their opposition 93-30 with one shutout in their favor, picked up by Fortier.

Their first two games were played on outdoor rinks, with the first game being played in a rainstorm enabling Danko to become the first Viking ever to score in the rain.

Dunn had an emotional experience on the trip as he had the good fortune (??) to become engaged.

Shandro had a scary time when he moved behind a chain in front of the king's palace in Stockholm to have a closer look at a cannon and suddenly found himself faced by a guard whose weapon was pointed right at Shandro.

In the two games at Aalborg, the local team had four players from the Swedish National team, including goalie Leif Holmquist in the line-up. Orebro and Brondby were the only first division senior teams the Vikings played as Nynashamn and Aalborg were second division. The junior teams were from Tyringe and Malmo. Other teams were third division. All European teams were assisted by players from other teams.

IN MEMORIAM

LAKUSTA, ANNA — In loving memory of our Dear Sweet Saintly Loving Angel Mother, who returned Home to Heaven and the Angels, 15 Jan., 1969:

"We love You forever, Sweet Angel Mother;
And with You are all our Hearts;
And some day soon we'll meet again,
Never again to part.

We are always together, Angel-Mother;
Nor have You travelled far;
You just entered God's Beautiful Garden

For somewhere beyond the Sunset,
Where Happiness never dies;
You dwell in God's' Beautiful Garden,
Under blue and golden skies.

Because You are so Sweet and Dear to us,
Your Love and Memory live [illegible]
Just like this Fragrance of a Rose;
Still lingers when it's' gone.

Nothing can ever take away
Our true Love for You Divine;
You are our Love, Life and Soul, Sweet Mother,
God Bless You and Peace Be Thine!

Take Her in Thine Arms, Dear God,
And comfort Her Loving Heart;
With our Love and Thine, Dear God,
And never let us part".

- Forever loved and sadly missed by Her Beloved Children.

COOK IT SLOW

Santa seems to have been busy in Beaver County delivering slow cookers and crock pots. Although, this is a new appliance, it is based on an old time method of cooking meals. The food is placed in the cooker in the morning and will simmer all day, requiring no stirring or watching, with no risk of burning.

Calgary Power gives us the following facts about slow cooking. First of all, although the temperatures are low, they are safe. On low the approximate cooking temperatures are 180 degrees to 200 degrees. On high they are from 300 degrees to 325 degrees. You may speed up cooking times by using a combination of high - low heat. One hour on high is equivalent to 2 - 2 and one half hours on low.

Here are some cooking hints:

A. Meats and Poultry

The addition of water when cooking meat on the Low setting is not necessary. The natural moisture is retained, therefore, meats-poultry shrink less when compared to other cooking methods. Less tender cuts of meat will be tenderized due to the slow cooking and retention of moisture.

The liquid remaining after cooking can be thickened for gravy, but will require 15 minutes on the High setting. Transferring the liquid to a skillet for thickening would be faster.

Meat which is normally browned in a recipe would be browned before being added to the cooker. This browning must be done in a separate skillet, a procedure which may be inconvenient.

B. Vegetables

For best results when cooking vegetables, cut them in small pieces or at least quarters. They must be surrounded by a liquid or placed near the sides of the container in order to cook thoroughly.

Vegetables retain good shape and texture, rather than becoming mushy.

C. Other uses for slow cookers are to make soups, hot drinks and homemade baked beans.

It takes an additional one third of the original cooking time to cook frozen foods.

You may need to adjust seasoning amounts if whole herbs and spices are suggested their flavour power increases during cooking, whereas ground spices may lose some flavour. Re-seasoning to taste just before serving may be necessary.

Try adapting this recipe for use in your Crock Pot.

CURRIED BEEF CUBES

2 lbs. beef cut into three quarters cubes

one third cup flour
one third cup salad oil
1 large onion, sliced (1 cup)
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
2 8-oz. cans (2 cups) seasoned tomato sauce

1 and one quarter cups water
2 to 3 tsp. curry powder

Roll beef cubes in flour and brown in hot oil. Combine onion, garlic, salt, pepper, tomato sauce, curry powder and water; pour over meat. Cover and cook slowly over low heat till meat is fork tender about 1 and one half hours.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The cooking time will have to be adjusted if you are using a slow cooker.

In order to be successful with your slow cooker and to get the greatest use from it you must experiment. If you start with the recipes that come with your cooker, you'll soon be able to adjust favourite recipes. Just think of being able to be away all day and come home to an already cooked meal.

Slow cookers - a modern, old-time idea!

Tidbits and statistics from the Vikings' tour

Tidbits of information and statistics of the Vikings' European tour have been passed along to The Canadian.

Vikings had a 10-2 record, outscoring their opposition 93-30 with one decision in their favor, picked up by Fortier.

Their first two games were played on outdoor rinks, with the first game being played in a rainstorm enabling Dan[illegible] to become the first Viking ever to score in the rain.

Dunn had an emotional experience on the trip as he had the good fortune (??) to become engaged.

Shandro had a scary time when he moved behind a chain in front of the king's palace in Stockholm to have a closer look at a cannon and suddenly found himself faced by a guard whose weapon was pointed right at Shandro.

In the two games at Aalborg, the local team had four players from the Swedish National team, including goalie Leif Holmquist in the line-up.

Orebro and Brandby were the only first division senior teams the Vikings played as Nynashamn and Aalborg were second division. The junior teams were from Tyringe and Malmo. Other teams were third division. All European teams were assisted by players from other teams.

Kingman pioneer marks 100th birthday

An early Canadian pioneer and former Kingman homesteader, Mrs. Maria Syvrud marked her 100th birthday on Monday. Mrs. Syvrud has lived in Camrose for the past 28 years.

Mrs. Mara Syvrud (nee Hjellebraaten))was born on January 20th, 1875, at Valdres, Norway. In 1910, she married Ulrik Syvrud and they sailed to America.

They worked for a few years in North Dakota before coming to Canada, where they settled on a homestead on the prairies near Maple Creek, Sask. Their two daughters, Inga and Bernice, were born there.

It was hard work clearing their land of rocks, only to have the crops burn up from lack of rain. Mr. Syvrud then had to resort to carpentering while Mrs. Syvrud took care of the home, chores, and two small girls.

By 1927 they gave up hopes of acquiring wealth on the dry prairie, and decided to look for greener pastures. They chose uncleared land at Kingman, so again worked hard to prepare this for farming. By 1947, tired and getting older, they sold the farm and retired in Camrose.

Mr. Syvrud passed away in 1938, but Mrs. Syvrud stayed at her home, taking care of herself till she was 91. Thinking that it would be nice to spend the rest of her days leisurely, she took up residence at the Bethany Nursing Home, where she has received the best of care. She has enjoyed the quiet and peaceful atmosphere there, the kindness of the staff, and visits from many friends as well as her family.

Because of her cheerfulness, understanding, and love of all people, her daughters enjoy spending as much time as possible with her. Her long life has been filled with good health and enduring faith which have given her a mind at peace, and hard work and worries which may have strengthened her physically and mentally.

To honor and please her on her 100th birthday, Inga and Bernice served lunch in the Bethany dining room to a few of her closest friends and relatives. Mrs. Syvrud also received birthday greetings from friends in surrounding districts and Saskatchewan and from relatives in Norway.

A telegram of congratulations was received from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth.

Plaques were sent to her from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Lieut-Gov. Ralph Steinhauer, and Premier Peter Lougheed. Letters of congratulations came from Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, MP Arnold Malone, and MLA Gordon Stromberg.

Kingman pioneer marks 100th birthday

An early Canadian pioneer and former Kingman homesteader, Mrs. Maria Syvrud marked her 100th birthday on Monday. Mrs. Syvrud has lived in Camrose for the past 28 years.

Mrs. Mara Syvrud (nee Hjellebrasten))was born on January 20th, 1875, at Valdres, Norway. In 1910, she married Ulrik Syvrud and they sailed to America.

They worked for a few years in North Dakota before coming to Canada, where they settled on a homestead on the prairies near Maple Creek, Sask. Their two daughters, Inga and Bernice, were born there.

It was hard work clearing their land of rocks, only to have the crops burn up from lack of rain. Mr. Syvrud then had to resort to carpentering while Mrs. Syvrud took care of the home, chores, and two small girls.

By 1927 they gave up hopes of acquiring wealth on the dry prairie, and decided to look for greener pastures. They chose uncleared land at Kingman, so again worked hard to prepare this for farming. By 1947, tired and getting older, they sold the farm and retired in Camrose.

Mr. Syvrud passed away in 1958, but Mrs. Syvrud stayed at her home, taking care of herself till she was 91. Thinking that is would be nice to spend the rest of her days leisurely, she took up residence at the Bethany Nursing Home, where she has received the best of care. She has enjoyed the quiet and peaceful atmosphere there, the kindness of the staff, and visits from many friends as well as her family.

Because of her cheerfulness, understanding, and love of all people, her daughters enjoy spending as much time as possible with her. Her long life has been filled with good health and enduring faith which have given her a mind at peace, and hard work and worries which may have strengthened her physically and mentally.

To honor and please her on her 100th birthday, Inga and Bernice served lunch in the Bethany dining room to a few of her closest friends and relatives. Mrs. Syvrud also received birthday greetings from friends in surrounding districts and Saskatchewan and from relatives in Norway.

A telegram of congratulations was received from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth

THOUGHTS OF A NEWCOMER

The recent decision of the Community League to disband has caused a number of people, including myself, to wonder what is happening to community spirit. This announcement is especially disconcerting when one remembers that the Lions Club considered folding this fall after 30 years of community service. The few people that were struggling to keep these organizations going cannot be blamed for their decision to "give up the ghost". The job is so big that a half-dozen people cannot carry out the duties expected of them without tremendous personal sacrifices.

The collapse of these organizations is, in my opinion, tragic. Every town needs an organization which is representative of the many diversified groups that make up the community and committed to service projects such as Santa Claus days, Sport Days, Park Maintenance, caring for the young and elderly, etc.

In the past, I have found that a service club can help everyone—members and non-members, to feel proud of their community. The work that members are called upon to perform can be time-consuming, but the fellowship amongst members along with the proud feelings that accompany a successful project are more than adequate compensation for one's time and effort. As a Kinsman and Lion, I can recall many nights of hard work, but I can also recall the "good feelings" I had inside after helping to put up Christmas decorations in our Old Folks' Home, or handing out Christmas bags to toddlers, or watching our kids in a real close game of Jamean curling. Like other clubs, we took our unfair share of criticism from some people. I'm convinced that every town has it's "complainers", but isn't it better to tolerate rather than fear such people and thereby move ahead in spite of them?

There are plans to try to re-organize such a club in Tofield on Tuesday, Feb. 4th. I plan to attend that meeting —what about you???

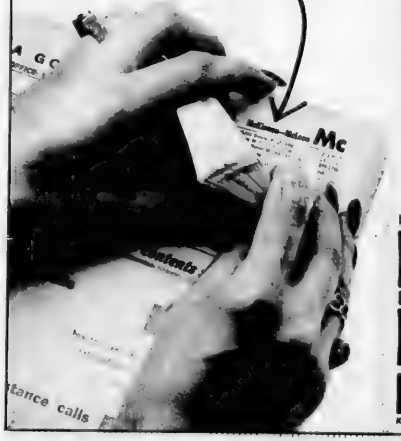
These are Telltales!

McKinnon—McLean



They help you find names to call people

Ever noticed the names printed in black type at the top corner of each white page in your telephone directory? At AGT we call them "Telltales"

They may not be the names of the people you want to phone. But they sure tell you where to find the names—and telephone numbers—of the people you do want to phone.

It's easy! All you do is turn to the Telltale that is closest to the name of the party you're calling.

Each Telltale contains two names—the first name on the page and the last name on the page. Somewhere in between is the name and phone number of the person you wish to dial. By using Telltales you can save a lot of time

Please use the telephone book, including the Telltales. Make it your first source of information. Among other things, it's designed to help you avoid the time-waste and frustration of "wrong-number run-around"

Other ideas to make friends with your phone book:

Circle the names of people you call often. It helps you find them fast and ring them fast!

Use the Frequently-Called Numbers page. A special page provided for you to fill in your own "see-at-a-glance" directory of people you call most often.

Ask AGT for FREE PERSONAL DIRECTORIES in handy purse-a-pocket or desk-drawer sizes.

SUGAR SAVERS

Agriculture Canada sent the following news this month:

Everyone is concerned about the high price of sugar. However, it may be a blessing in disguise as it will give many Canadians the incentive to use less. Sugar provides carbohydrate for energy — about 18 calories per level teaspoon — but little else of nutritional value. A large intake can lead to overweight, if there is insufficient activity to use up the extra calories. Since sugar is also linked with tooth decay, it would be advisable for most people to cut down on their sugar consumption.

Complete avoidance of sugar is impossible because we rely on it to sweeten and bring out the flavour in so many foods. It plays an important role in baking by tenderizing the gluten fibres in flour and contributing to browning and crispness.

To help your budget as well as your own health, Food Advisory Services, Agriculture Canada suggest you try these sugarsaving tips:

- Cultivate a taste for less sweet foods for dessert. Serve fresh, frozen canned or dried fruits. You might try apples or pears on a cheese tray.
- Select recipes which give the highest yield for the smallest amount of sugar. For example, prepare specialty yeast breads and quick breads which use less sugar than cakes and cookies.
- Make cakes without frosting. If you must have a frosted cake, don't frost the sides. Dollops of flavoured whipped topping or a streusel type crumb topping of butter, sweet crumbs and cinnamon may add the finishing touch to many cakes.
- Figure out the cost of making a baked product at home. Compare with the price of a similar convenience product. In some cases, the convenience food may be the better buy.
- Watch where the sugar goes in your home - on cereals, in tea or coffee. Cut down where it is needed least.
- Make upside-down cakes which require no frosting and use less sugar than most cakes.
- Try a custard filling or chopped dried fruits and nuts moistened with honey or corn syrup for layer cakes.
- Remove two tablespoons from each cup of sugar in desserts. It shouldn't affect the product.
- Use leftover syrup from canned fruit as part of the sweetener and liquid in sauces and cold drinks.
- Use frozen fruits which have added sugar in shortcakes, pies and puddings.
- Serve hot desserts, since they seem sweeter than cold ones.
- Finally, always use tested recipes because baking failures are expensive.

Agriculture Canada sent the following news this month:

Everyone is concerned about the high price of sugar. However, it may be a blessing in disguise as it will give many Canadians the incentive to use less. Sugar providing carbohydrate for energy — about 16 calories per level teaspoon — but little else of nutritional value. A large intake can lead to overweight, if there is insufficient activity to use up the extra calories. Since sugar is also linked with tooth decay, it would be advisable for most people to cut down on their sugar consumption.

Complete avoidance of sugar is impossible because we rely on it to sweeten and bring out the flavour of so many foods. It plays an important role in baking by tenderizing the gluten fibres in flour and contributing to browning and crispness.

To help your budget as well as your own health, Food Advisory Services, Agriculture Canada suggest you try these sugarsaving tips:

- Cultivate a taste for less sweet foods for dessert. Serve fresh, frozen, canned or dried fruits. You might try apples or pears on a cheese tray.
- Select recipes which give the highest yield for the smallest amount of sugar. For example, prepare specialty yeast breads and quick breads which use less sugar than cakes and cookies.
- Make cakes without frosting. If you must have a frosted cake, don't frost the sides. Dollops of flavoured whipped topping or a streusel type crumb topping of butter-sweet crumbs and cinnamon may add the finishing touch to [illegible] cakes.
- Figure out the cost of making a baked product at home. Compare with the price of a similar convenience product. In some cases, the convenience food may be the better buy.
- Watch where the sugar goes in your home - on cereals, in tea or coffee. Cut down where it is needed least.
- Make upside-down cakes which require no frosting and use less sugar than most cakes.
- Try a custard filling or chopped dried fruits and nuts moistened with honey or corn syrup for layer cakes.
- Remove two tablespoons from each cup of sugar in desserts. It shouldn't affect the product.
- Use leftover syrup from canned fruit as part of the sweetener and liquid in sauces and cold drinks.
- Use frozen fruits which have added sugar in shortcakes, pies and puddings.
- Serve hot desserts, since they seem sweeter than cold ones.

Finally, always use tested recipes because baking failures are expensive.

Walter Buck will run in next election

Dr. Walter Buck, the MLA for Clover Bar, has announced that he will run for re-election at the upcoming provincial election expected this spring. Buck was first elected in 1967 and re-elected in 1971.

The Clover Bar MLA has been active in the Legislature and has served on four special Legislative committees, the latest one being the group selected to chose the new Provincial Ombudsman.

The resignation of Premier Manning saw Dr. Buck as one of the "new-look" contenders for the provincial leadership. The contest saw Premier Strom the winner, but the Clover Bar MLA ended up a suprisingly strong third behind Strom and Gordon Taylor

The MLA has stated that there are three basic reasons why he will run: "There is only one real reason why I'm in politics and that is to serve the people, by that I mean all the people regardless of their politics or station in life.

Secondly, to provide the people of Clover Bar a "free voice" in the Legislature to have their opinions expressed and,

Thirdly because I know the people in the constituency and their problems. I am in a favorable position to better serve the constituency

The constituency executive will be setting up a nominating meeting to be held likely in early March.

Festival group sees statement

The financial statement from the first annual Arts and Music Festival, held in Holden in October, was presented to the Beaver Regional Arts Committee at a meeting earlier this month.

Total revenue from the festival was $452.78 while expenditures amounted to $607.62, leaving a deficit of $154.84. The deficit was taken care of in the festival's 1974 budget.

Committee members made final corrections to the syllabus being printed for the second annual festival which will be held in March, also in Holden. Copies of the syllabus will be sent out to county residents in the near future.

It was decided that a "tea" would be held after the final program on Sunday during this year's festival, rather than have a banquet as was the case last year which saw the banquet lose money.

In attendance at the meeting were George Baker, Ryley; Blaine Greenwood, Tofield; Eveline Baker, Ryley; Diane Luke, Tofield; and Doris Ogrodnick, Holden.

Agricultural Society's past year "success"

The Tofield Agricultural Society held a total of six meetings during the 1974 operating year.

In 1974, the debt on the building was reduced to $30,000 with [illegible] being paid in interest on the loan. A three-mill tax rate has now been established throughout the county. From all money raised by this levy, [illegible] in principal plus interest will be allocated to each of the four major centers in the county and [illegible] to the two smaller centers with lesser amounts going to the rural areas. Thus, the present debt on the building will be taken care of.

Under the direction of Sam Mostowich, renovations to the building were completed in the amount of $13,042.84.

For the 1974-75 hockey season there will be two senior men's teams, three mercantile teams and one old-timers' team operating out of the Tofield Arena.

In minor hockey, only Tofield is using the Arena for home games. Arrangements have been made with the Ryley Minor League to use the Arena for some practice sessions. In addition, the Tofield Skating Club has increased in membership to 206. As a result, two days are now being used for instructions plus practice sessions in the morning.

The 4-H show was again held indoors which was appreciated greatly by the members.

The Arena was used on several occasions by the Tofield Garden Club for flower shows and other events.

On July 1, the Arena was used extensively. The Agricultural Society operated the concession the barbecue was served inside, and a display was set up in the lobby. In addition, a dance was held in the Arena area.

On the long weekend in August, the Alta-Sask unit of Air-Stream Trailers used the grounds for parking facilities, and the Arena for entertainment and washroom facilities.

The Hereford Tour used the Arena in July for part of its show.

An attempt was made to organize tennis in the summer, but was discontinued because of lack of interest

The concession booth in the Arena was started in the fall by Elsie Neufeld and is now being operated by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Koop. Edward Regher was retained as Building Manager for the 1974-75 season.

Marvin Bruce resigned as secretary-treasurer in June and was replaced by Floyd Irwin. A very successful farewell was given for the Bruce's in appreciation for the large amount of work and time they had contributed to the Arena.

A hockey school was held in October. It was well attended by local youngsters and is being considered again for 1975.

In the spring of 1974, carbon monoxide checks were made in the arena with the level being found safe. $1,000 was recovered from Valere's Steel because of faulty doors installed in the Arena

At the annual meeting in December, 1974, the following executive was elected to operate the Society for 1975

President, A S Heiberg; 1st vice-president, Lawrence Kallal; 2nd vice-president, Homer Schmidt, and Floyd Irwin was appointed as secretary-treasurer. The Board of Directors are Alberta Watt, Mavis McLeod, Vince Bates, Elizabeth Schacher, Ronald Gorglein, Leo Rurka, Arne Klassen, Eldon Boettger, Robert Wyllie, Michael Gallinger, Yvonne Brown, Elwood MacNutt, Joe Learhuis, Theone Jones, Walter Neufeld, Charles Sears, and Wesley Lawson.

Holden curlers join Agricultural Society

On Tuesday, Jan. 21st, there was a joint meeting of the Holden Agriculture Society and the Men's & Ladies' Curling Clubs.

It was decided to have one mixed curling club as a subcommittee of the Agriculture Society. On this committee will be Charlie Mathews, Marian Tkaczyk, Frances Blue, June Cooper, Bill Dary, and Gina Hrabec. Representatives from the Agriculture Society will be Harry Shyba and Marie Malick.

No exact date has been set for the official opening and the executive will meet regarding this in the near future.

Lawrence Hrabec and June Cooper have been added to the operations committee

The canvass is nearing completion, although there are a number of pledges yet to be collected. These unpaid pledges and new donations can be left at the Royal Bank, Olsen's U.F.A. Co-op, Don Hu'tholm, Bill Ogrodnick, or Christine Mackay.

The curling ice has been painted and the rings installed. Windows in the waiting room have been put in and the restrooms are nearing completion.

With the coming of cold weather, the ice in the arena has been started.

The ladies of the curling club are in charge of the kitchen, and cupboards are presently being built by Fred Steinwand. A combination fridge/freezer has been purchased

TWO BONSPIELS SLATED

The ladies' open "Valentine's" Bonspiel will be held on Feb. 14, 15, and 16th. The first 32 rinks will be accepted and the entry fee will be $30 per rink which includes a banquet. Entries can be listed by phoning 688-3972 anytime; 688-3963 — daytime, 688-3941 evenings.

Nursery produces trees for govt. program

The present production area of the Alberta Department of Agriculture's tree nursery at Oliver is 200 acres on which almost 20,000,000 trees are grown to fulfill the requirements of the tree planting programs that are carried out in this province.

Although a considerable amount of work is done at the nursery on reforestation research, and nearly 1,800,000 seedlings and trees are shipped to Alberta forests each year, the largest portion of the production work is still in farm shelterbelt trees. Under the farmstead shelterbelt tree planting program, the nursery ships approximately 2,000,000 trees and shrubs to farms located from one end of the province to the other.

The nursery's inventory of field stocks of all ages, and all groups, is 15,000,000 trees with the container-grown reforestation seedlings making up the balance.

In addition to the above, about 6,500 six-to-seven foot deciduous and coniferous trees are supplied to provincial parks throughout Alberta each year. It is expected that this figure will be increased to 10,000 within the next two years.

Among he groups conducting research programs at the nursery are the Alberta Research Council, the Canadian Forestry Service and Alberta Agriculture. Since the nursery is a production-oriented unit, the research programs are aimed at solving production problems.

PARENTS OF MINOR HOCKEY PLAYERS

Dear Sir:

I can just see you proud fathers, chests stuck out, saying "Oh, yes, my boy plays hockey"

How would you know, you are so rarely, if ever, at the arena?

I am speaking of one team in particular, and sincerely hope the parent-backing is not this bad on every team. Hats off to the coaches. Parents, please stop and think of the hours these fellows put in to teach our sons how to play the game of hockey. How about supporting both coach and boys a little more?

When there's a game away from home, let's all willingly take our turn at driving the team. When they play at home, let's all be there to cheer them on. Let's get involved, it's really worth it. So you're working, have little children, chores, etc., etc., don't we all? It's really worth the effort, just come out and see.

The boys would likely play better hockey if mom and or dad were there to see them and the coaches would feel their efforts were appreciated. See you at the arena

As I see it

By Walt Buck, MLA

Legislature opens Jan. 23rd

The final session of this Legislature will commence on Thursday, Jan 23rd. Clover Bar MLA, Dr Walter Buck expects that the session will be relatively short with the Government calling a "snap election" in the Spring.

The Government has indicated that it will introduce only 50 to 60 bills, which is only about half of the usual legislative load.

The Clover Bar MLA indicates that his major concerns will centre on:

1. Provincial - Federal oil taxation confrontation.
2. Controversy and uncertainty of the Tar Sands project.
3. Labor layoffs that are occurring as a result of the uncertainty of the oil industry.
4. Crisis in the Lameo Gas Coop and the government's failure to assist the co-op.
5. Problems that the co-op operators are having in the farm sector.
6. High rate of taxation on acreage proportion.
7. Problems that villages and towns are facing as a result of inadequate financial support.
8. Lack of government policy relating to a provincial recreational grant program.
9. Lowering of provincial personal income tax in light of increased provincial revenues.
10. Need for secondary highway construction in Tofield-Kingman area New Sarepta Ralphlawn areas.
11. Need for increased educational support to prevent a threatened shortage of teachers in the future.
12. Press for assistance for work on Ross Creek and Armsteas Creek drainage areas.

Speech from the Throne will commence at 2 p.m. on Thursday and the Provincial Budget will be brought down on Friday, Feb. 7th.

EXCHANGES AND REFUNDS

"I just remembered, dear, that we have not bought a birthday present for your sister yet. Tonight, on your way home from the office, why don't you stop at the store where you saw the nice lamp with the blue shade and buy it for her" "Do you think she will like it?"

"Well if she doesn't, all she has to do is take it back to the store; there is no problem."

Sound familiar? Have you ever bought things on such a conditional basis? Beware Last minute shopping can easily get you into trouble, especially if you are under the impression that the salesclerk "must" take back the item if you decide to return it to the store.

If the lamp you bought is not defective, you cannot expect the salesclerk to take it back and give you a refund just because you bought it too quickly, or because you did not ask anyone's advice about the gift or because you simply had to buy something. The following remarks probably sound familiar to you, but it might be a good thing to refresh your memory.

Buying is basically obtaining wares against payment; selling is exchanging something against money. It is the most simple contract between two persons who become equally involved in the process.

In the absence of defects, fraud, or misrepresentation - the only conditions which could justify a lawsuit or a satisfactory exchange - then both or you nor the salesclerk may cancel the sale or the contract without the other party's permission.

You changed your mind . . . afterwards? Remember that you are no more entitled to obtain a refund under these circumstances than the merchant is entitled to ask you to bring the item back because he does not wish to sell it any more. Many retailers are willing to do it to oblige their customers, but it is only due to their good will that you may enjoy this privilege.

Every time you buy something, always ask the clerk about the store's policy regarding refunds or exchanges. Some stores are willing to take back the item, customers do not wish to keep against a refund, an exchange or a credit. It is quite reasonable to expect that these retailers will keep their citizens, one of the sale considerations one of the sale conditions. Unfortunately, others are mercenary-minding: all sales are final. Be sure to determine the policy before buying.

A BIT OF WIT

Irate customer in store: "I want my money back! Look at this shirt I bought last week"

Clerk: "What's wrong with it?"

Customer: "You told me the color was fast. Why, it came out in the very first washing!"

Clerk: "My, that certainly was fast, wasn't it?"

PROBLEM? NO.

But to make the most efficient use of your Pool distribution system and to be sure that every farmer gets what he needs, fertilizer has to move out in a steady flow from now until seeding. Do your part to make sure there's no problem: see your Pool man right away and get your fertilizer home to the farm before spring.

ALBERTA POOL

Sewage sludge made into rich fertilizer

By Peter Tonge
The Christian Science Monitor

Here in North Carolina, a new process has gone into production converting sewage sludge almost instantly into a rich fertilizer.

It can also turn such other wastes as offal or animal manure into stock feeds with a higher protein content than soy meal.

For a nation reeling under the impact of its wastes, this offers exciting possibilities.

As increasingly high water-quality standards are set, increasing volumes of solid residue from sewage waste accumulate on land. And as land prices force more and more animals into feed lots (14 percent at present), mountains of animal manures build up - a million tons a day from beef cattle alone at present.

But the Organiform process, now in full-scale operation here at Organics Inc., uses a urea-formaldehyde formula in a process which rapidly converts sewage into a sterilized, high-nitrogen (20 percent), slow-releasing fertilizer.

Added to [illegible] manures, the formula produces a feed base which can replace such high-protein foods as soy meal in an animal's diet. This is possible because livestock utilize only a small portion of the food value available in their feed.

WASTES RECYCLED

This way, says James M. O. Donnell, who developed the process, the wastes become valuable enough to be recycled on the open market. It is this aspect that particularly interests the EPA. If here is a ready market for the product, says John T. Rhett the EPA's Deputy Assistant Administrator of Water Program Operations, "then a major problem in clearing up our waters is solved."

Meanwhile the Department of Agriculture has expressed concern over the possible build-up of heavy metals to the degree that they become toxic in the soil through continuous heavy applications of sewage sludge. But, unrecycled sewage sludge must be applied to lands at the rate of between 15 and 20 tons an acre to provide the requisite amount of nitrogen. In contrast only 300 pounds of Organiform is needed, greatly reducing any metal poisoning risk.

So far, monitoring programs where heavy applications of sludge are used (the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago runs a major program) have revealed no toxic buildup of the metals, all of which are required by plants to a minor degree. This suggests the [illegible] [illegible]er applications needed for Organiform should pose no hazard.

At [illegible] the cost of disposing of sewage sludge, principally by burying or incineration, averages [illegible] a ton nationwide. Some cities pay several times that figure. Moreover, the average is currently as low as it is because of the relatively cheap ocean dumping practices of New York City and Philadelphia. These practices, under EPA regulations, soon will have to cease.

OPERATING COSTS LESS

In contrast, operating costs at the Organiform plant work out at $15 a ton to produce a high-analysis fertilizer in dry granular form acceptable to the fertilizer industry. It is both dust and odor-free.

And, Mr. O'Donnell notes, it has some distinct advantages over chemical fertilizers. He points out that the nitrogen of treated sludge is tied up in relatively insoluble molecules, whereas the salts in more soluble artificial fertilizers yield their nitrogen too readily. They also are susceptible to runoff in wet weather. In contrast, Mr. O'Donnell says, the slow release of Organiform provides effective fertilization over many months. The sludge also stimulates the activity of soil organisms and generally improves soil structure.

Currently, the 10,000-ton-a-year plant here aims production at the professional turf-growers' market, golf courses, highways, and the home owner who spends $10 a year feeding his suburban lawn.

Ultimately though, the widespread treatment of sewage this way will require marketing in horticulture and agriculture. In its most inexpensive form, liquid sludge could be treated and then piped or trucked to nearby agricultural areas for spraying on lands.

Meanwhile, experiments with cattle at the University of Rhode Island show encouraging results using Organiform treated manures as a feed base. Because of the considerably higher protein content of the treated manures, only 5 percent added to a steer's diet replaces the considerably higher volume of soy meal in standard cattle feed. Ultimately, it is hoped that treated manure may make up 35% of an animal's diet.

The Organiform process, though, is dependent on large quantities of urea derived from petroleum. Thus, as the cost of crude oil increases, so, too, will the cost of any Organiform product.

On the other hand, most chemical fertilizers also have a petroleum base "so our product should remain competitive," says Mr. O'Donnell. More-over, he adds, the economy of a slow-releasing product will become increasingly appreciated as fertilizer prices rise.

CKUA reaches out by radio

ACCESS Radio CKUA, Canada's first full-time non-commercial radio station, will be extending its FM stereo coverage Province-wide. The Alberta Educational Communications Corporation (ACCESS) is expanding its mandat to provide alternative communications to Albertans. The three-phase plan will be introduced in Edmonton, by spring of 1975, Calgary and Lethbridge by summer, 1975, and "step-outs" by summer, 1977.

Phase one of the extension will be to build transmitters in Edmonton, Calgary Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer, Grande Prairie and Peace River of 100,000 watts. Second phase will be "step-outs" from these transmission centres, in such towns as Drumheller, Stettler, Vermilion, St. Paul, Athabasca, Edson and the North Peace. The third phase will be to provide coverage to the remaining centres in the network. By 1978 it is hoped that all of Alberta will benefit from FM stereo educational broadcasting.

FM transmission was chosen over AM for a number of reasons. FM provides superior delivery, FM carries stereo, and provides reliable day and night reception, whereas AM signals are more subject to interference at night.

CKUA's FM signal expansion will be strong wherever the station is listened to in Alberta. CKUA will air regular programs such as "New Dimensions of Education", "University Talks", and various commentaries and discussions on a multitude of subjects. The CKUA music library will broadcast classics, jazz and blues, rock and electronic music and pop music of times past.

While CKUA's FM signal is rarely heard reliably in Camrose at present, the stronger signal, coupled with a relocation of tower, will greatly improve reception here. At present, the station broadcasts on a strength of less than 400 watts, from a downtown Edmonton location. Early in 1975, it will move to 100,000 watts, from a tower on the eastern outskirts of the city.

Drugs! and the law

If you travel abroad, do not become involved with drugs. As a tourist, you are governed by the laws and traditions of the country you are visiting.

Canadian officials can do little but ensure that the accused has the services of a good local lawyer. In some instances, Canadian representatives will try to have a National deported or to convince the judge that the individual was unaware of the gravity of the situation. But ignorance of the law is not often considered a valid excuse. The following are representative penalties for possession and trafficking in narcotics.

BAHAMAS
Sentences for North Americans have ranged from three months to one year for possession. Most accused have been fined $100 or more and expelled.

DENMARK
Possession: fine and detention up to two years.

FRANCE
Sale, purchase, or use: prison term of three months to five years and fine of 3,000 to 30,000 francs. Customs court will also levy heavy fine. Minimum three to four months pre-trail confinement.

GERMANY
Possession for use: light jail sentence or fine. Possession for trafficking: maximum three years in prison and 300 Deutsch mark fine.

The manufacture or import, export of hashish is punishable by 5 to 15 years imprisonment and fines of 500 rials per gram confiscated. No legal distinction between marijuana and hashish.

ISRAEL
Large numbers of Americans arrested every month for use or possession. Maximum sentence 10 years and 5,000 Israeli pound fine. Those convicted of possession of small amounts face heavy fine and possible expulsion.

ITALY
Possession: Minimum three years and 30,000 lire fine. Maximum eight years and 4 million lire.

JAMAICA
Possession: small amount for personal use: short prison sentence and fine. Bail seldom granted. Possession of trafficking amounts: 18 months to three years hard labor.

JAPAN
Possession of small amount, one or two months pre-trial detention, suspended sentence and expulsion. Possession of trafficking amounts: maximum of five years.

KOREA
Illegal import, export or manufacture of prohibited narcotic substances or dangerous drugs is punishable by imprisonment for up to 10 years or a fine not to exceed 1 million won. For possession and use, sentences range to 5 years and fines to 30,000 won.

LEBANON
Possession of any amount: one to three years in prison. Average sentence served by Americans is two years. Trafficking: 3 to 15 years.

MEXICO
Possession: Two to nine years and 1,000 to 10,000 peso fine. Possession by an addict is not a crime. Trafficking: three to 10 years and 2,000 to 20,000 peso fine. Illegal import of drugs: six to 15 years and 3,000 to 30,000 peso fine. Minimum of six to 12 months pre-trial confinement.

MOROCCO
Possession of any amount: three months to five years and fine of 240,000 to 2,400,000 francs. Most hashish is mixed with untaxed tobacco which incurs an additional heavy fine.

NETHERLANDS

An additional heavy fine is based on value of drugs. Alternative jail sentence may be four years or longer. At least one year in pre-trial detention.

THAILAND
Attempted import or export of drugs: six months to 10 years and fines of not less than 3,000 baht. Possession, purchase or sale of opium: six months to 20 years and fine. Use of opium: maximum 10 years. Use of cannabis is not illegal but attempted import or export is.

Fund project announced

The Palliser Wheat Growers Association and the University of Guelph are the first organizations to receive grants from Agriculture Canada's New Crop Development Fund, Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan announced.

The $1,000,000 New Crop Development Fund was established earlier this year to assist with the stimulation, development and adaptation of new crops and new varieties which would benefit Canadian agriculture. It is intended to complement similar research being carried on by universities and provincial governments.

The Palliser Wheat Growers Association, which represents a significant number of producers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, will receive $20,500 to study and promote the growing of utility wheat varieties in western Canada.

Although present production of utility wheat is small, the crop could be important in diversifying Canadian wheat production and wheat exports.

Most western wheat farmers grow hard red spring wheat or durum varieties, both used for human foods. Utility wheat varieties produce a different grade of grain which is usually used as livestock feed. Feeding trials with utility wheat have been carried out under the auspices of the Canadian Wheat Board and the Canada Grains Council.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL TOURNEY
The annual 1974-75 Beaver County Junior High basketball tournament was held in Tofield on Saturday.

The Tofield girls' team, coached by Floyd Irwin, won the trophy by defeating the Holden girls' team. The Ryley boys won the boys' trophy by defeating the Tofield boys, coached by Sam Hulkowich, in the final game.

The tournament was arranged by Sam Hulkowich. Most of the junior and senior school teachers participated in refereeing, time keeping and supervising. Out-of-town teachers also participated.

The concession was staffed by the grade 8 and 9 girls, Carol Ann Francis and Caroline Chilcovich also assisting.

VALENTINE TEA
Despite the prevalence of measles and 'flu, the junior high students are proceeding with preparations for the annual Valentine Tea.

The Queen will be crowned by Heather Allan at 3 p.m. The public has always supported the tea very well, enabling the students to buy uniforms, cups and saucers, spoons and other necessities for the school. The same support is hoped for this year.

We must be more than human . . .

Alberta's Lieutenant Governor Ralph Steinhauer was in an expansive mood last Wednesday as he talked easily and freely to the annual meeting of the Camrose Chamber of Commerce. "We have to be more than human . . . it's so easy to be inhuman," he reminded his listeners at one point. Mr. Steinhauer was introduced by Laurie Blades, a long-term personal friend of the newly appointed lieutenant-governor. —Camrose Canadian Newsphoto.

Chester Ronning given NDP life membership

Retired diplomat Chester Ronning was awarded a lifetime membership in the Alberta section of the New Democratic Party, at the 12th annual convention of the party held in Calgary on January 31st, February 1st and 2nd. The award was accepted in Mr. Ronning's absence by David Moore, NDP candidate for the Camrose constituency.

For the first time in the history of the Alberta NDP, life memberships were awarded to a select few who have given outstanding service to the advancement of democratic socialism in the province.

On accepting the award for Dr. Ronning, who is currently on a European trip, Mr. Moore commented that "We are particularly proud that Dr. Ronning be honored in this way, for not only has he been an inspiration and devoted supporter of a more just system of equality for the citizens of this country, but has also become a nationally and internationally recognized Canadian diplomat. Unfortunately, we in the Camrose area and also in Alberta often fail to appreciate the significance of this."

Chester Ronning was also honored in another way at the convention. At an appreciation dinner for David Lewis on Saturday night, Dr. Ronning's recently published book, "A Memoir of China in Revolution", was given to Mr. Lewis on behalf of the Alberta New Democrats.

Vikings still in first place

The CLC Vikings maintained their hold on first place in the ACAC Hockey League during the past week, with no thanks going to the Mount Royal Cougars.

In three games to date, Mt. Royal now has a win, a tie and a loss with the Vikings while the Vikings' nearest opponent, Red Deer, has picked up three wins in as many starts against the Calgary team.

Vikings will get another chance against Mount Royal on Saturday in Calgary and then, on Sunday, they will go against SAIT. Vikings will host NAIT in Camrose on Wednesday night.

Olds and Lethbridge have been eliminated from a playoff berth while SAIT has a chance to catch NAIT for the final playoff berth.

Vikings hosted Red Deer on Tuesday and trimmed the visitors 6-2 to strengthen their grip on top spot in the standings.

Irwin led the Vikings as he had a goal and two assists while other markers were picked up by Gould, Large, Stewart, Miller and Andreassen. Foord and MacDonald got the only Red Deer goals.

Vikings outshot the visitors 34-23 and had nine penalties to 13 for Red Deer.

Before a packed house on Sunday afternoon, as part of Minor Hockey Weekend, the Mount Royal Cougars stunned the Vikings as they emerged with a 3-2 overtime victory.

Patterson, Bailey and Matkin scored for the Cougars while Dunn, who had an outstanding game, picked up both of the Vikings' goals.

Vikings outshot the visitors 36-29 and had only three penalties to 11 for the visitors, but could not get their power-play clicking.

Welsh is candidate for Vegreville NDP

At a meeting of approximately 120 people at the Legion Hall in Vegreville, Barney Welsh, a prominent grain farmer and building mover was nominated by acclamation to contest the riding of Vegreville for the New Democratic Party in the anticipated spring election.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Grant Notley, MLA for Spirit River-Fairview and leader of the Alberta NDP.

Speaking to the meeting, Mr. Welsh emphasized the injustice and problems arising from the decisions of the present government. He noted that there was little input from farmers in the government and pointed out some of the absurd statements by the Minister of Agriculture, Hugh Horner, which clearly demonstrates his lack of knowledge about agriculture in Alberta.

Mr. Welsh was the NDP candidate in 1971 and did extremely well. The NDP provincial secretary, Howard Leeson, who was also in attendance, noted that the CCF had held the Vegreville area for eight years in the 1950-60's. He pledged all out support for Mr Welsh and stated that Vegreville was a top priority riding.

Mr. Notley, in his speech, emphasized the deficiencies of the Speech from the Throne read on Thursday, Jan. 23rd. He attacked the government for its huge give-away to oil companies already making huge profits. In particular he noted the 80% rise in fertilizer prices.

P.C.'s plan annual meeting

The Vegreville Federal Progressive Conservative Association is holding its annual meeting at the Recreation Centre in Two Hills on Friday, Feb. 21st. The business session will commence at 2:30 p.m. to be followed by a reception at 6 p.m. with the banquet at 7 during which Ray Hnatyshyn, Q.C., M.P., will be the guest speaker.

LUNCH TIME TREATS

About this time of year bagged lunches become pretty boring. Lunch at home may settle into a soup and sandwich routine. Each day we are faced with a problem ... what to serve for lunch.

A good lunch should have the following

1. Meat or a high-protein substitute (peanut butter, beans, nuts eggs, cheese, etc.)
2. Fruit or vegetables
3. Milk to drink or eat
4. Bread or cereal substitute (whole grain muffins, oatmeal cookies, etc.)

Extras maybe added of course but this is the basic pattern.

We have a new pamphlet in our office called "mini meal munchies". It is full of new lunch ideas. The following recipes are from this booklet. If you would like a copy please write our office. Try this sandwich filler.

FORAGE
goes a long way in solving feed grain problems.

1975 — and it's no year to cut down on your forage acreage. Seed a crop of good, clean, high germinating certified forage seed and you'll see it pay off in several ways. Your land will be better for the rotation; your crop will be cleaner without weeds in the seed; and your livestock or mixed farm set-up will be more independent of high feed grain prices.

With forage crops, too, variety is important for best results. So see your Pool man for the varieties that will work for you.

Check on Charities

The demand on our pocket books for donations is reaching an all-time high. Yet what about Charitable Organizations.

The United Appeal, or [illegible] has provided many Canadians with a convenient way of making a single donation to be apportioned to various member charities. There are other charities outside of the United Appeal seeking financial support such as the Canadian Cancer Society, The Heart Fund and the Salvation Army, to mention only a few.

Here are certain "Charities" that abuse such services and a majority of solicited funds on high administrative costs. Such high costs can be caused by poor management; large salaries paid to executives, expensive promotion and publicity costs.

Everybody's Money, a publication put out by Credit Union Association suggests do's and don'ts to consider when solicited for a Charitable contribution. These tips are summerized below:

1. Check the name and address of the organization soliciting funds.
2. If solicited by phone, request that the appeal for funds be made in writing, preferably on the organization's letterhead.
3. If well-known persons or organizations are mentioned — beware. The party involved may not be authorized to use these names.
4. When donating, write a cheque payable to the Charity, not to an individual and never pay with cash.
5. All genuine charities must be licensed by the Federal Government. Always, ask for their licence number.
6. If you doubt about a Charity, check with the local Chamber of Commerce or the Better Business Bureau.
7. Retain all donation receipts for income tax purposes.

Here the many needs of the world crying out for financial assistance. It is important to be sure that your charitable donations is being used efficiently and for the purposes you had in mind. So let's check on Charities.

Local tree names vary greatly, for example Yellow Birch is also known as Curly Birch, Hard Birch, Black Birch, Gold Birch or Red Birch in various places throughout its range in eastern Canada.

Last rites are held for Marilyn Gould

MARILYN SARAH GOULD

Marilyn Sarah was born to Jacob and Sarah Riediger on August 9, 1947, in Taber Alberta. She was the fourth in a family of nine children, four brothers, Alfred, Edwin, Walter and Victor, and four sisters, Linda, Hilda, Lois, and Joanne.

At the age of four she moved with her family from Pincher Creek in Southern Alberta to live in the Tofield district. She attended the Bardo school for six years and took the rest of her public schooling in Tofield.

Upon completion of high school, Marilyn underwent medical tests which revealed the seriousness of her heart condition. True to her courageous character, she followed through with her plans to attend the Prairie Bible Institute in Three Hills, and spent four and a half years there, graduating in 1970.

After working for a year with Alberta Government Telephones in Edmonton, Marilyn was married to Hugh Gould of Irma on July 3, 1971. The couple made their home in Vermilion, where they were active members of the Alliance Chapel.

On January 13, three days after giving birth to a son, Kevin Scott, Marilyn passed away.

Marilyn was predeceased by her mother in 1964, and is survived by her husband, Hugh, her infant son, Kevin Scott, her father, four brothers, and four sisters.

The funeral service was held from the Tofield Mennonite Brethren Church on Thursday, January 16, conducted by Rev. Henry Epp of Tofield, and Rev. Howard Woodruff of Vermilion.

The pallbearers were Messers Gary Gould, Dennis Gould, Wilfred Gould, Don Collins, George Sukkau, and Ernie Dueck, all brothers-in-law of the deceased. Interment followed in the Tofield Mennonite Brethren cemetery.

Strome rink wins crown

A rink skipped by Pat Isler of Strome won the Zone mixed curling championship during a playoff bonspiel in Tofield over the past weekend.

The Strome quartet won four out of five games in taking the crown as they won the 'A' Event in three straight games, before losing their first contest in the 'B' Event. They rebounded from the loss to win a deciding game and the title.

Other members of the newly crowned championship team are Sharon Rouse, Jim Miller, and Linda Rouse.

Six teams had been entered in the playoffs held at the Tofield Curling Club. The Strome rink will now advance to the Northern Alberta finals which will be staged at the Ottewell Curling Club in Edmonton on February 15th and 16th.

The Miller rink stopped Wood of Camrose, Goubault of Tofield and Sconwik of Camrose in winning the 'A' Event. Dropping down to the 'B' category, Miller lost to Goubault who then eliminated Corbett of Tofield with Miller then beating Goubault again to take the crown.

PARENTS MUST HELP

Tofield Feb 1

Dear Sir

The executive of the skating club would like to express their sincere thanks to the many parents who attended Monday evening's meeting in spite of the cold weather.

The next test date is February 17th at 4 p.m. please note.

There will be a 'Workshop' in the arena lobby to cut and sew costumes for our March Carnival. Dates: Wednesday, February 12th, 10-9 p.m. and Thursday, Feb. 13th, 10-4 p.m. Please bring scissors, chalk, staples and portable machines. All help will be greatly appreciated.

Please help your children to attend all practices before carnival day. Watch for future practice times in The Mercury. If your child does not attend practice sessions, they shall not be able to participate in the carnival. They would only hinder other club members who spend a lot of time and effort in getting ready for the carnival.

Lend us your support.

MG sportscars find ancient skeletons

Eight skeletons - - one of them apparently decapitated - have been unearthed during construction of a plant where British engineers will conduct research to meet Canadian and US car safety and emission standards.

The discovery was made recently during excavations adjacent to British Leyland's MG sportscar plant at Abingdon, near Oxford.

Members of the Oxfordshire Archaeological Unit said they believed that workmen had stumbled on a late Roman Christian burial ground, possibly more than 1500 years old.

Seven of the eight skeletons had been buried lying east-west in the style of a late Roman cemetery.

But the eighth remains an eerie puzzle. Not only was it lying north-to-south but the skull was found lying in the pelvis.

The archaeologists could only guess that it was either the body of a dishonoured criminal or possibly that of a woman executed as a suspected witch.

SPRING DEBATE

The Debate on the Speech from the Throne continued this week. Bob Clark, Opposition House Leader, moved an amendment to the speech that indicates the Opposition's concerns in many areas. The amendment was as follows:

(1) Control and limitation of the amount of expenditure that may be authorized by special warrant (Order in Council not the Legislature).

(2) The re-organization of municipal financing.

(3) Steps to restore confidence of investors in Alberta industry and commerce.

(4) The reduction of, or restraint on, the growth of the provincial bureaucracy.

(5) The reduction of Personal Income Tax.

EXTRA GOVERNMENT SPENDING

The spending of $310 million not budgeted for and not voted by the Legislature is completely irresponsible and total disregard for the Legislature. The use of special warrants by order of the Cabinet only, is essential to take care of emergency situations, but when a government spends $311 million above the Budget, you wonder if they are capable of running their province in a business-like manner. Furthermore, is there any point in presenting a budget or debating it when the government circumvents the Legislature by the Cabinet spending an extra $310 million?

Roy Wilson, S.C. Calgary-Bow has brought in a Bill stating that any five MLA's may petition the Legislature to debate all Orders-in-Council. This would be nearly the same as a Supplementary Budget Debate and has much merit. It would also make the government more responsible in issuing special warrants.

LAMONT GAS CO-OP

Last week I asked, in the Legislature, if the government was going to aid the financially troubled Lamont Gas Co-op. The Hon. Mr. Farran's reply was that no, they did not feel that they would help out the Co-operative. There are many farmers who have contacted me, especially in the Josephburg area, who feel they were "forced" into the Co-op by the government rather than being allowed to be hooked up by North-West Utilities. The cost of being forced into the Co-op was nearly twice as expensive. Because of this government action the farmers and other Co-op members feel that the government has no choice but to help out the Co-operative.

Any comments, problems, etc., please phone 235-3801 or write % the Legislature.

MLA Report

THRONE DEBATE

The Debate on the Speech from the Throne continued this week. Bob Clark, Opposition House Leader, moved an amendment to the speech that indicates the Opposition's concerns in many areas. The amendment was as follows:

(1) Control and limitation of the amount of expenditure that may be authorized by special warrant (Order in Council, not the Legislature).

(2) The re-organization of municipal financing.

(3) Steps to restore confidence of investors in Alberta industry and commerce

(4) The reduction of, or restraint on, the growth of the provincial bureaucracy.

(5) The reduction of Personal Income Tax.

EXTRA GOVERNMENT SPENDING

The spending of $310 million not budgeted for and not voted by the Legislature is completely irresponsible and total disregard for the Legislature. The use of special warrants by order of the Cabinet only, is essential to take care of emergency situations, but when a government spends $310 million above the budget, you wonder if they are capable of running their province in a business-like manner. Furthermore, is there any point in presenting a budget or debating it when the government circumvents the Legislature by the Cabinet spending an extra $310 million?

Julius A. Hall, Camrose, offered to build one unit for $6,350 and three units for $18,150. C. F. Holloway of Castor offered to build one unit, f.o.b. Castor for $5,670.

Young children losing one eye

Hundreds of children under the age of seven are losing the sight of one eye. "Their problem is an eye condition known as Strabismus," said W. J. Owen, Field Secretary, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. "Strabismus, (crossed eyes) is not a disease," he said in a special White Cane Week interview, sponsored by CNIB and The Canadian Council of the Blind. "It is a condition in young children which reduces the vision of one eye. The treatment is simple enough. It consists of patching the good eye to make the child use the poor one. Glasses and sometimes surgery are also used."

Mr. Owen told of one youngster who was first seen by the eye doctor when he was two. The condition was spotted and a simple patch put over the other eye to make the child use the poor one. He was due back for a check in three months but did not keep the appointment. By the time he was seen again it was too late to save the sight in one eye. "The patch bothered the child and the parents had let him take it off. What they really did was let him lose the vision in one eye," the CNIB official said. "Most parents don't understand this and sometimes don't believe it but once the child reaches seven years of age without treatment the sight in one eye is lost for life. An operation can cure the squint but it can't restore sight."

He pointed out some of the symptoms of poor eyes of which parents should look for: blinking and rubbing the eyes, tripping over small objects, showing an over sensitivity to light; these are nature's signals of possible eye trouble. "It's bad enough to lose the sight in one eye but an estimated 300 children will lose their sight completely this year," the CNIB spokesman said.

Conscientious parents can protect the sight of their children in an easy way with an eye examination in the early years."

"Remember: one pair of eyes must last a lifetime."

"OUR OWN FAULT"

Tofield, Feb. 12

Dear Sir:

Of late there has been much attention in the newspapers and on television devoted to emphasizing the economic domination of our country by foreign interests, particularly our neighbors to the south.

When we hear Canada being ridiculed by Europeans and Australians for our "pay-them-to-take-it" policy the impression is left that the foreigners, and more particularly the Americans, are immorally though legally assaulting our commerce.

I suggest that it is not foreign interests but Canadian greed that is involved. There is no need to assign malicious fault to non-Canadians. No one pressured Lougheed into accepting the sale and development of our synthetic hydro-carbons; no one pressured Bennett into "giving away" our water and power resources; Japan and Germany did not pressure us into "giving away" our coal and steel; and no one pressured us into flying the Stars and Stripes in our local arena!

Sincerely,

Kathryn Kam

This little piggy

The difference between one lively piggy going to market and another staying at home may well be a simple matter of protein supplements.

Experiments by Dr. Adrian Castell, an Agriculture Canada crop-use specialist, says pig rations should contain adequate protein supplements for best result: the pigs reach market faster and eat less, and their carcasses are leaner. In his experiments, Dr. Castell says that for each pound of peas added as a protein supplement to rations, there was a saving of between 3.5 and four pounds of wheat, worth about 20 cents.

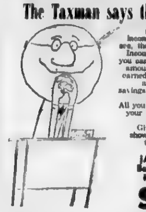
The Taxman says thank you.


for paying too much income tax last year. you see, there's a section in the Income Tax Act that says you can deduct a substantial amount from your annual earned income if you have an eligible retirement savings plan. Take advantage of it this year. All you have to do is register your annuity or permanent life insurance plan. Give me a call and I'll show you how to let the taxman find his own mad money.

The Homemaker

Valentine's Day is celebrated on February 14th as a festival of romance and affection. People send greeting cards containing tender thoughts or humorous pictures and sayings. Almost all ask, "Be my Valentine".

Years ago, people held many beliefs in connection with Valentine's Day. One of the oldest beliefs said that birds choose their mates on February 14th. An old English superstition warned that it was bad luck to bring snow drops into the house before Valentine's Day if unmarried girls in the home hoped to be married before the end of the year.

Most Valentine's Day customs were concerned with romance or the choice of a mate. Single girls had many ways of learning the identity of their future husbands. Sometimes a girl wrote her boy friend's names on bits of paper and rolled each name in a little piece of clay. She then dropped the clay into water. The first scrap of paper to rise to the top was supposed to contain the name of her true valentine. Some unmarried girls pinned five leaves to their pillows on the eve of Valentine's Day. They pinned one leaf to the center of the pillow and one to each corner, and believed they would see their future husband in their dreams if the charm worked.

In Derbyshire, England, young women circled the church 12 times at midnight and repeated the words, "I sow hempseed, hempseed I sow, he that loves me best, come after me now." After that, their true valentine was suppose to appear. Some young ladies rose early on February 14th, looked through their keyholes, and hoped to see two objects. If a girl saw only one object in her first peep through the keyhole, she supposedly had little chance of being married that year.

In some places, an unmarried girl would strike her forehead with a folded rose petal. If the petal cracked, the girl knew that her valentine loved her. When a girl finally married, she could no longer take part in romantic Valentine's Day customs.

Today, our custom is to bake something special. Try

VALENTINE HEART CAKE

Bake cake in layers in chilled bowl, whip 1 and one half cups chilled whipping cream, one quarter cup confectioners' sugar and one half teaspoon almond extract until stiff. With decorators' tube or spoon, form thin rim of whipped cream around edge of bottom layer.

Fill centre with half of 1 can (1 pound 5 ounces) cherry pie filling. Top with other layer. With tip of knife, outline large heart on top of cake. Frost side and top of cake. Frost outside heart shape with whipped cream. Fill heart with remaining cherry filling. Chill.

County of Beaver minutes

be prepared to handle this commodity for their ratepayers

Moved that a letter be written to the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties advising that the County of Beaver is not prepared to handle the sale of baler twine.

A letter was received from the County of Beaver Seed Cleaning Co-op Ltd. advising that their regular monthly Board meetings will be held on the third Thursday of each month unless otherwise notified. The meetings will continue to be held in the County office in Ryley and will commence at 8:00 p.m.

The Secretary-Treasurer reported on a Tax Sale held December 30th, 1974 with the following parcels remaining on the sale at 2:00 p.m. N.E. 16-50-16-W4; N.E. 25-48-17-W4; S.E. 36-48-17W4, Pt. S.W. 8-51-17-W4.

James and Charles Kallal attended the sale and put a bid of $400.00 on Pt. S.W. 8-15-17-W4 in the name of James Kallal. As the reserve bid on this parcel was $400.00, the bid was accepted. The Secretary Treasurer therefore recommended that the offer of $400.00 be accepted by the County Council. As there were no further bids on the property listed for sale, the sale was closed at 2:30 p.m. Moved that the report on the Tax Sale be accepted and that County Council accept the offer of $400.00 on Pt. S.W. 8-51-17 W4

Moved that Lots 10 to 12, Block 5, in the Hamlet of Kinsella be sold to Eugene Gunderson for 125.00

Eugene Lefebvre and Dan Hermanutz attended the meeting at this time. They explained that they had attended the meeting to discuss the possibility of becoming involved in predator control in the County of Beaver. They are interested in inquiring about an allowance from the Provincial Government to help cover their transportation and assist in a living allowance while controlling predators. Moved that the Secretary-Treasurer write a letter to the Department of Fish and Wildlife asking if there is an allowance available through their Department for Predator Control.

Rod Hope, Jack Armstrong and George Armstrong from Armstrong Arctic Services Ltd. attended the meeting at this time and discussed with Council the possibility of purchasing a quarter section of land somewhere in the County of Beaver for the purposes of setting up a trailer park. Plans of the proposed project were distributed to Council members for review.

Moved that County Council has no objection to such a proposal provided the County of Beaver is not required to provide services to the trailer park.

A request was received from Sam Field for payment of a road allowance leased through his property. Mr. Field indicated that he was somewhat concerned over the large equipment that is now travelling through his property. Moved that a committee be appointed.

Correspondence was received from the Canadian Transport Commission indicating that automatic protection will be installed at the following crossings:

1. Secondary Road No. 857 west of Section 30-48-14-W4 at Bruce in the County of Beaver.

2. Secondary Road No. 870 at Kinsella in the N.W. 27-48-11-W4 in the County of Beaver in the Province of Alberta.

A letter was received from the Canadian Transport Commission indicating that a recent site investigation at the public railway crossing on the north-south road allowance west of Section 8, Township 51, Range 19, W4 at Mile 231.16 of the Wainwright Subdivision indicated that the crossing has inadequate site lines for existing trains and vehicle speeds of 30 and 50 miles per hour respectively. Site lines are restricted through a combination of trees and the naturally rolling terrain. However, in light of the light highway traffic, improvement to site lines by the removal of trees only was considered warranted. The Railway Transport Commission will give consideration to making grants for the improvement of site lines. An estimate of $200.00 for clearing on private property and permission of the landowners has been received.

Moved that this letter be received and filed and that the work mentioned in the letter be undertaken.

A letter was received from Northwestern Utilities Ltd. indicating that they are proposing to construct a high pressure natural gas pipeline on the N.W. 29-48-17-W4 to the S.W. 8-50-17-W4. Moved that County Council has no objection to this extension.

A request was received from Rodger Foster and Robert Cupples to operate a business on property owned by Rodger Foster for the purpose of repairing small air-cooled engines.

Moved that County Council has no objection to the operation of this business.

Vince Mulloy from Torchinsky Consulting Ltd. and Gerald Allott, Public Works Foreman, attended the meeting at this time. Mr. Mulloy gave the progress reports on the water and sewer projects in the Hamlets of Kinsella and Bruce. Moved that Vince Mulloy be authorized to approach the Department of Environment and ask if their standards can be relaxed regarding the installation of water lines, so as to reduce the cost of installation in the two Hamlets.

Lloyd K Hanson attended the meeting at this time and indicated to County Council that he would like to have first chance at hauling the gravel situated on his property. No decision was reached regarding this matter.

Reid Sherwood from Coneco Equipment Ltd. attended the meeting and discussed with County Council some of the new equipment Coneco is handling.

George Baker attended the meeting. Mr. Baker indicated that the Department of Environment is prepared to allocate $16,000.00 for reclamation on the Black Nugget Recreation Area. The Department of Environment would like the County Council to supervise this project. Moved that the County of Beaver sign an agreement with the Department of Environment for this project.

As there was no further business, it was moved that the meeting adjourn at 5:30 p.m.

Take the lumps out of farm income

Money received in lumps is great, but with them comes the heavy burden of income tax.

A Sun Life Income-Averaging Annuity has been designed to reduce that burden. It enables you to defer taxes on certain lump sum income receipts by spreading them forward. This will generally result in tax savings and higher disposable income.

Many types of income are eligible, for example: income from the sale of inventory or accounts receivable when you sell all or part of your farming operation; or capital gains.

In cases like these, Income-Averaging Annuities can save tax, earn interest and guarantee future income.

Give me a call and I'll fill you in on all the details.

Lions elect chairman

On Tuesday, Feb. 4th, in the Tofield Public Library, supper was served at 6:30 p.m. With a lot of help and direction from the officials of Lions International and District, plus Lions from Ryley, Chipman, Fort Saskatchewan, Josephburg and Ardrossan, an enthusiastic re-organization of the Tofield Lions Club took place.

A total of 16 members from Tofield-and-district-turned out for the meeting and proceeded to elect officers and to formulate plans for the first meeting of the club.

On Tuesday, Feb. 11th, at 8 p.m. in the Tofield Library the first meeting was held and elections held as follows: Pres., Al [illegible]llock; first vice-pres., Mike Mathisen; sec., Don Kondrat; treas., John Wall; Lion tamer, Ray Pittet; Tail twister, Bob High, and directors, Ed Reg[illegible].

Members were saddened to hear that Lion Slim Cunningham who was Extention Chairman of Lions International, and spent several days in Tofield spearheading the re-organization of the club, was unable to see the fruition of his work. Lion Slim passed away suddenly after leaving Tofield early in February. It is impossible to measure the effectiveness of his work but we recognize his tremendous contribution.

Next meeting will be in the Tofield Library on Tuesday, Feb. 25th, at 6:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the club is urged to attend the meeting, and speak with Lion Ray Pittet, the membership chairman.

The official opening ceremonies will be followed by minor hockey, invitational curling and a turkey curl. A buffet supper will be served in the Community Hall starting at six o'clock during which all guests will be introduced. The supper will be followed by curling and an exhibition senior hockey game.

Brenda Williams chosen as the Valentine Queen

by Grace Phillips

Miss Brenda Williams, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Williams, was crowned Valentine Queen at the annual Tofield Junior High Valentine tea on February 14th in the school gym. Dawn Tiede was runner-up. The gym was decorated to carry out the chosen theme Loads of Love.

Lynn Warner, president of the Big 3, asked Melody Hendriksen, vice-president, to introduce the executive, including the room representatives.

The Valentine Princesses, representing each room, were presented as they were escorted to the stage: Lynda Watt, 7A, was escorted by Timmy Donnan; Brenda Williams, 7B, by Mark Halverson; Rachel Collins, 8A, by Donald Appleby; Lori Jurgens, 8B, by Calvin Goertz; Carrie Epp, 9A, by Keith Finseth; Dawn Tiede, 9B, by Greg Wiens.

After the escorts had presented all the princesses with gifts, Queen Brenda was led to the Queen's throne and crowned by last year's Queen Heather Allan. The crown on its cushion was carried by Dale Van Sickle; the Queen's gift was carried by Brent [illegible]

Queen Brenda drew the prize-winning tickets from a decorated box held by Billy Jensen. Door prize winners were C. Warkentin and K. Zuidema. The boy and girl selling the most tickets were respectively, Dave Wall and Lynda Watt. They received prizes from the Queen.

Mr. Pollock, principal of the school, escorted Mrs. Pollock to the stage where she cut the Valentine cake held by Keith Finseth and Alvin Nachtigal.

Betty Ann Shewchuk and Dixie Rose, social conveners, presented Mrs. Grace Phillips with a beautiful bouquet of daisies, roses, and stephanotis. Mrs. Phillips thanked the administration, the staff, the students, the parents, and general public for help given in producing the tea.

Mrs. Annie Friesen, Mrs. Dorothy Shewchuk and Mrs. Agnes Rose supervised the serving of the lunch. The general public as well as the parents lent their usual generous support to this annual event.

Tofield Satellites top Beaverhill Hockey loop

The Tofield Satellites completed their regular league play with a 5 to 3 win over Andrew Aces on Saturday night.

The game was a hard fought contest at Andrew. Andrew at one time had a 3 to 0 lead, but Tofield fought back to take a 4-3 lead after two periods, and scored the only goal in the third period.

Scoring for Tofield were Schacker with two, Taylor, Whyte and Letawsky with one each.

At Smoky Lake on Thursday night, the Satellites dropped their game to the Imperials 5 to 4 in a fast skating game. This win, coupled with Smoky Lake's win over Ryley in Tofield on Saturday night, gives Smoky Lake the fourth and final berth in the Beaverhill League semi-finals.

The semi-finals start in Tofield and Lamont on Saturday. Tofield plays Smoky Lake and Lamont plays Andrew. The second games go on Tuesday at the same locations. The next two games in each series then revert to Smoky Lake and Andrew on Thursday and Saturday, Feb. 27th and March 1st. Any further games needed, then alternate between towns until one team has won four [illegible]

At a league meeting held at Mundare on Sunday, it was decided that admission prices for playoff games be set at $1.50 for adults, and $1.00 for [illegible]

PARDON ME SIR, WE'RE CONDUCTING A SURVEY ON THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY'S DECISION TO CALL AN ELECTION - WOULD YOU CARE TO COMMENT?

Don Mazankowski, MP

Don Mazankowski, Member of Parliament for Vegreville, has called upon the federal government to take immediate action to remove freight rate inequities existing between grain and meat shipments to central Canada and to resolve the discriminatory freight rate gap between processed beef and live beef in movements from the West.

The discriminatory freight rates, coupled with the current Federal Government Feed Grains policy, and the Feed Freight Assistance on eastern feed grains, is imposing a crippling effect on the western beef and processing industry. In addition, prices on the market in Toronto have been as much as 80 - 90 per cwt. higher than in Edmonton and Calgary. This has the effect of forcing the cattle feeding and processing industry to locate in central Canada, where the major markets are, and where costs are reduced by government subsidy and unfair freight rates.

Mr Mazankowski said the Liberal Government undertook to rectify the freight rate question at the Western Economic Opportunities Conference in 1973 and, to date, nothing has been done.

Otto Lang Minister in Charge of the Canadian Wheat Board, promised as a condition of the Feed Grains policy to bring forth a Freight Rate Equalization Program before the end of 1974, but no evidence of this has surfaced.

The effect of lifting the freeze on rail freight rates has compounded the anomalies in the freight rate structure. It was a clear undertaking by the liberal Government at the WEOC that a solution to the discriminatory freight rate question would be instituted during the time of the freeze, said Mr Mazankowski. This pledge was reiterated during the July election by the Liberal Party and, so far a policy has not been brought forth.

The Government has indicated a policy would be forthcoming in the spring. Conservative members are pressing the Government to bring forth its policy NOW and to suspend further freight rate increases until such time as corrective actions are taken.

Pay record rebate

Alberta farmers who in 1974 placed their hail insurance with the Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance Corporation will receive a record premium refund, J.M. McKay, President, has announced.

A premium refund of 25 per cent has been declared for those policy-holders who did not have a hail claim last year. For claimants the refund is 15 percent.

The distribution will amount to $1,300,000 of which $730,000 will be placed in the mail this week, and will go to those policy-holders whose premiums were paid in full at the time they made application for the insurance. The balance will be distributed in June. To be eligible accounts must be fully paid by March 31, 1975.

Risk carried by the Corporation under it's hail program was at an all time high of $70 million. Hail losses throughout the province were somewhat below average, says Mr. McKay, resulting in a loss-to-premium ratio of 48.1 percent and making possible this large refund.

Major storms of the season were in the Bow Island, Foremost, Wimborne-Three Hills, Rimbey - Ponoka, Provost, Morinville and Eaglesham areas.

The current premium refund distribution applies only to the Corporation's hail insurance program. It does not apply to business written under the hail endorsement of All-Risk Crop Insurance.

Child battering down

373 cases of actual physical abuse to children were recorded in Alberta last year, reports Health and Social Development Minister Neil Crawford, out of 502 reports.

Probably better reporting procedures are making returns more acceptable, but we were astonished to learn that over ninety percent of cases occurred in Calgary and Edmonton, and almost all the rest in Lethbridge and Red Deer.

In 182 cases, very nearly half, the mother was said to be abusing the child, (possibly from a sense of malice, possibly at the end of her tether) while in 87 reports, both parents were said to be abusing the child. Stepfathers and common law fathers were named only in one out of six cases.

Most cases, incidentally, involved excessive discipline, with injuries ranging from bruises to burns, cuts and fractures. Three of the number died as a result of abuse.

That's our boy

Not since he moved to Ottawa since the federal election have we been so proud of Arnold Malone as we are this week, because he said what probably every Alberta Member of Parliament should have been saying. Mr. Malone urged the Prime Minister to fire Senator Earl Hastings as his "voice from Alberta", or else name him to the Cabinet, so that members in the House of Commons could get a chance to challenge him.

Mr. Trudeau's appointment of Senator Hastings in the first place was, he said, because he wanted to hear the opinion of Alberta. Which shows how little he understands (or cares) even yet. In the first place, Alberta has already sent seventeen voices down to Ottawa to represent us. And once there, they are not the Conservative Member for somewhere or other, as we said recently . . . they are the member for that riding, for all its voters. And secondly, the voters of Alberta, at least those who had a chance to, had already repudiated Mr. Hastings as their representative when he campaigned for a seat a couple of elections back.

To have him named now as the Alberta voice in the government becomes a snub and an insult to the voters of this province. We're proud that Mr. Malone challenged the situation.

First class shenanigans . . .

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA (CEF)

For all the East Block talk on Parliament Hill about construction of effective guidelines to govern conflict of interest and the form for receiving gifts by politicians and civil servants we don't really appear to be getting very far.

Does a free plane trip for cabinet minister Marc Lalonde to Israel in a whisky jet for example, constitute a taken gift? If he does it, should he pay income tax on it? Should a cabinet minister's wife travel with him on government business and if she's feted with gifts by a foreign power, do these gifts belong to her or to the Canadian people? If they are hers, should she be required to pay duty on them when she comes back into the country?

Then what about the $200,000 mystery swimming pool now under construction at the PM's official residence. The donors don't want to be known but how do we know they won't be around for elbow rubbing with the powerful - or even the odd splash party — which might make an interesting lobby ploy. Surely if the pool at the PM's residence is being donated, it's not a gift to Mr Trudeau, it's a gift to any Prime Minister - present or future - and he may not always be of the Liberal stripe. So then why not have the donors' names out in the open?

What is more disturbing is the Prime Minister's baffling insistence that the spouses of cabinet ministers are separate and distinct from the ministers themselves, and consequently, the occupations of ministers' spouses in no way poses conflict of interest.

We were all open-mouthed at his logic when he explained there was no conflict between Jeanne Sauve being Minister of the Environment, while her husband Maurice was vice president of one of the country's largest pulp and paper companies, Consolidated Bathurst.

I can just see the two Sauves studiously avoiding all shop talk at the breakfast table on weekends so as to comply with the PM's theory about separate people in a marriage without influence on each other.

It's just as well the Canadian Transport Commission vetoed that idea of giving free first class airline tickets on Canadian Pacific and Air Canada to cabinet spouses. That would pose an incredible spectacle - Maurice Sauve, husband of Madame Minister of the Environment off on Consolidated Bathurst business but flying there first class on a pass issued to him because he is the spouse of a cabinet minister.

If spouses are separate why did Margaret Trudeau have to drop her plans for a journalistic job?

And isn't it odd that Margaret Trudeau has been issued first class airline passes good world wide as the "sort of" first lady of Canada? She isn't, you know. She's the wife of the head of government. Madame Leger as wife of the Governor General is first lady of Canada and she doesn't get any first class airline passes.

Life is difficult in war-torn Cyprus

. . a personal view

Nearly a year ago, Camrose Canadian editor Chuck MacLean was one of nearly twenty newsmen from Canadian weekly newspapers to tour Cyprus and to gain an overview of the role of Canadian troops stationed there in a United Nations peacekeeping role. To provide more knowledge of the island, and its economy, one afternoon was set up as a tour to the seaport and holiday resort of Famagusta, stopping to tour a leather factory en route. Their guide was a charming young Greek Cypriot woman, fluent in Turkish, who kept up a highly interesting commentary during the whole tour. It developed she was to be married shortly, and the publishers asked her to keep in touch.

This tour, of course, was before the outbreak of war between the Turkish and Greek Cypriot forces, so her comments on the war-torn situation, and its impact on the ordinary citizens, are highly interesting.

January 5, 1975.

Dear Bill and family,

First of all I want to appologise for my inexcusable delay in answer to your letters and cards. The excitement of my wedding first, and then the panic of war have made me forget my duty to write to you.

Thanks God I am alive, and this is the most important. All relatives are well except of a mum's cousin who is missing. We did not hear from him since the first day of the invasion. We begin to become popular with the idea that he may be dead. It is so common by now, when every greek family is mourning for at least, one person missing or dead. Anyway, dead are believed to be the most lucky they cannot see or feel. The rest, we live in continuous fear of a new attack and violence. The most pitiful of course are these living in the north, occupied by the Turks. All these you know, I believe.

Though my house was very far away from the Turks now with their prolonging is less than a mile far. Yet this is where I stay because I have no elsewhere to go. I wake everytime I hear a noise and never go to bed when I hear firing. I have a hand-bag filled with the most necessary clothes in case of immergency. I hope there will be no other attack that will force me and my family to become refugees.

My house is severely damaged. The outer walls are full of holes caused by bullets; nearly all window glasses are broken. Shutters are destroyed, curtains and furniture are damaged and the water tank needs to be changed. To repair everything we'll need about L 800 Cyprus pounds up to now we've replaced the water tank and the window - glasses. The rest we keep for later, maybe when a good tourist - season starts I have no work at all and 15 percent of my husbands salary goes to the refugees. Evedently we cannot afoard, we have now an extra expense, the doctor for because I am pregnant. I am expecting a baby in July - anyway we do not intend to repair our house, now before the solution comes we do not want the Turks to find it repaired if, accidentally they decide to advance: we are so close to them, that our aeria is the first to be captured in the case of a third attack. None of the neighbourgs, or relatives have repaired their house. Nearly all relatives houses are damaged because we live in the same aeria.The greater damage of all, is that of my father his car is completely destroyed, his house is not very much damaged; holes on the outer walls and broken glasses. His shop of electric goods is severely damaged. The show-room must be rebuilt and very few of the things are in good condition. His loss is estimated to be L 2,000 Cyprus pounds.

This is in brief the state of my family after the war. I'll try to find some leaflets refairing about facts in general, may-be you can publish some in your paper.

By the way: all my wishes for a Happy New Year to you and your family. Thanks, a lot for your lovely Christmas card and all you have sent to me. I received the match - boxes and the paper. The very paragraph of the article, referring about my wedding. I cut and stuck in my wedding album. The card you've send me for my wedding I keep together with the other telegrams and cards, I received from other friends.

Many regards to your family and friends - you came together in Cyprus - especially to George Complanet - if you see him tell him I thank him a lot for his letter and picture - he took in Turkish Famagusta. I'll write to him soon hoping to hear from you . . . yours, Rolandi.

1st place in the ACAC decided tomorrow nite

A game tomorrow (Thursday) night in Calgary between Red Deer and Mount Royal will decide whether or not the CLC Vikings will finish in first or second place in the ACAC Hockey League.

Vikings currently lead Red Deer by one point and finished off their schedule last night (Tuesday) with a game against Olds. Red Deer were to have played Olds on Monday night, so tomorrow's game decides first place.

The playoffs are set to start next week. If the Vikings are first, they will play NAIT in Edmonton on February 27, with two games on March 1st and 2nd (if needed) in Camrose. If they were second, they go to Calgary against Mount Royal in the first game with other games in Camrose with the same dates as previously mentioned.

Vikings won both of the games they played during the past week.

On Wednesday, they walloped NAIT 10-2 as Irwin, Shandro, Dunlop and Miller each scored twice with singles going to Stewart and Andreassen. Dirk and McAmmond replied with the NAIT tallies.

Vikings outshot the visitors 40-19 and picked up ten penalties to 13 for NAIT in a fairly rough contest that saw four fights take place.

In Camrose on Sunday, the Vikings jumped into an early 4-0 lead and then held on to win 5-2 over SAIT.

Danko, Miller, Irwin, Gould and Stewart scored for the Vikings while Busby and Makepeace tallied for the visitors. Vikings outshot SAIT 35-20 and picked up 11 penalties to only seven for SAIT.

4-H COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING HELD

The second 4-H county council meeting was held on Wednesday, Feb. 5th, at the Ryley Agricultural building.

The first item on the agenda discussed was the annual St. Paul curling bonspiel. As our county is expected to send a rink it was decided a member would be chosen from each club, thereby making a rink.

The county public speak offs are to be held at Tofield March [illegible] starting at 2 p.m. All details of planning such as judges, location, lunch, was left to the host town, Tofield. County junior and senior winners then proceed to Vermilion.

At the regional meeting, an Ontario exchange trip was discussed. As in our Vancouver trip of last summer, again three members from our county will be selected to go.

To gain some interest and enthusiasm in our clubs, summer exchange trips were discussed. The council felt we should either try to host a club, or travel during a week in the summer. Some council members on the regional board were interested to look into a trip for the county.

The meeting was then adjourned and donuts and coffee was served by the Ryley 4-H Club.

New machine turns heads

More than one farmer's head was turned in Swift Current, Sask., last summer when Agriculture Canada scientists took to the fields with a small, and seemingly useless, multi-purpose machine.

Designed to be pulled by bullocks, the machine cultivates, seeds and weeds.

It is to be used in India where most farmers use hand tools and crude wooden implements drawn by bullocks.

"We examined the needs of these farmers, most of whom operate under dryland conditions. Then we designed this machine. It fills one of India's great farming needs," says Ben Dyck, an engineer at Agriculture Canada's research station.

Think metric

LET'S WARM UP TO CELSIUS

If the weatherman forecasts a temperature of 30 degrees C. will you pack a picnic basket or haul out your winter coat. A picnic would be the better idea since 30 degrees C. is what we now know as 86 degrees F. This new scale of temperature measurement is called Celsius and is based on the following: 0 degrees C. is the same as 32 degrees F. or the freezing point of water while 100 degrees C. is the same as 212 degrees F. or the boiling point of water.

Comfortable room temperature formerly 72 degrees F. is now 22 degrees C. Therefore if the temperature is 15 degrees C. you will probably want to take a sweater with you since this is just on the cool side. Your fall coat, however, likely won't be needed until it's 0 degrees C.

That prime rib roast that you pop in the oven at 325 degrees F. will now cook in the same way at 160 degrees C. Or for those of us who are likely to be having a frozen chicken pie at 425 degrees F. the Celsius equivalent would be 220 degrees C.

Bowling marathon is set to go on March 8th and 9th

One of the major sporting attractions of recent years in Camrose will be staged at the Bow-A-Drome on March 8th and 9th when a 26-[illegible] bowling marathon will be held.

As of noon yesterday (Tuesday) 44 bowlers had signed to compete in the marathon. It is possible that this number will swell to 48 before the marathon commences.

All proceeds from the marathon will go for renovations to the Old Arena which has been condemned by the Fire Department. The Old Arena must close on April 30th and may not be reopened until extensive repairs are made.

All bowlers will be collecting pledges for "so much" per game and officials are hoping to raise up to $10,000 from the marathon.

The marathon will be officially opened at 4:00 p.m. on the Saturday afternoon with a number of dignitaries on hand. Details of the opening ceremonies will be announced within the next week.

A number of Camrose business firms are donating various services in an effort to help make the marathon a success. A & W will be supplying burgers and drinks for all bowlers on Saturday night while Pat's Arena Pizza will supply lunch early Sunday morning. Special entertainment acts are being planned and will be announced later.

The news media is cooperating fully in supplying free advertising space while radio stations CFCW, CJOI, CFRN and CHED will be promoting [illegible] and during the marathon while television coverage will come from CFRN, CBXT and possibly CITV.

In addition to raising monies for the Old Arena bowlers will be competing for prizes donated by local businesses.

The bowler raising the most money will receive a $200 food voucher from Tom-Boy while other prizes will come from Lysengs Studio, Bert [illegible] Drug Mart, Barnes Furniture, Duff Layton's Men's Wear, Wilson Electric, Max McLean's Men's Wear, Western Groves Drug, Tip Top Men's Wear, Camrose Hardware, Sid's Sport Shop, while the Camrose Booster will supply certificates of appreciation to all bowlers.

A "grudge match" will commence immediately after the opening ceremonies on Saturday afternoon when Gary Miller of CJOI tangles with Ed Clinton of The Camrose Canadian. Pledges for the winners will be accepted at either CJOI or The Canadian.

The bowlers presently listed for participation may be found in an ad in this issue of The Canadian.

More details of the marathon will be available next week.

Saskatchewan, will carry the NDP banner. Mr. McArthur is married with three children and is employed at Sherrit Gordon. He grew up in the Viking district and had been employed as a farm laborer there.

Earlier, Murray Finnerty had been selected as the Progressive Conservative candidate.

Mr. Finnerty has announced that Premier Lougheed will pay an early visit to the constituency when he will attend a luncheon rally at the Recreation Centre in Fort Saskatchewan on Tuesday at noon. Advance tickets are available by telephoning 998-1210 and will also be available at the door.

Reports from individual members indicated that many activities were taking place in the different communities in the county. It was indicated that Tofield would hold minor hockey tournaments late this month and that Viking had planned a "Skate-A-Thon" to raise money for figure skating.

A number of guests from different provincial government departments, as well as county bodies, attended the meeting which saw all areas except Kinsella represented.

Information for this story was obtained from the "unapproved" minutes of the meeting.

Reports from individual members indicated that many activities were taking place in the different communities in the county. It was indicated that Tofield would hold minor hockey tournaments late this month and that Viking had planned a "Skate-A-Thon" to raise money for figure skating.

A number of guests from different provincial government departments, as well as county bodies, attended the meeting which saw all areas except Kinsella represented.

Information for this story was obtained from the "unapproved" minutes of the meeting.

It was the fourth of 10 airstrips to be built under the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development's Remote Airports Program. Objective of the program, started in 1970 is to ensure uninterrupted medical, educational and judicial services to isolated communities by providing year-round transportation. INPACT

Ever heard of an agency whose purpose is to help the consumer with general insurance problems? Here it is — INPACT — "Insurance People and Consumers Together". And, best of all, it's available to rural consumers (free too) by calling Zenith 2-2350.

INPACT personnel are there for two reasons: one is to provide personal help and the other is education. If you're unsure about the meaning of general insurance terms and policies (general insurance covers everything except life insurance) or what they cover call INPACT. If you feel an unfair settlement is being handed to you, call INPACT. If you have any questions about insurance complaints or inquiries call INPACT. They will not recommend specific companies or agents. That decision is up to the individual consumer and should be made after looking into several companies policies and rates.

INPACT and AADAC are presently campaigning to warn consumers that drugs plus booze equal disaster. Many people drink alcoholic beverages while taking prescription or on-the-shelf drugs. Some combinations can be dangerous even fatal. Antihistamines and alcohol is one of the bad combinations. Many common cold medications contain these. When you add a car to the drug and alcohol combination it is not only the individual life that is in danger, but others as well.

Did you know that if it can be proved that use of drugs or alcohol resulted in your having a car accident your insurance becomes invalid? You are totally liable for the cost from the accident.

Did you know that not all fire policies include a smoke damage clause? Check and see if yours does.

Watch for INPACT'S information and call them if you ever need help or advice.

UPCOMING COURSES.

Take the lumps out of farm income

Money received in lumps is great, but with them comes the heavy burden of income tax.

A Sun Life Income-Averaging Annuity has been designed to reduce that burden. It enables you to defer taxes on certain lump sum income receipts by spreading them forward. This will generally result in tax savings and higher disposable income.

Many types of income are eligible, for example income from the sale of inventory or accounts receivable when you sell all or part of your farming operation, or capital gains.

In cases like these, Income-Averaging Annuities can save tax, earn interest and guarantee future income.

Give me a call and I'll fill you in on all the details.

Read your Tax Guide. It's worth it.

Let's face it. Even though the Federal Government tries each year to make the tax form easier to understand, you probably believe filling it out is a difficult job.

But when you use the 1974 Income Tax Guide which accompanies your tax form, you'll find it's not as difficult as you thought.

And for most of you, the Guide will be the only help you'll need to complete your return.

Read your Guide thoroughly. The easy-to-follow Blue Section at the front of the Guide takes you through the tax form step by step, showing you how to list your income, to deduct your deductions. It tells you ...

If you decide you do need more help, you'll find District Taxation Office addresses and phone numbers listed on the back cover of the Guide. There you'll find all the assistance you'll need.

So, you see, your Tax Guide will probably be your best friend come income tax time. Read it thoroughly and follow it carefully. You'll find it will make your job a lot easier.

Tax Guide '74. How long has it been since you've read a really good book?

We're making it easier to understand.

Frosty Frolics plans are nearly finalized

Plans are rapidly being completed for the holding of Camrose's fourth annual Frosty Frolics celebration.

The three-days of fun and bargains will run on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 28th, March 1st and 2nd.

This year's program will commence on the Friday afternoon with the crowning of the CCHS Frosty Frolics King and Queen, with contestants being sponsored by various clubs and groups at CCHS.

The first big shopping spree of this year's Frosty Frolics will be held on Friday night as all stores and businesses will open at nine o'clock and remain open until midnight. Bargains will also be offered during regular shopping hours on both Friday and Saturday.

There will be minor hockey games in the Old Arena on Friday evening and public skating will be held on Mirror Lake on all three days.

The Camrose Jaycees are once again sponsoring their snow statue competition with all statues to be built on Mirror Lake. This contest is open to all and entry may be made by calling Dennis Johnson at 672-5581.

Minor hockey will be staged in the Old Arena all day Saturday while the Camrose Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion will host a dart tournament which will be open to all.

The second annual Fun Spiel will get underway on Saturday night and continue all day Sunday while the CLC Vikings will be hosting an ACAC playoff hockey game on Saturday night. Saturday's entertainment will climax with a dance in the Drill Hall, sponsored by the Lions Club.

The Moose Lodge will hold a cribbage tournament in the Moose Hall on Sunday. There will be lots of hockey action all day in both the Old Arena and the Recreation Centre.

Snowmobile races will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Midget playoff goes Saturday

The Tofield Midgets will be hosting Goodfish Lake in the Tofield Arena on Saturday in Zone 2 provincial playoffs.

The first game in the total-goal series was played on Saturday with Goodfish Lake winning 5-3. However, Tofield coach, Johnny Olson, feels that with home ice and good fan support, the local team can come back to take the series.

These games are in the opening round of the provincial midget 'C' playoffs. The winner of this series will advance against the winner of a series between Andrew and Ardrossan in the Zone quarter-finals.

Saturday's game will start at five o'clock.

M.L.A. report

Dr. Walt Buck, M.L.A.

LENGTHEN FUSES PLUG!"

Well don't say I didn't tell you it could happen.' Admitedly, I missed the date by 2 days but, that's pretty close. Needless to say, several prominent newspaper reporters in the Legislature have had to contribute several dollars to my cash piggy fund in lost bets.

WHY AN ELECTION?

The government must be getting feedback that the "natives are getting restless" and are questioning many government decisions (because the time to "go" is before the deluge.

The lack of decision and mismanagement of the oil industry, especially Syncrude, is making people wonder what is going on.

AGRICULTURAL PROBELMS

Farmers are becoming more and more restless with Provincial and Federal agricultural programmes. Loans are coming due and the price of cattle are such that loans can't be repaid. Prices of feeds are expected to go up in the spring, the same for fertilizers and farm equipment. All of these pressures make the farmers position that much more difficult.

WHY A "SNAP ELECTION"

Elections should be set at predetermined dates. This would not only save the taxpayer money but, would save the "jockeying around" before an election is called. I believe that all politicians would act more responsible if they all knew the date of the election was predetermined. The Government now has a majority of 25 seats so its call for a mandate is a big hollow.

OTTAWA ISSUE A SMOKE SCREEN

All members of the Legislature supported the government in its battle with Ottawa. To have the government say this is not so is strictly not true. It is our role to question government policy and caution otherwise we would have a total dictatorship but to say the government did not have opposition support is very plainly not the truth.

Even though the election is on, please feel free to call me at any time on any matter.

Write Box 3000, Fort Saskatchewan

Sincerely,
Walt Buck, M.L.A.

Grasshopper forecast

Grasshoppers pose a greater threat to the crops in Alberta in 1973 than they have the past 10 years, Grasshopper infestations are forecast to be "severe" in 2.6 million acres, "moderate" in 3.1 million acres and "light" in 0.7 million acres.

The weather next spring will determine how serious the hazard will be. Hot dry weather as the crops are germinating will cause the grasshopper eggs to hatch early and rapidly. The young hoppers, if uncontrolled, will move into the crop when it can least stand its attack. Cool wet weather in the spring, on the other hand, will delay hatching, and the young hoppers will move more slowly into the crop, which will then have a better chance to withstand their feeding.

Moisture and severe infestations are forecast for the area surrounding Castle, Warner, New Island, Raymond, Taber, Vauxhall, Champion, Fort Macleod and Cardston. Four other smaller infestations are forecast around the High River, Duchess to Drumheller area, Empress to Acadia Valley area and an irregular patch from Provost to Wainwright and one in the border.

This is the fifth consecutive year in which grasshopper infestations have increased since the very low infestations of 1970. The infestation covers almost 10 percent of the area infested in 1966, but the intensity of the infestation in 1973 is not expected to be as great as it was in 1966.

The area north of Edmonton was not surveyed, but reports indicate that grasshopper damage may extend as far north as Smoky ville and Lac la Biche. In the past, grasshopper infestations have not usually reached that far north.

Buck named by Socreds

Dr. Walter Buck of Fort Saskatchewan will once again carry the Social Credit banner into the provincial election, scheduled for next month.

Dr. Buck received the party's nomination by acclamation at a meeting in Josephburg on Monday night when no other nominations were received. Meetings were also held in New Sarepta last night (Wednesday) with another scheduled tonight (Thursday) in Tofield in the new Legion Hall.

Opposition House Leader Bob Clark was the guest speaker in Josephburg and noted the fact that Dr. Buck was the only opposition MLA in the entire Edmonton area.

In accepting the nomination after seven years as an MLA, Dr. Buck indicated that he would campaign as a "man of the people".

Nice form

Don Mazankowski, MP for the Vegreville Constituency, threw the first rock (he hit the broom) to officially open the curling portion of the new Agricultural Complex in Holden on Saturday afternoon. Earlier, Mr. Mazankowski had cut a ribbon and declared the new complex to be officially opened. Part of the large crowd that was on hand for the opening can be seen behind the glass.

Education week changed by the Tofield A.T.A.

Due to the Teachers' Convention dates of March 6th and 7th, Education week will be celebrated in Tofield a week later than the official week of March 3 - 7. This was stated by Donald Kondrat, chairman of the Tofield sub-local program committee at the regular February meeting of the sub-local of the Alberta Teachers' Association on Tuesday, Feb. 25th, held in the school with President Anne Taylor in the chair.

Plans for the evening of March 11th, as announced by Mr. Kondrat, will include classroom displays in the library and in the halls, games in the gym, and lunch in the library. The provincial theme for this year is "Education involves YOU"; the Tofield evening will be based on that theme.

Ron Taylor reported the possibility of a "Pikit" workshop to be held later in the spring.

Robert Lyslo, chairman of the Professional Development Committee, reported that preliminary plans for a Professional Development Day for teachers of students of grades 7 through 12, were being made.

Beaver Local has joined Vegreville Local and several others interested in the process of developing radio and TV publicity re education. 30-second messages should be heard over CFCW in May and June.

A retirement seminar is being held in April. The president emphasized that teachers should begin planning for their retirement several years before it is due. It is planned to have doctors and lawyers in attendance at the seminar, and the spouses of teachers are also encouraged to attend.

The matter of educational materials priorities regarding educational technology came up for discussion. Materials concerned with the metric system were considered to be of primary importance.

The annual Beaver Local Teachers' bonspiel will be held in Tofield on March 1st.

Teen Club gets active

The newly organized Tofield Teen Club is planning two major events for the coming week.

They will be holding a slave auction in front of the Community Hall on Saturday with all proceeds to go into the club's treasury to help get the group properly established.

On Wednesday night, they will hold a teen dance in the Community Hall with music being provided by the Shamrocks.

Irresponsible

It took only a few hundred railroad engineers on an illegal strike to tie up thousands of other railway workers, with ramifications affecting literally millions of Canadians. In a highly irresponsible move, the engineers seized on a mere slip-up in wording in a company announcement, to draw attention to their desire to rewrite a contract they had signed only a few months before.

And the attempt to rewrite the contract was to gain the same benefits in eight months that were spanned over a twelve month period by the contract.

What use is a contract if it can be broken with impunity by the workers? What use is a contract if the union leaders, the union officers, don't speak up in protest over such illegal flouting of the provisions of the agreement. What use is a contract if penalties are not provided for breach of it, whether the breach is by one party to the agreement or the other?

Through their government, the people of this, and any country, have conferred a great deal of privilege and prerogative and strength in the right to a legally organized union. The people have a right to expect that this will be accepted responsibly and dependably. When this does not follow, then the rights extended must be curtailed.

The right to organize does not confer the right to ignore and flout the laws that any ordinary citizen must obey. And organized booking off sick, or study sessions, are nothing but flouting the rules.

Seatbelts? By law?

All across the country the question of whether the wearing of seatbelts should be made mandatory is being debated, and probably good arguments are being developed by both sides.

There is ample proof that they do save lives, and that they do reduce the severity of accidents, notwithstanding a number of individual instances which seem to indicate the contrary. The fact is, and it is amply backed up by statistics from several countries, that the number of highway deaths falls dramatically when seat belt wearing is enforced, as in Australia, and that accidents cause less serious injury.

At least one Canadian police chief is seriously opposed to a provincial ordinance demanding their being worn, because he feels it will produce very strong opposition from large numbers of people, and reduce further still public respect for the law. His point is responsible and well taken. He would, however, encourage a great increase in education as to the values of seat belts, because he fully recognizes their benefits.

One question that naturally emerges in such a discussion is how far should the government go in legislating that a citizen must live safely? It is of course, entirely reasonable to set standards for brakes, for liquor impairment, for speed, driving habits, because these all have a bearing on the safety and lives of other people using the road.

But if they can force us to wear seatbelts . . . for our own protection . . can the government also legislate that we must no longer climb mountains, because of safety, or avoid certain ski runs, because of the accident records, or not drink to excess, or even eat too much. Certainly, that's being absurd. Or is it? Where does absurdity stop? Or start?

For our own part, we wouldn't think of driving on the highway, or in Calgary or Edmonton, without wearing belts. Fitting them is just one of these reflex moves when facing those conditions. But it's just as automatic to leave them on the seat while driving in Camrose, because driving conditions are so different. Why, in most areas, its hard to get up to a dangerous speed before you run into another stop sign, or traffic light.

Our next PM?

No sooner did Parliament get back to work after its five-week Christmas recess than Finance Minister John Turner became prime target for opposition attacks and media speculation.

Mr. Turner was quite naturally a political target for the opposition because of the economic behaviour of the country in 1974 on the inflation scale, but the gibes levelled at him also claimed the Liberal was fast losing his clout in cabinet.

This quite naturally again brought on rumors that Mr. Turner was about to quit the cabinet. Although he was the first to deny speculations he might become the new head of the World Bank, his denials, somehow, were not as convincing as they might have been.

Turner is indeed holding a sticky wicket and he's in a difficult political spot, too. The impression firmly left with observers here is that Mr. Turner is struggling to hold the line on government expenditures but is not having much luck. What sort of success can any finance minister expect when he's trying to preach restraint to business and labor while his colleagues continue to spend in the wrong areas?

Nobody promised John Turner a rose garden when he moved into the Finance portfolio and he didn't expect all the brambles in his patch to be fertilized with quite such vigor by his buddies, either.

Add to that the fact the Liberal leadership and Prime Minister mantle which Mr. Turner wants so badly now is at least six years away — Mr Trudeau having become happily politicized — and there is good reason for Turner to temporarily leave the Ottawa scene.

Only the External Affairs portfolio would be a sufficient attraction to keep Mr. Turner around until the end of this year, in the opinion of Ottawa pundits. He is most unlikely to get that, so if he gets offered the international job with sufficient high profile, he'd probably take it.

Heading up the World Bank just when the West faces dire economic prospects might turn the trick for him. Four or five years out of federal politics and after the next election (should Mr Trudeau decide to step down), back comes "white knight" John, ribbons of international financial accomplishment flying from his staff and ready for a successful leadership pitch.

Mothers at work

Are you the mother of young children? Holding an outside job, too? You have your hands full!

In a new booklet, "Mothers At Work," Metropolitan Life Insurance Company emphasizes that family relationships are far more important than perfect housekeeping, especially when a family's time together is limited.

Today more than three million women in this country work outside the home. More than 772,000 of these women have children under 18 - near, [illegible] 300,000 have children under age 6. In most cases, these mothers work for the same reason fathers do - - because their families need the money.

A few working women can afford to employ a person full time to look after their children at home. Many children of working mothers are cared for by a relative or neighbor. But, the booklet emphasizes, as more and more women enter the labor force, the need intensifies for quality child care and preschool centers.

Seeing that children are safe, well-fed and that they receive the personal attention they need should be the first priorities of working mothers. And they far outweigh other concerns, like a spotless house. The main thing is to be sure your helper is a person who truly likes children and who can be cheerful and affectionate with them. Be certain your helper or baby-sitter clearly understands your ideas of child rearing and feels free to talk with you when problems arise.

It's true, that it's the quality of the parent-child relationship, not the quantity of time spent together that counts and the feeling of being together can prevail even during hours of separation.

Your children need your love and affection. And they want you to listen and really hear what they say - - about their school projects, their friends, their problems. Family outings are ideal times for sharing, but so are the routine occasions when you talk while straightening up the house together, while doing the family marketing. Indeed, this sharing of household chores by you, your husband and your children - so necessary when mothers work - can help to cement your relationships. And it will leave everyone time for fun.

Remember, too, that youngsters past the very young ages have their own friends and interests and, as long as you know where they are, don't feel obliged to spend every free moment with them.

When you first start to work you may find that your children are especially demanding - this is, after all, a big adjustment for all of you. Give the situation a little time and, if the troubling behavior continues, you may want to make some adjustments. Perhaps you've made an unwise choice of a helper. Maybe a day care center, if available, would provide a better answer. Or you and your husband may have to learn to be a bit more tolerant of your children's demands on your time and attention.

However don't try to compensate for your absence by overindulging your youngsters and avoiding discipline when it is obviously called for.

Housekeeping shortcuts can help. Plan meals ahead, for example, and buy when you can for the entire week. One-dish meals, that are nutritious and appetizing, can often be prepared over a weekend and frozen. And, sometimes, keeping lists in key places around the house helps you remember what must be done.

Like many, many working mothers, you're probably handling both your jobs quite capably. But some strain is inevitable. "Mothers At Work" contains many suggestions for making life easier for the working mother and the whole family. Take the lumps out of farm income

Money received in lumps is great, but with them comes the heavy burden of income tax.

A Sun Life Income-Averaging Annuity has been designed to reduce that burden. It enables you to defer taxes on certain lump sum income receipts by spreading them forward. This will generally result in tax savings and higher disposable income.

Many types of income are eligible, for example: income from the sale of inventory or accounts receivable when you sell all or part of your farming operation; or capital gains.

In cases like these, Income-Averaging Annuities can save tax, earn interest and guarantee future income.

Give me a call and I'll fill you in on all the details.

Miss A. Maxine Cramton's poem, The Cloud Cave, was one of 150 poems published recently in the 45th Alberta Poetry Yearbook. This work placed tenth in the Juvenile Class in the Alberta Poetry Contest, an event which attracted over 1400 submissions from 280 poets across Canada.

Miss Cramton, formerly of Strome, and presently a student at CCHS, has been Junior Poet Laureate of The Western Producer, and has had several of her works published in that paper. Miss Cramton sees writing as forming an important part of her future.

The Alberta Poetry Contest is sponsored by the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Author's Association, and this year was judged by Mr MacDonald Coleman of Red Deer.

Here is Miss Cramton's winning poem.

THE CLOUD CAVE

I look up:
Can I be imagining it?
Delight of delights!
I see the cave,
Molded and carved from cloud,
A thick white cumulus—
Storm Cloud, friendly yet.
What strange quirk of fate
Gives me the opportunity?
Swiftly I leap into
The wondrous wonder.
One stride, only, and I am there.
I sit on the puff of it,
Sweeter and more soft than Anything ever that I imagined.
I start laughing·
Even this is aesthetic.
An overwhelming, betraying
Sense of joy,
Wellbeing,
Merriment
Spreads quietly through me.
And below?
Below I see what I left behind,
It is the farm of my family on earth
So, in the pleasure of one
Never-to-be-again dream,
It is just that I return to
Mortals, and human things.
When the species of my being
Create a Hades,
I remember . . .
And cruel reality seems not so crude.
For there is escape.

CARROTS — THE ALL — 'ROUND VEGETABLE

Good eating this season means carrots. Thrifty shoppers will take advantage of the plentiful supplies of this vegetable at their local markets.

In Canada, carrots are sold according to grade Canada No. 1 carrots are the most generally available. They must be firm, well-shaped, clean, free from decay and injury, and must have a minimum length of 3 and one half inches. At home, store carrots in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. They will keep well for a few weeks. For longer periods of time, store them in a cool moist place, preferably a basement cool room. Remove green tops before storing as they draw moisture from the roots, causing them to wilt.

One of the "yellow" vegetables mentioned in Canada's Food Guide, carrots are considered a good source of vitamin A, a vitamin that is too frequently in short supply in our meals. Vitamin A is important for normal growth, good vision, healthy skin and resistance to infection. One can obtain more than one's daily requirement of vitamin A from one average-sized carrot, one-half cup grated raw carrot, or one-third cup cooked diced carrot. Very little vitamin A is lost through cooking.

When using carrots as a vegetable, you can count on getting four good servings from a pound — that is 6 to 9 medium carrots or 4 to 5 large ones. Carrots can be used both raw and cooked in many different ways. Combine shredded raw carrots with chopped apples, raisins and salad dressing. Or add them with tart fruit to a lemon flavored gelatin. Make an unusual salad containing shredded carrots, shredded cabbage, peanuts and mayonnaise. For a lunchtime idea, try a carrot and peanut butter sandwich. Grate raw carrots finely to make one half cup and stir into one cup crunchy style peanut butter. Spread on enriched white or whole wheat bread and serve at once. Raw carrot sticks are also an excellent low calorie between-meal snack. Eat them plain on a hors d'oevres tray or with cheese dips. Cooked carrots are delicious simply served with butter, salt and pepper but you can dress them up by sprinkling with chopped parsley or dried mint or nutmeg. Honey-glazed carrots are a traditional vegetable dish with any elegant dinner. Scalloped, creamed, buttered or au gratin, carrots adapt beautifully to any treatment.

Try this dish:

SCALLOPED CARROTS And APPLES

- 3 cups sliced carrot
- 2 cups sliced peeled apple
- 2 tbsps brown sugar
- one half tsp. salt
- one eighth tsp pepper
- one quarter cup butter
- 2 tbsp. buttered soft bread crumbs.

Arrange 1 and one half cups carrot in baking dish. Cover with 1 cup apple. Sprinkle with half the sugar and seasonings. Dot with half the butter. Repeat layers. Cover and bake at 350 degrees F until almost tender (about 40 to 45 minutes). Uncover, sprinkle with crumbs and continue baking until crumbs are lightly browned (about 10 minutes more). Makes six servings.

NOTE: Leftover cooked carrots maybe used in this recipe but baking time should be reduced to 25 to 30 minutes.

Impressive season for Port of Churchill

The Port of Churchill in 1974 completed one of its best seasons on record.

Though late in starting, the port lived up to expectations with a total of eighty vessels trading at Churchill this year. An early winter brought the season to a close in mid-October. The average navigational season for the National Harbours Board Port on Hudson Bay lasts about ninety days.

More than 22 million bushels of grain were shipped through the Port's facilities and another one and one-half million bushels will be stored in grain elevators over the winter. The Port handled more than 58 million short tons of sulphur and also handled fuel oil, gasoline and general cargo bound for coastal settlements in the Keewatin District.

1974 also marked a first for the Port with three Canadian Armed Forces vessels using the Port facilities as part of a training exercise.

Research and development efforts to lengthen the navigational season at Churchill are continuing. In addition to grain shipments, a variety of cargo is now being shipped out of Churchill.

Local poet published in yearbook

Miss A. Maxine Cramton's poem, The Cloud Cave, was one of 150 poems published recently in the 45th Alberta Poetry Yearbook. This work placed tenth in the Juvenile Class in the Alberta Poetry Contest, an event which attracted over 1400 submissions from 280 poets across Canada.

Miss Cramton, formerly of Strome, and presently a student at CCHS, has been Junior Poet Laureate of The Western Producer, and has had several of her works published in that paper. Miss Cramton sees writing as forming an important part of her future.

The Alberta Poetry Contest is sponsored by the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Author's Association, and this year was judged by Mr MacDonald Coleman of Red Deer.

Here is Miss Cramton's winning poem.

THE CLOUD CAVE

I look up:
Can I be imagining it?
Delight of delights!
I see the cave,
Molded and carved from cloud,
A thick white cumulus—
Storm Cloud, friendly yet.
What strange quirk of fate
Gives me the opportunity?
Swiftly I leap into
The wondrous wonder.
One stride, only, and I am there.
I sit on the puff of it,
Sweeter and more soft than Anything ever that I imagined.
I start laughing:
Even this is aesthetic,
An overwhelming, betraying
Sense of joy,
Wellbeing,
Merriment
Spreads quietly through me.
And below?
Below I see what I left behind.
It is the farm of my family on earth.
So, in the pleasure of one
Never-to-be-again dream,
It is just that I return to
Mortals, and human things.
When the spaces of my being
Create a Hades,
I remember . . .
And cruel reality seems not so crude.
For there is escape.

CARROTS — THE ALL — 'ROUND VEGETABLE

Good eating this season means carrots. Thrifty shoppers will take advantage of the plentiful supplies of this vegetable at their local markets.

In Canada, carrots are sold according to grade Canada No. 1 carrots are the most generally available. They must be firm, well-shaped, clean, free from decay and injury, and must have a minimum length of 3 and one half inches. At home, store carrots in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. They will keep well for a few weeks. For longer periods of time, store them in a cool moist place, preferably a basement cool room. Remove green tops before storing as they draw moisture from the roots, causing them to wilt

One of the "yellow" vegetables mentioned in Canada's Food Guide, carrots are considered a good source of vitamin A, a vitamin that is too frequently in short supply in our meals. Vitamin A is important for normal growth, good vision, healthy skin and resistance to infection. One can obtain more than one's daily requirement of vitamin A from one average-sized carrot, one-half cup grated raw carrot, or one third cup cooked diced carrot. Very little vitamin A is lost through cooking.

When using carrots as a vegetable, you can count on getting four good servings from a pound — that is 6 to 9 medium carrots or 4 to 5 large ones. Carrots can be used both raw and cooked in many different ways. Combine shredded raw carrots with chopped apples, raisins and salad dressing. Or add them with tart fruit to a lemon flavored gelatin. Make an unusual salad containing shredded carrots, shredded cabbage, peanuts and mayonnaise. For a lunchtime idea, try a carrot and peanut butter sandwich. Grate raw carrots finely to make one half cup and stir into one cup crunchy-style peanut butter. Spread on enriched white or whole wheat bread and serve at once. Raw carrot sticks are also an excellent low calorie between-meal snack. Eat them plain on a hors d'oevres tray or with cheese dips. Cooked carrots are delicious simply served with butter, salt and pepper but you can dress them up by sprinkling with chopped parsley or dried mint or nutmeg. Honey-glazed carrots are a traditional vegetable dish with any elegant dinner. Scalloped, creamed, buttered or au gratin, carrots adapt beautifully to any treatment

Try this dish:

SCALLOPED CARROTS And APPLES

- 3 cups sliced carrot
- 2 cups sliced peeled apple
- 2 tbsps brown sugar
- one half tsp. salt
- one eighth tsp pepper
- one quarter cup butter
- 2 tbsp buttered soft bread crumbs

Arrange 1 and one half cups carrot in baking dish. Cover with 1 cup apple. Sprinkle with half the sugar and seasonings. Dot with half the butter. Repeat layers. Cover and bake at 350 degrees F until almost tender (about 40 to 45 minutes). Uncover, sprinkle with crumbs and continue baking until crumbs are lightly browned (about 10 minutes more). Makes six servings

NOTE: Leftover cooked carrots maybe used in this recipe but baking time should be reduced to 25 to 30 minutes.

Impressive season for Port of Churchill

The Port of Churchill in 1974 completed one of its best seasons on record.

Though late in starting, the port lived up to expectations with a total of eighty vessels trading at Churchill this year. An early winter brought the season to a close in mid-October. The average navigational season for the National Harbours Board Port on Hudson Bay lasts about ninety days.

More than 22 million bushels of grain were shipped through the Port's facilities and another one and one-half million bushels will be stored in grain elevators over the winter. The Port handled more than 50 million short tons of sulphur and also handled fuel oil, gasoline and general cargo bound for coastal settlements in the Keewatin District.

1974 also marked a first for the Port with three Canadian Armed Forces vessels using the Port facilities as part of a training exercise.

Research and development efforts to lengthen the navigational season at Churchill are continuing. In addition to grain shipments, a variety of cargo is now being shipped out of Churchill.

N.F.U. seeks higher cow support price

Wednesday, February 5th, saw a delegation of eight local farmers from New Norway area of Battle River Local 713 of the N.F.U. motor to Edmonton to meet with M.L.A. Gorden Stromberg. The delegation presented Mr Stromberg with a brief dealing with the current critical beef situation and protested again for a $160.00 grant for producers of feeder cattle, rather than a $25.00 loan which was available.

They also requested support from the Lougheed Government in the N.F.U.'s request that the Federal Government set up a National Meat Authority, set up a beef stabilization program that would provide producers with the cost of production plus an adequate return on their investment and also an agreement to purchase lower grade cattle (i.e. cows) with a view to food aid programs.

The delegation and Mr. Stromberg agreed that something had to be done about the price spread on finished beef between Edmonton and Calgary. Many other subjects were discussed, including the controversial Syncrude.

The delegation then sat in on the afternoon session of the Legislature before returning home.

New Norway girls win Zone 'AA' hoop crown

New Norway Spartans won the Zone 'AA' girls' basketball championship over the past weekend as they went undefeated in a tournament in Forestburg.

It marks the second year in a row that the New Norway squad will be competing in the provincial finals as they will be going to Grande Prairie this coming weekend. Last year, in the provincial finals, the New Norway squad took the consolation playoffs in Fairview.

New Norway competed in the Hi Way 13 High School League for the first time, this winter, and finished the regular schedule in second place with Diane Bjornson setting a new scoring record for the league as she racked up 183 points to break the old record of 160 points.

In the first game of the Zone playoffs, New Norway whipped Thorsby 37-21 as Bjornson racked up 17 points while Olsen hit for 16.

Musselman scored on two foul shots with only ten seconds left in regulation time as New Norway dumped Fortheur 31-30 in the semi-finals. Bjornson led the way with 12 points while Musselman had 12.

New Norway then pulled a major upset when they edged Viking 52-51 in the finals to take the Zone crown.

In recent years, Viking has always played in a higher category than New Norway and last winter, were Zone champions and went on to make an excellent showing in the provincial playoffs.

Olsen and Bjornson paced New Norway to victory in this game as each picked up 17 points while Musselman hit for 12 points.

Members of the championship team, which is coached by Gary Schlake, are: Diane Bjornson, Laura Bjornson, Charlotte Brace, Joan Bright, Rosanne Fuller, Twylene Grustman, Beth Knudsen, Heather Lindholm, Judy Musselman and Debbie Olsen.

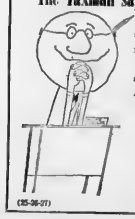
The Taxman says thank you.



For paying too much income tax last year, you see, there's a section in the Income Tax Act that says you can deduct a substantial amount from your annual earned income if you have an eligible retirement savings plan. Take advantage of it this year. All you have to do is register your annuity or permanent life insurance plan.
Give me a call and I'll show you how to let the taxman find his own misplaced money.

Beaverhill Light Horse names Gill as chairman

Beaverhill Light Horse Association's annual meeting was called to order on Sunday, March 2nd at the Tofield Arena with President Dennis Lawson in the chair.

It started with the secretary reading the minutes of the last annual meeting. Then the financial statement of 1974 was given.

Business arising from the minutes was then discussed. It was decided to have the same program for July 1st as the previous year. Also, pictures will be taken.

With weather permitting, the first trail ride will be on May 25th.

Volunteers for the lunch committees for the trail rides are: first ride, Joy Belle and Shirley Gill; second trail ride, Phyllis Wood and Marg Berrecloth; and the third trail ride, Helen Gray, Lauretta Wade and Alberta Watt.

It was moved that the club schedule gymkhanas for every second Sunday of the month and if it is not possible, it will be the third Sunday, and if that is not possible, it will be cancelled until the next month. This way everyone will know when a gymkhana is planned.

The club will again have a booth at the gymkhanas. Mrs. Ron Hisey volunteered to make up a schedule for workers in the booth.

In new business, the club decided to look into the possibility of taking part in the Fair the Agricultural Society is putting on. The club could possibly have an annual Trophy Day that day.

It was moved the club raise membership fees to $2.00 per single person and $5.00 per family.

The club is sponsoring a queen candidate for the ice carnival in Tofield. The candidate is Dixie Rose.

The final item on the agenda was the election of officers, with the following slate going in:

Pres., Shirley Gill; vice-pres., Dennis Lawson; sec.-treas., Deanna Norton; new board members, Lauretta Wade, Reg Thompson, Wes Lawson; official time keepers, Helen Gray, Donnie Schmidt; stop watch operators, Theone Jones, Agnes and Linda Rose, Penny Price, Alberta Watt.

The Homemaker . .

Jan Williams from Stettler sent the following article on the low carbohydrate diet . . . take note dieters'

THE LOW CARBOHYDRATE DIET — ANOTHER IN THE SERIES OF FAD DIETS

What about low carbohydrate diets? This has been the topic of many inquiries in recent weeks. An interesting article was published by American Medical Assn., in the magazine TODAY'S HEALTH

The article described a television panel show on dieting and nutrition with two fit looking men discussing the topic of low carbohydrate diets

"One of the panelists was a physician who was deeply concerned about the millions of gullible overweight Americans who swallow spurious diet books almost as readily as they gulp down food

The other was a self-proclaimed 'successful' dieter who boasted that he owed his strikingly lean shape to the best selling book 'Dr Atkins' Revolution The High Calorie Way to Stay Thin Forever', by Robert C Atkins, M D

Visually the show was a standoff, but verbally it turned into a real contest If one could judge from the reactions of the panel's moderator and the small studio audience, the glib dieter won, handsdown The physician's sober warnings against the potential hazards of Atkins's discredited highprotein lowcarbohydrate diet were no match for the sparkling wit and evident success of the high calorie advocate

But viewers missed the show's ironic sequel The very next day the seemingly healthy dieter called his fellow panelist and urgently asked for a professional appointment Sheepishly, he explained that while rising from his morning bath, he had blacked out, struck his head on the tub, and very nearly drowned.

As it turned out, he had suffered a spell of what doctors call 'postural hypotension' a dramatic drop in blood pressure when one shifts from a supine to a standing position when he stood up in the bath tub

Most low-carbohydrate dieters and there are many millions in the United States and Canada know the feeling a slight dizziness when rising from a chair or getting out of bed In this man's case it was more severe His brain momentarily lacked sufficient blood flow to sustain consciousness He was lucky to survive with only a bad headache

The cause, according to the physician, was Dr Atkin's Diet Revolution, a book that has been condemned by the Council on Foods and Nutrition of American Medical Association, as being not only 'without scientific merit', but fraught with hazards

Reduced blood pressure is but one of a number of ill effects directly traced to Atkin's and other immensely popular diets which promise that you can lose weight and inches while consuming all the calories you want All you must do, the diet books say, is stick to copious servings of protein and fats such as eggs, meat and cheese and stay away from carbohydrates such as bread, potatoes and sweets

One of the worst problems (and, paradoxically, the great cal lures of such diets according to Philip L. White, Sc D Secretary of the AMA Council is that they create a situation that is not dissimilar to the metabolic pattern of diabetes

The high fat low carbohydrate diets trigger an abnormal body response called ketosis the increased production of compounds called ketones usually associated with conditions of impaired metabolism, such as diabetes In normal quantities, ketones play a routine part in the body's metabolic process But when they flood the system in excessive quantity, they sap your appetite

Presto Diet magic Since the dieter no longer is stuffing down all the calories he thought he wanted to eat, he loses weight

But, like the rueful TV panelist who toppled in the tub, he or she may end up paying a very high price in general health for this seemingly magical ketogenic effect Even if he succeeds in maintaining the weight loss (less than 10% of dieters achieve that goal), he still may be in trouble

Physicians have reported hundreds of cases of men and women hospitalized from the side effects of such dieting programs. One example, that of an old-fashioned case of scurvy, in a young woman dieter, was recently mentioned to me by Theodore B. Van Itallie, MD, the internationally known nutrition expert and professor of medicine at New York's Columbia University

Among other health problems directly linked to low-carbohydrate diets are fatigue, apathy, dehydration, calcium depletion, kidney trouble, and threatening elevations of blood lipids (cholesterol and triglycerides) which are associated with heart disease. Therefore, according to C. E. Butterworth, Jr., MD, the AMA Council's chairman, the full impact . . . may not become apparent to an individual's health until many years later."

Medical experts and nutritionists are virtually unanimous in singling out diets that are high in fat and protein and low in carbohydrates for special condemnation

Careful scientific analysis of the diets and their hazards have received widespread publicity and yet ketogenic diets remain at the top of the list of best sellers and promise to stay there until all of us drop in our bathtubs

The low-carbohydrate diets could hardly be successful when they fade in obscurity within a short period of time, only to be resurrected some years later in slightly different guise Moreover, despite the claims of universal and painless success for such diets, no nationwide decrease in obesity has been reported

"THE THING THAT I LIKED ABOUT HAWAII THE MOST WAS THE BEAUTIFUL, MILD, BALMY, TROPICAL WEATHER AND SOAKING UP THE SUN ON THE BEACHES."

Here we go again . . .

By Peter Ward

The era of the airman has arrived at Canada's Department of National Defence - again'

When Defence Minister James Richardson first announced his new departmental line-up in January, there were severe misgivings about what was happening in many quarters with more than a passing interest in the armed forces

Unification of the armed forces, which was pressed through with so much trauma during the late 1960's, was working and receiving a growing amount of support in the middle ranks of officers. The men? They liked it fine.

Now all of a sudden we have ex-flyer James Richardson announcing that there will be an "Air Command" added to the forces and based in Western Canada. The Navy, said Jim, has Maritime Command; the Army has Mobile Command. For the sake of morale, he explained, we also need a command with which fly-types can identify.

The result is going to be a fragmentation of command away from Ottawa into Maritime Command, Mobile Command and the new Air Command. One of the effects will be stronger military guidance of the forces, wresting policy initiatives and operations further from civilian control. The new Richardson setup also means promotions --more senior officers. We are to be left with fewer indians and more chiefs.

We are also stuck with the old tug-of war between Navy Army, and Air Force for equipment dollars, with each branch of the forces pushing for spending in its own bailiwick, each pulling or pushing policy to fit with air, land, or sea interests. That's the last thing we need

Shortly after Richardson made his announcements, I had a few words with Paul Hellyer, the man who pushed through unification of the forces when he was Defence Minister, then quit the cabinet after Mr Trudeau became Prime Minister, sat as an independent, then Tory member of parliament, and finally became a journalist when he was defeated in the last election

Paul likes Jim Richardson and Jim is a difficult man not to like but he disagreed strongly with this separation of the functions of the forces once again. His disagreement was based largely on the fact that Canada is now losing the valuable "unity" of co-ordination which the armed forces was beginning to attain

The evidence that he was right can be found right in Defence Headquarters itself Already there are those who argue strongly that all aircraft in the forces should now be placed under the new Air Command including the Argus long range planes which patrol off both coasts and over the Arctic, including even the helicopters of Maritime and Mobile Command.

Here we go again

Plan seminars in Camrose on metrication

Parents, teachers and school trustees are invited to a two day session to discuss the introduction of metric education in the schools of the area

The sessions will be held March 10th and 11th in Room 117 of the Composite High School, with Dr. S. A. Lindstedt of the University of Calgary leading the discussion

Selected teachers from the schools of the public, separate and county systems will be on hand to study the implications of introducing the metric system to school education, particularly since it is expected that elementary grades will be teaching pupils on the International System (SI) in the fall of 1975

A man with wide experience in the field of teaching in Alberta, Dr Lindstedt has been a professor with the Faculty of Education, University of Calgary for the past several years He has been given a 14 month leave of absence to conduct a number of seminars and workshops throughout the province to develop a large group of resource teachers who will build "metricated" programs of instruction for Alberta schools

The program will be introduced gradually for school pupils, as it will for all Canadians, but the tempo of switching to metric is expected to increase as several of the lead programs are starting to reach maturity Just as one example, it is expected all highways will be switched to metric speeds by the end of 1976, with a number making the change in 1975 Winnipeg claims to be the first Canadian city to "go metric" in its highway signing

Lougheed to speak at Thursday lunch

Premier Lougheed will speak in Camrose next Thursday, March 13th, at a special luncheon meeting arranged by Gordon Stromberg at the Camrose Lutheran College.

Starting at 11:30, the luncheon has been arranged with a view to allowing local working people to attend during their noon break, and the premier has said he will definitely conclude his address before 1 p.m. An opportunity will be provided, however, for those who are able to stay a little longer to ask questions.

It is thought at Conservative Headquarters this will probably be the only appearance Mr Lougheed is able to make in Camrose during this election.

Dead beaver being found with tularemia

Health Unit would like to draw the public's attention to the fact that dead beaver in good flesh and often with good pelts have been diagnosed as tularemia in several areas of Alberta in the past few weeks. This disease can be transmitted to man if simple precautions are not observed. Tularemia is also found in muskrats, rabbits, and other fur-bearing animals with which you may have contact.

The disease is recognized in animals by numerous white, pin-head areas scattered across the liver, spleen and kidney. There is often cloudy fluid in the body cavities. The organism, a bacteria, is in the animal's blood and is usually transmitted to man through open skin sores or by cuts from skinning knives.

The infection in man is characterized by high fever, headache, nausea, vomition, stomach pains, and weakness. It is easily treated by broad spectrum antibiotics. In order to differentiate other diseases and obtain appropriate treatment you must see a physician if you feel ill. Explain to him the possibility of contact with Tularemia.

This disease has infected wild animals in Alberta for many years. Infection in man can be prevented!

1) Rubber gloves are easy and worthwhile protection against disease at all times. They should definitely be used on all carcasses found dead without being trapped.

2) Wash well with a disinfectant soap after handling and skinning carcasses.

3) Burn or bury any suspect carcasses to prevent further spread of the bacteria.

4) See a physician immediately if you become ill during or within a month of handling wild animals.

NOTE: Suspected animals should be put in plastic bags and brought to your local Fish and Wildlife Officer or Public Health Inspector. Do not ship suspected animals by bus, mail truck or by rail.

Monument to a pioneer erected in lonely spot

By Margaret Graham

On a quiet country road in the Bruce district of Central Alberta, near some very old buildings, stands a handsome monument which we think is unique. It was erected in honor of a pioneer couple who homesteaded here in 1905. Sixty seven years later, their sons came back to their birthplace, and erected this marker.

Here is the inscription printed in cement, which tells the story well:

"In summer 1905 Thomas Priest Hall visited and filed homestead claim on the S.E. quarter 28-48-15-W4, and purchased the N half 27-48-15-W4, returned to his native Missouri and married Mable May Ray. In April 1906 shipped a box car of settlers' efects to the new homestead 100 yards west. In June, without aid, Mable drove a one horse buggy across bald prairie from Camrose the nearest railroad to be the third woman in the township. Their home was modern to the point of having hot and cold running water in kitchen sink and bath tub, gasoline ceiling lamp and barbed-wire telephone connecting eleven neighbors from Bruce to Holden.

"Tom drilled hundreds of water wells from Wainwright to Edmonton, Strome to St. Paul. They raised two sons, Thomas P. Jr. and Robert M., and buried two infant sons on the brow of the hill to the right. The family moved to Michigan in 1926. Historic Battleford trail ran directly through this site and was closed by barbed wire on the second occasion of Indians camping next to Mable's garden in 1907.

"May we remember and honor all pioneers who suffered the rigors of sixty below zero weather on these lonely plains.

"Erected 1972 by descendents."

What a wonderful way for those sons to remember their parents and remind us of the debt we owe to the early pioneers who faced great hardships in order to build a life in a new land!

This is an example to be followed before the memories of the homesteaders have faded forever. May we develop more of the awareness of our historic past that is shown by those sons of the pioneers'.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity to express by sincere thanks to my family, friends, Knights of Columbus, and the Elks' Lodge for sending me flowers, gifts, and cards during my recent stay in the hospital. Receiving these get-well wishes made my days in the hospital seem brighter. Mary Ogrodnick 28c-1325

Thanks a lot to the one who cut the top off the only spruce in the Zion Lutheran Pioneer Cemetery. Surely there are plenty of spruce without going into a cemetery of all places. Thank you 28p-1521

Tofield Lions plan meeting on Tuesday

Tofield Lions Club met in the Roman Catholic Church basement last week when a total of 26 members and guests sat down to a delicious supper served by the ladies of the CWL.

Visiting members were from South Cooking Lake, Joseph burg and Sherwood Park. The Sherwood Park Club presented the Tofield Club with a certificate of appreciation for the services rendered by the Tofield Lions in 1974, regarding the Sherwood Lions Club International Youth Camp.

"The Tofield Lions become aware of our watery condition and invited the whole camp for the weekend to stay with families in Tofield. The whole gang was taken to Tofield, where they enjoyed a pot luck supper, played volleyball and broke in the recreation centre. Following a good night's rest, a hot bath, the campers returned to camp on Sunday afternoon."

There were four visiting guests from Tofield from which two became new members of the club, Stan Schuckler and Rita Jensen.

A short but lively business meeting was held, where the club agreed to assist in the moving of the library and stock to its newly decorated quarters in the Old Legion Hall.

The next regular supper meeting of the Tofield Lions Club will be held on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Catholic Church basement. If you are interested, or concerned, please feel welcome to attend, we will be pleased to have you in our fellowship.

What to do for frostbite

Frostbite can be one of the hazards faced by any resident of Canada during a cold spell.

Many home remedies have been devised through the years some of them under very make -shift circumstances. Some are more harmful than they are helpful.

When frostbite is suspected, try to follow these steps:

1. Firm pressure against the frostbitten area with a warm hand can help, but do not rub it with either hand or snow, as this is definitely harmful.

2. Get the victim into a warm environment as quickly as possible.

3. If available, give the victim a warm drink.

4. If available, immerse the frostbitten area in water that is approximately body temperature, about 80 — 105 degrees. Do NOT use hot water.

5. Once the frostbitten part has been warmed, have the victim exercise injured fingers and - or toes.

7. If the case is severe, and the victim must be moved to receive medical attention apply a sterile dressing that widely overlaps the frostbitten area before putting on shoes, mittens or other additional clothing.

LEGISLATIVE LIBRARY EDMONTON, ALBERTA

Annual meeting held by Tofield ratepayers

The annual meeting of the Town of Tofield was held on Monday, Feb. 24th, with 30 ratepayers in attendance.

Former councillor of nearly 20 years, W. A. Swift, was named chairman of the meeting and Rita Halverson was named as recording secretary. Mr. Swift introduced to the meeting, Don Seigle, the new Town Administrator.

The mayor's report by Dr. W. H. Freebury touched on the 1974 achievements. The new sewage lagoon capable of serving 2,500 people was put into use. The half million gallon underground water storage is in operation and the dam was increased in size to allow storage of an additional 10 million gallons of water—also a new sub-division was opened. Dr. Freebury included in his report sincere thanks to the volunteer firemen, library workers and members of the Library Board, the Recreation Board, and the workers and supporters of many Community organizations that assist in making Tofield such an active and interesting place to live.

The Mayor closed his report on a tragic note, bringing to the meeting the fact that the Tofield Community League was disbanding and turning the hall over to the Town, in June.

"Attendance at the meetings has dwindled to only a few old faithfuls who are finding it just too much to carry on. I hope there is enough latent community spirit among the people of Tofield and district to save the Community League. It has been such an important part of our life for a long time and deserves a better fate than just to let die out," Dr. Freebury said.

Henry Nachtigal, council representative to the local Recreation Board reported on Board activities. The Recreation Board has taken on a new area during the past year —that of supplying bus transportation for various organizations. Mr. Nachtigal urged all recreation groups to channel their programs through the Board so that doubling up of particular projects will not occur and so that the Board may offer any assistance they can. The members of the Local Recreation Board are as follows: Henry Nachtigal as chairman; Andy Hellberg as vice-chairman; Erwin Wiens as secretary; Dr. N. Gannon; Ray Pittet; Barry Price; Ron Gorgichuk, Corp. A. Hildebrand, Glen Reil; and Thomas Jacobs.

Henry Nachtigal and Andy Hellberg are representatives to the Regional Recreation Board.

The Tofield Municipal Library report was given by R. K. Taylor, chairman of the board. Mr Taylor reported that the Board had spent much time during the past year pursuing possible sources of revenue. The Board accepted with thanks the offer of the "Old Legion" building for use as a Library. The Library hopes to move into its new quarters some time in March. Mr. Taylor closed by thanking the volunteer library workers and a special thanks to Mrs. Dorothea Freebury, Librarian.

Tofield Legion opens new hall

The Tofield Legion held the official opening of their new hall on Sunday afternoon with many members and their families turning out for the event.

Costing around $20,000, the building is the product of dedicated contribution from Legion members, both financially and in much of the finishing work.

The program was opened with a welcome by branch president Tom Lechtie, followed by the dedication of the hall, performed by Branch Padre, Harold Dunham. The colors were marched in under orders from parade marshall Frank Dunham, and Canon Brian Brown rededicated them and placed the standards in their new places.

Addresses were given by past MLA, Walter Buck, Tofield Mayor, Dr. W. H. Freebury, and Legion Zone Commander, Albert Joy of Wainwright. Dave Dykeman gave a tribute of appreciation to those who figured valuably in the raising of funds and construction of the hall. Benediction was given by Canon Brown.

The history of the Tofield branch of the Royal Canadian Legion is rather sketchy, but it is known that on April 28th, 1930, the first executive was elected, with Bill Chapman as president, and A. R. Clutterham as secretary.

The Legion carried on through the depression until 1938, when they were forced to return the Charter. The money left was used to build the Cenotaph, unveiled in November, 1939.

After the second world war the branch was again activated, and was a very healthy group. Unfortunately, all records were lost when the Legion's first permanent home in Tofield was destroyed by fire in March, 1953.

The old Bank of Montreal building was then purchased, moved to the rear of the Cenotaph, and converted into the Legion Hall, Branch 81. Presidents since then have included Norman Glover, Dick Mutlow, Don Hardy, Charles Nolan, Les Whitford, Conrad Somonson, Ralph Dunham, and presently, Tom Lechtie.

No memoir of this Legion would be complete without special mention of Dick Mutlow, whose dedication to the cause of the ex-servicemen, and whose work for the Tofield Legion, is remembered with gratitude and affection by all his comrades.

ODDS 'N ENDS

Gillett's Lye has sent our office some of their soap making pamphlets. Excellent household soap can be prepared easily and economically with lye and waste fats and greases from the kitchen. The recipes include a cold process, a semi-boiling process and toilet soap. If you are interested in a copy of the pamphlet call or write our office.

Agricultural Canada sent some information on ham. Ham, a popular Easter dish is now on special in many grocery stores.

Hams fall into two categories: those that need cooking before you serve them and those that don't. A ham marked "ready to serve" or "fully cooked" can be served without further cooking. The flavor is better though if you heat it at 325 degree F until the internal temperature reaches 140° F. This takes about 10 to 15 minutes per pound. Other hams maybe labelled "cook and serve" or "cook before eating". These must be cooked in a 325 degree F. oven to an internal temperature of 170 degree F.

When purchasing ham allow one quarter to one third pound per serving for boneless ham and one third to one half pound for bone-in ham.

Try serving Sauteed Apple Rings with your ham.

SAUTEED APPLE RINGS
2 tbsp. butter
3 medium apples cored and cut in rings
3 tbsp. brown sugar
one eighth tsp. cinnamon.

Combine butter, sugar and cinnamon. Heat until mixture begins to bubble. Add apples and saute' over medium heat until tender (3 to 4 minutes each side). Serve with ham, bacon or sausages. Makes 12 apple rings.

COMING EVENTS

There will be a pre-planning meeting for those people interested in a "sewing with knits" class. The meeting will be on March 17th at 1:30 p.m. in the Tofield Arena.

Don't forget the pattern alteration course in the New Legion Hall in Tofield. It will be on March 24th from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m.

A similar course will be held in Kinsella School on March [illegible].

Education Week held a Tofield's school

by Grace Phillips

Colored, glowing cones of snowballs welcomed the guests to the "Education Week" displays at the Tofield school.

The event was sponsored by Tofield sub-local of the Alberta Teachers' Association, whose president is Mrs. Anne Taylor.

The halls of the school were covered with displays on the walls and on tables set out for the purpose. All age groups and subjects were represented. Booklets, posters, models, art work, handicrafts, music, drama, math games, poetry, paragraphs, essays, science models and physical education displays held the attention of perhaps the largest crowd ever to attend Education Week celebration. The theme "Education Involves You" was well demonstrated.

Floor hockey between parents and teachers resulted in a hotly-contested 1-1 tie.

Lunch was served in the library during and following the events.

The program committee and social committee of the sub-local were in charge of arrangements.

Community League drops Canada Day sponsorship

by Grace Phillips

The Tofield Community League has written to the Tofield Agricultural Society, asking the latter organization to take over the Canada Day celebration for Tofield.

The League has been responsible for the arrangements for July 1st for many years; preceding that period, the Tofield Red Cross was in charge. This decision to relinquish spear-heading the July 1st celebration arrangements was taken at the regular March meeting of the League on Tuesday.

It was decided to add $100 to the $500 scholarship fund so that the interest on the fund will pay $50 per year. This move will ensure that the scholarship will be able to be continued indefinitely.

The school authorities will have the signing power for this fund as they will have the necessary information as to the winner(s).

The newly-covered theatre seats will arrive shortly.

Operations for 1974 showed a profit of $636.68, reported treasurer Hans Christensen. Of this amount, the theatre operations contributed $311.45.

The Department of Public Works has requested the rental of the meeting room and lobby of the Community Centre to hold court twice a month. This offer has been accepted by the League.

Some discussion arose re the purchase of a sound system for the Centre; however, this was tabled until the April meeting.

PUBLIC NOTICE
RE: CHANGE IN STORE POLICY

The changing business conditions and continual increase in food cost and prices have caused us to re-examine and evaluate our food operation as a country food store

In the operation of a food market, there are various services that can be provided such as charge accounts, telephone orders, deliveries and extended hours, but rendering all services efficiently without increasing prices is an economic impossibility. Already the food prices are at an all time high. Therefore, we have elected to discontinue our charge service, effective March 31, 1975. By reducing our operating costs we will endeavour to bring you greater variety and lowest possible food prices consistant with good quality.

In order to facilitate payment of present charge accounts, our customers are invited to discuss a pay-out schedule which can be tailored to the individual's needs.

We take this opportunity to thank each of you for your valued support over the years. We hope to bring you much needed savings, by our change in policy, so we can continue to service our community's needs better.

Yours truly
TOFIELD SUPER A FOODS

P.S. We personally invite you to come and shop on our "THANK YOU SALE" on April 3, 4 & 5, 1975 and enjoy the "CASH SAVINGS".

Dear Sir,

I found a little clipping the other day I thought some of you might enjoy particularly the parents working with children for skating hockey, etc., to improve things for them

Also, to the men striving so hard to reorganize such worthwhile clubs as the Lions Flight one more round

When your feet are so tired that you have to shuffle back to the center of the ring, fight one more round. When your arms are so tired that you can hardly lift your hands to come on guard, fight one more round When your nose is bleeding and your eyes are black and you are so tired that you wish your opponent would crack you one on the jaw and put you to sleep, fight one more round

Remember, the man who always fights one more round is never whipped."

Former Tofield man passes on February 10

On February 10th, Donald Johnston Ferguson of Edmonton passed away at the age of 57 years.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his wife, Georgette; two daughters, Mrs. Brent (Bernadette) Robertson of Whitecourt, Alta., and Miss Louise Ferguson of Edmonton; one grandson, Remi; and one brother, Norman of Edmonton.

The funeral mass was held on February 12th at St. Joseph's Cathedral, Edmonton.

Donald was the youngest of the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, oldtimers of the Lakeshore district, and the town of Tofield. Donald was born at Tofield, and attended school here. Besides his parents, he was predeceased by his brothers, Gordon and Harold, and his only sister, Ethel (Mrs. E. Jones).

Tofielders of the 1910's and 20's will remember John Ferguson working in Rogers Brothers Store, and the Farmers' Store. Gordon clerked in the drug store for W. Somers, and later for A. A. Bertram, before moving to Edmonton.

Anti-drunk device

A 10-second test to prevent an alcohol or drug - impaired driver from starting his car is being experimentally evaluated by the General Motors Corp.

The engineering staff at the GM Technical Centre in this Detroit suburb is testing a steering wheel which controls a needle on a dial in the instrument panel. When the ignition is turned on, the needle starts to fluctuate. The objective is to steer well enough to keep the needle in a shaded area, allowing the driver to start the engine.

If the driver's reactions are impaired, the needle swings back and forth outside the designated area, a red "reset" button lights and the starter is immobilized.

The driver has two more chances to pass the test. He pushes the "reset button" and the needle again begins swinging.

Whenever a driver is able to keep the needle in the centre shaded area, the "pass" button lights and the car can be started.

GM officials say early experiments indicate a 50 per cent intoxicated failure rate among persons with a blood alcohol concentration of 0.1 per cent or more, the limit of Michigan's implied consent law. No failures have occurred among sober persons currently tested, officials said.

Annual meeting held in Tofield

Mr. Swift called for questions from the floor which resulted in subjects ranging from stray dogs to the proposed paving, curb and gutter program to be undertaken in [illegible].

Ratepayers on 52nd Avenue who objected to the paving project as advertised in the local paper asked how to go about squashing the project. They were told to visit the Town Office in the morning and the requirements of a legal petition would be set out for them. Meanwhile, two ratepayers on 54th Avenue commended the Council on planning such a program and hoped that their avenue would be first to be completed.

One ratepayer asked what could be done about the unsightly condition of a business property along the approach road into Tofield from Highway 14. He was informed that the Town had requested that the owner of this business clean up the mess, but it appeared that according to the law, if a person chose to keep his private property in such a state, nothing could be done. It was suggested that public opinion and action could do more to convince the owner that he should do something to improve his business premises.

Other matters such as storm sewers, and an overall drainage plan of the Town, a street sweeper, truck traffic on 52nd Avenue, old basements left open and filled with water, garbage burning and fence lines were brought to council's attention with the promise that these matters will be discussed at the next regular meeting of council in March.

FORAGE goes a long way in solving feed grain problems.
1975 — and it's no year to cut down on your forage acreage. Seed a crop of good, clean, high germinating certified forage seed and you'll see it pay off in several ways. Your land will be better for the rotation; your crop will be cleaner without weeds in the seed; and your livestock or mixed farm set-up will be more independent of high feed grain prices.
With forage crops, too, variety is important for best results. So see your Pool man for the varieties that will work for you.

Three candidates seek election on March 26th

As of two o'clock this afternoon (Wednesday) three candidates are officially in the running in the Camrose Constituency in the provincial election set for March 26th.

Returning Officer W. A. Molstad was in receipt of three nominations when the two o'clock deadline rolled around. The Liberal Party did not nominate a candidate nor were there any independent candidates.

Incumbent Gordon Stromberg will again represent the Progressive Conservatives and will be facing two newcomers to the political battlefield in the persons of Ray Reid of the Social Credit Party and David Moore of the NDP.

One of the highlights of the campaign, locally, will be a visit tomorrow (Thursday) by Premier Peter Lougheed who will be the guest of honor at a luncheon at Camrose Lutheran College. The luncheon is being sponsored by the Gordon Stromberg Committee and will get underway at 11:30 a.m.

The Camrose Jaycees will be holding a public forum in the Elks' Hall on Tuesday evening, starting at eight o'clock. All candidates will be in attendance. Other forums, sponsored mainly by farm organizations, will be held at various points throughout the constituency from now until election day.

Round Hill sewage plan has prepayment scheme

County Council, at its regular monthly meeting on Friday, adopted an assessment plan for prepayment of costs by ratepayers if the sewage system proposed for Round Hill is constructed.

Ratepayers may pay at the rate of $21.65 per front footage, up to a maximum of 100 feet per lot. The prepayment may be made in a lump sum, or be paid yearly or monthly over a 25-year period.

At the same time, the county decided not to prepay its own assessment on county property in the hamlet. The county's bill would have amounted to over $30,000 which councillors felt they could not afford to pay out at this time.

A meeting of the ratepayers in the hamlet has been called for March 19th, in the Round Hill School, to pass along complete information on the prepayment plans.

Last year council removed the discount for paying taxes by a certain date, in order to save money.

A report submitted at Friday's meeting indicated that 38 other counties and municipal districts in the province no longer give discounts while only 16 are continuing the practice. There was no discussion on the possibility of again offering discounts for early tax payments.

Council was told that there were 27 fires in the county during 1974 with total losses amounting to $110,588. This report was issued by the Fire Commissioner's Office.

Gordon Stromberg attended the meeting briefly in the morning to present the county's Utilities Officer, Merv Simon, with a certificate for having passed a utilities officer training course.

While at the meeting, Mr. Stromberg informed council that Edberg Unifarm had petitioned the provincial government to have a deer and wildlife sanctuary established around an area of Dried Meat Lake. Mr. Stromberg told council that a copy of the petition was being forwarded.

Council amended its agreements with various fire fight-

FERGUSON — In loving memory of husband, father and grandfather, Lionel, who was called home March 17th, 1974:

In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away;

But when we saw you

We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again

A decision to this effect was reached at the February regular meeting of Village Council, because of a lack of interest in previous years.

4-H speech competition held in Tofield School

A large crowd was present in the Tofield school on Sunday to hear the 12 competitors in the county public speaking finals. The various speakers did an excellent job of presenting their topics.

Elsa Heiberg of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club opened the program by asking everyone to rise and join in the reciting of the 4-H pedge. The judges for the evening were introduced, being Mrs. Wylie of Tofield, Mrs. Moos, Tofield, and Stan Voltner of Tofield.

Contestants in the Junior Division were Darrell Magneson, Heather Rudzcki and Brenda Rauser. In the Senior Division, the contestants were Brenda White, Colleen Walker, Cheryl Magneson, Debbie Waker, Arnod Hanson, Dam Rauser, Vaughn Hanson, Marene Magneson and Lorna Grade.

The contestants all had to give a prepared speech, approximately five minutes in length, and also an impromptu speech of approximately one minute.

The winners of the Senior Division were: first, Dam Rauser, "Are you a procrastinator?"; second Arnold Hanson, "Triumphs, failures of a Titan"; and third to Debbie Walker, "Hurrah for the teenager".

The winners of the Junior Division were: Heather Rudzcki, "Being a farmer's daughter"; and in second place, Brenda Rauser, "World wide pants".

TOFIELD MEETING

On Thursday, Mar. 13th, the regular meeting of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club was held.

Vice-president Debbie Walker presided over the meeting and Diane Henderson led the club in the pledge.

Business was the next item on the agenda. The members were informed that on April 23rd, the Tofield Talent Night will be held, and that J. Alpaugh, the magician, would provide entertainment during the evening. Dennis Sherbaniuk, radio announcer, has consented to act as master of ceremonies for the evening.

The 4-H members discussed the possibility of going to the rodeo. Those that wished to, were supposed to contact Debbie Walker.

The meeting was adjourned, and afterwards, an enjoyable film about 4-H was shown.

Entries for the Tofield Talent Night should be phoned to Elsa Heiberg, 662-2222.

A letter was received from Ho Harries and Williams Ltd. regarding the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties' policy on assessment and taxation.

Moved that this letter be received and that a copy be sent to the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties.

Moved that the County of Beaver has no objection to Russell Lehr placing a mobile home on Pt. S.W. 14-49-16-W4 (Gulf Oil Lot)

A letter was received from the Town of Tofield advising that it has been recently announced by the Honourable Dave Russell, Minister of Municipal Affairs, that the Provincial Government will build a Senior Citizen's Home in Tofield this year. The Alberta Government Housing Corporation have interviewed members of the Council regarding the site and have presented plans for the Home. Moved that Palmer Engineering Company Ltd. be advised that the County of Beaver requires the use of steel pipe for crossing roads in the County of Beaver No. 9.

A letter was received from the County of Camrose No 22 regarding Secondary Road 617. It has been suggested that S.R. 617 be turned northward west of the railway in Section 6-49-19-W4 rather than eastward. The reasons for this change is that it will be more beneficial to more ratepayers from both Counties and secondly, S.R. 617 runs into a hill north of 35-49-19-W4 An east-west road from the railway eastward obviously will serve fewer people than a north-south road between Highway No 13 and Highway No 14.

Moved that the County of Camrose be advised that the County of Beaver has no objection to this change.

Moved that the County of Beaver not hold an Annual Meeting in 1975

Moved that no consideration be given to Viking News for a County newspaper at this time.

Lloyd Simpson from Vulcan Machinery attended the meeting at this time and discussed with Council some of the equipment that is available from Vulcan Machinery.

County Council briefs

sistant; Vince Malley from Turchinsky Consulting and Gerald Allott, Public Works Foreman.

The meeting was called to order by the Reeve, Cr. Reddick at 10:10 a.m.

Cr. Reddick welcomed Vic McCune, Deputy Minister of Highways and Transport, to the meeting. Mr McCune gave a few general remarks regarding the municipal road program in the Province of Alberta. Mr. McCune also talked briefly about some of the Secondary Road Programs their Department will undertake in the County of Beaver in 1975. The Department is proposing the construction of Secondary Road 854 north of Tofield. This will take in nine miles and will include grading and gravelling.

Mr. McCune discussed the change in the 1975 Highways Grant. The grant previously was classed in three categories The Regular Grant, the Road Oiling Grant and the Supplemental Secondary Grant. This year these three grants have been consolidated into one grant. There was previously a 75 percent — 25 percent cost sharing arrangement on the Regular Road Grant. The new grant will not require any municipal funding.

Cr. Reddick said that County ratepayers were pleased in the Secondary Road Program is Secondary Road 856. The portion north of Ryley has been completed.

In addition to Secondary Road 856, the only other Secondary Roads that have not been completed in the County are Secondary Road 626 — east three miles and Secondary Road 870 — north of Kinsella six miles.

Cr. Reddick asked if the Department will have any funds available to assist in the financing of the construction of Secondary Road 854. Mr. McCune said that it would be difficult to say at this time but that a request could be made later in the year.

A change in the routing of Secondary Road 870 was also briefly discussed. There was some discussion on what kind of load limit should be imposed on oiled roads.

Vince Malley gave a progress report on the water and sewer projects in the Hamlets of Bruce and Kinsella. Torchinsky Consulting are setting up an additional office in Camrose in order to give better service. Mr. Malley advised that the design work on most of the proposed road projects for 1975 are nearing completion.

Moved that the County of Beaver No 9 purchase one 1975 Kenworth T a n d e m T r a c t o r from O'Hirchie Truck Supply for the sum of $5,500.00.

Moved that Gerald Allott be authorized to purchase a load of treated poles.

Notice was received from the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation advising that their annual meeting will be held April 7th, 1975 at 10:00 a.m. in Room 304, Terrace Building on 107th Street and 95th Avenue, Edmonton. Moved that Cr. Roddick attend this meeting.

A letter was received from the Minister of Highways and Transport outlining the Road Grants to Municipal Districts and Counties, for 1975-76 in the amount of $226,136.00.

Correspondence was received from the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding the Zoning By-Laws for Secondary Roads in Counties. A model Zoning By-Law was attached for reference.

A letter was received from the Alberta Department of Environment regarding the Viking Ditch east Section 31-47-13-W4. The following is a result of the Department's investigation into this ditch:

A visual inspection of the ditch showed that it is present by unable to drain the lake on 31-47-12-W4 or the slough on 35-47-13-W4. The Department feels that the County and or the Town of Viking should undertake some maintenance work to remedy the situation.

Cr. Roddick advising that some work has been undertaken to correct this problem.

Moved that this letter be tabled until Spring at which time this problem can again be assessed.

A letter was received from Farm Electric Services requesting a proposed extension on the N.E. 20-47-18-W4. Moved that County Council has no objection to this extension.

A letter was received from the Alberta Department of Environment regarding a drainage problem on the N half of the N half 10 and the S half 15-51-17-W4. It has been determined that a drainage project is technically feasible. However, the draining of Crown Land is involved. Presently, it is against Government policy to drain Crown Land. Any drainage proposal in this area will have to have some measures incorporated into it that will prevent the drainage of N.W. 6, 17 and W half and E half 18-51-17-W4. Moved that this letter be received and that Cr. Kryskiw be authorized to obtain these signatures.

Correspondence was received from the Vegreville Health subdivision on S.W. 13-50-20-W4. Due to the undulating terrain throughout the proposed area, it is questionable whether or not proper water supplies and sewage disposal systems maintained in years to come.

A request was received for the proposed sub-division of the S.W. 13-50-20-W4, into parcels under twenty acres in size. Moved that this subdivision be refused as the proposal does not meet with County policy.

A request was received from Larry Wilson to subdivide Pt. N.W. 23-51-19-W4 into parcels under twenty acres in size.

Moved that this request be refused, as it does not meet with County policy.

A letter was received from the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding the proposed subdivision of the N.E. 29-51-18-W4. The proposed subdivision called for the creation of four parcels from the existing 160 acres (40 acres each).

Moved that County Council has no objection to this subdivision provided the County is not required to provide access roads to the subdivided areas.

A request was received from Cosby White for reimbursement for destroying 63 over-bearing strawberry plants through snow plowing this winter. Moved that this request for payment be tabled until Spring when damages can be assessed.

Correspondence was received from the Alberta Provincial Planning Board advising that an appeal will be held March 6th, 1975 with respect to a proposed sub-division on Pt. Section 27-52-19-W4.

It was brought to the attention of the Council that three parcels of land had been purchased for the Kinsella Cemetery some years ago. Only one parcel is being used and it was suggested that the two unused parcels be sold back to the owners of the land from which they were taken. Moved that the County of Beaver proceed with the sale of land subdivided for the Kinsella Cemetery and not being used for the purpose.

The present cemetery site of the Kinsella Cemetery does not provide space for parking. A request was received to add to the site for this purpose. The owner of the land had agreed to donate the necessary land.

Cr. Reddick and Armitage gave a report on the Land Use Forum meeting recently held in Wainwright.

Tofield Garden Club big success in '74

We started our club in June, 1970 with twenty members and have kept a membership of just over that since. Our meetings are held every second Monday of the month in the homes of the members, with slides for our winter meetings and viewing gardens in the summer. Most of the members take an active part in our activities.

During 1974, we showed seven sets of slides from the Alberta Horticulture library. Dr. Cy Hampson a well known naturalist from Edmonton, showed a film on "Prairie Spring". Peter Wyllie from Vegreville showed slides on his trip to Denmark and other European countries as well as a few pictures taken locally, and Ron Bjerge of Edmonton, who worked on a skunk research program in the Tofield area, showed slides of his work.

During the summer months, we visited Wallish Greenhouses Ltd., Sherwood Park, where we purchased some of Mr. Collie's prize winning dahlia tubers; W.G. Bowthorpes wildlife refuge at Round Hill; Government Green House and Legislative Buildings; Provincial Archives and Museum of Alberta; Ritz Garden Ornaments, where several ornaments were purchased; Sturgeon Valley Sod Ltd., where we saw the cutting and loading of the sod; Holes Market Garden at St. Albert and attended the Provincial Horticultural Show at Three Hills.

Some of our undertakings over the year were sponsoring of a spring and fall flea market taking flowers weekly to the Tofield Hospital; putting a prize winning float in the Sports Day Parade as well as a flower display at the grounds; gathered items needed for the kindergarten and held a weiner roast, potluck supper and Christmas party.

The week before our flower show, Mrs. Collinge of Edmonton, gave us a demonstration on floral arranging and conditioning. A very successful Flower Show and Tea was held in August. The judges were Morley and Betty Calenso from Warburg. Mr. Collins, who is a well known prize winning exhibitor around the Edmonton area, added much to our show with his display of decorative dahlias. Following the show, a bouquet of these beautiful flowers were given to each of the local churches and the rest were sold.

We had a very successful year in 1974 and plans are on the way to make 75 a rewarding year as well.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO GOOD MANNERS? ......

Good manners are said to be based on courtesy and consideration of others. There is a greater informality in life today in conduct, in clothes, and particularly among young people. This does not alter the fact that good manners and living by the rules of society are important.

In the past couple of weeks, I attended a couple of musical programs that were ruined by the bad manners of some of the audience. I'm sure we all realize how much courage it takes for a person to get up on stage and perform, particularly if that person is young. To have people talking and walking around during the performance makes it doubly difficult. Granted not everyone is interested in every performance but one would think that good manners would indicate that one sit quietly. Children old enough to attend such a performance are old enough to sit quietly. Paying for a ticket does not entitle the bearer to spoil someone else's enjoyment of a program.

Please and thank you are still good words to use. We all are more willing to do something when we are asked politely and when we are thanked for our effort.

Opening doors for people carrying heavy loads (whether male or female), assisting someone into the car, .. these are examples of good manners. Let this be the week that each of us make a conscious effort to show more consideration for others and thus show our own good manners.

God owns my Business
Stanley Tam as told to Ken Anderson.

Not only does this book give clear understanding of Stanley Tam, his principles, his character, his life, but it also answers many far more important questions:

Does success in business have to mean failure as a Christian?
Does being a Christian necessarily preclude success in the business world?
What specifically can a businessman do to make his business and his life serve God's will?

With some individuals using the Women's Lib term "Ms", perhaps we should start using "heesh," for he or she, "herim," for him or her, and "shis" for his or hers. Thus: "When a person starts monkeying with the English language, heesh should watch shis step or endless pitfalls will confront herim." I wonder.

Ryley School hosts parents

Ryley School was the scene of much activity and excitement on Tuesday, Mar. 11th, as the staff and students hosted an open house to commemorate "Education Week".

Parents visited each class room where displays had been prepared and activities such as science experiments, debates, plays, etc., were performed by students for their parents and friends.

Joseph Voegtlin organized a Reach for the Top competition and the elementary students took part in an old-fashioned spelling bee. Refreshments were available in the staff room throughout the evening.

The Ryley School Bands, under the direction of E. Norris, provided a most enjoyable wind-up to the evening's activities. Some of their numbers were "Five Foot Two", "Seasons in the Sun", featuring vocal soloist, Dean Phillips, and "Black Magic Woman", featuring vocal soloist, Sherry Wickstrom. Mr. Norris, classical guitarist and his guest, Ivan Befuniuf, trumpet soloist, entertained the large and enthusiastic crowd with "Lonely Bull" and "Girl From Ipanema".

Mr. Van Berkel then addressed the assembly, commenting on some of the new programs and changes attempted in Ryley School in the last few years. In conclusion, he thanked the community for their enthusiastic response to our Education Week activities on behalf of the staff and students of Ryley School.

IN MEMORIAM

RURKA — In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Bill J. Rurka, who passed away March 26th, 1967:

Eight years ago today you softly spoke and slipped away,
Only those who have lost someone,
Can ever really know,
The empty feeling in your heart,
The cry "why did they go?"
Do not ask us if we miss him,
There is such an empty space,
All we have are memories of his loving tender face.

Sadly missed and deeply loved by his wife, Annie, daughter Olga, Susan, Marilyn 30c-976

Dr. Buck retains seat

Dr. Walt Buck, the genial dentist from Fort Saskatchewan easily won re-election in yesterday's (Wednesday) provincial election.

Dr. Buck was only one of six opposition members to survive the onslaught of the Progressive Conservatives who had little difficulty throughout the province as they took 39 seats away from the Socreds.

Although favored to retain his seat, Dr. Buck was expected to have a battle from Murray Finnerty of the Tories. The battle simply didn't develop as Buck easily retained his seat by nearly two thousand votes.

When counting finally ceased, Buck had amassed a total of 5,155 votes while the Tory hopeful, Finnerty, had garnered 3,178 votes. They were trailed by McArthur of the NDP with 177 votes and Cooke of the Liberal Party was a distant fourth with only 230 votes.

In the 1971 provincial election, Dr. Buck had retained his seat with only a 300 vote majority over his nearest rival from the Progressive Conservative Party.

Following the stunning wipe-out of the Socreds in yesterday's election, which included the party leader, Werner Schmidt, who was defeated in his third try for a seat, many observers were predicting a leadership change for the party.

These same observers were touting Dr. Buck as one of the top candidates for the leadership of the Social Credit Party when a convention is held, despite the fact that Buck, in his election campaign, played down Social Credit and couched it in "vote the man" type of campaign.

The Mercury was unable to contact Dr. Buck this morning (Thursday) for any comments on the election, or the possibility that he might seek the party's leadership.

Third annual ice show wows Tofield audience

Over 200 skating students from 4 years old to 17 flashed their blades to present "Skating Across the Calendar" on March 21st a. 7 22nd. Standing ovations followed the performances as well-deserved recognition for their interesting program.

After the presentation of the Canadian Flag and the Club Banner by Debbie Price, Dan Hendricks and Jim Warner, with Doug Lehman as emcee, the 12-month jaunt was set going "without slumbering" by Father Time's representatives doing the clock-work, followed by a rendition of January in the form of charming light-footed snowflakies.

Cupid and her valentines shyly warmed our hearts prior to February's tranquil Valentine Dancers who were in sharp contrast to the swiftness of the blustering March winds (alias the powerskaters).

Young ladies with nothing but the best in Easter bonnets were escorted by their trim top-hatted gentlemen in the Easter Parade. The tune, "Once In Love With Amy", brought out the Swing Dancers who smoothly swung romance through April into the blooming of very pretty, very agile, May flowers.

Everyone expects a wedding in June; but who would expect the "Wedding March" to swing into "Abba Dabba" with the minister cleuting the groom and departing with the bride?!! Although the groom didn't get his hands on "her" until honeymoon time, thankfully he was a forgiving sort of fellow.

During Saturday's intermission, Princesses Kathy Blakely, Laura Kleinschroh, Wendy MacNutt and Dina Rose were each escorted onto the ice by a representative of their sponsoring club. Dr. Walter Buck, Social Credit incumbent, crowned Queen Rose and presented her with an alarm clock. The three Princesses each received wristwatches. Appreciation plaques with engraving were given to the power-skating instructors, Lionel Williams and Ed Donnan, and to rink operations Cal Repsher and Tod Gray. Flowers and engraved silver trays were presented to Penny Price, Maxine Henriksen and Jean Williams in appreciation of their tireless work towards the carnival, who in turn thanked the mothers for their co-operation in costumes and sewing. Tom and Elizabeth Taciuk were then presented with gift certificates and the Club Instructor, Gloria Sidebottom, received a day-night suitcase. Dr. Buck drew Mrs. Millie Wall as winner of $15.00, Mr. Earl Rose as winner of $10.00 and Mrs. B. Bowerman as winner of $5.00.

Canada's birthday was given recognition by smartly-dressed, syncopating powerskaters who then left the July field to the energetic baseball players. August brought out top-hatted "ole soft shoe" gals to the tune of "Maw, He's Making Eyes at Me", followed by the advanced skating group coinciding graceful personal interpretations of the selection, "Mary Magdeline".

September's harvesting season was well-presented with friendly farmers of every description. Costume imagination and an interesting presentation of ghosts, goblins, black cats, and the shadows of spooky trees effectively depicted the month of October. November's many moods were illustrated with skating flair and sensitive costuming. A hint of wind and brisk movements brought out the beauty of December with the icicle group giving delightful elaboration of that beauty.

The performance of Club Instructor, Gloria Sidebottom, was well-received with hearty applause. The audience was especially pleased with Lisa Jensen's feature roll as the Snow Queen. The fancy footwork and beauty of movement shown by guest artists, Tom and Elizabeth Taciuk, added the finishing touches to the Skating Club's event of the year.

The young skaters reminded the onlookers of the carnival theme by outlining the calendar year on ice with the older students dazzling the semi-darkness with sparklers as they skated round and round the group for the finale.

This year's production vividly illustrates that high-quality performances can be consistently presented in our rural area and to appreciating audiences.

Mercury has new deadlines

A big improvement should be visible in next week's issue of The Mercury. However, changes create problems, and The Mercury has to change its scheduling, although publication day will still be on Thursday.

All news items and advertising must be in our hands by Tuesday. The Mercury's representative, Penny Thomson, will be visiting her usual centers, but, instead of Wednesday, will be making her calls on Tuesdays

The co-operation of news correspondents and advertisers in this new deadline would be appreciated.

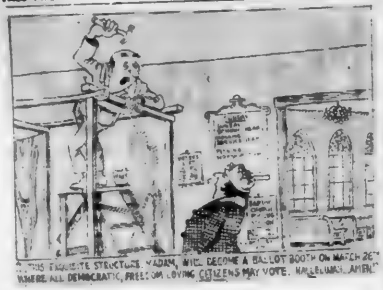
Diamond anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lasch of Ministik (Tofield area) celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on the weekend with a family supper on Saturday evening and an open house on Sunday afternoon at Ministik Memorial Hall. They have resided on their farm at Ministik for the past 50 years, and are still active in community affairs. The date of their anniversary, March 20th, was also Mrs. Lasch's 85th birthday.



Drop in temperatures

Canada has seen the last of sunny summer days with temperatures of 90 degrees in the shade, says a report from the Dominion Department of Agriculture. It's not that the world is heading into a cold spell, but that from the first of April, the weatherman will stop giving the familiar Fahrenheit temperatures, and start telling it only in degrees Celsius.

From now on, a hot day will be somewhere between 25 and 35 degrees, (which used to be figured from about 77 to 95 degrees.)

For many of us, it will be the first direct confrontation with the metric system, as Canadians move slowly into it. Medicines have been dispensed in metric for some time, newborn babies are weighed in metric, but these are not the sort of things most of us run into daily, as we do the weather.

The name Celsius confuses many older people who remember Centigrade in their science or lab classes, and they may be happier to learn they're one and the same thing with exactly a hundred degrees between freezing and boiling, rather than the 180 on the Fahrenheit scale, starting with freezing at 32 degrees. The name change was instituted a few years ago when a number of nations adopted the Systeme Internationale, (SI) standardizing some elements which formerly had been diverse, and the change came about because of possible confusion with some engineering terms, in which centigrade might have been confused with slopes or gradients.

Incidentally, if it'll make you any happier: when it's forty below, it doesn't matter whether it's Celsius or Fahrenheit . . . the arithmetic works out the same on either scale. While this last fascinating little gem may eliminate a little confusion, let's hope we don't have to use it too often.

Over but not ended

The strike of longshoremen at the West Coast is over, and 1,000 workers will troop back to work on Thursday, in acceptance of a government order insisting that they terminate the strike. Canadians generally, and especially agriculturally-oriented Western Canadians, will be delighted to see some action resumed in the ports, and the shipment of precious prairie grain resumed.

However, keen attention is certain to be focussed on the way the strike is ended, and the terms of the settlement, whenever one is achieved. The fact the strike is ended doesn't really mean it's over, because some sort of accord has to be reached between the employers and the employees or other means will be found to make it effective again, whether it involves study sessions, booking off sick, grievance procedures, following other unions into strikes or whatever.

The back to work order may not be precedent setting, but its one which may become a pattern for others in the future, as more and more the public interest has to be considered while two protagonists extend their controversy into unreasonable lengths of time.

Incredible

Speaking of unions, we read with utter disbelief recently that leaders of two of the railway unions are strenuously objecting to the suggestion that breathalyzer tests be instituted to prove that engineers are sober when they start their train run.

The suggestion has been made following a number of accidents, in which it has been found liquor has played a role, plus the revelation that more and more drinking is being found in locomotive cabs.

It seems utterly shocking that any union leader or, for that matter, anyone else, would not demand the highest sobriety from workers in charge of the fantastic thrust developed by the behemoth which is a modern train hurtling down the track.

Airlines are operated under the same government department as the railroads, and for years there has never been any question about liquor and pilots. No pilot may fly a commercial airline unless he has been free of intoxicants for hours beforehand. It's sound, it's sensible, and it's accepted, without question. We should require no less from our operating railroad personnel.

Question of questions...

By Peter Ward

(OTTAWA CEP)

OTTAWA — Every Monday, the Parliamentary Order and Notice Paper is extra thick because that's the day when all outstanding questions asked in writing of the government by Members of Parliament, are printed in full.

As of mid-February, there were about 2,000 written questions which had been asked of the government since Sept 30, the day this session of Parliament opened. The list of unanswered questions now runs to nearly 200 pages, and it's getting larger by about 15 pages each day.

On Feb 14, for example, Steve Paproski, the Tory from Edmonton Center, had no less than 53 questions added to the order paper each query designed to extract information from the government on specific projects of the Canadian International Development Agency CIDA, of course, is under severe opposition attack because there is no direct Parliamentary control over how foreign aid is spent. Paproski is trying to make a point by wearing the government down with detailed queries and hopefully embarrassing the Treasury Benches if he ever gets an answer.

Tom Cossitt, the Tory from Leeds, is another who smothers the government with questions. His are usually directed at getting information about how the Prime Minister's office is financed and who pays for improvements on his home or foots the bill for overseas trips. For awhile, the New Democrats mounted a concerted campaign to see who could get the most questions on the order paper.

Now as you can imagine, this process does indeed get under the government's skin. Two or three times a week the long list of questions that have been answered is released, but still the lineup of unanswered queries grows ever longer. Some questions seek legitimate answers, but the vast majority are designed for political oneupmanship.

Several times each week you can count on opposition members raging because questions have remained unanswered for months. There are 30 questions dating back to September 30 still unanswered at this writing.

Yes, the opposition is entitled to answers — far more than it gets from the government. But neither should the government be unduly harrassed because gathering the information requested can prove extremely expensive in some cases, and we taxpayers are the ones footing the bill.

The opposition would find a great deal more sympathy if it exercised more responsibility in asking questions and the government would be subject to a great deal more heat when it failed to produce important answers.

I'd like to do everything I can to conserve energy — and save myself as much as $100 a year in the bargain. Please send me a free copy of 100 ways to save energy and money in the home.

WE'RE ALL AWARE of the energy situation, and it's easy to say, "Well there's nothing I can do about it."

Wrong. There's plenty that each one of us can do in our homes and apartments to help Canada – and save as much as $100 a year. When we save energy, we also save money.

This new book is full of ideas you can apply to heating, cooking, air conditioning, lighting, water heating. And it's written simply with diagrams and full instructions on how to fix tap washers, dirty furnace filters, gaps around windows and so on.

Almost everything that has been written on home conservation is packed into this book. And it's yours free.

Here are a few of the ideas:

Don't drown the beans

WHEN you're cooking vegetables, use little water and cook only until they're tender. You'll save vitamins and flavour. Well-designed cookware, used on the proper settings, will also conserve energy. Try cooking the entire meal in the oven, or on one or two burners.

If you're lucky enough to have a dishwasher, don't use it until you have a full load. Do the same with your clothes dryer – and be sure to clean the lint filter after each load.

Saving energy is often a game of pennies, but they all add up – and so do the savings for Canada.

Do you really need a crushed-ice dispenser?

A FROST-FREE refrigerator uses 50% more energy than a standard model. A crushed-ice dispenser is a big energy drain. And a self-cleaning oven uses 20% more energy than a standard model. Ask yourself how many of these extras you really need.

When you go shopping for a new appliance – refrigerator, dishwasher, range, dryer, washing machine – look beyond the price tag. What's the energy cost of running it? Often the better-built, more expensive model is also more energy-efficient. A better buy in the long run.

Five ways to save on home heating

HEATING is the biggest item in a family's home energy budget. Here are a few simple ways to save:

Lower the thermostat. Each degree over 68 adds about 2½% to your heating bill. By dropping the setting from 72 to 70 you can save 5%. Dropping it from 72 to 68 will save 10% – about $30 a year.

It helps to lower the temperature further at night, and when you're going to be away from home for a few days.

Check your furnace filter. A dusty, clogged filter forces the system to work harder, and wastes energy. Inspect it every 30 days. (The book shows you how.) An annual or semi-annual furnace cleaning can save you another 10%.

How's your insulation? Many Canadian homes have inadequate insulation. Ceilings should have 6" or more of mineral wool or glass fibre insulation. Wall cavities should be completely filled. Basement walls should also be protected to 2 feet below grade level. To avoid fire hazards, don't use foamed plastic insulation in exposed applications.

Use storms and weather-stripping. Storm windows and doors will reduce heat loss in winter by up to 15%.

Weather-stripping is a must. A tiny gap of ⅛" along the bottom of a door is the same as having a 9 square-inch hole in your living-room wall. 100 ways to save energy and money in the home explains how to weather-strip yours and caulk the frames of windows and doors.

Let the sunshine in. Energy from the sun is free, so it makes sense to use as much of it as we can. In the winter, open curtains and drapes during the bright part of the day and close them at night, for their insulating value. In summer, do the opposite.

Drip, drip, drip, drip

ONE DRIP per second from a leaky hot water faucet or shower-head sends about 175 gallons a month down the drain. That's money down the drain. You can probably fix it yourself with a new washer and a few minutes work.

Be sure the size of your water heater matches your needs. Don't set it for more than 140 degrees, and turn it off when you go on vacation.

Have you tried a cold water wash for clothes? It usually works just as well. Remember, too, that your average shower bath uses only 5 gallons of hot water, while a tub bath takes almost 10 gallons.

Could you use an extra $100 a year?

These are just a few of the many, many ways to save energy and money in the home.

It's well worth doing. By making modest energy savings now, we can improve our environment and way of life far into the future.

with Don Mazankowski

On Monday, March 10th, the Official Opposition introduced a motion in the House of Commons condemning the federal government for its failure to present a coordinated transportation policy. It was the second of a special two-day debate on transportation initiated by the Progressive Conservative Party. The debate was initiated because no progress has been made in providing solutions to Canada's transportation problems, even though the National Transportation Act grants the Minister all necessary power to effect change if he so desires, and in spite of the fact that during the last federal general election campaign, on June 19th, 1974, the Minister of Transport outlined a $2 billion transportation package, which he has not yet attempted to implement.

The June 19, 1974 statement from the Minister's office announced sweeping changes in the institutional structures managing Canadian transportation, a radical departure from past transportation philosophy and a comprehensive set of new transportation programs for Canada. In the words of Transport Minister Jean Marchand himself, "These changes and these programs are going to move Canada toward world leadership in the use and construction of passenger and freight transportation systems. We are reaching for world leadership in quality equipment and systems".

The June 19th, 1974 statement promised a new federal government relationship with the Canadian Transport Commission, the private sector and Crown corporations which provide transportation to Canada to ensure that the federal government can review and coordinate plans formulated by our transportation industry. It said the Minister of Transport will have all the authority he requires to put policy into place and make it work, and to ensure key national priorities are not sacrificed to other considerations. It said that it would be the federal government, on behalf of the Canadian people, that would play the leading role in managing transportation policy in Canada.

It specified upgrading of railway access from the prairies to the west coast and to Thunder Bay and a comprehensive program to improve railway access to the ports of Vancouver and Prince Rupert. It said, as a third priority, regional inequities in freight rates would be removed based on the Minister's belief that the principal of competition on which Canadian freight rates has been based for the past six years has not worked for many areas in Canada. It guaranteed first class citizenship to residents of Canada's remote areas through equal quality transportation networks.

What has happened since these promises were made? The government, it seems, has forgotten them, and the reality of this apparent negligence in taking its own promises seriously has resulted in transportation problems which can be described only as overwhelming. As Don Mazankowski, M.P. (Vegreville), Progressive Conservative transportation coordinator and lead-off speaker in the debate described it. . . . "Grain has been tied up on the West Coast since February 17th. The situation is urgent and people in the world are starving. In the port of Vancouver, the Liberian tanker which was destined to carry the largest grain cargo ever sent to the hungry and starving people of Bangladesh remains tied up, half loaded. Close to 50 ships are waiting now, and demurrage charges are piling up all the time. In the last year, demurrage charges to farmers in Canada were $17 million. Grain has not moved for three weeks, and sales are being lost. The forward sales arranged last year were made on the basis of price set at the date of delivery. We all know that wheat prices have dropped significantly over the past 60 days. It has been estimated that Canadian producers will lose in the order of $200 million or $700 million because of the delay in delivery. Canada's economy is being seriously impaired. The public interest is being severely undermined. It is time for the government to act — it is time the movement of grain in this country were classified as an essential service and the right to strike withdrawn."

On Friday, March 7th, in the House of Commons, Transport Minister Jean Marchand said the government was "trying" to solve some of these problems and then blamed Progressive Conservative Members for not having a transportation policy and for being racist in their attacks on the government. On Monday, Mr Mazankowski replied to both charges. He said there was no racism involved or intended . . . that "whether he (the Minister) is French, English, German or Polish, he has not proved himself to be competent in his portfolio" and that "the Ministry of Transport and the Minister himself can best be summarized as being in a state of suspended confusion with regard to Canada's transportation system".

With respect to policy, he said . . . "I believe the time has come to convene a national conference on transportation to deal with this national problem in a national way. It should be a conference that will draw together the various provincial and federal governments, the various modes of transportation, all the elements of our transportation system and those who are specialists in the field. I think such a conference should be broad enough to allow input from all interested parties. The federal government would naturally have to define the national goals and objectives . . . and serve as a leadership catalyst. In this overall review, with all elements working together, it seems to me that a broad, national consensus may be achieved that would serve as national instrument for achieving unity and national purpose. I admit it might be difficult to achieve such consensus, but I do believe it is possible even though it is a very complex subject. I believe it can be achieved, I believe it should be achieved, and I recommend this suggestion to the Minister."

Here's why you need to control the wild oat before it comes up.

Before your crop breaks ground, untreated wild oats can steal moisture and nutrients from your barley, wheat, rapeseed or flax. That can mean less crop at harvest. So use Avadex BW herbicide by Monsanto for early control of wild oats.

Avadex BW application flexibility lets you apply after seeding, especially important when rainy, windy weather could make it difficult to apply a herbicide after wild oats emerge.

Avadex BW is convenient to use. And when used as recommended, Avadex BW controls wild oats yet has good crop tolerance.

Remember how bad wild oats were last year, be ready this year.

Apply Avadex BW this spring to help get a better yield of barley, wheat, flax or [illegible].

Read your Tax Guide. It will tell you what's new.

This year the Federal Government has included many new tax benefits that are important to you because they could save you money.

Your federal income Tax Guide explains them thoroughly.

Let's take the interest Income Deduction as an example. This year for the first time, if you received and reported on your income tax form interest income from many legitimate Canadian sources, including bank deposits, bonds, mortgages and notes, you are allowed to claim as a deduction the total of the amounts up to $1,000.

Your Tax Guide explains it in detail. Check Item 35.

Increased Personal Exemptions is another item that has changed from last year. All it means is that the Federal Government has increased your personal exemptions to coincide with the rise in the Consumer Price Index. The new personal exemptions are printed on your income tax form. Guide Item 41 tells you more about it.

Well, these are just some of the areas where it pays to follow your Tax Guide and, of course, there are others. The Federal Political Contribution Tax Credit is new as well. Guide Item 42H will tell you all about that one. This year, Family Allowance Payments are income and have to be declared as such. Check Item 7.

Remember to check some of the other items listed in the Tax Guide which may enable you to claim deductions, such as Child Care Expenses. Guide Item 13 tells you all about that one. And you may be entitled to deduct your Moving Expenses if you moved during 1974 to earn income in a new location in Canada. Check Item 34H carefully for the details.

And don't forget, if you have contributed to a Registered Retirement Savings Plan, be sure to include your receipt and deduct the allowable amount. Guide Item 29 explains it in detail.

Use your Tax Guide and fill in your tax form carefully, step by step. You'll find it's not as difficult as you think.

If you should have difficulties however, District Taxation Office addresses and telephone numbers are listed on the back page of your Guide.

Tax Guide '74. How long has it been since you've read a really good book?

We're making it easier to understand.

Necessity and vanity dictate hearing history

Fashions may shift from the mini-shirt back to the droopy 30s or flunky 40s, but human vanity, it seems, hasn't changed much since the caveman first sported his fur apron. The constant chase after the latest look is a costly business, but when coupled with the need to minimize a physical defect (shortness, girth, or loss of hair, teeth or hearing) history proves that price is no object.

The first Queen Elizabeth had an extensive (and expensive) wig collection to hide her pointy locks, and Napoleon changed waistcoat fashions across Europe to make him self look taller and thinner. What some of history's wealth, lost candles and court ladies did to conceal their loss of teeth makes fascinating (and horrifying) reading. But a recent study by the Ontario Hearing Aid Association shows that efforts to cope with deafness without appearing to do so have really taxed man's ingenuity down through the ages.

Small fortunes were spent by leaders of fashion on various aids to hearing and even on wooden dentures. If some of those who suffered under these instruments of torture could see the sophisticated aids available today, the results achieved (and the comparatively modest price-tags) there would undoubtedly be an upheaval in many an ancient burial ground.

"Deaf" aids and instruments, speaking tubes and trumpets were being invented and used as far back as the Crusades, when the Albigenses (a religious sect in southern France) argued the comparative merits of stag, bear, reindeer or other animal horns to "bring the said words close". The poorer citizenry fashioned tubes from large, rolled-up leaves, or just cupped their hands around the ear (as is still done today).

Although ear trumpets or tubes did serve to concentrate sound energy through limiting the pathway to the ear, their main "aid" was to alert the speaker to talk more loudly.

During Regency and Victorian days, ear trumpets came in many fashionable (but cumbersome) styles. The dandy who could afford such an aid might choose from the "Banjo" or "London Dome" models of ornately decorated polished brass, or sport a fashioned version which could be concealed in a leather pouch. Young women favored ear "scraps" and hand-kerchiefs which could be hidden in their elaborate coiffures.

Other bizarre devices included hearing tins located near the chair of the afflicted person, acoustic boards and bonnets, and even an acoustic fan. This popular device, made of flexible vulcanite (hard rubber) with a handle, was held with the top edge against the upper teeth. Sound vibrations were gathered through the fan edge and conducted via the teeth and bone into the inner ear area.

Teeth also played a major role in the "Dentaphone", a round, flat case fronted by a thin, cone-shaped diaphragm. The user held the device in his hand and received sound via a small wooden "bit" gripped between the teeth. Despite its high cost, this one only functioned for those with a sturdy set of uppers.

Mobility was often sacrificed for vanity. Special chairs were built with the backs shaped like the prow of a canoe, focusing the sound to the ears of the occupant. In 1670, King Gon VI of Portugal had an elaborate throne constructed with trumpet bells built into the armrests, connected to his ears by tubes. Kneeling courtiers spoke into concealed resonators in the arms.

The sporting blood could have his binoculars fitted with a binaural ear trumpet, the barrels of the binoculars acting as resonators to amplify the sound and channel it to the ears.

If you couldn't afford such luxuries, you might, in the 18th century, have tried inserting a lion's brain into your ear, lubricated with some "strong oil" (if you ate the brain, however, you might "go mad"). Hildegard of Bingen, a 12th century scholar, maintained he could cure deafness by holding a lion's right ear (just cut off, of course) over the patient's ear, while muttering an incantation. More recent "healers" prescribed "auditory massage" produced by "ear exercises". Other "cures" which enjoyed brief popularity through the years included medicated earpieces, electric belts, special diets guaranteed to restore hearing, and devices that spattered sounds or flashed colored lights.

The drive to hear distinctly while at the same time concealing total or partial deafness has led to cruel exploitation through the years, and some of these fraudulent methods and devices have persisted until fairly recently. As late as the 1930's an inventor called Charles Pensky who claimed to have produced an "audiophone" which, he said, was "radiumized" by a substance called "berium", was exposed by the American Medical Association.

Today, hearing aid dealers work closely with medical doctors to provide and service reliable and effective hearing aids.

The highly sensitive and cosmetically attractive lightweight aids available today at reasonable cost are the culmination of thousands of years of research, which began as far back as Greek physician-writer Claudius Galen.

The modern hearing aid is a sophisticated electronic instrument difficult to design and requires special skills to fabricate. "Some of the parts are so small that they must be assembled under industrial microscopes". Designed particularly to reproduce human speech with maximum clarity to another particular human ear, it is much more (to a miniature hi - fi or stereo system.

Beef Heifers Should Calve Before Market

Studies at the Agriculture Canada Fredericton, N. B. Research Station show that beef heifers can safely calve before going to market without lowering their grade.

A calf from every heifer could be the answer to increasing calf production in marginal set herds.

A preliminary experiment suggests that by breeding beef heifers, a farmer can have both a market animal and a replacement calf without increasing the number of cows or greatly raising the maintenance costs of his herd.

Bonsai - A Japanese art

Bonsai - a living, changing miniature of nature!

The aim of Bonsai culture is to create a miniature tree with the rugged characteristics of an old tree in its natural setting, which has weathered many battles with nature. The art originated in China and was developed by the Japanese.

The best introduction to the art of Bonsai is to observe trees growing in their natural state. Old trees display the venerable characteristics that people strive for in Bonsai. A heavy tapering trunk, for example, gives the impression of strength and grace. Visible surface roots show a strong grip on the earth, and drooping branches suggest age. A crown shaped by the wind gives individuality and distinction.

According to information received by the Alberta Horticulture Research Centre at Brooks, any small-leafed tree variety, whether it be deciduous (sheds its leaves), evergreen, small or large, can be used for Bonsai. You can train a young tree from a nursery bed into a Bonsai by the following procedure. First, examine the roots to establish a frontal position for the tree. Next examine the trunk and branches to decide what shape or style seems inherent in the tree. It is a good idea to make a sketch of the artistic outline that the young tree's potential suggests. Then prune and shape the tree accordingly.

To give the tree the impression of maturity, remove the foliage growing on the lower branches near the trunk. This type of foliage is typical of a young tree. Then use copper wire to mold the shape of the tree, being careful not to wind the wire too tightly or you will damage the bark of the young tree. The copper wire is placed through the drainage hole of the pot to secure the tree. The wire usually has to be removed in six to 12 months to prevent the branches from growing into the wire as they increase in size.

Before potting the tree, remove long or damaged roots with sharp pruning shears and a clean downward cut. The use of potting soil that has been specially modified so that it consists of particles about the size of rice grains is fundamental to growing Bonsai trees. It is this granular property, obtained by screening all the fine particles out of the soil, that allows for perfect drainage and aeration. Gravel or sand and humus are added to maintain the soil structure. This mixture encourages a compact fibrous root system which is essential for healthy plant growth in a restricted space. A light sprinkling of top soil on the surface of the other soil will provide ideal growing conditions for moss and lichen. Both are used to give a realistic effect to the tree, as well as to clearly delineate its surface roots.

The correct choice of a Bonsai pot, which come in various shapes, sizes and colors, will enhance the appearance of the tree. As a general rule, the tree looks best when placed off-center in the pot. Balance is often achieved in unbalance and symmetry in asymmetry.

All Bonsai trees whose roots have filled their containers must be repotted in the spring. Repotting must be done in early spring just as the buds are beginning to swell and grow. It is too early to repot when the buds are dormant and it is too late when the leaves appear. No soil is removed from the roots which are cut well back. This is part of the diverting process, and strange as it may seem, cutting the roots back at this time actually promotes the health of the tree. Large roots are cut back so that they do not become dominant. New root growth flourishes and you have an old tree with roots that remain forever young and healthy.

How does a Bonsai tree remain small and retain its perfect shape? Both these phenomena are attained by trimming and pinching back new growth during the spring and summer. Techniques vary with different species. In the case of junipers the new shoots - like shoots are simply pinched off as they appear. Pine trees are "inched - in" in the spring and the fall. The fall pinching is done on alternative years and then only when the tree is in strong condition. Pines normally produce one bud per shoot, each of which is removed. Several new buds grow in the place of every bud that is removed, and these begin to elongate the following spring. At this stage they are broken to about half or a third of their length. Pinching off the original buds and breaking off the new elongated buds results in short tidy needles, plentiful branches and sharply tapered foliage.

There are many other ways that enchantment and interest in Bonsai can be developed. Nature leaves many imprints on her trees and these can be authentically reproduced in Bonsai according to the nature of the tree and its future training.

Rugged form suggests age, old scars tell many stories. Thick bark and gnarled trunks show character and maturity. All are to be reproduced in miniature through the art of Bonsai.

Although making a memory tree into a Bonsai takes only a very short time, a Bonsai is never really finished. It will continue to take on new forms endlessly reproduced in Bonsai according to the nature of the tree and its future training.

Ryley player Canuck champ

By Lena Reil

A Ryley hockey player is a member of a Canadian college championship team.

Elston Solberg, a rookie defenceman with the Camrose Lutheran College Vikings, travelled with the team to Sydney, Nova Scotia, where they won the Canadian small college hockey crown.

Vikings topped Sydney 6 - 3 in their opening game and beat a team from Windsor, Ontario, 6 - 2 in the finals. Solberg was dressed and saw action in both games.

Solberg was not a regular member of the team when the season opened, but, showing steady improvement because a helpful attitude in the season progressed.

Playing or dressed in thirty-eight games, Solberg scored three goals and picked up five assists, while gathering 44 minutes in penalties.

Earlier in the season, the Vikings won the AC&C pennant, MAC playoffs, and the West championship during a playoff tournament in Trail, B.C., with one of the season's highlights being a tour of Europe over the Christmas holidays.

Life membership in NDP

Constituency president and candidate for the NDP, David Moore, left, presented a life membership in the New Democratic Party to Chester Ronning last Wednesday evening at a special dinner meeting. Speaking later, Dr. Ronning commented that he had the somewhat rare "distinction of having been defeated more times than any candidate other than William Jennings Bryan in the U.S. He was the first member to be elected anywhere in Canada by the CCF, forerunner of the NDP.

The complex routine of exporting cattle

An article by Guy M. Price in a recent issue of the "Cattle Guide" published in Winnipeg, outlines some of the problems involved in exporting a plane load of feeder cattle to Japan.

"Although the story involves an American exporter, any Alberta rancher who enters the international export field can expect to encounter essentially the same problems", says Clyde McMurchy, Information Officer with the Alberta Export Agency.

The American Exporter's assignment seemed simple enough. All he had to do was to round up 50 head of Hereford-Angus steers and ship them to a feedlot in Japan (the specified weight of the steers was 400 pounds minimum; 539 pounds maximum). However, in actuality, it involved finding a plane suitably equipped, obtaining an import quota and finding acceptable cattle in time for them to go through all their tests. Next came the health tests, the paper work, calling, more paper work, arranging for trucking, quarantine, and more paper work.

To get these cattle to Japan, required the combined efforts of the buyer, Honda International Trading Corp., the U.S. D.A.'s Animal Plant Health Inspection Service, the Quarantine Station, participating veterinarians, the trucker, the airline company and the rancher from whom the cattle were bought.

The cost of procuring each steer and delivering it to a modern feedlot in Japan was $1,367.46. You might well wonder how a Japanese feedlot operator can possibly hope to make a profit on these animals. But he does, because of the high retail prices paid in Japan for quality beef.

Anyone planning on exporting cattle should contact Mr. McMurchy, at the Alberta Export Agency for a list of guidelines.

Holden Theatre sold to County Recreation

At the February meeting of the Beaver Regional Recreation and Parks Board, it was decided to purchase the Paragon Theatre in Holden from the village for the sum of one dollar.

In turning over the building, the village indicated that since the structure would belong to the county, there would be no taxes billed on the building although a frontage tax would have to be assessed because the street is paved.

The board was told that the roof needed immediate repairs, that washrooms would have to be installed and some rewiring was necessary. It was expected that the work would be done over a period of time and that a grant to cover repairs would be sought from the Federal Government.

The board approved the hiring of a program supervisor, preferably female. This position is presently being advertised.

Approval was given to the Beaver Hertiage Agricultural Society for the construction of a swimming pool in Ryley at an estimated cost of between $.72,000 and $.80,000.

The board approved of a grant of $70,000 for this project and were told that pledges would bring in about $42,000 in contributions with other monies being available through grants from governments.

Reports on recreational activities in various communities were given.

Information for this story was obtained from "unapproved" minutes of the meeting held on February 26th.

Smokers show slow reduction

OTTAWA — Smoking habits of Canadians have remained relatively unchanged from 1972 to 1973, according to statistics released today by National Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde. The latest figures show that non-smokers outnumber smokers in Canada: 53 per cent of the population 15 years of age and over does not smoke at all, and 80 per cent of the population over 15 does not smoke cigarettes regularly — that is, every day.

A slightly greater percentage of Canadian women over the age of 15 were smokers in 1973 (36.3 per cent) than in 1972 (35.7 per cent), continuing a trend evident since 1965, especially in the age group 15 to 19 years. In 1965, 77.8 per cent of Canadian girls in this age group were non-smokers, compared to 67 per cent in 1972 and 65.9 per cent in 1973.

Of Canadian men over the age of 15, 42.2 per cent were non-smokers in 1973, compared to 42.8 per cent in 1972 and 34.8 per cent in 1965. The 57.8 per cent of the smoking male population in 1973 was divided as follows: 47.8 per cent regular cigarette smokers, compared to 47.4 per cent in 1972 and 54.6 per cent in 1965; 3.8 per cent occasional cigarette smokers, compared to 4.8 per cent in 1972 and — per cent in 1965; 6.2 per cent smoked only pipe and or cigars, compared to 6.5 per cent in 1972 and 7.3 per cent in 1965.

From 1965 to 1972, the rising percentages of women smokers were outweighed by lower rates for men, to produce lower or over-all figures each successive year. The 1973 statistics show a halt to this trend. While the levels of smoking are close to 1972 levels, the over-all downward trend has levelled off with marginal increases in many categories.

Statistics, prepared for the Non-Medical Use of Drugs Directorate by Statistics Canada, indicate that those who do smoke, however, appear to be smoking more cigarettes per day. There has been a rise in the percentage of smokers having from 11 to 25 cigarettes a day and a decrease in the percentage of the ones smoking from 1 to 10 cigarettes a day. The change of the per centage of heavy smokers (more than 25 a day) was negligible.

Hunger, lost jobs, ruin inflation

And the people who will suffer most, bring it on themselves. Inflation is easy to understand. When prices soar that's inflation. Two things cause it:

1 When there are not enough things to go around, people bid against each other, and up go prices. (And don't fool yourself that price ceilings can stop that; as long as there is burning greed, there will be black markets.)

2 When the cost of any thing goes up (because of high ry wages, higher salaries, higher taxes) without seeing to it that every penny of them is necessary and not one penny is spent needlessly.

The workman who demands and gets higher wages without correspondingly increasing his output is bringing the ruin of inflation on himself.

The business man who raises prices just to make more profit is causing inflation unless he freezes that profit, to provide jobs.

No one escapes inflation. It wipes out the little man's savings, the big corporation's cash surplus, and it brings justified wrath and ruin to the politicians who let it happen. Everybody suffers when it comes; everybody is equally responsible for keeping it at bay.

No means - the end

No one, presumably, is any longer ignorant of the fact that the abundance of goods in the stores of all the developed countries, and in the capital cities of many developing ones, makes it difficult to believe that the world is presently in danger of experiencing a very serious famine. This is, however, a fact and no one can still be ignorant of it.

Only one year ago, world stocks of grains — more especially in the U.S.A., but also in Canada — were considered to be at undesirably high levels and there appeared to be little immediate prospect of reducing them through sales.

Then came the U.S.S.R. import bonanza. Fairly modest original contracts were followed rapidly by others which brought the total sale to no less than 30 million tons, half of the total normal world wheat market.

Other rich importing nations, such as Japan, which had been able to count on ample supplies in the past found prices had jumped to unprecedented levels and supplies were extremely tight almost overnight.

Unfortunately, during the same period, not one, but very many vast regions of the world had experienced drought, with the result that the usual pattern of supply-balancing was thrown completely off base. Be it in India or Bangladesh, be it in important exporting regions such as Australia (little more than half the normal crop produced last year), in Latin America or again in the Sahel region of Africa which is currently a vast emergency area after many years of drought, the demand for grains has increased massively while export supplies have dwindled to a trickle.

Year-end stocks of wheat will have fallen to their lowest level for over twenty years by the end of the crop season of the chief exporting nations. When one considers that the world population has increased by 1,200 million during that period, one begins to understand the gravity of the situation.

For some people, it is totally intolerable for those with the means at their disposal to relieve the present situation — and more especially to foresee possible future catastrophes of such magnitude — to simply abdicate their responsibilities. It is even more intolerable if this is done in the name of short-term commercial and economic gain.

Farmers grouped within IFAP have always been fully conscious of their responsibility to provide adequate and wholesome food for their fellow citizens. They have always been vexed and perplexed by the co-existence of surpluses and hunger in the world, and have repeatedly urged governments to give serious thought to solving that problem.

In the absence of any concerted international effort whatsoever, the very survival of many millions of men, the death of whole regions through depopulation and the decimation herds and crops, the long-term future of millions of children, will depend on an act of God: adequate rains or a continuation of drought, the degree to which crops are affected by disease, how many cattle in Africa and elsewhere survive to breed again.

Society has reached the moon; has built computers to solve immensely complex problems of science; has split the atom. It has, in doing so, forgotten that all these realizations are worth nothing if they are not put to the service of Man.

It is a sad period we are living through.

—M. F. Cracknell in World Agriculture.

To kill or not to kill

Most chemical herbicides kill either grasses or broadleafed plants Herbicides developed to kill grasses will not usually damage broadleafed plants and vice versa.

Weed grasses growing in a broadleafed crop such as rapeseed can therefore be selectively controlled with a herbicide

All well and good, say farmers But what happens when broadleafed weeds infest a broadleafed legume crop such as alfalfa? A normal broad leaf herbicide would kill both the weeds and the crop

Research which is being conducted by Dr John Waddington an Agriculture Canada weed control specialist at Melfort, Sask., is providing some answers

For example, experiments with at east two herbicides have shown that they cause little damage to alfalfa while controlling the weeds that infest it.

However, field tests began long now must also prove successful before Dr Waddington will recommend the herbicide.

Remember Everything You've Always Hated About Baling?

Here's the one you've read about . . . the haying system that eliminates the hard work in hay making . . . the new Vermeer Baler. Owned by thousands of farmers throughout the United States and Canada, and operated in all types of hay crops and conditions, the Vermeer Baler made the dream of one man hay harvesting a reality! Available in two models, the 605 and the 706, Vermeer Balers make round twine-wrapped bales measuring 5 ft. wide, up to 6 ft. diameter and 6 ft. wide, up to 7 ft. diameter respectively. These big, tightly packed bales are weather-resistant, so you can leave them outside if you wish . . . and waste is kept at a minimum. Although simple in design, the Vermeer Baler has the rugged industrial-type construction needed to provide dependable service.

Compare the capacity, compare the speed, compare the cost! A Vermeer Baler in your operation can save you labor, can save you time, and save you money. One owner reported that his Vermeer Baler replaced four men from his hay crew!

AT LAST . . . THE END OF LIFTING, LOADING, UNLOADING, STACKING AND STORING HAY BALES . . . WITH VERMEER'S ALL-NEW BALERS

SIX IMPORTANT FEATURES YOU SHOULD DEMAND IN YOUR HAYING SYSTEM:

1: ONE MAN OPERATION
The Vermeer One Man Hay System reduces the old hay crew to one man. No need for hired labor in the field or at the barn; lets you bale when your hay is ready.

2: ROUND BALES
Take advantage of years of experience with compacted round bales . . . proven successful for outside storage of most hay crops. Store the bales in the field or close to your feeding area.

3: LOWER INVESTMENT
Compare the cost of the Vermeer System with any other forage handling system and see for yourself the savings you can realize on equipment costs.

4: HIGH CAPACITY
The speed and capacity of the Vermeer Baler means you can harvest more hay per day than with conventional methods. Get that extra jump on the weather which can be so important.

5: SIMPLE DESIGN
Application of simple mechanical principles is the key to dependable service and low maintenance costs. It's so simple you can make adjustments and repairs yourself.

6: DEPENDABLE EQUIPMENT
The Vermeer Balers, designed for agricultural use, but built like industrial equipment, are constructed of the finest materials available, giving you the dependability you've come to expect from Vermeer.

Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mr and Mrs Paul Komarnisky are presently enjoying a short holiday in Hawaii.

Steve Depatan is presently a hospital patient after having had a bad fall, but, is making satisfactory progress.

Mr and Mrs Alex Steinwand were Thursday visitors in Camrose.

Mrs. Mary Hooper, her daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Dinlayk, and son, Melvin, were Thursday visitors in Edmonton, calling on her daughters and families there.

The Friendship Group met for their regular monthly meeting, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs Carrie Olson. Mrs Kate Nichols was in charge of devotions. The roll call was taken with each lady responding in the usual manner, with a scripture verse. The minutes of the February meeting held at the home of Mrs. Nichols were read and approved. The ladies discussed whether they should continue collecting used greeting cards for the use of missions as we have been doing, and it was thought we would still do this as there is still a need for various organizations to use them. A chapter in the study book, "an Angel at her shoulder" was discussed. The meeting closed with a hymn, and Mrs. Beth Campbell gave the Benediction. The next meeting, April 17th, will be held at the home of Mrs Campbell with Miss June Clark in charge of devotions.

The hostess then served lunch assisted by Mrs. Nichols and Mrs Carlson and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs Irene Smorlie was visiting for several days during the Easter holiday with her brother and family in Edmonton.

Miss Vivian Carlson was a visitor for a few days over the weekend with her family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carlson.

Mrs Lillian McLeod a former Holdenite, was called to Kamloops a few days ago to look after her grandchildren when her daughter, Bernice and her husband were called to his mother's funeral.

Mrs. Joe Shanley had her daughter, Josie, Mrs. Sagert, and other relatives and friends visiting with her this week.

Friday afternoon of the past week, Miss Vivian Carlson, her mother, Mrs Edith Carlson and brother, Eric, were visitors at Parkland Nursing home with Chris Christensen, whom they found to be very well, also with Mrs Kennie McLennan, who also had her son, Jimmie, visiting her and Mrs. Anna Christensen who is keeping well. They also stopped in to see Mrs Speidel, Mrs. Bertha Steinwand's mother.

Mrs Edith Carlson, her daughter, Vivian and son, Eric were Sunday guests with Edith's sister, Frieda and family, Mr. and Mrs. Scott at Sherwood Park. On their way home they stopped at Tofield to visit with Miss Elaine Zimmerman.

Mr and Mrs R.D. Court left for Grande Prairie where they will make their future home. G.M. Schaning is the new manager of the Royal Bank, and will be moving here with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Semotuik had their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs Marvin Semotuik of Edmonton, visiting over the weekend.

An Ecumenical Service is being held Good Friday in Tofield with all the churches being represented.

Correcting a news item of last week, it is Mr. and Mrs Mike Chupka's daughter, Patsy and family of Toronto, who are returning to make their home in Edmonton, not their daughter Betty.

The Bruce Stampede Association held their annual supper and dance Saturday evening, March 15th in the Bruce Community Hall for members and helpers. A turkey supper was enjoyed and the Happy Dane Band supplied the music for the dance. A number of former Bruce residents attended the festive evening.

Must end grain tie-up says D. Mazankowski

While a lot of public attention is focused on the steady emergence of what appears to be a national scandal involving federal government dredging contracts, Canada is in the grips of what could be the most severe transportation and labour problems we have faced in decades.

Statistics released by the Department of Labour recently show that 9.2 million man-days were lost last year due to labour disputes and that if the present trend continues, we can project that over one million Canadian workers could be out on strike, on different occasions, this year. The current, and not altogether legal, public service strikes involving post office mail sorters, airport runway cleaners and grain workers are holding the country virtually to ransom, causing airport shutdowns, almost complete mail disruption and a total tie-up of grain facilities at the port of Vancouver.

Transportation is in a mess; labour is in a mess — and it not only affects Canada nationally, but is also causing us to lose face internationally, particularly in grain exports. The three most recent examples are grain exports to Japan, China and Bangladesh, all of which have been disrupted. Japan, it is expected, will take its business elsewhere, most likely to the United States, because Canada is unable to meet her grain export commitments. Contracted grain exports to China are already four months behind, and a ship waiting at the port of Vancouver to transport a 145,000 ton gift of Canadian grain to Bangladesh has yet to be loaded.

The Producer Advisory Committee to the Canadian Wheat Board, in a telex message on March 4th, advised Prime Minister Trudeau either to resume negotiations immediately or to enact Parliamentary legislation to end the strikes. They warned that unless one of these actions is taken, producers would be forced to limit exports from the port of Vancouver to 20 million bushels of grain or less — a drop of almost 50 percent over last year. The port has not been at loading capacity since the 1972 rail strike. And, out of the most recent 31 week crop year, the port of Vancouver was closed for 11 weeks and Thunder Bay was closed for 12. The Producer Advisory Committee has warned that unless the situation improves, they will have to suspend all sales and cancel all producer delivery to country elevators in the West.

It is clear that unless some action is taken almost immediately, the backlog in export shipments will be overwhelming. During the Fall 1974 grainhandlers' strike, the Canadian Wheat Board said that if the strike lasted six weeks, which it did, it would take until mid-May of 1975 to fulfil foreign contracts. On February 20th, in the House of Commons, the Minister Responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board, Otto Lang, said the federal government was considering a number of plans to alleviate the situation. Since then, 4,000 longshoremen have walked off their jobs, closing 11 British Columbia ports — compounding the seriousness of the matter. On March 4th, in reply to a question in the Commons, Acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp was unprepared to say what plans the government has, if any. In fact, not one Cabinet Minister involved has made any attempt either to implement the so-called plans or to advise the House what they are.

The situation remains in limbo with the government maintaining there is no simple answer and that its belief in the collective bargaining process precludes any Parliamentary legislation to force the issue to resolution. But the matter is so serious that some action must be taken immediately, in the public interest, to find a solution, other than simply allowing the strikes to continue for a long period of time without leadership and direction.

Final choices

About fifty of the paintings were chosen for a public showing in Camrose later in the month. The three judges are shown chatting with three ladies from the Camrose Art Club.

Mercury switches

With this issue of The Mercury, readers are being offered a new "look". In keeping up with the times, The Mercury is now being printed by a different method, referred to as "offset" which should produce an easier paper to read and clearer and sharper pictures to view.

Progress does cause some inconvience. It may take staff members a few weeks to adjust to the new work methods, which might result in some delays in getting news published. However, we have been working under extreme difficulties in the past few months and most problems should be ironed out within the next few weeks. One major adjustment that must be made is that all news and advertisements must be ready by Tuesdays. Ms. Thomson will be calling in Tofield, Holden and Ryley on Tuesdays from now on. Your co-operation in this regard would be appreciated.

Satellites are league champs

The Tofield Satellites topped off a successful season by winning the "George Orlesky" Trophy, emblematic of the Beaverhill Hockey League championship, last week.

After dropping the first two games of the final best of seven series with Lamont Nuggets, they came back and took the next four games straight to win four games to two.

The games were extremely close and interest mounted, so that, for the last game in Lamont, at least one-half the fans at the Lamont Arena were from Tofield, some two hundred. They really whooped it up as Laurie Weatherall presented The Satellites captain, Floyd Taylor, with the Trophy at the end of the game which they won 3 to 1.

The league banquet, together with the awards night and dance, will be held this year at Andrew. Tickets can be bought from Ted White or Leonard Stauffer and must be picked up before April 10th. The banquet goes on Friday, April 18th.

Tofield Lions plan get acquainted nite

The Tofield Lions Club held their regular meeting on Tuesday, March 25th, in the United Church basement.

A delicious supper was served to 18 members and five guests from the Ardrossan club, by three ladies of the United Church.

After supper, the meeting was called to order, with a lively discussion pertaining to many matters. Some projects sheets were returned and dealt with, as to the services the club may render to the community, while other suggestions were presented by members themselves. A get acquainted night for Lion members and their wives will be held on Friday, April 18th, at 8.30 p.m. in the Tofield Legion Hall.

Regarding the 20-year charter night of the Tofield Club, it was agreed that this night be held before June 30th., and attendance will be by invitation only.

There was some discussion regarding members attending the Alberta - Montana Lions convention being held in Jasper on May 8, 9, and 10. A few members indicated interest.

A regular meeting place for the club has been set up and it will be in the Old Library in the community hall, starting with the April 8th meeting at 6.30 p.m.

The Lions are a community interested Service Club, and are interested in the community. If we can assist or aid, please let us know, by writing us of your request.

We are also interested in new members, why not come out on April 8th, and see what our club has to offer? We will be pleased to welcome you.

Dear Sir:

We have been attending the various performances of the girls' chorus's lead by the vivacious Mr. Bill Simon and would like to put in a vote of appreciation.

Mr. Simon is obviously very talented, besides enthusiastic, and we are reaping the benefits of his hard work with our girls. We also appreciate the sacrifices Mrs. Simon makes to accompany the groups on the piano, and are glad the family has chosen to come to Tofield.

We understand Mr. Simon will be back in University for this coming year (while living in Tofield) and we will be looking forward to his return to the Tofield school rooms.

Sincerely,
"A more satisfied parent."

Thank You

Short Takes

Shallow Erie

Lake Erie's eastern basin is 210 feet deep, the western basin is only 78 feet deep, compared with Lake Superior's depth of more than 1,100 feet and depths of from 600 to more than 700 feet for the other Great Lakes.

The Simple Life

President Benjamin Harrison used to do his own marketing, carrying his groceries home in a basket. As late as President Taft's day, his son Charlie would relieve the White House switchboard operator for lunch.

Electronic Scarecrow

Researchers have found they can scare off whales by lowering loudspeakers into the ocean and broadcasting the sound of a killer whale. The system has diverted whales from gobbling up schools of young salmon.

And now ....
Package Canada

by Marion Morrison

It used to be no traveller with a shred of sophistication would be caught dead taking a package tour.

Perhaps that was because "package tours" got confused with "group tours" with everyone running around in a mob, trying desperately to keep to a schedule. They can be like that, but they don't have to be. Why not consider a package tour in Canada for your next vacation and see for yourself

The advantages?

First, you save money. Work out your own tour, arrange your own accommodation and transportation, and chances are you will pay more than you should. The people who set up package tours are in a high volume business. That means they can bargain for better rates than you can.

Second, you save time and aggravation. The components of a package tour are carefully selected and pre-[illegible] by travel experts. You [illegible] spend hours working out the details of your vacation only to find, too late, that the [illegible] you [illegible] to drive missed the best scenic highlights; the hotels you planned to stop at were not up to standard; and the restaurant guide you so cleverly brought along was out of date.

Package tours open up new vacation possibilities. For years Banff Springs Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise, in the Alberta Rockies, closed down every fall for the winter. Then came ski weekends and ski weeks and they were in business year round. Vacationers had a new season and skiers, a new destination.

Best of all, and this is what has swung over even the most sophisticated travellers, package tours are flexible. You can take one all by yourself, with a few friends, or with a group of total strangers, and you can tailor it to suit your wishes. You can use any mode of transportation - - a drive yourself car, boat, bus, train, airplane, chauffeured limousine, even a horse, or a combination of any or all of them. You can go where you want to go, and stay as long as you like. Just tell your travel agent what you have in mind and let him take it from there.

Package tours are available in Canada in every region and every season. Some follow the familiar routes, stopping at major cities and well known resorts. Others seek the offbeat.

Are you a desk-bound adventurer, secretly yearning for new frontiers? Then visit northern Manitoba during your next vacation. There's a tour available called The Explorer that goes to Churchill on the shores of Hudson Bay. You can ride a dog sled, see polar bears and whales in their natural habitat, visit an Eskimo village and go deep into a gold mine. And there's no need to fear, even in the dead of winter, being stranded on an ice-cap for lack of a hotel room. The price of a one-week tour includes air fare, a rented car for two days and hotel accommodation.

If you don't feel ready to commit yourself to a vacation dedicated solely to rugged individualism in the frozen north, if a taste for luxury and if you plan to take your vacation between May and October, why not combine a

Here's why you need to control the wild oat before it comes up.

Before your crop breaks ground, untreated wild oats can steal moisture and nutrients from your barley, wheat, rapeseed or flax. That can mean less crop at harvest. So, use Avadex, BW herbicide by Monsanto for early control of wild oats.

Avadex BW application flexibility lets you apply after seeding especially important when rainy, windy weather could make it difficult to apply a herbicide after wild oats emerge.

Avadex BW is convenient to use. And when used as recommended Avadex BW controls wild oats yet has good crop tolerance.

Remember how bad wild oats were last year be ready this year.

Air Cadets visit Montana NORAD base

37 Camrose Air Cadets and three escorting adults visited the Malmstrom NORAD facilities in Great Falls, Montana, over the weekend of March 7 and 8, the group being shown as they posed in front of a U.S. carrier plane. The tour began at 5:30 a.m. Saturday morning, and the group arrived in Great Falls at 4:30 the same afternoon. After supper and evening of entertainment on the base, the cadets retired to watch television for some time. Early next morning, they were escorted by Col. F. Judd to several interesting points on the base. Leaving for home again at 1:30 they arrived home at midnight, having had a rare and excellent opportunity to see for themselves some of the preparations which have been made by Canada and the United States for joint national defence.

trip to Churchill with a Lake Winnipeg cruise?

Relax after your northern adventures and enjoy the excellent shipboard facilities. Visit some of Manitoba's most interesting historic sites, or sun, golf and shop at the ports stops. Take a guided fishing trip; savor an outdoor pioneer lunch of meat, fish, wild rice, beans and bannock and sip champagne at the captain's party.

Many people today are rediscovering rail travel. Among several pacage tours that include transportation by tain is one that takes in both Quebec's beautiful Gaspe Peninsula and the Maritime [illegible]

The Gaspe part of the trip includes a tour by motor coach or limousine that visits several picturesque fishing villages, the world famous Perce Rock and the Bonaventure Island bird sanctuary, where thousands of seabirds make their home.

Highlights of the Maritimes visit are: a tour of Fredericton, the charming capital of New Brunswick; the Fortress of Louisbourg National Historic Park in Nova Scotia, Canada's largest and most elaborate restoration project; and a drive around pastoral Prince Edward Island. If you want to carry on east and have a look at Newfoundland ask your travel agent what Terra Nova Tours in St. John's has to offer. Eating well comes high on everyone's list of vacation priorities and with this tour you take no chances. Most meals, as well as transportation and accommodation are included in the package.

Weekend trips to major cities, such as Toronto or Montreal are popular. Some include discount dining, entertainment, sightseeing and shopping.

Motor camping tours are the most unstructured of all packages. You simply pick up your equipped camping vehicle at a prescribed place and time and take off. Charges vary according to the type of camper, length of time it is used, number of people in your party and the number of miles driven.

If you wish, you can package yourself right across the country. Travel coast to coast from St. John's, Newfoundland to Vancouver, British Columbia. Stops can be made at the cities of Quebec, Winnipeg, Toronto, Regina, and Calgary; and at Banff, Jasper, Yoho, Glacier and Mount Revelstoke National Parks.

Other package tours available include: canoe trips, trail rides, fishing trips, special events tours (visits to flower festivals in the spring, fall foliage tours, winter carnivals) and of course, ski or golf weeks and weekends. No matter what your special interest may be, you can find a package tour in Canada to suit you.

For further information about package tours speak to your local travel agent or contact the [illegible] Office of Tourism, 150 Kent Street, Ottawa, K1A 0H6.

Canadian poetess wins CLC acclaim

Students of Canadian poetry had the rare privilige last Monday night of being in the audience of Ms. Dorothy Livesay as she read from her works at the old main teaching Theatre of Camrose Lutheran College. The audience was modest in size (bout 70-75) but warm, receptive and enthusiastic. The reading was of about one hour's duration and was followed by an opportunity to meet and talk with the poet.

Ms. Livesay is without question one of the most esteemed members of the Canadian litrary world. Her reputation was already clearly established in the 1930's but in the decades since. She has not only continued to write a large quantity of verse but has managed to avoid becoming, as so may [illegible] whose productive period convers a wide expanse of years become, an echo of herself.

The key to Ms. Liveseys power as a poet is simple but humbling. She has merely combined consummate craftsmanship with a passionate responsiveness to life which, for those who came to the reading expecting a fragile literary, replica of their own tottering grandmothers, was shocking.

From the delicate lyric poetry of her early years, through the often rambustious poetry of social protest of the thirties, then to the calmly meditative re-evaluation of the human condition after the war, and into the sensitive examination of the human condition after the war, and into the sensitive examination of human relationships which followed there prevailed a sustained note of compassionate humanitarianism and a bold search for new experience. Her poetry revealed, in no particular order a frank lover, a devoted family woman, and a sensitive social analyst.

One [illegible] aspect of this event, upon which I feel bound to comment, was the paucity of auditors from outside of the college. Ms. Livesay's visit, as well as Mr. George Bowering's earlier in the year, were sponsored by the Canada Council in hopes of stimulating wider interest in Canadian Literature. I hope that the rather tepid interest shown in these two readings is not an accurate indication of the interest of Camrosians in our country's literature and I would appreciate any useful suggestions for assuring wider exposure to future visiting Canadian writers.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

The People's Airline?

"SINCE THE CHANGE FROM FAHRENHEIT TO CELSIUS, ANGUS INSISTS ON JACKING AROUND WITH THE THERMOSTAT AND I HAVE'NT BEEN WARM FOR A WEEK..."

By Peter Ward
OTTAWA (CEF)

OTTAWA — (NEA) — The end of a two-week sailing holiday in the British Virgin Islands brought our crew of six crashing immediately into Canadian issues. We tumbled off the aircraft in Ottawa cursing Air Canada, and vowing never to fly the People's Airline again if an alternate carrier were possible.

Air Canada compared very badly to the U.S. airlines we flew going and coming home. Baggage went astray between Ottawa and New York on the way down and the Air Canada office in New York closed at 5 p.m. so we were left to stew. The errant bag eventually made it to St. Thomas, thanks to the persistent tracking of a highly-placed Ottawa secretary.

In New York, American Airlines confessed to a reservation mixup and quickly switched our group of six to Pan American first class - no extra charge - and whisked us to the Pan Am terminal in an A.A. vehicle.

Great service all the way down south - after all we were freeloading in first-class. The trip home proved that economy service is almost as good. Great food, courteous stewardesses and a free drink or two. At New York we switched to Air Canada for the run to Montreal, a change of planes and a quick hop to Ottawa. Yes, we got our seats - but the plane was loaded to the hilt and the two gals charged with caring for passengers were rushed off their feet.

Would we like something to drink? Yes, a plain sodawater would be nice. "Sorry" said the gal "there's none available." "How about an orange juice? None of that either. Would there be a small packet of peanuts kicking around to munch with a coffee? "Sorry, sir we're out of peanuts but we do have a bit of coffee left."

The Air Canada gals were a model of courtesy but plainly were not being provided what they needed to look after passengers. The crew was too small and overworked, and all in the name of economy for the People's Airline.

These petty annoyances are small potatoes indeed, when compared to the thousand passengers who were recently stranded in one city when their actual destination was closed by snow and Air Canada refused to pay for either their food or transportation.

At this time there is apparently a massive shakeup underway at Air Canada's head offices. It is long overdue. Surely, our national airline should be run as efficiently as possible, but counting the peanuts, rationing the orange juice and having passengers stranded is no way to make friends.

Hopefully the new Air Canada broom will restore something of the service our national airline used to offer, and if that happens we might just possibly reverse a massive exodus of passengers who have been switching to other airlines whenever possible.

End of an era

The death of Chiang Kai Shek in Taiwan on Saturday brings an end to an era, or almost does, that must be unparallelled in China's history. If it continues for a short time, it will probably be because control remains in the hands of his son, already past 60, who thinks very much like his father.

Checkered as China's past has been, it still has seen greater transformation in the fifty or sixty years of Chiang's influence than seem possible. The country proper saw the traditional type government of Dr. Sun Yat Sen continuing the forms and the customs of many years past, and saw Chiang move into the seat of power in the normal manner. There were the insurrections, the invasions from outside the country, and the efforts by Chiang to repulse them.

Then came the building up of the Communist forces, led by many of his old associates, the long battle between Chiang's conservative government forces, and those of the Communist revolutionaries, their gradual ascendancy, and his gradual retreat, until he was pushed right into the ocean, winding up eventually with only the island of Taiwan, off the coast of China, as his domain.

Although the Communists have made fierce gestures over a period of years towards Taiwan, there is some reason to believe they don't really mind having it there, because just like Hong Kong, it opens a door to the commerce and trade of another world. But whatever happens in the next half century, it's questionable whether any one Chinese will have such a prolonged and profound effect on the nation's attitudes.

Mr. Safety

The above reminds us that when you think of Safety in Alberta, you almost automatically think of Paul Lawrence, who has been general manager of the Alberta Safety Council. After 29 years with the council, Mr. Lawrence stepped down last week.

Not only provincially, but also nationally, he has been recognized as one of the leaders of the safety movement, and several of his innovations have developed national acclaim.

Among his many accomplishments was development of the first standardized bicycle safety course for children up to Grade 6, which was the forerunner of the Pedal Pushers Club, still attracting from ten to twelve thousand children each year.

He co-authored the original Baby Sitters Course, one which proved invaluable to parents of small children, and over the years, many graduates of the course, have in turn called younger graduates to look after their own children. The same year, in 1952, he conducted the first province-wide Farm Safety Essay Contest, in co-operation with the provincial departments of Agriculture and Education, and in an average year, this contest still draws about fifty thousand entries. Imagine the safety consciousness that is produced when you get that many youngsters, with countless adults behind them, just thinking about safety, even for long enough to write an essay.

A couple of years later, he introduced Safe Driving Day on December 1st, which became the basis for Safe Driving Week, now the oldest public safety education campaign of the national Safety Council.

Almost incredibly, the list goes on, through defensive driving courses, to student driver classroom courses, and even international safety committees, in addition to a good deal of work with a number of Edmonton community service groups.

Modest, quiet and unassuming, Paul Lawrence has earned a tremendous reputation in the field of safety promotion. He deserves the thanks of all Albertans for the efforts he has put forth to keep us living longer, better and safer.

How to sneeze at the common cold

The Canadian economy suffers a loss of $300 million a year due to the common cold. To help cut the bill, Basil Jackson suggests in some measures that may prevent the spread of colds among office and workshop employees. (1) Discourage people with colds from touching other people's hands. "Our hands, either by direct contact with nasal mucosa or through handkerchiefs, are the most common transmitters of live viruses," says Dr W. W. Rosser, assistant professor, department of family medicine, University of Ottawa. "The virus live as long as three hours on the hands, as well as on stainless steel, formica, or nonporous materials. They also live as long as three hours on synthetic fibres." (2) Don't take a flu shot to prevent colds. One of the parts of the body where cold germs concentrate is in the eyes. People who rub their eyes and then touch another person's hands do much to spread colds. In 1970, Nobel Prize-winner Linus Pauling touched off the big vitamin C controversy when he advocated massive doses of this vitamin to ward off the common cold. Since then, many medical authorities have entered the fray. To check whether massive doses of Vitamin C really do prevent people catching cold, the most comprehensive study yet carried out in Canada was done on a carefully controlled group of more than 400 people in Toronto. "The participants in the three-month study took either one gram of vitamin C or a perfectly matched placebo at the first sign of infection," Dr. Rosser says. The results showed that 26 percent of the treated group were free of any illness during the length of the study, vs 18 percent of the non-treated group. "Of the people receiving vitamin C, 21 percent reported a shorter duration of feeling ill and were confined to their homes 30 percent less time than their untreated counterpart," Dr. Rosser reports. "There were also significantly more visits to the doctor for all purposes by those not receiving Vitamin C compared with those receiving it. Work carried out on a group of Indian school children in the southern U.S. tends to support these results." However, when further tests were made in more detail, the results did not support the first study's results. It was suspected that many people do not normally eat enough vitamin C in the first place, and these were the people who showed such good results in the first study - the intake of vitamin C boosting their bodies' resistance to colds. There appears to be a limit on the protection that can be derived from further doses. Cold symptoms may be reduced for the first three days, but long-term prevention is not likely.

Ministik news

Mrs. Jim Roddick
(Meant for last week)

Your correspondent hopes every one near and far enjoyed a happy Easter with friends and relatives despite the inclement day.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ebenstiner went on Thursday to Calgary to spend the Easter long weekend with their daughter, Donalda and family, the Mac Normans.

Those of the Penrice family who would brave the day out to the farm of the Alex Penrices enjoyed Easter dinner there.

Many in the area east of Ministik had cold breakfasts Easter morning after the vicious storm of the evening before. Power was restored after about 3½ hours.

Edna and Glenn Ferguson enjoyed the long Easter weekend in Banff, watching the many skiers and seeing the different favorite spots seen other times in summer season.

On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Penrice and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Penrice surprised Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zirk of Alhambra. Mrs. Zirk is a sister to Mrs. Penrice.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rowland were hosts at Easter dinner to the many members of their family, all from Edmonton.

Sylvie Leduc, an exchange student, one of 29 from Quebec City, left Tuesday morning for her home after spending 10 days as a guest of the Joe Davenports. Among the sights she was treated to while here, were the Rodeo, the Game Farm and a tour of the Government Buildings.

Mrs. Effie Nasichuk returned home on Saturday after a week's stay in Tofield Hospital.

Mrs. Keith Wittig and 3 young daughters left last Monday for Melfort, Sask., after hearing of the death of her mother. Keith Wittig and the remainder of the family motored down on Wednesday for the funeral. All returned home on Saturday. Mrs. Harold Brewer took care of the chores in their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lafontaine and Claude are enjoying a trip to Disneyland, California this week.

I'm sure residents of Ministik would be interested in the final election results of the local poll.

Dr. Walter Buck - 58.
Arthur Cooke - 3
Murray Finnerty - 20
Duncan McArthur - 4.

Members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Verden Sears attended the funeral of Mrs. Tom Sears in Edmonton on Wednesday afternoon.

One less Hamburger

If Canadians ate one less hamburger a week, one million tons of grain would become available to feed an additional five million people. This is what the Canadian Catholic bishops claimed in their Labor Day message. Furthermore, affluent Canadians would do themselves a favor if they cut down on some of the rich fatty foods they eat, since obesity and protein overload are now recognized as severe health problems. Dr. Sylvan Wittwer, assistant dean of agriculture at Michigan State University has flayed the irresponsible eating habits of Americans and Canadians. A diet of 300 pounds to 400 pounds of grain would provide an individual with adequate calories and protein in one year, yet North Americans consume four to five times that amount. Moreover, nearly 80 percent of that quantity is not consumed directly but used as livestock feed -- a conversion process which is highly inefficient. It takes 18 calories of feedgrain to product just one calorie worth of broiler meat.

Level out those natural gas payments with "PEP"

(Payment Equalization Plan)

Our Payment Equalization Plan provides a convenient method of paying your monthly gas bills in equal installments during the year.

Your annual gas consumption is calculated and divided by 12. This amount is paid each month thus a reserve is built up in summer for the higher winter costs.

Your meter is read bi-monthly and the estimated or actual consumption is recorded on your bill. Accounts are reviewed in April of each year and PEP payments are adjusted if necessary

PEP starts in May — we invite you to contact us now if you wish to have your account billed in this convenient manner.

Helping you look after your natural gas budget.

Tourism zone plans hospitality seminar

Battle River Tourist Association will operate a hospitality seminar at Camrose on Saturday, June 7th, at which time instruction will be given in the development of good relations with tourists and the travelling public in general. This will be open to personnel who will staff tourist information centres in the zone and staffs of businesses which are individual members of the association. Representatives of Travel Alberta will be present at the seminar to explain the steps being taken to attract tourists to the province, and make sure that they feel welcome when they come. They will emphasize the importance of maintaining a high reputation for courtesy and hospitality. A number of discussions will be held during the day relating to the various aspects of service to the tourist. The tourist industry is an important source of revenue for the province and its benefits affect the whole economy of Albertans. Travel Alberta is conscious of this as is Battle River Tourist Association, and for this reason urge full use be made of this seminar.

Mrs. Evans's of Half Moon Lake Resort, explained the problems they faced regarding getting adequate signs placed on the highway, as well as a number of other problems faced by the members of the Resort and Campground Manager Association. She said that they would submit material for resolutions in time for the next convention of TIALTA.

Leon D'Albertanson, publicity chairman, proposed a series of advertisements in the weeklies in the Zone, urging residents to invite their friends and relatives to come to Battle River Tourist Zone for their holidays this summer. The advertisements also suggest that they pick up Zone literature and include it with their invitation. The go-ahead was given to this project which may include up to 8 or 10 advertisments. Included in these ads would be references to the pre-planned tours proposed by Mrs. Clemens.

The Taylors, Chauvin spoke of developments in the Great West Country Vacations Ass'n. and thanked Zone 5 for their co-operation. They stated that the need for highway directional signs was one of their serious problems.

Respectfully submitted,
Leon D'Albertanson,
Publicity Chairman.

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S YEAR

Do you know the special significance of 1975? It is International Women's Year (IWY)! The year that a special effort is being made all over the world to improve the status of women.

IWY was conceived at the United Nations, and many of its member nations are promoting equality between men and women. In Canada, $5 million from the federal budget has been allocated to the IWY program, the aims of which, in the country, are: to educate the public on the changing attitudes concerning women's role in society; to end discrimination against women in all walks of life; to create an awareness among Canadian women of career opportunities open to them; to increase the number of women in prominent positions in government, business and industry; and to recognize the responsibility of women in the economic, social and cultural development of Canada.

In Alberta the Women's Bureau is implementing programs to influence people to change their attitudes towards the status of women. Although the present government passed the Individual Rights Protection Act in 1972, which says that women must be given equal employment opportunities and equal wages for equal work, it takes more than formal legislation to change the attitudes of society. The Alberta Women's Bureau is also encouraging women to branch out into new kinds of careers by compiling and publishing information on many of these new careers that are now open to women.

Present plans also call for government staff to visit locations through out the province to discuss problems that are presently preventing women from using their full potential.

The Alberta government is providing programs, geared to the needs of women who are dissatisfied with their present mode of life, in such places as Fort McMurray, Medicine Hat, and, hopefully, Edmonton. These programs are already underway in Calgary and Lethbridge. Adaptable to the specific needs of a particular community, their aim is to help women find out where they want to go through analysis of their emotional, psychological and intellectual approach to life. Interest and aptitude tests are also given to help women attain their aspirations and goals through a realistic sense of direction. In other words, to find out whether they really want to remain homemakers, or whether they prefer to join the labour force, even if it means further training to up-grade their present knowledge and skills. The programs, for which there is a fee, can be requested by groups, institutions and organizations anywhere in the province.

The federal government is acknowledging IWY by financing a vast informational and educational program and by sponsoring national and regional conferences designed to reach people who can bring about changes in present attitudes and practices that affect the status of women. In addition, the federal government is concentrating on removing such barriers to change as attitudes, certain legislation, rules, regulations and traditions, and providing financial assistance to voluntary organizations that are sponsoring special projects relating to women and International Women's Year!

In Alberta the Women's Bureau is implementing programs to influence people to change their attitudes towards the status of women. Although the present government passed the Individual Rights Protection Act in 1972, which says that women must be given equal employment opportunities and equal wages for equal work, it takes more than formal legislation to change the attitudes of society. The Alberta Women's Bureau is also encouraging women to branch out into new kinds of careers by compiling and publishing information on many of these new careers that are now open to women.

Present plans also call for government staff to visit locations through out the province to discuss problems that are presently preventing women from using their full potential.

The Alberta government is providing programs, geared to the needs of women who are dissatisfied with their present mode of life, in such places as Fort McMurray, Medicine Hat, and, hopefully, Edmonton. These programs are already underway in Calgary and Lethbridge. Adaptable to the specific needs of a particular community, their aim is to help women find out where they want to go through analysis of their emotional, psychological and intellectual approach to life. Interest and aptitude tests are also given to help women attain their aspirations and goals through a realistic sense of direction. In other words, to find out whether they really want to remain homemakers, or whether they prefer to join the labour force, even if it means further training to up-grade their present knowledge and skills. The programs, for which there is a fee, can be requested by groups, institutions and organizations anywhere in the province.

The federal government is acknowledging IWY by financing a vast informational and educational program and by sponsoring national and regional conferences designed to reach people who can bring about changes in present attitudes and practices that effect the status of women. In addition, the federal government is concentrating on removing such barriers to change as attitudes, certain legislation, rules, regulations and traditions, and providing financial assistance to voluntary organizations that are sponsoring special projects relating to women and International Women's Year!

Chatting with the bishop

Dr. Per Lonning, left, bishop of Fredrikstad, Norway, visited Camrose last week as part of a tour of North America to mark the 150th anniversary of the first shipload of Norwegian immigrants to the United States. Bishop Lonning, a scholar with two doctorates, author of several books, and former member of the Norwegian Parliament, gave a public lecture on Norwegian Church and State last Tuesday evening at CLC. STEP assistance sought by County

The Beaver Regional Recreation & Parks Board, was told at a meeting late last month, that an application would be submitted for assistance from the STEP program.

The grant, if obtained, would be used to employ five or six men at work in the county's parks. It was hoped that some work could be done at Islet Lake this summer.

Members were told that a Land Reclamation Grant of $16,000 had been obtained from the Provincial Government and that it would be used to improve the west side of Black Nugget Lake. The board decided to apply for a total of $300,000 that is available in matching grants from the provincial government. Because of a time factor, the board will make formal application for this money when the proper application forms become available.

A committee consisting of Dennis Couper, Tom Karlee, and George Knudslien was named to sit, along with George Baker, to interview applicants for the post of Program Supervisor with the Recreation Department. The deadline for applications was Tuesday.

Reports on local activities were received from Tofield, Ryley, Holden, Bruce, and Viking.

Mr. Knudslien noted that, while the reports were satisfactory, little mention was made of senior citizens' groups and their activities, and other groups such as cultural, arts, crafts, etc.

This report was obtained from the unapproved minutes of the meeting held on March 25th.

Talent Nite is set to go

The Tofield 4-H Talent Nite is ready to go. Entries have been coming in at a steady pace and there will be an excellent variety of numbers.

As in former years, there will be three divisions and two trophies will be awarded in each division. We have been fortunate to have procured three real knowledgeable people as judges and they are: Mrs. Ferguson, of Edmonton, Mrs. Ann Taylor, of Ryley; Mr. Van Berkel of Ryley.

While the judges are out making the big decisions, J. Alpaugh, an experienced magician, will be dazzling the crowd with his various acts. Then, to top things off, the well known Dennis Sherbanuk, radio announcer of CFCW, will keep things running smoothly on the stage.

The Talent Nite will be held in the Community Hall on April 23rd at 8:00 p.m.

200 attend co-op's meet

Over two hundred people attended the annual meeting of the Ankerton Natural Gas Co-op held on Wednesday night in the Bawlf School.

Only two changes were made in the co-op's board of directors as Calvin Sitler of Camrose and Karol Bnicki of Round Hill were elected to replace two members who had moved away. The other twenty-nine members on the board remain unchanged. Members were informed that 180 members were now getting gas service while hook-ups for another 200 were underway. As well, an agreement to provide gas service in the Town of Daysland was being finalized.

Members were told that, as soon as conditions warrant, service would be provided over another 160 miles.

At a meeting of the directors in Bawlf on Monday night, Ken Gerber of Kelsey was re-elected president while John Davis of Daysland and Morris Letren of Bawlf were named as vice-presidents, with Mrs. Lil Bohmer again being chosen secretary-treasurer.

A committee was set up to place the suggested projects in some form of priority, and to report at the next meeting.

The Lion's Spring conference will be held in Edmonton at the Capalano Motor Motel on April 26 and 27th., four members plan to take in this event.

The Lions social "get acquainted" night will be held in Tofield Legion Hall on Friday at 8 pm.

AVENGE* for Control of Wild Oats in Barley
Even light infestations of 1-10 wild oat plants per square foot may cause severe barley yield losses which, if saved, would more than pay for the cost of control

AVENGE* 200-C Herbicide gives excellent control of wild oats when applied from the 3-6 leaf stage of the weed — a wide flexibility of timing of application

So this year start to rid your fields of wild oats, increase your barley yields and save on dockage at market.

The medical cost of convenience

By Jon Williams
Alberta Agriculture's district home economist at Stettler

The convenience of aerosol sprays have won them a place in every room of the house. You can clean ovens with them, kill bugs with them, coat your pots and pans with them, paint with them spray your hair with them, perfume your body with them, and get rid of dust and static electricity with them.

But with increasing frequency, the possible safety and health hazards of aerosol spray products are being brought to public attention, by the news media, consumer groups, researchers physicians, and government agencies.

All aerosol cans carry with them the possibility of exploding if they are exposed to high temperatures. But the spray type of aerosol appears to have a further potential danger. The fine aerosol sprays, which give off millions of tiny droplets, some of them smaller than blood cells, have the easiest access to the human body.

The fluorocarbons used as propellants in aerosols, may in high concentrations cause abnormal heart rhythms. This propellant is suspected as the cause of sudden deaths. While industry spokesmen acknowledge that fluorocarbon propellants can affect the heart, they stress that exceedingly high concentrations are required to produce cardiac changes in laboratory animals. These concentrations are not reached during normal everyday use of aerosol products. But it is possible that some individuals may be more susceptible to fluorocarbons than others. Because fluorocarbons affect heart rhythm Consumer's Union medical consultants warn persons with heart conditions not to use ANY aerosol spray products.

The toxic effect of aerosol propellants extends beyond the heart. People with allergies, asthma, or lung conditions are cautioned about the use of aerosols by Dr. Bollinger, a U.S. biochemist.

Dermatologists consulted by Consumer's Union report that aerosol propellants can cause freezing, burning, blistering, and inflammation if applied too close to the skin.

Great caution is urged about keeping sprays away from the eyes. The eyes are most vulnerable to the tiny aerosol particles. In addition, the solvents used in some aerosol sprays can damage contact lenses.

Another propellant used in aerosols is an organic chemical known as vinyl chloride. High concentrations of vinyl chloride can cause a rare liver cancer. Research into the deaths of workers in industrial plants which manufacture aerosols showed the workers had died of angiosarcoma of the liver cancer. Studies are being conducted by government and industry in both Europe and the United States to further clarify the toxicity of vinyl chloride.

These and other warnings of the potential threat of aerosols were published in a recent CONSUMER REPORT magazine. The evidence of the health impairment from aerosol usage is not precise, but reports of harmful effects are numerous enough to warrant special caution. As a result, Consumer's Union medical consultants warn against the indiscriminate use of aerosol spray products in the home, no matter how healthy you think you are. While there may be little cause for concern about the occasional use, prolonged repeated exposure to aerosol sprays is hazardous.

Substitution for most aerosol products are available. But if you must use aerosol sprays in the home, use them in a well-ventilated area. Keep the spray away from your eyes and leave the sprayed area as quickly as possible.

Cost-conscious consumers may be interested to know that aerosols are also hazardous to the pocket book. Several surveys have shown that products in aerosol cans tend to be more expensive than comparable products in simple non-pressurized containers. In fact, in some cases, the aerosol versions are three or four times as expensive as comparable products.

Aerosol containers require heavy metal materials in place of cheaper lighter materials, a consideration in this time of shortages. Then, for many reasons - - - medical, environmental, and financial, aerosol sprays are not a good buy!

Here's why you need to control the wild oat before it comes up.

Before your crop breaks ground, untreated wild oats can steal moisture and nutrients from your barley, wheat rapeseed or flax. That can mean less crop at harvest. So use Avadex BW herbicide by Monsanto for early control of wild oats.

Avadex BW application flexibility lets you apply after seeding, especially when rainy, windy weather could make it difficult to apply a herbicide after wild oats emerge.

Avadex BW is convenient to use. And when used as recommended Avadex BW controls wild oats yet has good crop tolerance.

Remember how bad wild oats were last year. Be ready this year.

Apply Avadex BW this spring to help get a better yield of barley, wheat, flax or rapeseed.

Scentless Mayweed program

The County of Beaver No. 9 has approved in principal a five year program to control Scentless Mayweed within its boundaries.

Scentless Mayweed is increasing as a weed problem in Northern Alberta. One of the most serious infestations in the province is in the Viking-Bruce area, with another infestation increasing in the Ryley area. In a letter presented to the Provincial Weed Control Branch, the County of Beaver described their problems with the weed:

"At the end of 1974, well over half of the County of Beaver was infested with Scentless Mayweed. The infestation ranged from light to severe, based on a visual appraisal of the infestation, extensive infestation being a cereal, oilseed, or forage crop being crowded out by Mayweed, and a light infestation being scattered plants growing on wasteland, fence lines and other areas not in crop. Those light infestations are considered to be the source of future severe infestations. The worst infestations are on solonetzic soils where often good cultivation practices are difficult.

In 1974, it was apparent that Scentless Mayweed was spreading rapidly throughout the County. The seed of the Mayweed plant is very light and easily moved by wind and water. It would therefore be assumed that the greatest degree of spread would be with the main flow of water to the northeast and with the prevailing winds to the southeast. However, the greatest spread is to the west, indicating that the movement of infested feed, machines, etc. is primarily responsible for the rapid spread."

The brief continues to describe the control program and its objectives.

"In the initial stages, the main objective will be to acquaint every landowner and resident with the weed, its characteristics, control methods and the intent of the program. The program will remain in effect until all Mayweed in the County is considered under control. In a period of five years, it is hoped that this can be accomplished."

The County has been divided into three areas, which have been classified the infested area, the controlled area and the target area. In the infested area, farmers will be encouraged to control the weed, but this control will not be considered mandatory. If a group of farmers in a locality within the area are controlling Mayweed, then their locality may be declared a controlled area before the proposed target date. Although Mayweed may be present in the controlled area to a limited extent, it cannot be tolerated. The landowner must take all possible action to eliminate it or to prevent the area from becoming infested. The Weed Control Act will be used (to its fullest extent) in keeping this area controlled. The target area will receive the greatest degree of consideration in the program. Close-up operations will be concentrated in this area so that it can be considered a controlled area the following year.

Estimated costs in the first year of the program are close to $25,000.00. The County has requested the Provincial Government to assist in bearing the costs, however, no commitment from the Provincial Government has been received to date. However, it is expected that sixty percent of the costs will be picked up by the Senior Government.

Today is All you Have

Overton Stephens, M.D.

For many years I have longed to see this chronicle in print. I commend it to all who are ready for an adventure in both reading and living. For there is no way to read this book without sensing the imperative that God is calling us to go out and live with abandon, deeply vulnerable and honest about our own needs and trusting that God can do far more than we dare to ask or think . . . so says Bruce Larson in the foreward.

WHAT'S NEW!

It seems that periodically I need to mention a few new publications that have come into our office. If any of these publications interest you, please write, phone or drop in for a copy.

"Creative Quilting" talks about the origin of quilting, the equipment and materials needed, and how to do it. It also discusses patchwork and applique quilts.

Are you confused by the Metric System? It's coming (note celsius temperatures). We have a workbook to perhaps help you understand the SI system. Ask for "Think Metric"

It will soon be the season for Bridal Showers (are they ever out of season?) We have a booklet of Shower ideas. There is also one for Baby Showers.

Another interesting pamphlet is the "Handbook for Northern Gardeners" This book discusses soil, planning the garden, hot beds and cold frames, insects and diseases, etc. We also have a list of "Vegetable Varieties Suitable for Freezing".

We have copies of General Foods "Guide to Good Eating" This guide reminds us of the number of savings of each food group we should have each day and gives menu ideas with recipes.

There will be an Alberta Women's Week, July 15 to 17th at Vermilion College. The program is being finalized and application forms should be available in Mid-May. I hope lots of you are planning to attend. There will be more information in later columns.

The time to break the wild oat is before it breaks ground.

Before your crop breaks ground, wild oats can pick your pocket. They start to rob you at an early age . . stealing moisture and nutrients from young wheat, barley, flax or rapeseed. That can mean reduced yield and less profit at harvest

AVADEX* BW FOR EARLY WILD OAT CONTROL
Preemergent Avadex BW herbicide by Monsanto controls wild oats before they come up. Avadex BW is absorbed by the young wild oat shoots and usually controls them before they emerge through the soil surface. But, if you decide to wait and treat wild oats after they emerge it may be too late. Your crop has already been robbed of vital moisture and nutrients by wild oats.

Remember how bad wild oats were last year . . be ready this year.

Apply Avadex BW this spring to help get a better yield of barley, wheat, flax or rapeseed

Father, Son banquet goes Wednesday

The annual Father and Son Banquet will be held in the Tofield Community Center on Wednesday with guests from Edmonton teams in attendance.

Guest speakers for the occasion will be representatives from the Edmonton Oilers and the Edmonton Eskimos. Speakers will give an outline on their respective teams and will answer questions from the audience.

The banquet will get underway at seven o'clock with admission being five dollars for a father and his son, or sons. Boys whose fathers cannot attend the banquet, but, who would like to attend themselves, should telephone 662-2131 or 662-3284. All of the proceeds from Wednesday's banquet will be used for minor hockey and ball programs in the community.

Recognition of the efforts of all ball and hockey coaches in the programs in the past year will be given.

As well, Wednesday's banquet will be the last opportunity for any boy to submit his registration for participation in the coming summer's minor ball program to be operated in Tofield.

Officials hosting the banquet are hoping for a good turnout so that the banquet will be a success and minor sports programs in Tofield will be able to continue to operate.

Ryley Board has meeting

The Ryley Public Library Board, upon receipt of final grants from the Library Services Branch of the Department of Culture, Youth and Recreation, held its first board meeting on Monday at the home of Mrs. Ruddy.

By-Laws, policy, and regulations were discussed and a tentative date of Monday, May 12 was set for the official opening.

A survey will soon be distributed to establish service days and hours, types of reading materials etc. that will best serve the interests of the community. Watch for it.

Tofield Garden Club to host 1976's show

The April meeting of the Tofield Garden Club was held on Monday, April 14th, at the home of Mrs. Bertha Phillips.

Final plans were made for the Flea Market to be held in the arena on May 3rd.

The Agricultural Fair and Flower Show, to be held on August 23rd, took up a good portion of the meeting. This year, there will be 45 classes in the Flower Show.

It was also decided that the club would enter an 8 ft. square display in the Provincial Horticulture Show in Calgary on August 24th and 25th.

Mryna Huebert gave a very thorough report on the Alberta Horticultural Association meeting held in Camrose on March 14, and 15th. One of the highlights of the program was the Landscaping Award presented by Hon. Fred Peacock to Jack Hardy, manager of Northwestern Utilities Ltd. of Tofield. In addressing the assembled crowd, Mr. Hardy expressed appreciation to groundsman Peter Kuc of Tofield for the excellent upkeep of the premises and also thanked the Tofield Garden Club for entering Northwestern Utilities in the competition.

Another highlight of the Horticultural meeting, especially for the Tofield Garden Club, was the announcement that the Tofield Garden Club will be hosts for the 1976 Provincial Horticultural Flower Show.

Mrs. Huebner also named the topics discussed by the guest speakers and some of the facts they brought to the attention of those present.

Following her report, the date of the regular meeting was discussed. It was decided that the club would meet on the 3rd Monday of each month at 8 p.m.

However, next month the meeting will be on Saturday, May 17th at 7 o'clock at the arena. At 8 o'clock, the owner of Rare and Miniature Plant Club from Edmonton, will display his plants from all parts of the world. He will discuss the care and culture of these plants and some will be offered for sale. This plant display should be most interesting and the public is invited to attend this meeting at 8 p.m.

Separate But Unequal?

Earlier this year, Defence Minister James Richardson announced the formation of a new Air Command, which appeared to be a definite move away from a unified Canadian Armed Forces.

A few weeks ago Richardson confirmed this apparent deunification during an interview, by referring to the Navy, Army and Air Force — then specifically drawing attention to the fact.

Reviving the old service identities may well be greeted with shouts of joy from the older servicemen — most of them now retired — who set such stock in dark blue, light blue, and khaki, but there are dangers in returning to three services.

During the late 1950s and early 1960s, the Air Force used to boast that it was best at politically plumping for the equipment its senior men thought fliers should have. One airman still proudly reminds friends that in those days, the Air Force won 82 per cent of the capital expenditure funds of the budget, leaving the Navy and Army to fight over the remaining 18 per cent.

That's the last thing Canada need. Equipment purchases should be made on a national basis, keyed to the Defence needs of the country. With the Defence budget severely restricted as it has been for the past six years, the need for prudent planning in equipment purchases is doubly important.

But Richardson's start at separating the services has already resulted in upper level military battling for funds on the basis of service interests, and the results could leave Canada stuck with a billion dollars worth of expensive toys.

Gen William Carr, now Deputy Chief of Defence Staff and designated to become the commander of Richardson's Air Command, is convinced that Canada needs a new fighter aircraft. He's aiming at purchase of the best available, even if such a purchase eats up all but a few million dollars of the Defence equipment budget.

Gen Carr is a distinguished airman but his zeal which has drawn former airman James Richardson to the same point of view seems badly misplaced.

Hopefully, the Trudeau cabinet would shoot down such a scheme and refuse to allow billion dollar spending for a hot jet fighter. But the fact that the proposal is even being considered seriously is going to badly damage the prestige of the Armed Forces in the eyes of many Canadians.

Canada will only have an effective Armed Forces so long as the political climate supports such an organization. There are very few friends of the military around the cabinet table, and those servicemen who would alienate public support should think very carefully about what they are doing.

"SINCE V.J. LOVES PAINTING I DECIDED WE'D DO THE WHOLE HOUSE-DIDN'T WE...?"

The farm voice

All this week Hon. Otto Lang, Wheat Board minister, is meeting with various farmer groups across Manitoba and Saskatchewan, in an effort to find out directly what the farmers feel about the various elements of the government's western transportation policy, and on Monday at least he was applauded by some three hundred farmers in a small Saskatchewan centre.

While Mr. Lang said he was intent on finding out what the farmers feel about prairie branch line preservation, revitalization programs, freight rate structures, grain collection and handling systems, among others, there are many who feel he is trying systematically to undermine the branch line system so important to the western farmer, and the Crows Nest rates which are the farmer's bed rock.

It was especially noteworthy on Monday that Mr. Lang said he was initiating a study to see what the real cost of hauling grain is, and what relationship it bears to charges. If Mr. Lang can actually do this, he will prove to be a superman, for literally scores of western farmers and businessmen and politicians have tried over many years to ascertain the true costs of hauling freight, not only grain, but all kinds, and have wound up frustrated and angered by the impossibility of extracting information from the railways. Why, within the past two years, even Mr. Lang's own chief, Prime Minister Trudeau, has been unable to get the railways to produce enough accurate information for the investigation he promised at the conference of Premiers.

And even if these figures can be adduced, what considerations and importance can be assessed against the land grants and the mineral rights which were bartered for the low freight rates, and how much would these offset the computed costs of freight, if they were ever allowed to be figured into the operation?

Plan to put wheels under planetarium

Culture, Youth and Recreation Minister Horst Schmid recently announced a first for Canada. A fully Mobile Planetarium which will be called a "Planetarium obile".

The purpose is to bring the Planetarium experience to residents of rural and smaller Urban communities around the province to improve the quality of life in rural Alberta. It is hoped that the multimedia approach to astronomy will motivate school children and the public to further interest and study of our skies.

In co-operation with the Department of Education and school boards special programs are planned for school classes.

The Planetariumobile will be fully self-contained, and the first such unit in Canada. It is understood that the only other such mobile planetariums in North America are in Mexico.

When travelling down the highway, it will appear to be a normal trailer. When parked at its destination, a portion of the sides and roof will expand to accommodate a projection dome with seating capacity of up to 30. Several technological and practical considerations require this modest use mobility, the project equipment, etc. The innovative and functional design of the unit has been a co-operative activity of the Provincial Museum and engineers from Alberta public works.

In a province which found 10 of the 30 meteorites known to have fallen on Canada, it is fitting that Alberta produce the first Planetariumobile giving rural Alberta the opportunity to participate in the admiration and expanded explanation of the universe, said Mr. Schmid in announcing the project.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

Separate But Unequal?

Earlier this year, Defence Minister James Richardson announced the formation of a new Air Command, which appeared to be a definite move away from a unified Canadian Armed Forces.

A few weeks ago Richardson confirmed this apparent desunification during an interview, by referring to the Navy, Army and Air Force — then specifically drawing attention to the fact.

Reviving the old service identities may well be greeted with shouts of joy from the older servicemen — most of them now retired — who set such stock in dark blue, light blue, and khaki, but there are dangers in returning to three services.

During the late 1950s and early 1960s, the Air Force used to boast that it was best at politically plumping for the equipment its senior men thought fliers should have. One airman still proudly reminds friends that in those days, the Air Force won 82 per cent of the capital expenditure funds of the budget, leaving the Navy and Army to fight over the remaining 18 per cent.

That's the last thing [redacted] need. Equipment purchases should be made on a national basis, keyed to the Defence needs of the country. With the Defence budget severely restricted as it has been for the past six years, the need for prudent planning in equipment purchases is doubly important.

But Richardson's start at separating the services has already resulted in upper level military battling for funds on the basis of service interests, and the results could leave Canada stuck with a billion dollars worth of expensive toys.

Gen William Carr, now Deputy Chief of Defence Staff and designated to become the commander of Richardson's Air Command, is convinced that Canada needs a new fighter aircraft. He's aiming at purchase of the best available, even if such a purchase eats up all but a few million dollars of the Defence equipment budget.

Gen Carr is a distinguished airman but his zeal which has drawn former airman James Richardson to the same point of view seems badly misplaced.

Hopefully, the Trudeau cabinet would shoot down such a scheme and refuse to allow billion dollar spending for a hot jet fighter. But the fact that the proposal is even being considered seriously is going to badly damage the prestige of the Armed Forces in the eyes of many Canadians.

Canada will only have an effective Armed Forces so long as the political climate supports such an organization. There are very few friends of the military around the cabinet table, and those servicemen who would alienate public support should think very carefully about what they are doing.

The farm voice

All this week Hon. Otto Lang, Wheat Board minister, is meeting with various farmer groups across Manitoba and Saskatchewan, in an effort to find out directly what the farmers feel about the various elements of the government's western transportation policy, and on Monday at least he was applauded by some three hundred farmers in a small Saskatchewan centre.

While Mr. Lang said he was intent on finding out what the farmers feel about prairie branch line preservation, revitalization programs, freight rate structures, grain collection and handling systems, among others, there are many who feel he is trying systematically to undermine the branch line system so important to the western farmer, and the Crows Nest rates which are the farmer's bed rock.

It was especially noteworthy on Monday that Mr. Lang said he was initiating a study to see what the real cost of hauling grain is, and what relationship it bears to charges. If Mr. Lang can actually do this, he will prove to be a superman, for literally scores of western farmers and businessmen and politicians have tried over many years to ascertain the true costs of hauling freight, not only grain, but all kinds, and have wound up frustrated and angered by the impossibility of extracting information from the railways. Why, within the past two years, even Mr. Lang's own chief, Prime Minister Trudeau, has been unable to get the railways to produce enough accurate information for the investigation he promised at the conference of Premiers.

And even if these figures can be adduced, what considerations and importance can be assessed against the land grants and the mineral rights which were bartered for the low freight rates, and how much would these offset the computed costs of freight, if they were ever allowed to be figured into the operation?

Plan to put wheels under planetarium

Culture Youth and Recreation Minister Horst Schmid recently announced a first for Canada. A fully Mobile Planetarium which will be called a "Planetariummobile."

The purpose is to bring the Planetarium experience to residents of rural and smaller Urban communities around the province to improve the quality of life in rural Alberta. It is hoped that the multimedia approach to astronomy will motivate school children and the public to further interest and study of our skies.

In co-operation with the Department of Education and school boards special programs are planned for school classes.

The Planetariummobile will be fully self-contained, and the first such unit in Canada. It is understood that the only other such mobile planetariums in North America are in Mexico.

When travelling down the highway, it will appear to be a normal trailer. When parked at its destination, a portion of the sides and roof will expand to accommodate a projection dome with seating capacity of up to 30. Several technological and practical considerations require this modest size mobility, the project equipment, etc. The innovative and functional design of the unit has been a co-operative activity of the Provincial Museum and engineers from Alberta public works.

In a province which found 10 of the 30 meteorites known to have fallen on Canada, it is fitting that Alberta produce the first Planetariummobile giving rural Alberta the opportunity to participate in the admiration and expanded explanation of the universe, said Mr. Schmid in announcing the project.

Let them eat wheat

As part of a long-range project aimed at learning everything there is to know about the Canada thistle, Agriculture Canada scientist Jim Hunter planted a 20-acre site to the weed. But as soon as the thistle shoots reached the surface, marauding rabbits nipped them off.

As a solution, several rows of winter wheat planted around the edge of the site. Wheat seedlings are more succulent than those of the thistle, so the rabbits have since been munching on these. The thistles are now well established on the site, and research is continuing.

B.R.T.A. plans tourism seminar

A "Hospitality Seminar" is being planned again this year by the Battle River Tourist Association, to be held on Saturday, June 7th, downstairs in the York Cafe.

Mrs. Sylvia Clemens of the Camrose tourist office, who is chairing arrangements for the seminar, expects between 40 and 50 people to attend. There are six tourist information centres located around Zone 5, the Battle River Association's area, and Mrs. Clemens hopes that three or four operators from each centre will participate.

Also encouraged to attend are business personnel such as waitresses and clerks who deal with the public, so they may also be able to help tourists who are looking for points of interest in our area. The day, including a noon dinner, is completely sponsored by the Battle River Tourist Association.

The purpose of the seminar is to educate people dealing with the public to what there is to see and do in Zone 5, so that they may be able to direct tourists to the local attractions when asked. A half day will be spent on this, following registration at 8:45 a.m. After the noon hour, eight or ten speakers will give short talks on the points of interest in their particular areas within the Battle River zone.

The people attending will then be introduced to the new 1975 travel material available, and the rest of the day will be spent on discussion of how to courteously treat a visitor when he appears on the business premises, and how to handle certain problems which often arise with tourists.

Suggestions of things which any interested persons may wish to learn about at the seminar will be most welcome, says Mrs. Clemens. She may be contacted at the association's Camrose office in the mornings at 672-4217. President of the B.R.T.A., Ken Ince of Stettler, who will chair the seminar that day, may also be contacted.

The B.R.T.A. will hold its monthly dinner tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the Legion, with anyone interested invited to attend a slide presentation from 8 to 8:30 p.m. by the Camrose Camera Club.

Holden district news

The Friendship Group met for their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson on Thursday afternoon, with ten ladies present. Devotions were opened by Mrs. Beth Campbell with a hymn followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The Roll call was then taken with each lady responding in the usual manner with a verse of scripture. The minutes of the last meeting held at the home of Mrs. Carrie Olson, in March, were read and approved. The ladies were advised that a receipt has been received, with a very nice thank-you letter, for the donation sent for the protegee at the Harvest School mission for her schooling and clothes, also for the continued support. The ladies were also told that members of Holden U.C.W. planned to visit April 29th in the evening at Vista Lodge and the nursing home in Viking and would take along any ladies of the group who wished to visit also. The meeting closed with a hymn and the Mizpah Benediction. The next meeting will be held May 15th at the home of Mrs. Campbell with Mrs. Bertha Stenmand in charge of devotions. The hostess then served lunch, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Brekstad.

"Devil at the Wheel"

Ken Pestana the central figure of this gripping true story, is now in prison for his part in the brutal murder. But he is not alone. He has become a Christ-inhabited person revolutionized by submission to God! Anyone inclined to think that dramatic conversions ceased with Paul will think again when he reads this account.

One word of warning: If you once get hooked on this story, it will be very hard to put down.

NURSING BOTTLE SYN- [illegible]

"Nutrition News" had an interesting article concerning the effect of early feeding habits on young children's dental health. Abraham E. Nizel, D.M.D., M.S.D., Professor of Nutrition and Preventive Dentistry, Tuft University School of Dental Medicine, called it the "nursing bottle syndrome". This condition is characterized by rampant decay of all the upper teeth and, in some instances, some of the lower back teeth.

This syndrome is caused by direct contact of the teeth with sugar, syrup or honey sweetened water, milk, or fruit juice drunk from a nursing bottle. Usually these nursing bottles are used as pacifiers at bedtime by children who are much beyond the bottle-feeding age.

The consequences of many [illegible] tal cavities in young children are discomfort, infection, poor appearance, tongue-thrust habit, speech impediment, poor nutrition, and a great deal of needless financial expenditure.

The most effective step to prevent such problems is to put the child to bed without a nursing bottle. If the nursing bottle is an absolute emotional necessity, then the selection of the proper type of beverage is critical. One should use plain milk or fluoridated water, not a sugar or syrup-sweetened beverage.

Another step to prevent decay is to clean the child's teeth with a gauze pad after each feeding. This removes the sticky bacterial plaque and film on the tooth surface.

A child should see a dentist for examination and preventative dentistry serves as early as possible, but never later than two years of [illegible]

Prevention - -that's the key to good dental health.

Barley Growers: Now, more than ever before, every extra bushel counts in market profits!

This year, don't let wild oats rob you of those profits. Give them a knock-out punch with AVENGE® Wild Oat Herbicide!

AVENGE® for Control of Wild Oats in Barley

Even light infestations of 1-10 wild oat plants per square foot may cause severe barley yield losses which, if saved, would more than pay for the cost of control.

AVENGE® 200-C Herbicide gives excellent control of wild oats when applied from the 3-6 leaf stage of the weed — a wide flexibility of timing of application.

So this year start to rid your fields of wild oats, increase your barley yields and save on dockage at market.

Ronnings at four levels

The Ronning family were pioneers of the Bardo district in the early days, and many residents of the area still follow the fortunes of the family with keen interest, so the picture of four generations in the Chester Ronning family will be appreciated by many. The well known Canadian diplomat and former Canadian ambassador to India is shown at centre, with his daughter, Sylvia Cassady of Camrose beside him. Left of Mrs. Cassady are her son, Joel Cassady and his wife, Connie, with their two children Jay and Tammy standing in front, while on the right is Noel Cassady, holding daughter Nola, beside his wife Wendy, with daughter Kjeryn standing in front.

Annual talent nite is very successful

On Wednesday, April 23rd, the Tofield 4-H Beef Club held their annual "Talent Nite" at the Community Hall.

The evening began as President, Colleen Walker, led the audience in O'Canada and Ron Kallal followed with the pledge. Colleen Walker then introduced the Master of Ceremonies for the evening, Dennis Sherbaniuk of CFCW.

There were three age divisions with a total 30 numbers in which the following were winners.

9 years and under — 1st, Lorna Voltner and Corrine Gannon; 2nd, Lorna Voltner, and Honorable Mention was given to Sandra Shewchuck, and Curtis Rempel.

10 to 13 years — 1st, Wally and Randy Heubert; 2nd, Corrine Gannon, Lorna Voltner, and Trudy Williams, and Honorable Mention was given to David Rudacki, and Michele Hisey.

14 years and over — 1st, Joan Clark and Colleen Walker; 2nd, Holly Peterson; and Honorable Mention was given to Francie and Bonnie Buergen.

A special number in the 14 years and over, was a play under the direction of Mr. Simon. This play did not compete in the competition but was immensely enjoyed by all.

Then the judges left to make their decisions. While they were out, J. Alpaugh put on a special magician act which kept all the young ones as well as the older ones spell bound.

The trophies were presented by Jim Patterson, Travelling Superintendent of the Alberta Wheat Pool and were donated by the Alberta Wheat Pool. The judges for the evening were Mrs. Kaufman; Mrs. Ann Taylor; and Mr. Van Berkel.

The evening closed with Colleen Walker presenting gifts to the judges and the m.c. and also giving a few thank you remarks. Everyone then joined in singing "God Save the Queen."

CAR WASH SUCCESSFUL

On Saturday the Tofield 4-H Beef Club held their annual car [illegible]

Approximately 60 cars were scrubbed, polished cleaned and vacuumed, and by 6:30 p.m. a troop of tired 4-Her's had washed their last car.

But then, on Sunday, the 4-Her's as usual were back at it, and at 12:45 they hopped in their cars and headed for Edmonton to take in a fun afternoon of bowling. On their return from the city, they stopped at Ministik and had a weiner roast.

On May the 8th, the final meeting before the achievement day will be held and all members are urged to attend.

Rural rail line study

The study of the grain handling and transportation system of the West being conducted the last few days by two federal cabinet ministers indicates the government is attaching a very high level of concern to this problem, possibly because of the high level of subsidies it is being called on to deliver to keep the lines open, but more likely because almost 6,300 miles of line are protected from further discontinuation, only by government order, and only until the end of this year.

Both Wheat Board Minister Otto Lang and Transport Minister Jean Marchand have been in the West in recent days, the latter assisting in some of the earlier meetings, and adding his own opinion to that of Mr. Lang. "A major purpose of our meetings will be to discuss the upgrading of the grain handling system, not the ripping up of tracks, as well as transportation incentives in general" re-assured Mr. Marchand.

Mr. Lang's comments have not been quite so comforting to the farmers, and residents of smaller western communities generally. "The system has begun to break down; it is just not adequate for the demands which today's larger and more farflung marketplace put on it." said Mr. Lang at Brandon. "The regional inquiries will determine which additional lines should be kept open for many years to come," he said at Kerrobert, and surely this carries a strong implication that some other lines are not to be kept open.

"As well as looking at the operation the line itself," the Minister said, "the inquiries will examine alternatives to rail service, such as trucking programs," he said, also at Kerrobert.

"They will equally be looking at the impact of the line in a social and business sense on the surrounding rural community," he said at Canora. "In some cases. . .the actual monetary cost of keeping a line in place may be high in dollar terms, but worthwhile in other contexts, and. . .the line should stay in place." If farmers are willing to pay a higher cost to keep lines in place, that is their choice."

And again at Rosetown "This is not a policy to be suspicious of."

Yet the farmers are concerned, and it's not unfair to say they are suspicious. There are projections on maps which show huge abandonment of railway lines here in east central Alberta, so that many farmers would have to double the distance they presently haul grain to the elevator. That may conceivably help the railway economy, but it certainly won't help the economy of the farmer facing double mileage costs. Nor will it help in the overall economic picture, since it can easily be demonstrated that truck hauling of grain is far less efficient than rail hauling of it.

It's hardly surprising that NFU regional co-ordinator Bill Dascavich suggests that Mr. Lang's series of meetings are a public relations exercise designed to soften the resistance of rural communities to rail line abandonment.

Mr. Dascavich says that, judging Mr. Lang on past performance, he will attempt to lull farmers into complacency by assuring them the government has only their best interests at heart, really, while adopting a policy of attrition of rail service and the Crowsnest agreement.

Witness the government's move last August to strip the Canadian Wheat Board of its pricing power over domestic feed grains, says Mr. Dascavich, after Mr. Lang assured farmers earlier in May he would never be party to destroying the Canadian Wheat Board. "Prairie farmers have just cause to be twice shy after having been once bitten," he says a little bitterly.

Another chilling thought in regard to the consultations being held by the ministers. . .could these be on the same level as the consultations held with the residents of the East Pickering area outside Toronto, where nobody wants an airport, but they're going to get one anyway, despite their protests?

If general upgrading of the efficiency of operations is indeed desired, it's to be hoped the government may pay some attention to the comment of the NFU that from twenty to thirty thousand carloads of grain per year pass each other between Edmonton and Calgary, unnecessarily, in order to stay on their respective rail lines. This has to be a dreadfull example of deliberately engineered inefficiency, and should be terminated regardless of the outcome of any other portion of the hearings. After all, the hopper cars, which carry the huge bulk of the grain load, all belong to the Dominion Government anyway, and it should insist they go the shortest, fastest, cheapest way, both to increase turn around speed and efficiency, and at the same time to reduce in some measure the huge subsidies being charged to the government. It's not at all improbable that large parts of these subsidies constitute a deliberate, and projected rip-off of the public purse, through planned inefficiency.

Air battle . . .

OTTAWA (CEP)

Four or five years ago the Defense Department announced it would be purchasing a new long range patrol aircraft to replace our aging Argus aircraft, which now performs patrol duties off both coasts and in the Arctic.

Aircrews on the Argus are complaining that their planes were close to falling out of the sky, and early this year, the government partly confirmed complaints by reducing the number of Argus from 32 to 26, using spare parts from the retired six aircraft to keep the others flying.

The decision for an Argus replacement seemed to take forever. Six months or so ago, the government announced that the choice had been narrowed to two types of aircraft — the Lockheed Orion and the Boeing 707, both American built.

The price of an Argus replacement was first estimated to be between $400 million to $500 million. That price tag has now expanded to about $800 million, thanks to inflation.

With decision deadline coming this August, the Defence Department is now considering other options for maritime patrol aircraft. One proposal would see half the existing Argus aircraft refurbished at Montreal's Canadair plant, the purchase of between six and 12 DHC-7 aircraft from Toronto's deHavilland Aircraft and purchase of four 707 Boeings for Arctic patrol work.

The government, in an attempt to rationalize the Canadian aircraft industry, has bought deHavilland Aircraft and acquired an option to purchase Canadair. The Short Take Off and Landing passenger liner system, which was to have been sold around deHavilland's DHC-7, hasn't been selling well, and work is needed for both those companies. Hence the rationale for the above proposal.

If needed Canadian defense equipment can be made in Canada, that's marvelous. Providing work for Canadian industry is one of Defense Minister James Richardson's prime aims, and it's a laudable one — but only if the equipment purchased meets the needs of the services.

In this case, there's a nasty suspicion that a new way of acquiring surveillance aircraft at a lower cost is being sought so that there will be some money left in the budget to buy a glamorous jet fighter.

Richardson has conceded that a new fighter is high on his priority list for service in protecting Canadian air space and possibly as an interceptor in Europe with NATO. The argument is much less valid now than it was back in 1958 when John Diefenbaker cancelled the Avro Arrow, an expensive, all-weather jet fighter. Any threat from manned bombers was diminishing then. Today it has almost disappeared.

Strangely enough, one of the prime candidates for a new Canadian fighter in the circles of frustrated Air Force jet pilots is the McDonnell Douglas F-15, and flyers in Canada frankly consider the F-15 as "almost as good as the Arrow," the plane Canada didn't build 15 years ago, because the U.S. wouldn't buy them from us.

Are labor strikes necessary?

Tofield, April 26

Dear Sir

Many Canadians are concerned about the ever recurring labor strikes and the effect they are having on the economy of our country and it's dependability as an exporter. Adding to the gavity of the situation is the fact that there is no end in sight, rather, the opposite is predicted.

It is obvious that the ones who would like to see corrective measures introduced are those who are willing to put the welfare of our country first, and those most hurt by labor strikes. With collective effort, perhaps something can be accomplished.

Admittedly, labor has the right - even duty - to organize and demand what is fair. However, with every right goes a responsibility and today, this seems to be a forgotten fact.

When we ignore the Ten Commandments, which is generally the case during a strike, we can expect trouble. They were given to us for our guidance and we reject them at our own loss.

What an intolerable situation we would have if we decided, for instance, to ignore traffic signs, which are there for the same reason - to guide us!

Perhaps it is difficult to love our neighbor as ourselves but we certainly are not justified in using force to further our own interests at the expense of someone else.

If we abhor conflict in any form the first step is to put our own house in order.

A definite move must be made to end strikes and the ill will which they foster. Even mediation should be a thing of the past.

What would be wrong with establishing a permanent Labor Court, it's purpose being to ESTABLISH wages and working conditions for ALL branches of labor? Labor would be represented as well as unorganized minorities and agriculture.

Wages would be determined on a merit basis rather than by the heavy hand of force and consideration of self. In justice to all, various factors would have to be taken into consideration when striving for fairness - the value of a particular branch of labor to the nation, the skills involved, the cost and time spent in acquiring them, the responsibility [illegible] productivity, the element of danger, job security, etc.

Every branch would have to be reviewed by the Board even where no representation had been made. With the passing of time, adjustments could be expected, the object being to keep wages on a par with the general economy of the country. Also, adjustments could be expected if a labor shortage developed in any given field.

Surely there is sufficient good will and ability in our land to bring an end to this internal conflict and Sunday visitors at the home of John and Mary Wood were their daughter Dede and Robert Gushuak of Drayton Valley and their daughter, Gail Ellerd of Edmonton.

Mrs. Mae Ferguson, her daughter, Mrs. Loretta Weir of Tofield and daughter, Wanda Weir, motored to Sherwood Park on Monday.

Colder air moved into the district on Sunday with a light rain showers overnight. Monday was quite cool with strong winds and the forecast has been for continued cool weather, so, it looks like another late spring for the farmers who have to continue feeding stock until green grass.

Love is Not a Special Way of Feeling

It worked! You noticed it! It's a title that gets you, doesn't it? You see, not enough people read the writings of Chas. Finney - and they are missing a lot? So we put a new title on some of his best thoughts. Finney asserts that love is "active good will", anchored in principles, not floating free in a shoreless sea of emotion.

99 percent PICTURES AND THE PROUD PARENTS

Sharon Strudwick, D.H.S. at Vermilion, wrote this humorous article describing her experience with bargain advertisements and a gift subscription.

Obtaining a beautiful 5" x 10" portrait of your child for less than $1.00 (plus handling charges) is more than most parents can resist. And, I was one of them! Se several months ago I dreamed, combed and dragged my two year old self to a city store advertising such a plan.

Did she want to smile roguishly? No sir! She was having none of that! But in the end the photographer did take a couple of shots, breathed a sigh of relief as we left and got ready for the next little sweetheart. Before leaving we paid our 99 cents plus handling charges and as return got a card identifying our pictures by name and number.

After a couple of months waiting, we were advised that our child's photos would be in the store and could be picked up by us at the appointed hours.

Enter now a very up-to-date young representative of the photo company. She pulled my envelope and sure enough, two adorable poses of little daughter. Each pose was ready in an 8" x 10", a 5" x 7" and five wallet size prints. Of course, one of the 8" x 10" was mine, because I'd already paid for it. BUT - - - the whole package was available for a mere $ - - - Not wanting so expensive a unit I tried weaning my way down to half of the package - Well !!! Raised eyebrows and a hurt look plus the pitch about how much the grandma would love a 5" x 7" each come Mother's Day. And of course, your little one won't change much between now and then!

As a last try at getting out gracefully I asked to have my 8" x 10" and some time to think about the rest of the package. This is my last day here and you may have this one chance to get your bargain was the reply. At this point, having recognized all the hard sell lessons in the book, I made some comment which prompted the lady to assure me she was definately a soft sell person and not one who tried to push merchandise her customer didn't want.

In the end I did manage with only one picture, just as I had intended from all along. Gain from this little experience of mine, I hope you will be on guard against similar hard sell pitches.

Please note these two things:
First, I'm not suggesting that all 99 cent photo promotions are the same bamboozle. On the contrary, I know of some that don't even have a sales representative there when you pick up your pictures.

And secondly, I'm not advising against getting pictures through such a place. Mine were beautifully done and would have made a reasonably priced set if that's what I'd have been after. I knew the only picture I wanted was the one advertised and paid for, so this attempt to sell me more was unproductive but interesting! Listening to the canned sales pitch was worth every cent - if you enjoy sorting out the various ploys of salesmen's techniques and you aren't impulsive enough to waver in your intentions.

So be on guard. And be firm. It may be tough to say no to a salesman, but it'll be a lot tougher to explain where hobby suits "borrowed"?

Library plans "Open House"

At a recent meeting of the Tofield Library Board which was chaired by Ron Taylor, the following members were present Inez Denham, Dorothy Clark, Librarian, Dorothea Freebury, Lorraine Irwin, Rita Halverson, Mayor Freebury and Town Council representative, Ray Pittet.

It was reported that since moving into its new premises in March, the Library has received a number of donations and an additional grant of $2,000.00, from the Provincial Government.

Donation of books were received from Alf Pike and Mrs. Alice Warner and clocks from Thomas Iscobs and Helen Brom. The treasurer's report revealed that, to date, $1,100.00 has been spent on books and it was the opinion of the Board that the majority of the additional government grant money should go toward the purchase of books, in order that we secure as many new books for our reading public.

A new schedule of days and hours when the Library would be open was established and details are advertised in The Mercury.

Plans were also discussed for an "Open House" to be held on Wednesday, May 14th from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The Benefactors

You and Calgary Power.

You help us pay for a part of our operating expenses. We provide you with power . . . and return some of your money. Most of it, as a matter of fact. We put it right back into your province — your community.

Take labor, for example. In 1974, we employed over 1500 Albertans. That means over $20 million in salaries went directly into the community.

We paid more than $4 million in property and business taxes, water rentals and coal royalties. We paid dividends to our shareholders — 96% of whom are Canadians.

We pay federal and provincial income tax. Calgary Power customers are refunded 95 percent of the federal income tax — 100 percent of the provincial income tax. And as a Calgary Power customer, you see this return as a Provincial discount on your electricity bill.

Two benefactors — two beneficiaries.

You and Calgary Power. A powerful combination.

Last rites held for Irving Sitler

Irving Sitler, born in Camrose June 2, 1951, departed this life on April 13, 1975 at the age of 23 years. He received his education in Round Hill and Camrose and was actively engaged in farming with his father and brother until the time of his passing. He leaves to mourn, his wife, Connie, his parents Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sitler, two sisters, Eunice of Edmonton and Mrs. Timothy (Sharon) Burkholder of Edmonton, 1 brother Raymond, two nieces and three nephews.

Irving had a pleasant disposition and was a kind and loving companion, son and brother. Because he was always happy and outgoing, he won many friends.

Funeral services were held at the Salem Mennonite Church near Tofield on Thursday, April 17, with Rev. H.R. Boettger officiating. Interment in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were Bob Lehman, Richard Roth, Calvin Sitler, James Wideman, Glenn Burkholder, and Joe Wideman. Hoveland Funeral Home of Camrose in charge of all arrangements.

Lions Club plans a park clean-up

The Tofield Lions Club met on Tuesday, April 22nd, in the Old Library. There were four guests from the South Cooking Lake Club, and 17 members of the Tofield Club that sat down to a delicious supper prepared by Mrs. Nancy Pettit.

The meeting was called to order by Lion president Al Pollock who welcomed the guest and asked for the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, which included the minutes of the executive board of directors meeting.

There is to be a general clean-up of the grounds at the Lions Park, stand boxes installed, swings and playground equipment to be repaired and painted. This project will be done within the next few weeks, in order that the park will be new and fresh for the summer.

There are five couples attending the Spring Conference on April 26, and 27th, being held in the Capilano Motel in Edmonton. Various committees reported and everything seems to be shaping up with much activity planned in the future.

Tofield Lions next meeting will be held on May 13th at 6:30 p.m. in the Old Library form of blackmail with it's attendant train of ills - economic waste, inflation, our deteriorating position in world trade, and increase in trade barriers and temporary benefit to a few with injustices to many.

One can well imagine the reception such a proposal would receive. Cries of supression of rights, of the loss of all that labor has gained through the years and of a regimented economy, would be loud and long. And yet, basically, why should any branch of labor object? Would it be through fear of unfair treatment? Or worse, would there be fear of not obtaining MORE than a just share of the labor dollar?

We must ask ourselves what is so sacred about the right to strike when such action so obviously inflicts hardships on our neighbor.

Understandably imperfect though they may be, we accept decisions of law courts so why couldn't we accept a Labor Court?

We wonder how much longer the country will tolerate such stupidity as labor strikes and this form of slow national suicide.

Economic stability and harmony will not come without widespread effort and good will but when the benefits are weighed, the price is small indeed.

After all, there is nothing wrong with our way of life that cannot be cured by the acceptance of a little Christianity.

Father-son banquet was held in Tofield

Steve Carlyle of the Edmonton Oilers was the guest speaker as Tofield hosted its annual father-son banquet in the Community Centre last week.

The Community Centre was packed to capacity to hear the Edmonton hockey player as he described events of the past hockey season, mentioning some of the planning that was being made for next winter. After his talk, the Oiler player answered questions from the floor

Allan Warner, president of minor sports, presented two trophies to the Mite Level 1 hockey team for having won their division in the Highway 14 Hockey League, as well as winning the recent tournament held in Tofield. Garth Hildebrand of the Tofield team was the top scorer in league play.

Earlier in the program, Mr. Warner, on behalf of the committee and the participants, thanked all the coaches in the town's ball and hockey programs for their help in making the programs run successfully. He cited Vic Rudacki for his part in arranging the recently held minor hockey tournament.

Mr. Warner also extended congratulations to last year's Highway Baseball League champions, who were coached by Don Roth and John Boergen.

Bill Friesen, on behalf of the gun club, presented a trophy to Mr. Bechard, for being the best marksman in a recently held competition.

Arnold Hildebrand spoke briefly, expressing appreciation to all those who helped with refereeing during the past hockey season.

Robert Lysio was the master of ceremonies for the evening. Salads for the meals was supplied by mothers of the hockey players while the serving group was headed by Joan Warner.

After the program concluded, registrations were accepted for the coming baseball season.

Name Judge Hall to farm rail line inquiry

Former Supreme Court Justice Emmett Hall has been appointed by the Government of Canada to head a Commission of Inquiry to examine all social and economic aspects of railway branch lines in the prairies.

The regional inquiries will examine area by area the 6,270 miles of railway branch lines which have been categorized as requiring this additional study and have been protected until at least December 31st, 1975. The commission will conduct public inquiries in the areas directly affected by these lines and will make recommendations about the appropriate future role of these lines.

Mr Justice Hall served on the Supreme Court of Canada for 11 years, from 1962 until his retirement in 1973. Prior to that, he was Chief Justice of Queen's Bench in Saskatchewan for four years, then Chief Justice of Saskatchewan and of the Court of Appeal for two years.

The Ministers said that the inquiry commission in its recommendations will examine both the quality and costs of the rail service now available as well as that required for the future. They will also examine alternatives to the present system, farm to elevator trucking patterns, the quality of the present elevator service available and future plans of the elevator companies, as well as rural and community development plans of the provincial governments on the prairies.

In looking at the impact of rail line utilization on communities, the inquiries will study rural development objectives, related highway systems and their direct and indirect impact on the viability of rural prairie communities.

Particular attention will be paid to the possibilities of agricultural processing, other manufacturing and resource development.

In making recommendations about the use of the branch lines, the commissioners will be required to take into account the implications of such matters as joint running rights over branch lines, possible ownership transfers, construction of rail spurs and connecting lines, a common roadbed, reciprocal routing agreements and traffic diversions.

Finally they will be required to determine the overall regional impact of their recommendations in terms of their cause and effect relationship on all components of the system.

After thorough investigation and public hearings on the 6,270 miles of line, the commission could recommend one of three alternatives.

First, it could recommend that any or all of the branch lines under consideration be reallocated to the basic prairie rail network of some 12,500 route miles. The basic network which comprises two thirds of the prairie rail network is protected until the end of this century.

A second recommendation could be that a branch line will be retained in its present frozen status for an indeterminate period pending the anticipated development of agricultural processing or manufacturing facilities or natural resources.

A third possibility could be the retention of the current frozen status for a short to medium term to minimize the impact on the region and to permit the completion of related transportation programs.

If, after detailed area studies have been carried out, the future status of any line remains uncertain, the commission could recommend that further studies take place. In this case, the matter would be referred to the Canadian Transport Commission.

Name new Agri minister, deputy

Marvin E. Moore MLA for Smoky River is Alberta's new Minister of Agriculture, and on Monday announced the appointment of Dr J.G. O'Donoghue as deputy minister.

Mr Moore has a farm near Debolt, 30 miles east of Grande Prairie where he grows cereal and forage seed and commercial grain. Since his first term as MLA in 1971, Mr Moore has served as co-chairman of the Minister's Task Force on Agriculture.

Marvin Moore

In 1973 the new minister served on the Legislative committee on crop and hail insurance chaired by Gordon Stromberg that toured the province to ascertain farmers' opinions on the provincial crop insurance program. He has also served as vice-chairman of the Alberta Grain Commission and was a member of the Alberta Meat Products Mission that went to Japan last year. In addition, he was a member of the task force on decentralizing government operations.

Mr Moore was born at Grande Prairie in 1930 where his father, Charlie Moore, farmed. His father was named a Master Farmer in 1964. Although Mr Moore has a good background in hog production and feeder cattle operations, acquired from the family farm, he does not raise livestock on his own farm.

In 1959 he married Frances Bedoker of Valleyview, and they have three children, Kerry, Lonny and Bernice.

Formerly Assistant Deputy Minister of Production, Dr O'Donoghue replaces Dr Glen Purnell, who has been made responsible for overall economic development strategy, reporting directly to the Deputy Premier.

Dr O'Donoghue was born in Stratford, Ontario, and attended the Ontario Veterinary College, University of Guelph, where he received his D.V.M. in 1942.

He came to Alberta with the federal Health of Animals Branch in 1946 after having served with the Canadian Army overseas. In 1948 he joined the Alberta Veterinary Services Division where he was involved in laboratory work, field investigations and in developing livestock disease control programs. He lectured in veterinary sciences at the University of Alberta for 17 years.

J.G. O'Donoghue

Dr O'Donoghue became Director of the Veterinary Services Division in 1965. Seven years later he was appointed Assistant Deputy Minister of Production.

Alberta meals

We've all heard criticism on occasion of the quality of meals and service in restaurants in Alberta as compared with many of those found in the United States, even taking the prices into consideration, too.

So we felt fascinated last week-end to hear the remark from a well-travelled delegate from British Columbia as a group sat down to lunch "I always like to come to Alberta. The meals here always taste so good." We tried to find out what makes them taste so good, but it was pointless. There was no explanation, just that happy feeling of satisfaction with meals in Alberta.

For sure, it would bring a smile to the lips of any member of the tourist industry.

Warning from Ottawa

The action of federal Minister of Transport Jean Marchand in urging the country's two major airlines to hold back on their proposed fare increases shows to some extent how much the government is concerned about cutting back on inflationary inputs.

It's one that will be welcomed by many members of the public, whether they travel, or whether they just purchase the products incorporating travel. For it's well known that Canadian airline costs are already high by world standards, and that many airlines with much lower load levels are operating in the black.

Air Canada, for instance, works with a government guarantee that it will get three quarters of all the traffic over lines it services, which isn't likely to build in much incentive for trimming fat wherever it exists, or in becoming really competitive.

We've often wondered what would be the effect of letting other airlines really compete for the traffic, on a rates and service basis, and see how profits and efficiency work out. If Mr Marchand keeps up the pressure against increases, it might help, but the government line would still have the security of knowing it could count on three out of every four customers.

Tours in Battle River promotes area travel

Described by some members of Battle River Tourist Association as potentially one of the best pieces of literature published over the life of the Association, a new book depicting tours to the various attractions in the zone starting from points within the zone was approved for publication at the April meeting.

The booklet would contain a number of maps on which the tours are outlined and would include information of various attractions covered by the trips. There would be one-day trips, overnight junkets, and longer tours. It is expected that these booklets will serve a long felt want in zone literature something which provides both visitors and residents of the zone with information which will make their travel in the zone more interesting and rewarding. Circulars were issued about the first of April and sent to all communities seeking suggestions for the trips and requesting this information to be in by April 30.

CHANGE OF DATE: Due to conflicting events it was found necessary to postpone the hospitality seminar one week. It will be held June 14th rather than June 7th. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Clemens, B.R.T.A. Office Camrose.

A TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

Mothers come in assorted shapes and sizes, medium, small, short, tall, slender or plump. Your own particular mother came in a size especially right for you.

Mothers dress in many different styles; blue jeans, pants, miniskirts, maxis, midis, or floor-length skirts . . . fur coats, cloth coats, sweaters or shawls of yester-year, but on the inside mothers are pretty much the same.

Mothers have hearts full of love. They love little girls, little boys and daddies, big boys and girls, art and flowers. In art, a mother's favorite painting is done with crayon on construction paper furnished in first grade. She also loves roses, but her most cherished bouquets are the withered wild flowers from the tight fist of her child.

She will coax [illegible] into taking their [illegible] hovering ever near with outstretched arms lest they fall, then rejoice greatly as they learn to walk alone, knowing full well that they have taken the first step toward walking [illegible] her. In her heart she is glad, yet sad.

A mother is considered by those who aren't mothers to be self-sacrificing, but she really isn't. The catcher's mitt and the sleepy-eyed doll brought her much more happiness than that lovely new hat would have.

Mothers are not fully understood by any except other mothers and God. For who can understand why a mother is able to face the heartbreak of crisis stiff-lipped and dry-eyed, then break into uncontrollable weeping at the words of a beautiful hymn? Or how she is able to smile and wave goodbye to her child, then shed copious tears upon his [illegible]

Your mother has known since the day of your arrival that some day she must let you go. She has prepared herself for this, and tries valiantly to set herself apart from you. Yet, if at times she seems to cling a bit, forgive her and remember that her children are always her children, even though their legs have grown long.

—Beatrice Cooper.

PLEASE NOTE:

I noticed an advertisement for the Lecithin, Kelp, Cider, Vinegar and Vitamin B6 diet in the Edmonton Journal. Please note the following message from the American Dietetic Association regarding this diet.

LECITHIN, KELP, CIDER [illegible]AR, AND VITAMIN B6 — DIET.

"The American Dietetic Association does not recommend the lecithin, kelp cider vinegar, and vitamin B6 weight-loss diet. This diet combines magic remedies with a 1,000-kcal diet. Adherence to any 1,000-kcal diet [illegible] produce [illegible].

Lecithin, cider vinegar, and [illegible] B6 are harmless. Lecithin, produced naturally in the body, does not act as a diuretic, lower blood cholesterol, or redistribute weight. Promotion of cider vinegar for weight [illegible] its potassium content is absurd. Normal individuals on reducing diets do not need increased potassium. Vitamin B6 does not cause a loss of body weight by regulating the body's water balance. Vitamin B6 is necessary for health, but is water soluble, and excessive amounts are excreted. Kelp, because of its high iodine content, may be harmful in excessive amounts taken over long periods. Dosages suggested by this diet can depress thyroid activity and lead to severe complications in undiagnosed goitrous conditions and adversely affect body metabolism.

Could we increase output 40 percent

Suppose this was the time in man's history when food shortage became a crisis. There will certainly be such a time, [illegible] is not many years from now. How great an increase in production could Alberta agriculture achieve? Could production be increased 40 percent?

Historically nothing like a 40 percent rise in production has taken place throughout the province. Yet, individuals have blended management with opportunity to effect large gains. Perhaps we should list some of the limitations.

Fertilizing for maximum productive efficiency would improve yields surprisingly. Too many Alberta farmers don't know what adequate fertilizing can do for them. They haven't had the money or the equipment to develop the management. Crop district No. 4 may be an exception, but the rest of Alberta could [illegible] profitably. In 1972, Alberta sales of fertilizer amounted to 361,000 tons, enough for fifty pounds per acre application on about 14 million acres. A rough approximation of fertilizer needed on the 17 million acres in cereal crops and seeded pasture is 80 pounds per acre of fertilizer. We used about 51 percent of the fertilizer recommended in 1972.

Alberta's potential under irrigation is almost un-measured. Thousands of acres of irrigation land within existing irrigation districts have seldom used water because the crop value per acre did not warrant the expense. Under a maximum production policy this would change; though irrigation systems have been permitted to run down, and would need expensive improvement.

A third factor is credit. If we ever decide that high production is essential the availability and application of productive investment funds will be modernized. Some of the banks have indicated a trend in this direction already.

There are many ways to shoot for maximum out-put, too numerous for this article. One additional item worth mentioning is management ability. Too many Alberta farm operators need and deserve management training. Too many have only limited experience. The standard varies by regional but every part of Alberta would benefit from better farm business.

EXTENDING THE LIFE OF CUT FLOWERS

A bouquet is less likely to die prematurely as the vase thanks to a flower preservative developed by Agriculture Canada researchers in Ottawa.

"Flower Care", now distributed by florists who are members of Flowers Canada, prevents the stems of cut flowers from clogging. The new preservative allows plant food and water to circulate freely in the stems and rose blooms last twice as long as usual.

Library plans

At a recent meeting of the Tofield Library Board which was chaired by Ron Taylor, the following members were present Joan Dunham, Dorothy Clark, Librarian, Dorothea Freebury, Loraine Irwin, Rita Halverson, Mayor Freebury and Town Council representative, Ray Pittet.

It was reported that since moving into its new premises in March, the Library has received a number of donations and an additional grant of $2,000.00, from the Provincial Government.

"Open House"

Donation of books were received from Alf Pike and Mrs. Alice Warner and clocks from Thomas Jacobs and Helen Brom. The treasurer's report revealed that, to date, $1,100.00 has been spent on books and it was the opinion of the Board that the majority of the additional government grant money should go toward the purchase of books, in order that we secure as many new books for our reading public.

A new schedule of days and hours when the Library would be open was established and details are advertised in The Mercury.

Plans were also discussed for an "Open House" to be held on Wednesday, May 14th from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Alberta Tourism elects Fowler

Bill Fowler of Camrose received the gavel from George MacDonald of Edmonton and assumed the position of President of the Travel Industry Association of Alberta. The ceremony took place in the Palliser Hotel in Calgary March 16, 1975 at the conclusion of the three day convention held in the Southern City. This is the first time that anyone from the Battle River Tourist Association has held this particular position.

BATTLE RIVER TOURIST ASSOCIATION BRINGS HOME AWARD

The delegation of sixteen people from East Central Alberta returned home Sunday evening with one of three awards presented during the Annual Convention. Leo D'Albertanson of Wainwright was awarded the "Herb Webster Trophy" presented once per year by TIAA to the person thought to be deserving of recognition for an outstanding contribution to tourism. Leo was on the first executive of the Battle River Tourist Association, was its second President and has headed the publicity committee of the Association for a number of years. In his nomination for the honor, B.R.T.A. reports (among many other things) that he had driven some 14,000 miles in order to attend more than sixty of the eighty odd meetings that have been held by the Association.

Among the many speakers at the Convention were Honorable Bob Dowling, Minister Responsible for Tourism and Leonard Nathan of Sun Tours of Toronto.

The delegation representing the Battle River Tourist Association consisted of Pat and Ken Ince, Stettler, Martha and John Gust, Bashaw, Donna and Dennis Pederson, Wetaskiwin, Margaret and Len Dutton, Edna Palmer, Killam, Chairman and Bob Brown, Leduc, Berdie and Bill Fowler, Betty Gustrip, Sylvia and Dick Clemens, Camrose.

LOCAL TOURIST ASSOCIATION SCORES TWO OUT OF THREE:

The Battle River Tourist Association submitted three resolutions to the Annual Convention of the Travel Industry Association of Alberta, and succeeded in having two of them adopted.

The association is concerned about the number of accidents that take place throughout the province at rural intersections. As its resolution stated, "more tourists are visiting the rural portions of Alberta, and many of these visitors are used to driving in cities where road intersections are nearly all identified with stop or yield signs". The solution put forth, and approved for presentation to the cabinet later in the year, is for the "Government of Alberta to establish a policy with counties, municipal districts and improvement districts by which rural intersections are properly marked by signs, with the Provincial Government providing the necessary funding."

In another area, B.R.T.A. is concerned about the increasing number of visitors coming to Alberta who are "unfamiliar with the English language." The resolution suggested that "a language interpreter service be instituted at Internation Airports in the Province." The Ass'n. thinks that the project could be launched without much of a budget by compiling a list of volunteers "willing to assist in making people welcome," and that this information (including the person's phone number and language spoken) be kept at the airport for use when needed. The idea received approval at the Convention.

The other resolution submitted by BRTA generated more heat and emotion than all the other resolutions put together! This was their effort to "eliminate tipping in Alberta" The resolution claimed that 'the custom of tipping is a hold over from the past, when people were dependent on gratuities in lieu of wages." The pitch included claims that "the custom is demeaning and degrading to the recipient, that it inhibits on-the-job training, and encourages dishonesty in the staff." The resolution called for the Gov't. of Alberta to establish an official position (not a law) opposed to the continuation of the custom throughout Alta., and that a continuing campaign be carried out with the objective that Alta., become known throughout the world as the place where tipping is strongly discouraged."

The discussion on the subject became quite emotional at times, and ended up by soundly defeated.

Annual timber production in the Yukon is approximately 10 million board feet of lumber and 500,000 lineal feet of round timber.

100 ways to save energy

The book that was reported not to be, is. Called "100 Ways to Save Energy and Money in the Home", it has been produced by the Department of Energy, Mines and Resources. After it was announced in a national advertising campaign five weeks ago a lot of publicity was given the fact that it was not yet available.

More than 200,000 requests have been received so far and mailing has already started. This demand followed the advertising campaign that specified six weeks wait for printing and delivery.

Copies can be obtained by writing to 100 Ways, P.O. Box 3500, Station C, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 4G1.

The pocketbook size publication of 160 newsprint pages was researched, written and edited in the Department's Information Branch and the Office of Energy Conservation. Initial printing is 250,000 English and 1[illegible] French.

Bloomquist appointed at CLBI

Graduation Weekend, April 19 and 20, concluded the 1974-75 school year at Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute in Camrose. 34 students received graduation diplomas, four received two year certificates, and 45 received one-year certificates.

At the Commencement Exercises, it was announced by Chairman of the Board, Dr. G. (Bert) Loken of Calgary, that Pastor Dan Bloomquist has been appointed Academic Dean, effective May 1st. With a growing school and increased responsibility, it became necessary to have this part of the administrative work of the president delegated to another faculty member, informed Dr. Loken.

An invitational banquet was held Saturday evening at 6:00, the Graduands' program at 8:00, and a musical dramatical presentation at 9:00 — "It's Cool in the Furnace." These programs were in the auditorium of the school, with an appreciative audience that crowded it to the limit.

At the Baccalaureate Service in Messiah Church on Sunday morning at 11:00, a filled church shared in the inspirational service conducted by Pastor Laverne Hoveland, with the sermon brought by President Arnold Hagen.

Commencement Exercises in the afternoon at 2:30 p.m., also in Messiah Church, saw a full church again to share in the academic and spiritual occasion. Pastor Johan Hesje, of Elbow, Saskatchewan, was the speaker on the graduation theme: "Promised Path of Life," with President Arnold Hagen presiding, and several groups from the school presenting musical selections.

President Arnold Hagen will be on sabbatical during the summer, writing a thesis for the M. Th. degree through Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minnesota. During his absence, Pastor Bloomquist will take charge of the academic functions, with Pastor Hoveland in charge of other aspects of administrative responsibility.

License new 50% rapeseed

Agriculture Canada this spring licensed two new crop varieties - one rapeseed and one flax.

A temporary three-year licence has been given to a high erucic acid rapeseed named R—500. Developed at the Saskatoon, Sask., Research Station, R—500 will meet industrial demand for a high-yielding crop with more than 50 per cent erucic acid needed for specialized uses such as lubricants and as a raw material for the plastics and fine chemicals industries.

R—500 is a turnip rape variety with a greater percentage of oil and protein than in any other rapeseed. The yield of oil and protein an acre is greater than that of any other variety, even though the seed yield may be four to eight per cent below that of low erucic turnip rape varieties.

However, R—500 is also more susceptible to most rapeseed diseases, and therefore is best suited to the southern portion of the rapeseed growing areas.

The new variety will be grown under contract. The farmer will return all his harvest to the processing company that contracted for it.

Breeder seed will be maintained at the Saskatoon research station. The seed section of Agriculture Canada's Regina, Sask., Research Station will distribute breeder and foundation seed. Some foundation and certified seed is being distributed for planting in 1975.

RAINFALL IS A WINDFALL

One additional inch of rain during the growing season on the arable land in the Prairies could boost farm income by $200 million, says Dr. Jim Bole, a plant nutritionist at Agriculture Canada's Lethbridge, Alta., Research Station. He and Urban Pittman, an agronomist, have been studying the effects of increasing rainfall on yields of various crops grown at dryland locations in that area of southern Alberta.

REMEMBER WHEN?

An Ottawa man recently found a preprinted, postage-free postcard addressed to Agriculture Canada's Publications Branch. The back of the postcard listed the department's new publications and invited the sender to check off those pamphlets he wanted and they would be sent to him free of charge.

The man filled out the card and sent it in, but all the pamphlets he requested were out of print. The new publications were for the winter of 1930-31. He had found the postcard in the bottom of a box of old books he had bought at an auction sale.

CANADA'S INFORMATION ON CRIME

For every 100 Canadians aged seven and older, there were more than eight offences in 1970, compared to just over five in the early 1960's. And it seems that Quebec is the place to be if you are looking for safety from crime; whereas British Columbia and Alberta are the most violent provinces. At least, says The Financial Post, these are the facts according to government's most recent figures, but they're badly out of date. Not one of the tables or charts in Statistics Canada's new publication, Perspective Canada, has data beyond 1971. Nevertheless, using the data that are available, StatCan has put together some remarkable tables and charts. There is the little-known fact, for instance, that women's lib has reared up in crime too. While women still have a long way to go to catch up with men on the crime front, the figures show they are trying harder than they used to.

Racing to return to Jamboree

Harness racing will again be coming to Camrose, to run in conjunction with Jaywalkers' Jamboree, with post times at 7 p.m. on June 6 and 7th and at 2 p.m. on June 8th, at the fairgrounds.

The races are being brought here by the Camrose Agricultural Society, which is a member of the Canada West Turf Associations, and the C.W.T.A.'s parimutuels trailer will again be set up at the meet.

Although last year's races were termed quite successful, ". . .we are hoping for an even bigger and better meet this year," says Leon Boulter, secretary-manager of the Agricultural Society.

Added this year will be a raffle on a cash draw of $505. Tickets are on sale now, and the stub will also serve as gate admission to the races, although the ticket purchaser won't have to be there to win the draw.

The tickets are available in several stores in Camrose, from agricultural society members, and will be sold at various country points as well as at Jaywalkers' Jamboree.

Bloomquist appointed at CLBI

Graduation Weekend, April 19 and 20, concluded the 1974-75 school year at Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute in Camrose. 34 students received graduation diplomas, four received two year certificates, and 45 received one-year certificates.

At the Commencement Exercises, it was announced by Chairman of the Board, Dr G (Bert) Loken of Calgary, that Pastor Dan Bloomquist has been appointed Academic Dean, effective May 1st. With a growing school and increased responsibility, it became necessary to have this part of the administrative work of the president delegated to another faculty member, informed Dr. Loken.

An invitational banquet was held Saturday evening at 6:00, the Graduands' program at 8:00, and a musical dramatical presentation at 9:00 — "It's Cool in the Furnace." These programs were in the auditorium of the school, with an appreciative audience that crowded it to the limit.

At the Baccalaureate Service in Messiah Church on Sunday morning at 11:00, a filled church shared in the inspirational service conducted by Pastor Laverne Hoveland, with the sermon brought by President Arnold Hagen.

Commencement Exercises in the afternoon at 2:30 p.m., also in Messiah Church, saw a full church again to share in the academic and spiritual occasion. Pastor Johan Hesje, of Elbow, Saskatchewan, was the speaker on the graduation theme "Promised Path of Life," with President Arnold Hagen presiding, and several groups from the school presenting musical selections.

President Arnold Hagen will be on sabbatical during the summer, writing a thesis for the M. Th. degree through Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minnesota. During his absence, Pastor Bloomquist will take charge of the academic functions, with Pastor Hoveland in charge of other aspects of administrative responsibility.

License new 50% rapeseed

Agriculture Canada this spring licensed two new crop varieties - one rapeseed and one flax.

A temporary three-year licence has been given to a high erucic acid rapeseed named R—500.

Developed at the Saskatoon, Sask., Research Station, R—500 will meet industrial demand for a high-yielding crop with more than 50 per cent erucic acid needed for specialized uses such as lubricants and as a raw material for the plastics and fine chemicals industries.

R—500 is a turnip rape variety with a greater percentage of oil and protein than in any other rapeseed. The yield of oil and protein an acre is greater than that of any other variety, even though the seed yield may be four to eight per cent below that of low erucic turnip rape varieties.

However, R—500 is also more susceptible to most rapeseed diseases, and therefore is best suited to the southern portion of the rapeseed growing areas.

The new variety will be grown under contract. The farmer will return all his harvest to the processing company that contracted for it.

Breeder seed will be maintained at the Saskatoon research station. The seed section of Agriculture Canada's Regina, Sask., Research Station will distribute breeder and foundation seed. Some foundation and certified seed is being distributed for planting in 1975.

RAINFALL IS A WINDFALL

One additional inch of rain during the growing season on the arable land in the Prairies could boost farm income by $200 million, says Dr. Jim Bole, a plant nutritionist at Agriculture Canada's Lethbridge, Alta., Research Station. He and Urban Pittman, an agronomist, have been studying the effects of increasing rainfall on yields of various crops grown at dryland locations in that area of southern Alberta.

REMEMBER WHEN?

An Ottawa man recently found a preprinted, postage-free postcard addressed to Agriculture Canada's Publications Branch. The back of the postcard listed the department's new publications and invited the sender to check off those pamphlets he wanted and they would be sent to him free of charge.

The man filled out the card and sent it in, but all the pamphlets he requested were out of print. The new publications were for the winter of 1930-31. He had found the postcard in the bottom of a box of old books he had bought at an auction sale.

CANADA'S INFORMATION ON CRIME

For every 100 Canadians aged seven and older, there were more than eight offences in 1970, compared to just over five in the early 1960's. And it seems that Quebec is the place to be if you are looking for safety from crime; whereas British Columbia and Alberta are the most violent provinces. At least, says The Financial Post, these are the facts according to government's most recent figures, but they're badly out of date. Not one of the tables or charts in Statistics Canada's new publication, Perspective Canada, has data beyond 1971. Nevertheless, using the data that are available, StatCan has put together some remarkable tables and charts. There is the little-known fact, for instance, that women's lib has reared up in crime too. While women still have a long way to go to catch up with men on the crime front, the figures show they are trying harder than they used to.

Racing to return to Jamboree

Harness racing will again be coming to Camrose, to run in conjunction with Jaywalkers' Jamboree, with post times at 7 p.m. on June 6 and 7th and at 2 p.m. on June 8th, at the fairgrounds.

The races are being brought here by the Camrose Agricultural Society, which is a member of the Canada West Turf Associations, and the C.W.T.A.'s parimutuels trailer will again be set up at the meet.

Although last year's races were termed quite successful, ". . .we are hoping for an even bigger and better meet this year," says Leon Boulter, secretary-manager of the Agricultural Society.

Added this year will be a raffle on a cash draw of $505. Tickets are on sale now, and the stub will also serve as gate admission to the races, although the ticket purchaser won't have to be there to win the draw.

The tickets are available in several stores in Camrose, from agricultural society members, and will be sold at various country points as well as at Jaywalkers' Jamboree.

Tofield play wins in drama festival

By Grace Phillips

On April 24, a very enthusiastic company of actors left Tofield for the Zone 3 drama festival in Leduc. The company consisted of the Drama 10 class directed by Bill Hinson, their instructor.

The cast of the play "Parade of the Devil's Bridge" consisted of Francis Dunkerque, Robert Inman, Edmund Ferguson, Greg Hallengalet, Karen Jacobsen and Greg Hallengalet. Completing the company were Betty Wilson, Ron Lindsey, and Lionel Williams, who were responsible for make-up, costumes and sets.

The lines depicted Satan and his exploits in attempting to steal souls from the HOLY Hermit, Father Kato.

Competing against twenty-two talented companies, the Tofield Bee-vue class captured four awards and three scholarships at the festival. Francis Dunkerque, playing Satan, was the award for best actor; Edmund Ferguson playing Father Kato and Greg Hallengalet as his cut both received honorable mention for best supporting actors.

The play was adjudged the best of the festival. Directed by Bill Hinson, the play amused the audience and influenced Tofield's future ability in drama. Plans are now in the offing for the group to attend the Provincial Drama Festival in Banff, May 15 - 18.

BEAVER HERITAGE SWIMMING COMPLEX UNDERWAY

The Board of Directors of the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society has accepted major tenders for the construction of an enclosed 25 meter swimming pool, Mr. Stan Kubia, a director, has agreed to supervise the actual construction which has now begun.

While construction costs are high, it is hoped that most of the project can be paid for upon completion. We have set a necessary goal of $60,000. in local contributions of which one-half has been collected.

The Society has been awarded the Department of Agriculture Grant of $50,000, and is now applying for capital grant monies under the Department of Culture and Recreation. Some assistance will also be forthcoming from the Federal Winter Works Program.

The Finance Committee is now resuming the canvass for local funds in the Ryley and District area, and will be contacting residents by letter very soon.

We realize that there are a number of supporters of the swimming pool in other town and village centers, and in the County of Beaver generally. We regret that we have not yet been able to contact all these people. But there are so many residents in this recreation region that it would not be possible to canvass every household. So please help us to find you. Or better still, drop a cheque in the mail to us. Your contribution will be gratefully acknowledged, and you will be placed upon the mailing list for progress bulletins concerning the pool.

We are making this general appeal because we feel certain that this recreation facility will be able to serve all residents of the County of Beaver Regional Recreation area.

Please help us to make it a reality.

AVENGE® for Control of Wild Oats in Barley

Even light infestations of 1-10 wild oat plants per square foot may cause severe barley yield losses which, if saved, would more than pay for the cost of control.

AVENGE® 200-C Herbicide gives excellent control of wild oats when applied from the 3-6 leaf stage of the weed — a wide flexibility of timing of application.

So this year start to rid your fields of wild oats, increase your barley yields and save on dockage at market.

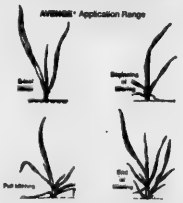
Barley Growers: When You Don't Get a Second Chance to Knock Out Wild Oats Let AVENGE® Make The First One Count!



AVENGE® for Control of Wild Oats in Barley

Even light infestations of 1-10 wild oat plants per square foot may cause severe barley yield losses which, if saved, would more than pay for the cost of control.

AVENGE® 200-C Herbicide gives excellent control of wild oats when applied from the 3-6 leaf stage of the weed — a wide flexibility of timing of application

So this year start to rid your fields of wild oats, increase your barley yields and save on dockage at market.

BIKES!

There are so many bikes. Young and old are riding around the town and the country. Unfortunately, with more bicycles on the road, there are more accidents involving cyclists. Many can be avoided if drivers and riders think safety.

Bicycle riders are to follow the same road rules that car drivers follow. Small children must understand safety rules before they are allowed on the roads. If the rules are not followed, the privilege of riding their bike should be withdrawn. Reflectors and lights are essential for night riding. Light coloured clothing is more easily seen at night. Strips of reflector tape on a jacket will make your child more visible in the dark. Trick riding is definitely out. It can lead to instant accidents. This includes riding double or towing a wagon.

Check your bike regularly to see if the brakes are adjusted and the tires are properly inflated. All screws should be tightened regularly and the chain guard inspected. Is the light working? No spokes should be missing or loose. Even regular wear and tear can lead to equipment failure and endanger the rider.

There is nothing pleasanter than a bike ride on a spring day. Use your bicycle with care and enjoy it.

Tofield 4-H sets Achievement Day

On Thursday, May 8, a meeting of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club was held. Colleen Walker called the meeting to order with Denise Tofford reciting the pledge.

Randy Jones read the minutes of the last meeting. Blair Wiens gave the financial report.

Discussion on the upcoming "Achievement Day" then took priority. The Achievement Day is to take place on June 2nd at the Tofield Arena. The weighin is to start at 10:00 a.m. at the arena on the portable scale. Committees were then elected for helping with the weigh-in, calf marking, and loading. The show for the day will start at 12.30 and the sale at 3.00 p.m.

It was decided to have a weight-guessing competition in which those participating will guess the weight of an animal in kilograms. The banquet is to start at 7.30 p.m. in the Community Hall.

The judging of the beef carcass class will be held at the Fairgrounds on May 27 at 6.30 p.m.

The 4-H Club will be in charge of a booth on July 1st.

It was decided to have the 4-H wind-up party on June 27th at Borda, starting at 7.00 p.m.

A very interesting demonstration was then given by Irwin Jones, Mark Jones and Gordon Holberg.

by Harold Parsons

On April 30th, Ryley Community Associations welcomed newcomers, within the last two years to the Ryley village and district.

A crowd of approximately 300 gathered in the community hall for the occasion. George Knudslien acted as a capable and efficient m.c., introduced and welcomed an estimated 50 new families to the area.

A pot-luck supper was served by the members of various organizations, under the direction of Alice Munkedal, chairman of the associations' committee.

After the meal, the following individuals welcomed the newcomers on behalf of the various areas and organizations: County of Beaver - Walter Kropielnicki; Village of Ryley - George Baker; Ryley Lion's Club - Murray Lyons, Ryley Legion - Ernest Brown, Women's Auxiliary - Mildred Stenerud; Rebecca Lodge - Anna Kongsrud, Senior Citizens - Lenard Willans, and for all churches - Mrs. H. Berke.

Enjoyable musical numbers were provided by John Penkala on his accordian, accompanied at the piano by Harriett Ruddy.

A group of ladies under the direction of Audrey Knudslien sang appropriate numbers. The harmonizers were Audrey Knudslien, Millie Helgelund, Janet Wismeus, Inez Riel, Marie Dyer, Ruth Munkedal, Linda Lyons, Mrs. Beattie, accompanied at the piano by Jeanette Johnson.

Door host and hostess were Harold Parsons and Harriett Ruddy, assisted by Ethel Pepper and Helen Karenko.

The organization committee was composed of Alice Munkedal - chairman; Anna Kongsrud, Teresa Menderson; Mrs. A. Bogge; Margaret Booth; Beulah Oslund, Harold Vergette, and Harold Parsons.

Calgary Power builds station in north Holden

Calgary Power, earlier this month, commissioned a new substation in north Holden, to replace old equipment which was rapidly becoming obsolete.

The new facility has now assumed the power load which serves Holden, Tofield, Ryley, Viking, and Bruce, as well as providing a number of farm services.

Holden District Manager, Bill Hallett, indicated that a power line serving Viking has been re-energized at 22,000 volts, as part of the commissioning. Mr. Hallett stated that one of the main advantages of the new substation would involve a supervisory control which would allow for monitoring of the installation from a trouble headquarters in east Edmonton.

The old substation in Holden will be dismantled and salvaged.

Lions plan Night

Tofield Lions have announced that the club's 20th Charter Night will be held in the Community Hall on Saturday, June 7th.

Announcement for the charter night was made at a regular meeting last week which saw 15 members in attendance. A casserole supper was prepared for the occasion by Mrs. Ray Pittet and Sharon Strong.

Charter Night will be in the form of a dance with a buffet lunch to be served at midnight. Tickets are available from any member of the club with only 100 tickets to be sold.

Members were out, last week, to the Lions' Park, to clean up, paint and repair the park for another season of activities.

Three members of the club, and their wives, attended the spring conference which was held recently in Edmonton and they gave a report at the meeting.

The next regular meeting will be held in the Community Center on May 27th at 6.30 p.m. Anyone wishing to attend should telephone 662-4020 by May 26th.

Garden Club meets

On Saturday the Tofield Garden Club met at the arena.

Following the business meeting, the gathering opened to the public to view a display of rare plants. Harold Siebert of Edmonton explained the care and culture of his plants and answered questions from the floor. A good crowd attended and it proved a most interesting and educational evening.

Some of the plants displayed were offered for sale, the miniature roses and the alpine plants proved most popular.

Mrs. Lillian Hisey was the winner of the door prize - a rare flowering plant.

Next meeting will be held on Monday, June 16th, at the arena. Peter Mol of the Calgary Correctional Institute will be guest speaker.

The Homemaker

Agriculture Canada sent some interesting recipes this month I thought I would share with you.

Broccoli Ham Bake is a suggested quick and easy party dish. Fresh broccoli is available in most supermarkets at reasonable prices right now.

BROCCOLI HAM BAKE

1½ lbs. broccoli
Boiling water
½ tsp. salt
12 slices cooked ham (¾ pound)
5 tbsp. butter
5 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. dry mustard
1½ cups milk
¾ cup grated cheddar cheese

Trim broccoli. Stand upright (stem ends down) in 1 - inch boiling water. Sprinkle with salt. Cover and cook gently until almost tender (about 10 minutes). Drain and divide in 12 portions. Roll a ham slice around each portion. Arrange in a greased baking dish. Melt butter. Blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk. Stir and cook until smooth and thick. Add cheese and stir until melted. Pour over ham rolls. Bake at 350 degrees F. until broccoli is tender (20 to 25 minutes). 6 servings.

If you wish to serve this dish to guests, prepare the broccoli rolls and the cheese sauce in the morning. Place in the refrigerator and put together about half an hour before mealtime. Do not forget to reheat the sauce before baking. Serve this dish with rice seasoned with sauteed mushrooms and green onions.

Here is a dessert 350 Calorie counters. It provides less than 100 calories per serving.

PEACH BAVARIAN

1 envelope unflavoured gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1¼ ounce can peaches, drained
2 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup cold water
two thirds cup skim milk powder

Soak gelatin in ¼ cup cold water then dissolve over hot water. Puree peaches and add gelatin. Chill until partially set. Combine lemon juice, ½ cup cold water and skim milk powder. Beat until stiff peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar and vanilla. Fold in peach mixture and spoon into serving dishes. Chill. 6 servings.

Butterscotch Oat Squares is an economical sweet to serve at parties, showers, etc.

BUTTERSCOTCH OAT SQUARES

IN MEMORIAM

BILYK- In loving memory of my husband Zane, and father who passed away May 26, 1973.

Two long and lonely years have passed,
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day,
No one can ever tell,
Often a lonely heartache
Many a silent tear,
But there's always a beautiful memory,
Of one we loved so dear.

Always remembered and sadly missed by your wife Helen and children Dennis, Gerry, Richard and Shelley.

BUILDING A MODERN, SELF—SUFFICIENT ARK

Although Prince Edward Island's topography spares it from floods, this rural community is about to witness the building of an ark, reports Wallace Ward from Dundas, P.E.I. In this case, the ark is a house which is self-sufficient for a family group to live in. It will have its own energy system to provide food, power and heat. The entrepreneurs from Woods Hole, Massachusetts, are ecologists who have formed the New Alchemy Institute. The institute is presently concerned with funding the project, which it calls "Canada's largest eco-house." Dundas folk are used to museum pieces, for this is the site of the provincial museum of agriculture. The new addition to the local landscape is to be a large country home complete with an expanse of glass roof for a solar-heating system. Windmills will generate electric power, perhaps as much as 400 watts for lighting and appliances. Greenhouses will provide fresh vegetables and a warmed pond will grow fish and [illegible] for the family table. Waste from the fish may provide fertilizer for the soil.

There's nothing crude or primitive about art forms in Alberta, and a major exhibition, of many forms of art, will be touring Europe this spring, reported H.K. Pickering, Alberta's Agent General in London House.

Visiting Camrose last Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Pickering was delighted to report that Alberta House itself, has been renovated as a 17th Century Georgian home, and the work has been so skillfully designed by Alberta architects, that the City of Westminster selected it as their nomination in a competition all over Europe for excellence of restoration.

Mr. Pickering said Alberta House has been decorated with some 500 pieces of Alberta art, representing very nearly every form of art to be found here, including painting, carving, weaving, sculpture, tooling, and other forms. The pieces will leave Alberta House this spring, he said, to be shown for six weeks in London, Paris and Brussels, major art centres of the world. Established by the Alberta Art Foundation, this display has been set up on a permanent basis, as an illustration of work of which Albertans are typically capable.

Music pupils plan concert

Two hundred instrumental music students from Ryley and Holden schools under the direction of Everett Norris will stage their major 1975 concert in the Ryley School Gymnasium beginning at 8:00 p.m. on June 28.

The product of nine months of dedication by the students and teacher has been organized into an embellished ensemble of entertaining pieces. The entourage has named it "SOME KIND OF WONDERFUL".

All parents, students, friends and neighbours are invited to hear the performance. Admission is one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children.

Holden bands appear at Entwistle concert

The Holden Band, directed by Everett Norris, will be packing up about fifty-five band members aged 13 to 16 years. They will be making a 120 mile trip to Entwistle to take part in the Pembina Valley Baton Twirlers Baton Concert on Saturday.

The relatively new band, which began eight months ago, will provide part of the entertainment for the concert featuring Evansburg and Entwistle baton students of Mrs. Elizabeth Duffy.

The fifty-five students will divide into two bands. The concert Band will play the Broadway of "Hello Dolly" and Glenn Miller's "In the Mood". The Stage Band will play "Spanish Eyes", the popular "The Lord's Prayer" and others. The bands may be new but, they don't lack quality. They took first place in their local C.F.R.N. — A.C.T. Search for Talent Show this winter.

Other excellent talent also appearing will be Carmen Baudin, third place winner of the Northern Alberta C.F.R.N. Search for Talent Show, Harald Herchen, second place winner of the Northern Alberta C.F.R.N. Search for Talent, the Collin Sister's Duet, first place winner of the North Rosevear Talent Show and the Entwistle Grade 5 singing group.

Tofield 4-H plans "Achievement Day"

The Tofield 4-H Beef Club Achievement Day will be held on Monday, June 2nd in the Tofield Arena. Weigh-in is at 10 a.m., and show and judging at 12:30 p.m.

Walter Dietz will judge the animals. On Monday there will also be a purebred show. At 3 p.m. 28 calves will go on sale, with the Camrose Auction Company in charge.

Monday evening at 7:30 p.m., there will be a banquet at the Tofield Community Hall with the United Church ladies catering.

Complimentary tickets will be given to all buyers; otherwise tickets are $3.00 per plate and available at the arena and at the door. Various judges will be speaking at the banquet as well as a guest speaker. Also, all achievement awards will be presented during the evening.

A judging competition of five steers was held in Tofield last Tuesday, and the animals were then shipped to Edmonton where they will be slaughtered. One side of each steer will be brought back on June 2nd, and a federal government grader will give an evaluation talk on the carcasses.

The public is encouraged to attend the Achievement Day and the banquet in the evening on June 2nd.

Tofield plans for July 1st

Tofield will celebrate July 1st this year with the theme "Grow with Tofield", under the management of the Tofield Agricultural Society.

The day will begin, as usual, with a parade, followed by a gymkhana, ball games and a barbeque supper. It is hoped a midway will be available.

Old timers will again be welcomed and registered in the Arena. Displays will be on view.

Gets degree

Audrey Lampitt, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lampitt of Tofield has received her B. Ed Degree in Early Childhood Education and has accepted a teaching position in the Wainwright School Division.

A STUDY IN EXCELLENCE is the picture of Buffalo's Bob McAdoo and Boston's Dave Cowens. The two NBA centers, both voted most valuable players in their league, led their respective teams into the basketball playoffs.

Ryley 4-H plans day

The Ryley 4-H Beef Club held their annual meeting on May 13, in the Ryley D.A's Office.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Cheryl Magneson, and opened with Darrell Magneson leading in the 4-H pledge. The treasurer's report was given by Marva Maaren.

We discussed future activities. We decided to hold a practise judging and showmanship demonstration on June 27, commencing at 6:30, at the Maaren's farm. Our annual Achievement Day will be held on July 9, at the Ryley 4-H corrals.

The next meeting will be held on June 10.

Honored

Lorna Stauffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Stauffer of Tofield received a "teammates' award" for her contribution to the varsity basketball team at Eastern Mennonite College in Harrisonburg. The award replaces the traditional MVP award.

Rec. Board delays budget

The Beaver Regional Recreation and Parks Board deferred budget approval to its next meeting to allow members to study it and get opinions and approvals from local boards and councils.

This decision was made at the regular meeting held at the end of April. It was suggested by the finance committee to ask county council for an increase of ½ mill, although it would still leave a deficit. It was suggested that the county would be asking towns and villages to assist financially in the development of parks.

The estimated 1975 budget total was not mentioned in the minutes.

Members were told that an Opportunities for Youth Project, to serve senior citizens in Ryley, Tofield, and Holden, in the amount of $4,000, had been received. Reports were heard from members of different communities within the county, and routine business was handled.

This report was prepared from unapproved minutes of the April meeting.

LOVE HONOR AND BE FREE
A Christian woman's response to today's case for Liberation.
by Maxine Hancock
"Be free," you say! How?
I take the Bible seriously and it says "wives submit." What's today's Christian woman to do . . . dismiss Paul as a first century Chauvinist? Or meekly give in to the "Barefoot, pregnant and in the kitchen image?"
Neither, says Maxine Hancock. "The more closely I conform to the teaching of the Word of God," she says, "the happier, freer and the more fulfilled I am."

TRAVELLER'S TIPS

It is the time of year when many of you will be planning summer holidays. Travel fun begins when you first anticipate taking the trip.

Where and how you go depends on a number of factors. Are you going alone or with someone else? What do you enjoy doing most? How much time do you have? How much money do you want to spend? Take the time to plan your holiday carefully.

Air Canada has an interesting booklet "The Woman Who's Going Places". You can obtain it by writing to:
Air Canada,
P.O. Box 950,
Montreal 101, Quebec.

Perhaps Camping is more your style. We have two new pamphlets, "Helpful Hints for Camping" and "Camping and Backpacking Recipes" Copies are available in our office.

Here are a few commandments that all tourists should remember.

1. Thou shalt not expect to find things as thou hast them at home; for thou hast left home to find things different.

2. Thou shalt not take anything too seriously, for a carefree mind is the beginning of a fine holiday.

3. Thou shalt not let other tourists get on thy nerves, for thou art paying money to enjoy thyself.

4. Thou shalt take only the clothes then thinks thou needs - and twice as much money.

5. Thou shalt know at all times where thy passport is, for a person without a passport is a person without country.

6. If thou hast been expected to stay in one place, thou wouldst have been created with roots.

7. Thou shalt not worry, for he that worrieth, both no pleasure few things are ever fatal.

8. When in Rome, thou shalt be prepared to do somewhat as the Romans do.

9. Thou shalt not judge the people of a country by the one person who hast given thee trouble.

10. Thou art a guest in another place, he that treateth his host with respect shall be honoured:

The recent Strawberry Tea was very successful.

Sandy and Irene Scott had friends, Inge and Peter Bell of Punchland, B.C., drop in for a visit on the way to their daughter's, at Edgerton.

Recently the Petersons had their son and daughter-in-law and James for a visit. Peter Holm and his friend, Sylvia, were over for supper on Sunday.

Howie and Lynn Gates and boys spent last weekend in Calgary where they attended a reception honoring Lynn's grandmother on her 80th birthday.

Lynn's parents, Mary and Roy Brown of Westbank, B.C., are here for a short visit.

Junior high happenings

by Carol Erickson

On Friday, May 23rd, our Tofield Grade six B class went to the Viking News. We arrived at 1:00 p.m

We were shown around by Mr. Worken. He showed us how the different machines worked. Some of the interesting machines were the linotype, the scan-o-graver for photographs, and the printing press. The linotype which were placed in the printing press, locked the metal blocks from the linotype in place as well as the photographs and ads. That was the machine that printed and cut the newspaper

Each student in grade six got his or her name printed on a piece of metal

We returned to Tofield by 3:15 p.m.

Use AMINE 80 and use it almost anywhere

Of all the 2,4-D formulations, Amine 80 is probably the safest and easiest to use. Crops are more tolerant to this dependable, general purpose 2,4-D than to most other formulations. And Amine 80, being the least volatile, is the most satisfactory 2,4-D to use adjacent to susceptible crops. Amine 80 is particularly recommended as the 2,4-D to use in a tank mix with Banvel.

Your Pool Man has Amine 80 now.
You'll know it by its POOL label.

Regional Resources gets an executive

Regional Resources Project No. 4 held its second monthly meeting at Irma on May 29th.

Project No.4 is a self-help, self-development program where a number of smaller communities form their own organization for community development and orderly growth.

At present, twelve communities are in Project No.4. They are: Bruderheim, Lamont, Chipman, Mundare on Highway 15, Andrew and Willingdon on Highway 45, Tofield, Ryley, Holden, Irma, Edgerton, and Clonevu on Highway 14.

The president of the new association is Peter Pohlschak, mayor of Mundare, E.H. Brown of Ryley is vice-president, and John Herchak of Chipman is treasurer. Each town or village represented has a member on the board of directors, which meets once a month in a different town in the region.

The project is funded by the communities with assistance from the Regional Services Branch of the new department of Business Development and Tourism under the direction of K.H.G. Broadfoot.

The region has hired Mel Warren of Holden to act as co-ordinator for the program. He will maintain an office in Holden, but will also spend one day each month in each community aiding in development.

Many of the communities in a fifty mile radius of Edmonton are experiencing constant growth and these communities feel a need for orderly growth. Communities in the region beyond these areas have many opportunities for small industries, businesses, and retirement homes that need publicizing. They hope to make their whole region and its opportunities better known.

Already they have encouraged a metal fabrication manufacturing plant into one town in the area, and a pre-manufactured housing plant into another They have some new ideas relative to housing and they feel this program will give them a chance to try some of them.

They will endeavor to keep close contact with the larger towns in their region (Wainright, Vegreville, and Viking) to aid in the orderly development of the whole region.

In June, they hope to start a modest advertising program of the many opportunities for business, industry and almost all. Bring in their region.

League passes quietly

by Grace Philips

An era in Tofield ended on June 3 when the Tofield Community League, founded in 1944, had its last general meeting. President T.W. Jacobs was in the chair and seven members were present.

It was decided to turn over the key of the Tofield Community Centre to the mayor of the town at an open, free dance to be held for the Tofield community residents some time in July.

The Community Centre will henceforth be operated by the Town of Tofield beginning July 1. All government regulations governing the operation of the Centre will be compiled and given to the town secretary.

All money now in possession of the League will be used for improvements to the Centre; new floors in meeting room, kitchen, and stage, a curtain for the back of the stage.

A plaque commemorating the contribution of the Tofield Community League to the Tofield Community will be placed in the Community Centre.

The Environment Conservation Authority is conducting a study aimed at conserving the Cooking Lake Area as a resource to be enjoyed by the general public.

The Cooking Lake Area covers approximately 645 square miles of land which goes southward from Elk Island Park to Miquelon Lake and covers other areas such as Blackfoot Grazing Reserve, Ministik, Hastings Lake, and Islver.

It is reported that water levels within the study area have been dropping since 1917 and reached such low levels in the late '60's that the provincial government decided to investigate the situation.

Public meetings are being held to get viewpoints from residents of the areas concerned. Meetings have already been held in Kingman and Hay Lakes while another has been scheduled for Hastings Lake on Sunday.

A study conducted by the Environment Conservation Authority in 1971 indicated there was a need to restore water levels, an improvement was necessary in water quality and that further studies should be conducted before any decisions as to the future of the area were decided.

Various committees have been organized to conduct studies of the area and guide inputs into the studies. The major group is termed a management committee and is composed of about forty people representing federal, provincial, county, and municipal authorities. The major goal of this committee is to see that all studies are within regional and provincial objectives, provide policy guidelines and to review all reports submitted.

The study itself is divided into three phases. Phase one is an inventory of all information on the area while phase two will be the formulating of plans for the region. These phases are to be completed by the end of this summer. Phase three, or a final report, will be completed this fall.

Information on the project may be obtained by contacting Gary Willson, or Bill Stott, Alberta Environment, Milner Building, 104 Street and 100 Avenue, Edmonton, or telephone 427-6225.

Joberty-Crispin vows exchanged on May 17

Christ Church (Anglican) in Grande Prairie was the scene of a late afternoon wedding on May 17 when Joan Crispin, formerly of Tofield, and Ray Joberty of Grande Prairie exchanged vows. Rev. Len Rivers performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by two floral arrangements of blue tipped carnations and daisies.

Joan, second daughter of Mrs. Georgena Crispin of Tofield, came down the aisle to Handels Water Music wearing a floor length gown of polyester embossed with scroll design. The gown, sewn by the bride, featured a ruched bib front with ruffle trim, roll collar and gathered sleeves with cuff. The back of the dress flowed into a train. To complement the dress, a fabric-covered caplet held a shaped length veil trimmed with rose applique. Joan carried three blue-tipped roses.

Attending the bride were Shelley and Deborah Joberty, sisters of the groom, as junior bridesmaids, Karen Joberty, niece of the groom, and Darlene Nielsen, niece of the bride, as flowergirls. The four girls were matching floor length gowns of blue polyester satin trimmed with rose applique. Each carried a single white rose and wore a silver heart-shaped pendant, gift of the bride.

Also attending the couple was Steven Nielsen, nephew of the bride, as ringbearer. He carried the rings on a cushion made of the bride's dress fabric.

Attending the groom as best man was Bryan Potter of Edmonton. Guests were ushered to their seats by Bill Crispin, brother of the bride, and Jim Hinsky of Grande Prairie.

During the signing of the register, organist Syd Larter, played "Somewhere My Love".

Following the ceremony a reception for approximately 165 guests was held at the Elks Lodge. A roast beef dinner was capably served by the Presbyterian Church women. Master of ceremonies, David Smith of Grande Prairie, introduced family members and read numerous telegrams.

John Spero introduced Ray to the guests following which Keith Middleton introduced Joan. Both Ray and Joan responded with words of thanks and hopes for more happy times with friends and relatives.

After cutting the cake, made by Joan's mother and decorated by Marion Marcy of Grande Prairie, Ray and Joan opened their many gifts.

For travelling, Joan wore a dress of yellow polyester linen with navy accessories. Her corsage was orange tipped peach roses.

Ray and Joan will make their home in Grande Prairie where both are employed.

Friends and relatives attended from Tofield, Edmonton, Calgary, Strathmore, Lacombe, Ryley, Dawson Creek, Ryecroft, Grovedale, Beaverlodge, and Grande Prairie.

Summer Cooling?

If you've been contemplating Summer Cooling, we offer these helpful hints.

In summer, the hottest part of your home is the attic. One of the most economical and efficient ways to cool your entire home is by removing superheated air with an automatic attic ventilator, and in Alberta, it may be all you really need for summer comfort.

TOTALLY AUTOMATIC
During a normal summer day attic temperatures can often exceed 65 degrees Celsius. This trapped air keeps your home uncomfortably warm both day and night.
A thermostically controlled attic fan removes hot air rapidly, economically and automatically. Just set the thermostat and forget it.

PROTECTS YOUR HOME ALL YEAR LONG
Temperature differences between attic and living area occur all year long. In winter moisture-laden air condenses and becomes damaging ice and frost in your attic. Adequate ventilation provided by an attic fan removes this moisture automatically. Paint, plaster, insulation and roofing will all last longer.

LOW COST COMFORT FOR YOUR ENTIRE HOME
An attic fan cools your entire home without drawing dust or pollen-laden air into the living area. Your family will probably sleep more comfortably and feel better during those hot sweltering days.

QUICKLY AND EASILY INSTALLED
The power attic fan is quickly and easily installed. The lifetime lubricated electric motor requires no maintenance, is grounded for safety and protected against electrical burn-out.

Junior high happenings

by Myrna Boergen
and
Heather Allan

This is our first of a series of letters that we are going to write every second week for the next two months.

We hope, through them, we will be able to inform you of some of the things going on in the Tofield Junior High School.

The softball season has just begun and practices are being held at noon and after school. Also, practices and eliminations are being held for the County and Zone track and field meets later on.

Plans are in the early stages of being made for the Grade Nine Graduation Banquet to be held at the end of June.

On Wednesday, May 14, the school enjoyed a program put on by the High School Class, who presented a play, and a guest choir from Rosthern Junior College in Saskatchewan. Everyone enjoyed this very much.

This weekend, Victoria Day weekend, the entire school is enjoying a holiday, but, last Monday, the Junior High also got an extra day off (Monday) because of a junior high teacher's workshop held in Holden.

That is all for our first letter. We hope you enjoyed reading it and will watch for it again in two weeks.

Buck introduces land owner Bill

Clover Bar M.L.A., Dr. Walter Buck, has introduced a private members' Bill which will limit agricultural land-holdings of non-resident owners.

The purpose of the "Farm Land Ownership Act" is to assure that Alberta agricultural land is preserved largely for Alberta residents. Non-residents total aggregate land holdings would be limited to not more than 640 acres.

Dr. Buck says, "It has become increasingly evident in recent years that non-residents have been securing large parcels of Alberta farmland, contributing to escalating land prices because of speculative buying. This is one factor which has caused difficulties for young Albertans, particularly, in purchasing agricultural land at realistic prices".

"This Bill", Dr. Buck adds, "is NOT designed to prejudice non-residents who purchase small parcels of land for agricultural uses, but will eliminate the practice of non-residents --either individuals or corporations - from exercising monopoly purchases of large land-holdings".

The Bill provides that there be no retroactivity in the Legislation, and clearly states that only land-purchases which occur on or after June 1st, 1975 would be affected.

The "Farm Land Ownership Act" provides for stiff penalties for contravention of the Act. A non-resident would have six months, after notification from the "Farm Land Ownership Commission", to divest himself of agricultural land in excess of 640 acres, or face the penalties of law provided within the Act.

Funeral was held Tuesday, June 10th at the Holy Trinity Ukrainian Catholic Church, Vegreville. Park Memorial Ltd. of Vegreville in charge.

A shower was held at the Eddie Yakobczyk home Sunday, June 1st, for Helen Yakobczyk whose marriage to Zygmunt Slinko will take place July 12.

Institute gardener speaks in Tofield

Several members of the Tofield Garden Club met at Petra's Park on Thursday, May 29th, to work up the flower beds and plant dahlia and gladioli. The following Thursday, a group of members planted out the bedding plants in the park.

The next meeting of the Garden Club will be held on Monday, June 16th, at the arena. The business meeting will begin at 7 p.m. sharp.

At 8 o'clock, the meeting will open to the public. Peter Mol, head gardener for the Calgary Correctional Institute will be the guest speaker. He will speak on gardening in general and answer any questions brought forth. He will also speak on the rehabilitation of inmates into society. It should prove an interesting evening and everyone is welcome to attend.

Lunch will be served and a silver collection taken.

Brownies complete successful season

Tofield now has 25 enthusiastic little Brownies who have been meeting once a week on Monday evening in the basement of the Catholic Church.

The Brownie parent executive was organized shortly after Easter and registration took place in conjunction with the Cubs and Scouts. Members of the local executive are: president, Cecile Gannon; secretary, Joan Collins; treasurer, Leona Voltner, badge secretary, May Thomas; and historian, Jane Paull.

The leaders for Brownies are headed by Brown Owl who is Carol Kugelstadt. Her helpers are: Tawny Owl, Gail Pettet; and Snowy Owl, Judy Fairweather. We are also fortunate to have one Packie, Lois Purves, who is a guide and comes out to give a hand with the pack.

The Brownies are co-sponsored by the Lions Club and the Catholic Women's League.

Enrollment marked the biggest event for the girls, when they became full fledged Brownies. Until then they are called "Tweenies" and are completing tests etc. towards their enrollment. The girls motto is "Lend a Hand" and they must try to live up to it always. The girls who were enrolled on May 19th are: Amanda Collins, Vanita Eglaurer, Kathi Gosbault, Kim Herklotz, Carol Kallal, Debbie Kallal, Valerie Moore, Kerry Paull, Lorna Voltner and Roxanne Wiens. The second half of the girls were enrolled on May 26th. They were: Sherri Berreclotk, Barbara Borton, Ann Bouchard, Kathi Coombes, Agnes Gagne, Janet Gagne, Sharon Halonquist, Terry Heigh, Rebecca Laidlaw, Sherri-Lee Moos, Jackie Pittet, Cindy Rude, and Jackie Schwab. Two of the girls, Corine Gannon and Melanie Fouts were previously enrolled as Brownies in Viking.

On Saturday, May 31st, the Brownies had the opportunity to join all the other Brownies in our District for a rally in Killam. The girls took in bowling and swimming and shared lunch together. It was a fun day for all and everyone returned home exhausted.

Before the Rally, the girls presented gifts to their leaders and president as tokens of their appreciation and that was their last meeting together for this term.

Brownies complete successful season

Tofield now has 25 enthusiastic little Brownies who have been meeting once a week on Monday evening in the basement of the Catholic Church.

The Brownie parent executive was organized shortly after Easter and registration took place in conjunction with the Cubs and Scouts. Members of the local executive are: president, Cecile Gannon; secretary, Joan Collins, treasurer, Leona Voltner, badge secretary, May Thomas; and historian, Jane Paull.

The leaders for Brownies are headed by Brown Owl who is Carol Kugelstadt. Her helpers are: Tawny Owl, Gail Pettet; and Snowey Owl, Judy Fairweather. We are also fortunate to have one Packie, Lois Purves, who is a guide and comes out to give a hand with the pack.

The Brownies are co-sponsored by the Lions Club and the Catholic Women's League

Enrollment marked the biggest event for the girls, when they became full fledged Brownies. Until then they are called "Tweenies" and are completing tests etc. towards their enrollment. The girls motto is "Lend a Hand" and they must try to live up to it always. The girls who were enrolled on May 19th are: Amanda Collins, Vanita Eglaurer, Kathi Goubault, Kim Herklotz, Carol Kallal, Debbie Kallal, Valerie Moore, Kerry Paull, Lorna Voltner and Roxanne Wiens. The second half of the girls were enrolled on May 26th. They were: Sherri Barrecloth, Barbara Borton, Ann Bouchard, Kathi Coombes, Agnes Gagne, Janet Gagne, Sharon Halonquist, Terry Heigh, Rebecca Laidlaw, Sherri-Lee Moos, Jackie Pittet, Cindy Rude, and Jackie Schwab. Two of the girls, Corine Gannon and Melanie Fouts were previously enrolled as Brownies in Viking.

On Saturday, May 31st, the Brownies had the opportunity to join all the other Brownies in our District for a rally in Killam. The girls took in bowling and swimming and shared lunch together. It was a fun day for all and everyone [illegible]

Before the Rally, the girls presented gifts to their leaders and president as tokens of their appreciation and that was their last meeting together for this term.

Ryley will take census

A census will be taken in the Village of Ryley. This decision was reached at the last regular meeting of the village council.

The village foreman was authorized to repair damages to the streets in the village while council will look into oiling questions as well as investigate the possibility of repairing the sidewalks.

The Ryley Curling Club was asked to present council with blueprints outlining the proposed addition to the curling club.

It was decided that the village would not give a grant to anyone who is thinking of putting in a septic field on their property.

Information for this report was taken from minutes of a meeting held on May 15.

To study changes in church colleges

Rev. Glen Johnson, president of Camrose Lutheran College will leave for Luther College, Decorah, Iowa toward the end of this month, where he will take part in a five-day workshop on future directions for Lutheran higher education. The consultation, scheduled June 28 through July 2, is sponsored by the Division for College and University Services of The American Lutheran Church.

Mr. Johnson will be one of approximately 125 people from all areas of the continent participating in the sessions which are designed to re-examine the mission of the church's college. Taking part will be students, faculty, administrators, board members, lay people and pastors, while several major educators will be among workshop speakers.

Among them, the thirteen universities, colleges and schools of the American Lutheran Church, of which Camrose College is a member, have a total enrollment of roughly 22,500 students.

Mr. Johnson will be accompanied by his wife and family, who will join him after the conference in a holiday trip on the return.

Board okays budget

The Beaver Regional Recreation and Parks Board adopted its 1975 budget, which shows total mills of five and one-half, at a meeting held recently. The minutes do not show a budget total.

The board was told that Marie Karylo had been selected as the new program supervisor and was to commence her duties early in June.

Work in the parks' system was proceeding smoothly and a STEP grant will be used to help pay some of the costs of work planned for this year. Work at Black Nugget Lake is nearly completed with 6,000 trees to be planted and the water stocked with 8,000 trout.

Sheila Scrutton, Al McRoberts, and Richard Armstrong of the Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Department attended the meeting and gave an outline on the new grant system.

Reports of local activities were heard from Tofield, Ryley, Holden, Bruce, Viking, and Kinsella.

This report was prepared from unapproved minutes of a meeting held on May 28th.

Tofield Sports Day is set for July 1st

Plans for the staging of Tofield's annual Sports Day on July 1st are rapidly being completed and everything is now in readiness.

Eleven different organizations have banded together to make the sports day a success under this year's theme, "Growing with Tofield"

Tofield Lions keeping busy

The Tofield Lions Club held their regular meeting in the Old Library on Tuesday, June 10, when 16 members sat down to a roast beef supper.

The Lions Park has been cleaned, equipment repaired and painted.

The 20th charter night was held on Saturday, June 7th, and was a big success. The money tree raffle of $60.00 was won by Aino Jensen. The proceeds from the tree were to further scout work in the community and they received $63.00 in [illegible]

The Tofield Lions Club will once again look after the July 1st barbecue for the Tofield Sports Day.

The last meeting for the summer will be a lawn party, at Stan Schacher's on June 24th at 7 pm.

Institute gardener speaks in tofield

The June meeting of the Tofield Garden Club was held in the arena on Monday evening.

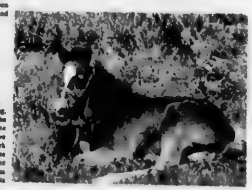
The annual flower show was discussed and the July 1st [illegible]

It was decided that the club would again enter a float in the July 1st parade. The club also decided to run the booth in the arena and to help with the taking of tickets at the gate on July 1st and thus share in the proceeds.

Members were designated to take flowers to the hospital each week through the summer. It was decided that two members would visit the park each week in order to keep the weeds under control.

Following the business meeting, Peter Mol, head gardener for the Calgary Correctional Institute spoke to the group. Mr. Mol gave a very informative talk on his work at the Institute. He covered the farming operations, the greenhouses and the grounds as well as the displaying of his plants at shows.

Following his talk, Mr. Mol brought in over 100 unusual plants which were distributed to the members. After Mr. Mol discussed the care of these plants and answered questions, lunch was served.



Resting

This little guy was taking it easy the other day, at his home in Round Hill, when a nosy photographer came along and snapped his picture. He really didn't seem to mind.

The rumor mill

Rumors are rife as Premier Lougheed is wooed by the federal Conservatives to take over the leadership when the next party convention is held, and he can hardly shave in the morning without some newspaper columnist trying to read hidden significance into the act.

There's no secret that his name is being mentioned with more and more favor as a Means for the Tories at the federal level, one who can lead them out of the wilderness, although they haven't yet been wandering for forty years. There's no secret, either, that even before his election as premier here four years ago, he maintained he had no interest in the federal field.

He still maintains the same position. Publicly, at least.

But there's no doubt the leadership people are trying to make the position more attractive all the time. And as convention time rolls nearer, the pressure will build up.

In the end, he may very well accept a draft...if it comes. But one thing we said when his name was first mentioned, and which we believe to be as true today as we did then, is that Mr. Lougheed will not even consider this job unless he feels very confident he can carry the party all the way through to a federal victory. He has no intention whatsoever of being Leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition...at least not for long. And of course, that's perfectly understandable. Why should he even consider giving up a sure thing as leader of the government here in Alberta, for the doubtful power and influence wielded by the Leader of the Opposition? There is every indication that he can continue to be premier here for some time into the future, with the opposition parties badly disarrayed, and at the moment, little sign of their effective rebuilding ahead.

Fuss over detail

Several Eastern newspapers and reporters have been feuding with Prime Minister Trudeau over his use of three high priced helicopters during a tour which was partly political, partly non-partisan, in a busy short hop swing through Southern Ontario, during which he touched down at 11 centres in two days.

Whether the prime minister should be using public money for trips of such a political nature seems to be worrying the reporters.

But surely there's a simple solution. Military personnel are required to fly a certain number of hours each month to keep up their standard of training, and it could just as easily be done in some useful manner, such as serving the needs of members of parliament, as it can be done in just flying triangles or rectangles or circles from one point to another.

Why wouldn't it be far smarter to designate a certain number of hours each month available for Mr. Trudeau, a certain number for the Leader of the Opposition, and see if they can't be worked in on a more or less scheduled basis. That way, everyone would win...the taxpayer would be getting some use out of many of these flights, the government would be better able to do its job, and the military might possibly be able to persuade the politicians of their serious need for more money and better equipment.

If we're not mistaken, many decisions on military equipment in the United States are based very largely on political use and political reasoning, and it's not unknown that politics has entered the decision making picture on this side of the border, too.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint

Canadian comment

by Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SP) — The working day for MPs on Parliament Hill begins anywhere from 7:30 a.m. to noon. Most members arrive in time for constituency chores and mail tasks before they head for committee sittings at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday there are no committees in the morning, because the various parties caucus until 1 p.m. On Friday, the Commons opens for business at 11 a.m.

Question Period is the event which attracts most newsmen into the Commons chamber, and it begins shortly after Parliament opens at 2 p.m., and lasts until 3 p.m., except on Fridays, when 11 a.m. is the opening of the sitting.

It's a common complaint of visitors that there aren't very many members in their places in the Commons, but few outsiders realize that the committee schedule runs during the morning three days a week, and in the evening until 10.30 p.m. - often later - three days weekly. Afternoon meetings of committees begin at 3:30 p.m., hence the deserted appearance of the Commons after that hour.

A handful of MPs belong to what the people on the Hill call the "Tuesday to Thursday Club," so named because its members habitually shake the dust of Ottawa from their shoes on Thursday to head for home constituencies, and do not return until Monday noon. In some cases, it's a travelling necessity, because of the distances to be covered, but in other cases, extra long weekends represent dereliction of duty.

I hasten to add that members of the "Tuesday to Thursday Club" are in the minority amongst MPs, but if you're curious to discover the habits of your own representative, try taking him here many Monday and Friday Sessions have passed without your constituencies being represented in the Commons.

Generally speaking, MPs put in 45 to 50 hours weekly on Parliament Hill, in committees, their offices, or in the Commons, plus another ten hours on average weekly in their constituencies. That rounds at roughly 20 hours weekly more than most of us work, and mind you, that calculation of working time for MPs does not count the endless travelling time which those from distant ridings must expend.

The new salary scale for MPs, taken in their light, does not seem unreasonable. It will, mean that some are underpaid and some are overpaid, but more will fall into the former category than into the latter. A $34,000 annual salary is not excessive for a job like that.

Still, the question of $10,000 annual tax free expenses gnils. Many MPs over spend their allowances, but many do not. The majority, I'm sure, would happily trade all their tax free expense allowances for unlimited, but accountable expenses, and that is the direction in which Parliament should head.

There is no reason why an MP should have to spend his own money in the interests of doing his job. Neither is there any justification for letting some MPs pocket expense money which is not used, or applying extra expense money to political campaigns.

One of the remarkable hypocrisies of the American defeat in Vietnam is focusing to Wilfred Burchett post-offending about it on the CBC evening radio show As It Happens. Burchett is introduced as "an Australian journalist with good contacts with the leaders of North Vietnam." It is perfectly true that Burchett has excellent contacts with communists. In fact, according to evidence given before the U.S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary in 1969 and 1970 by Soviet defector Yuri Krotkov, Burchett worked for the KGB in Moscow in the late 1950s. When a report to this effect appeared in the Australian press, Burchett sued on a technicality. He lost, but not before a succession of former prisoners of war testified that, during the Korean War, Burchett had appeared at their camps and lodged the North Koreans and Chinese coerce them into wholly untrue confessions that they were engaged in germ warfare. Reports of these confessions then appeared under Burchett's byline in the Western press. It was by, he is As It Happens' judgment, that Burchett's views on the political and moral significance of the communist conquest of South Vietnam are somehow of edifying experience for Canadians. But is impossible to see why his qualifications are not reviewed in more detail. Either the program's staff are unbelievably ignorant to the point of negligence - or they just didn't want Canadians to know where their expert opinion was coming from.

An expensive bargain

Massive increases, current or pending, by most of Canada's electric utilities have left local power authorities and large industrial users almost speechless, reports Hugh McIntyre. They ought to be surprised, even irate, to be told that electric power is still one of the country's greatest bargains. Take the U.S., for instance: it costs 45 cents a day to operate a refrigerator. In Winnipeg, the same appliance would cost about 5.8 cents a day to operate, in Vancouver 5.4 cents, in Charlottetown 11.5 cents. Color TV uses 3 cents an hour worth of power in New York, across Canada it works out to about a half a cent. Canadian utility rates average only 50 per-cent of comparable rates in Europe. Still, when the cost of electricity has risen between 2 per-cent - 51 percent since 1969 in cities across Canada, and fresh rate increases are announced, the relative cheapness of Canadian power is easily overlooked.

BREAK THE FAST

Breakfast doesn't have to be a blah meal. If your appetite is bored try some of these ideas: toasted cheese sandwiches, a spanish omelet, cottage cheese and fruit salad, chicken livers on toast or french-toasted tuna fish sandwich. Sound strange? Such a breakfast might appeal to breakfast skippers.

Over and over again, studies have proven that people who omit breakfast perform poorly and do less work. Student's lack concentration and learn more slowly. Also your mood is not as good if you are a breakfast skipper. Can you afford to miss breakfast?

Do you want some quick breakfast ideas? Try a scrambled egg sandwich, muffins with jam or cheese, fruit juice with cereals and milk, or buttered toast with peanut butter on cheese spread.

Do as much of your breakfast preparation before you go to bed if time is a problem. Food can be partially prepared and refrigerated. You can even set the table.

Breakfast should supply one-third of the bodies daily nutritional requirements. It has been at least seven hours since your last meal and the body no longer has any food to produce blood sugar. Here is a Breakfast Bar recipe. Two bars plus a glass of milk provide one third of the days nutritional requirement. They also make a nutritious snack, though not for calorie counters.

BREAKFAST BARS

Use Dutch Oven - low heat.
½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups miniature marshmallows
Melt. Stir constantly.
Add: ½ cup peanut butter
Add: ½ cup skimmed milk powder and ¼ cup orange breakfast drink.
Quickly add 1 cup raisins, 4 cups Cheerios and (optional - ½ cup chopped nuts) Pat in well greased 9" x 9" pan. Cut at once. Makes 15 pieces. Chill.
Give breakfast a try so that you will rise and shine.

Mrs. G H Taylor

Mr and Mrs. Jack Ogonoski with Eleanor and John Ogonoski left on the weekend on a holiday trip, visiting at points in Southern Alberta and going on to other points.

The Holden Lodge B.P.O. Elks held a regular meeting, Monday evening, June 2nd, in the Holden Community Hall. Regular business and routine correspondence was dealt with. It was decided that they would co-operate with the ladies of the O.O.R.P. in decorating a float for the parade on Sports Day. They were also having a booth and would appreciate help for this. The annual steak fry was being held at the farm home of Lyle Groshand on June 22nd, those attending to bring their own steaks. Lodge would recess for the months of July and August.

The Pioneer Group met for their regular meeting, Thursday afternoon, June 5th at the home of Mrs. Mary Zwierschke. Roy Nichols and Lloyd Clark kindly driving the ladies out to the farm, nine ladies being present. Devotions in charge of Mrs. G.H. Taylor were opened with a hymn, prayer and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

The minutes of the previous meeting, held May 1st at the home of Mrs. Mary Hooper, were read and accepted. It was then mentioned that the 50th celebration was being held in the United Church, Sunday, June 8th. Rev. Hessels was to be the guest speaker at the morning service which would be held at 11.00 a.m. instead of 10.00 a.m. There would be a buffet lunch at noon and service and various talks in the afternoon, Rev. The ladies were told that it was usual for us to send the June collection to the Bible House towards their works and if they wished to do this again, it was voted that we do this as previously. A chapter was then taken in the study book. All were reminded that Cemetery Day was to be held Monday, June 16th, if the weather cooperated and that the Friendship Group would be held Thursday, June 19th at the home of Mrs. Bertha Steenwand. Ministik

Ministik United Church was filled to capacity on Sunday, June 15th, when a special service, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the United Church in Canada, was held.

Bill Cantelon of Edmonton, who was the student on this charge last year, was the one chosen to conduct these services.

Letters of invitation to attend were sent out to 26 former students that could be located and 17 replies of regret, due to distance or other commitments, were read to the congregation by Rev. Ted Kother and Rev Roy Chubb, two former students who were able to attend from Edmonton. Lunch was served by the ladies of the Ministik congregation and a social time and reminisces enjoyed over coffee.

Paul Lafontaine, who had been a hospital patient for nearly three weeks, was able to come home last Friday.

The Ministik Ladies Club meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon at the hall with roll call being answered with a flower out of our garden. These were put in a container as a bouquet with a number given each lady. The one with the lucky number was Mrs. S. George, who received the bouquet. Mrs. A. Ferguson gave her report on the strawberry tea held on June 7th, which netted the largest sum in "tea history" of the club.

The July meeting, as is a tradition, will be held at the local camp site.

Alice Whitford enjoyed a June birthday card. Lunch hostesses were Mrs. Frank Swabey and Mrs. Jim Roddick.

The Crafts centre of the area are sponsoring a Flea Market on Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in Ministik Hall. All are invited to attend.

Ryley

Lena Reil

Alf and Mable Oss of Burnaby, B.C., formerly of Ryley were visitors recently with friends and relatives in Ryley and district.

Fred and Edna Johnson of B.C. were callers on friends in Ryley.

Different groups are busy getting their floats, etc. ready for the Ryley Sports parade on Saturday.

Gerald Owen had his brother, Bennet, visiting him over the weekend. They attended the wedding of a niece in Edmonton on Saturday.

Bev Munro and a musical group from Camrose were in Ryley Saturday evening.

If the weather co-operates, the Ryley Lutheran congregational picnic is planned for Sunday at the ball park with casserole and pies being donated by each family. So far, it seems rain falls from the smallest cloud, enough to dampen the events taking place.

Bob and Debra Cross were home for Father's Day.

A meeting to organize Ryley and district development Co-operative was held Monday evening in the Ryley Community Hall.

Band music "Somekind of Wonderful" will be held Friday evening in Ryley school.

Mrs. Lougheed had the misfortune to break her shoulder and is in hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

McLEOD: In loving memory of James D. McLeod who passed away June 20th, 1970.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
Always loved and remembered by his loving wife, Lillian, and family. 43c-1275

ZOWTUK: In loving memory of our daughter and sister Betty Darlene who passed away June 21, 1971.
It broke our hearts to lose her
But she did not go alone
For part of us went with her
The day God called her home.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by Dad, Mom, Joan, Dennis & Shirley, Ken & Donna, Debbie & Kevin. 43c-1272

WESLAKE: In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Elsie Weslake, who passed away June 9, 1969.
As life unfolds another year
Treasured memories keep you near,
Silent thoughts of time together
Are memories that will last forever.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by her loving family. 43p-1141
